NEW MAN-POWER CHECK CONSIDERED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Regulations requiring employers to satisfy themselves that all male employees of age and marital classes designated under mobilization regulations are in possession of papers showing they have been rejected by the army discharged from the forces or have otherwise complied with mobilization regulations are under "active consideration," Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, announced on Wednesday.

"While it may be same little time before an order to this effect is actually issued," Mr. MacNamara said in a statement, "the delay will be due largely to the necessity of giving the men an opportunity of securing the necessary documents, if they do not already possess them."

Mr. MacNamara said several types of documents are involved. Men who tried to enlist voluntarily in the army but were rejected because of medical unfitness, should apply to the district military headquarters where they had applied for enlistment in order to obtain a rejection form if they do not already possess one.

Men discharged from the navy, the army or the R.C.A.F. who have lost their discharge certificates should make application to the district officer commanding in the district where they were discharged.

Unless men have been granted a postponement of military training, men who are medically examined as a result of a notice or order of medical examination from a divisional registrar of mobilization board, and who do not hold a medical unfitness certificate, should immediately apply for such a certificate to the registrar for the division in which they now live.

"In any events," Mr. MacNamara said," under the employment permit system men men require sooner or later to go to an employment and Selective Service office. Before being dealt with at one of these offices, a man requires to have his documents."

47th Battery News

Drill at local headquarters will be resumed on Tuesday September 14th, at 7.45 p.m. A full attendance is requested in order that plans may be made for the annual training.

It is expected that the Battery will have two 25-pounders, three 75-mm. guns and considerable additional mechanical transport.

Those who have summer drill will wear it. Others will parade in battle dress and secure summer drill at the Armouries.

HOPE TO HEAR FURTHER NEWS OF MISSING AIRMAN

Relatives of Alex. Orange, of Ottawa, who was recently reported missing and believed killed in aerial action over Northern Italy, feel that it is possible the young man may have escaped into France, and are not willing to accept, as yet, the fact of his death. It is believed his plane came down over Milan.

The family hopes to hear word from him that he has escaped.

The Salvation Army To Make Appeal For Home Front Funds

Morale is a lot of little things . . . mail from home when you're a thousand miles away . . . the memory of a pleasant leave for a serviceman . . . the knowledge that "home" will always be there, when his job is done . . . and a thousand other things.

For the boys at the Front, morale means that folks back home are bending every effort to make his job easier for him; to send what he needs to keep out the cold and to cheer him up. Morale means the knowledge that his family is safe and happy.

What about the father of a motherless child, who hears the call to arms? He is torn between his devotion to his child and his loyalty to his country. What about the veteran of the last war who is still young enough for active service now? He is loathe to leave his aging Mother and Dad because they depend on him to provide the necessities of life. What about the woman war worker whose husband has made the supreme sacrifice to keep his country free? She wants to do a job of work, but has no place for her children to stay.

These are but a few of the needy who find their answer in The Salvation Army. The Army mothers the motherless child, giving her a home and friendly, loving care; The Army provides haven for the aging father and mother of a warrior son, whose reply to his country's need has been whole-hearted and instantaneous because of the help he has received. The Army gives back to the widowed mother the right to do her share in the country's war effort, by opening its doors to her children; by looking after their spiritual and physical growth while she reaches top production figures on the assembly line.

The soldier, who bids farewell to his new wife at the station, knows that even though he won't be on hand for the important event, his child will be born in the pleasant surroundings and secure atmosphere of a Salvation Army Hospital.

Morale is a lot of little things, that in the end add up to life itself.

The Home Front Appeal of The Salvation Army is reaching out to Canadians from coast to coast, asking them to make their response a generous one. By making a contribution, you are adding one more stone to the pillar of confidence and courage which every boy away from home carries in his heart.

You are helping to care for his loved ones back home.

"The Blood That Once Was Mine"

The following poem was printed in The Cleveland Plain Dealer and may be interesting to some of your many blood donors. —Willet P. Casey, of Boston, Mass.)

BLOOD DONOR

My blood flows now through other veins than mine
To other heart and muscle, skin and bone.
Flows the dark liquid — life's own crimson wine.
The blood that once was mine—my very own.
I know not in whose veins my blood may flow
Yet glad am I that it was mine to give.
And somehow life seems richer since I know
I gave some other lad a chance to live.

Some other lad — whoever he may be
How gladly do-I share my life with him.
Our blood shall mingle to eternity—
Blood brothers are we in life's interim.
He knows me not; our paths may never meet,
Yet each has made the other one complete.

—May Winkler Goodman.

In any case where a man is of military age but is not in a class designated under the military callup by reason of being a married man, he should be able to produce a copy of his marriage certificate proving marriage before July 15, 1940.

ODESSA

Odessa, Sept. 6. — A farewell party for Rev. W. B. Stevenson, pastor of the Free Methodist Church, and Mrs. Stevenson, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sanden. Rev. Mr. Stevenson has been in charge of this circuit for about four years, and he and his wife had made many friends. They were presented with a studio couch.

The Women's Institute was entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bata Sharpe. There was a good attendance of members and visitors, with the President, Mrs. Clarke Boyce, presiding. Roll call was answered by donations for the "ditty bags". The President gave a paper on "Naval Affairs". The motto: "Improvements Postponed Are Not Improvements at All", was given by Mrs. Roy Graham. A piano solo was contributed by Mrs. E. Gilbert. A contest of drawing "Popeye" was conducted by Mrs. Percy White, the prize going to Mrs. Roy Babcock. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Roy Babcock, Mrs. White and Mrs. Boyce. A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess by Miss Lillian Aylesworth and Mrs. G. Jenkins.

A social evening was spent in the Sunday School room of the United Church in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Pearce, who are leaving soon for their new home at Wellington, where Mr. Pearce will be a teacher on the High School staff. Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth read an appropriate address and Mr. Willie Smith, on behalf of the members of the church and Sunday School, presented Mr. and Mrs. Pearce with a lovely floor lamp. Both expressed thanks for the gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sproule and daughter, Helen, spent the past week with relatives in Toronto and other towns. Mrs. Fred Johnston, of Peterborough, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Sproule, accompanied them to Belleville.

Mrs. R. Scott and children, of Nairn Centre, are visiting Mrs. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McConnell have moved into their home, which was recently occupied by Mr. A. Lakins and family. Mr. Lakins has moved to Sharpton.

Mrs. Ida Montgomery returned home on Saturday, after spending a month with her daughter at Buffalo, N.Y.

Mrs. Fred Vrooman, who had been a patient at the General Hospital, Kingston, was removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Robson, Kingston, where she is convalescing.

Mrs. Mary Vancewaker returned home on Sunday from the General Hospital, Kingston, where she had been a patient for ten days. Her condition is very satisfactory and much improved.

Mrs. E. W. Huxtable and daughter, Marion, are spending a few days with Miss Nellie Huxtable, Toronto.

Mr. Clarence Davy, of Picton, spent the week-end with his sister, Mrs. Albert Hartman, and Mr. Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zellmer, of Allantown, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Zellmer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kenny.

Mrs. Mary Purcell spent the past week camping with friends at Varty Lake.

Mr. Fred Carrison, of Tamworth, was a caller at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. D. Shangraw, and Mr. Shangraw, recently.

Mrs. Donald Paul and son, Ronald, of Centreville, were week end guests of Mrs. Paul's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Purcell.

The Women's Association of the United Church met on September 1st at the home of Mrs. Geo. Husband. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Purcell. Mrs. Love, the president, conducted the business. It was decided that each member donate 10c weekly towards the bazaar, to be held in December in connection with the "Birthday Party" already planned. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Pletcher, after which Mrs. Purcell put on a contest, which was won by Mrs. Pletcher. The hostess served lunch at the close.

School will not reopen on the usual date, owing to the fact that Miss Eckardt, the teacher, is convalescing after an operation.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Purcell that their son, Capt. Geo. E. Purcell, has arrived in England, after having spent three months in North Africa.

Mrs. Alex. Riddell returned home after having spent a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cowdy, Murvale.

The sad news received that the friends of the late Mrs. Keyes, late of Windsor, heard of her passing on September 3. Mrs. Keyes was a former resident of this village and had many friends here who will be sorry to hear of her death. Her funeral was conducted on Monday at Reid's Funeral Home.

Several from the village attended the anniversary services at Camden East on Sunday, which were conducted by Dr. Pletcher, of Marmora.

We regret the illness of Mrs. Joe Wilson, which necessitated an operation in the Kingston Hospital, recently.

Mrs. Wilson a speedy recovery.

PICKLE RECIPES

UNCOOKED VEGETABLE SALAD PICKLE
Half - gallon ripe tomatoes, one green or sweet pepper, three medium onions, one head celery, small, half-ripe salt, three-quarters cup sugar one tablespoon cinnamon, half tablespoon cloves, half-teaspoon pepper, two small hot peppers (chillies) OR one-eighth teaspoon cayenne pepper. Two cups vinegar.

Peel and cut tomatoes into small pieces. Add chopped peppers, onions, and celery. Put salt on vegetables and let stand overnight. Drain well. This is most important, as otherwise a very juicy mixture will result. Mix sugar and spices with vinegar and water and pour over vegetables. Boil, stir and seal. Makes about four and one-half pints.

GREEN TOMATO RELISH
Half-gallon green tomatoes, one-quarter cup salt, one-quarter of medium cabbage, two green peppers, one large onion, one sweet red pepper, four cups vinegar, one cup sugar, half - tablespoon celery seed, half-tablespoon mustard seed, one teaspoon of whole cloves.

Put tomatoes through food chopper, using coarse blade. Combine with the salt and let drain overnight, in cheesecloth bag. Add cabbage, peppers and onions, also put through chopper. Mix vegetables together and add vinegar, water, sugar, and the spices tied in a bag. Cook over low heat until the vegetables are tender —about twenty minutes. Bottle and seal. Makes about three and one-half pints.

PEAR CHOW CHOW
Three large onions. 2 large sweet rep peppers, six pounds of ripe pears (about 15 medium), one cup sugar, two and one-half cups of vinegar, two teaspoons salt, half-tablespoon mixed whole spice.

Peel onions; remove seed cores from peppers; put vegetables through food chopper, using coarse knife. Peel and core pears; cut in small cubes. Mix sugar, vinegar, salt, and spice in large preserving kettle; heat to boiling point. Add onions, peppers and pears; boil 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into hot sterilized jars. filling to top; seal at once. Makes about four pints.

FLYERS WIN ROUND

Next Series With Bata Shoe Team

The Mohawk Flyers advanced again in the O. A. B. A. play-offs when they trimmed the Kingston Aluminum Co. team 6 to 2 in nine innings. Red Phillips was in his usual form and very little effort was expended in keeping the visitors off the bases.

According to reports the next team to engage the Flyers will be the Bata Shoe team. This game will probably be played early next week here.

NEW WAR SAVINGS STAMP DRIVE PLANNED

In November and December of this year, members of the Stationery, Book and Gift trades in Canada are planning to sell at least one million dollars worth of war savings stamps.

Christmas cards for holding stamps will be supplied free to the retail trade and to the public. The designs have been produced by the greeting card industry and will be donated to the government. Retail outlets of these trades will stock and sell war savings stamps in the final two months of this year.

Back of the campaign will be national publicity and promotion, both from official quarters and through these importan; trades themselves. In preparation for the drive Mr. William S. McCartney, President of John Bradford Limited of Toronto, has made a special trip across Canada, and has explained the details of the plan to retailers in every large city.

The amount of work and enthusiasm being put behind the drive by both the manufacturers and the retailers shows a fine spirit of co-operation and merits the whole-hearted support of the Canadian people.

More than two million parcels of cigarettes and tobacco were sent to Canadian soldiers overseas during 1942, and of this number only about three per cent. were lost due to enemy action.

RED CROSS NEWS

Now that the holiday season is over, we will expect all workers to come back with renewed interest and bring as many helpers as possible.

An emergency request has come in for Christmas bags for men in hospital in Newfoundland. These are to contain any of the following articles which must be new: Pencils Pen Knives, Paper and Envelopes, Cribbage Boards, Checker Boards, Games and Puzzles, Playing Cards, Hard Candy and Chocolate Bars, Life Savers Gum, Cigarettes, Gay Christmas Cards, Comfort Purses, Books, Handiwork suitable for men; Hooked mats, knitting and crocheting; Readers Digest, Books paper-covered.

NOT: razors, razor blades or woollen comforts.

Kit bag units which are able have showers for this purpose. Material for bags may be donated from local branch or they can be made of bright colored glazed calico, with ties made of contrasting color. Donations or donations for personal property bags.

With each unit do its utmost to furnish as many of these bags as possible.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WEDDING BELLS

KENTISH - CLANCY

The Bay parsonage, Napanee, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday forenoon, September 4th, when Miss Gladys Clancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Clancy of Hay Bay, in the Township of North Fredericksburg, became the bride of Ernest Thomas Kentish, of Deseronto, and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kentish, England. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. C. McCallum of the Bay United Charge. Mrs. Janet M. South and Herbert Glancy signed the register as witnesses.

Following a chrot honeymoon, the newly wedded couple will take up residence at Deseronto where the groom holds a government position.

HANCOCK - MACCALLUM

A wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of Riverdale United Church in Toronto on Wednesday, September 1st, when Rev. Watson Langdon united in marriage Jean Elizabeth Callum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. K. MacCallum of Iona Station and Thomas Kenneth Hancock, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hancock, Napanee.

The bride wore a gold coloured crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of orchid and heather. After a honeymoon in western Ontario the couple will reside in the parsonage in Roblin, Ontario.

On August 29th, a quiet gathering was held in honor of Mr. Thomas H. Wagar at Lonsdale, when he celebrated his 91st birthday at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Allen, of Empey Hill.

Mr. Wagar was born in 1852, one mile west of Napanee on Bridge Road. He enjoys excellent health and retains a remarkable memory. He remembers the birthdays and ages of most every person who lives in the neighborhood with whom he is acquainted and can tell of many outstanding events and happenings in Napanee and Deseronto, when they were small villages and Yeo Bay was buggy days. He is up to date on the news, is quite active and says he will shingle his own house roof himself if he can get the shingles.

A basket lunch was held on the lawn and he had around him his grandchildren, nieces, nephews and near relatives. Those present were his sister, Mrs. Bell Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Jackson and Jean, Hay Bay; erprise; Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, their children, Shirley and Gerald; Mr. Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Milligan and daughters; Grace and Muriel, of Tamworth; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawley and Mr. Harry Hawley, of Mount Pleasant; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melburn, Ralph and Muriel, and Mrs. Rosie Dean of Empey Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean from Gretna, Mr. and Mrs. Manley Kimmett, Selby; Mr. Lorne Alexander and daughter, Phyllis, of Belleville and grandchildren, Roberta, Sandra and Sylvia Allen.

The birthday cake was a two-storey white cake with maple icing and number 91 was marked with yellow candles. Many congratulations were extended to Mr. Wagar on this his birthday and good wishes for many more to come. An enjoyable visit was had by all.

Business Opportunities

MEN! IT'S A SELLERS' MARKET

Here is your chance to cash in. If you're aggressive, are military exempt or have a car or other means of transportation you can make real money as a Watkins Dealer. Due to scarcity of materials and canners many established concerns are going out of business today, but WATKINS MEN are setting all-time highs in sales and profits. That's because of this Company's international buying power which makes it possible for Watkins representatives to offer a wide range of Everyday Home and Farm Necessities and such outstanding values as a pound of Prepared Mustard for 10c and 11 ounces of Menthol Camphor Liniment for a dime! Don't pass up this big opportunity. Established rural routes available. For full particulars write today to the J. R. WATKINS COMPANY, Dept. 2 A, Monireal, Que. 35b

BURMA AWAITS THE ALLIES

BY WALTER L. BRIGGS
United Press Staff Correspondent

Simla, India. — Devastated by arms in the early months of 1942 and oppressed now by a greedy overlord, Japan, Burma today is an impotent land of misery awaiting delivery.

Battleground of mighty powers, prize loot for the early victor, this picturesque country at the crossroads of Southern Asia must endure added tribulations before her gaily-clad, indulgent peasants return to their rice fields in peace.

Allied bombers for months have battered enemy targets there. As Americans, British, Chinese and Indians begin the re-penetration and voices of machine guns and artillery once more shout across her plains and jungles, bombing will beat a crescendo.

In this peacetime summer capital of India, 7,000 feet up in the Himalayan foothills, British and Burmese administrators are planning the country's reconstruction. As pertinent background they must absorb and are learning, what it's like in Japanese-occupied Burma. I came from Allied outposts on the Burma border to hear the answers.

Most of their information comes from refugees. Much of what they say is dubious information and officials said it often tends to be exaggerated.

Burma-wise Police Inspector-General R. G. S. Prescott, who was at the helm in Rangoon during demolition of important installations a few hours before the Japanese moved in, emphasized that most of our information comes from areas closest to India; very little from the more sophisticated central plain. Persons escaping to India usually had been there months and hadn't seen much of the situation."

However, the administrators themselves know how thoroughly Burma has been raped during the 1942 campaign, almost all the important ones — and some participated in "scorching" Notice. Marlhill Mines Limited will, Monroe, Burma's fat-producing peanut oil fields at Yenangyaung, Chauk and Singu and mines at Bawdin and Mawchi.

President, important reconstruction officials, the director of counter-propaganda for Burma, and the governor, Sir Donald Doran-Smith, who talked "off the record", described further, more far-reaching hardships engendered by Japanese administration. Different officials emphasized some points and minimized others, but generally agreed on the following:

The bottom has fallen out of Burma's economy, since it is a single-crop (rice) agricultural country which annually exported more than 3,500,000 tons, which the Japanese are now unable to take because of lack of transportation.

Disease — both human and cattle — is rampant because of Japanese failure to provide agricultural stocks and their practice of innoculating civilians only in towns where troops are garrisoned.

There has been almost no importation of consumers' goods, creating extreme commodity scarcity, especially cloth, and skyrocketing prices.

Banditry and lawlessness have increased with the breakdown of administrative and police machinery and use of arms and ammunition picked up from battlefields.

Japanese troops have billeted themselves on villages for weeks at a time, depleted their food stocks, raped their women and then moved on.

In a land that is 84 per cent. ardently Buddhist, the Japanese are using the priests (pongis) as a medium for circulating and giving ethical sanction to their edicts, a practice which is arousing Burmese resentment.

The Japanese have done little administratively to benefit Burmese, civilians. "In a sense good propaganda, since they claim they are not interfering in local government."

And Burmese, except bandit "bad hats" and a few politicians fattening under Japanese support, are ready — and would fight for — a house cleaning, all observers agreed.

But Burma is in a straightjacket. It's up to the Allies in India and China, equipped to meet Japan's war machine, to call the next trick.

Six members of the British Army in the West Indies were among officer candidates at a recent course at the Officers' Training Centre at Brockville.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

HOMEMADE PIE

Hello Homemakers! Big brown and handsome — juicy — bubbling and apple-y — what's the sweetheart dessert from the oven. Mom's pie fairly whoops!

Big brown and handsome— tired, but happy — comes the man-in-uniform on furlough, for a piece of homemade pie. He really whoops if they are good.

You can, too; make a grand pie-crust. If you're worrying about it, follow the rules and don't fuss. And fillings are as legion as they are luscious, so try our suggestions.

Double Crust Pastry

Two cups flour, one teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup shortening, five or six tablespoons water.

Sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water a tablespoonful at a time, tossing flour mixture together. Turn on a piece of wax paper. Gather up and pressing from the outside form a compact mass. Chill in electric refrigerator. Roll out lightly.

Plum Pie

Cook plums in a little water until soft. Remove stones; mix with sugar to sweeten (about one cup) and a tablespoon of cornstarch. Drain off excess juice. Slice in one apple. Fill lined pie plate, cover and bake.

Pumpkin Pie

One and one-quarter cups strained pumpkin, half-cup sugar, two tablespoons molasses (if obtainable), one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, half-teaspoon salt, two eggs, one and one-half cups of scalded milk.

Mix first five ingredients together. Add beaten egg yolks and mix in milk. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in one crust.

Peach Pie

Two cups cut up fresh peaches, one - eighth teaspoon allspice, three-quarters cup sugar, one teaspoon butter, one teaspoon of cornstarch.

Mix the ingredients together. Use as filling for two-crust pie.

Note: If the boy or girl in uniform is expected, cut narrow bias strips of pastry and outline the name or rank on top of the pie before it goes into the oven.

TAKE A TIP :

1 To make a flaky pie-crust more care must be taken than in making a crumbly crust. Very soft fats do not make as nice a flaky crust as the firmer fats (lards or shortening).

2 Sift flour and measure. Add salt.

3 In mixing the ingredients for cold water pastry be sure the shortening and water are COLD. Cut two-thirds of the fat in, using two knives — one in each hand "pencil style," or pick and drop pieces of fat with some four until mixture is like coarse oatmeal. Sprinkle a little water on at a time using a fork to toss the mixture together.

4 When the mixture can be moulded together place on a slightly floured board and roll out with a floured rolling pin. Dot on pieces of the remaining fat. Fold and roll up in wax paper. Place in upper part of electric refrigerator for at least fifteen minutes.

6 Shift the sheet of pastry around a couple of times while rolling into a circular shape. Then flip in half shape which makes it easier to lift to pie plate; unfold and press into shape of plate. Prick several places to prevent "bubbles." Put in filling.

7 Roll out top crust quickly. Make slashes or cut-outs for steam to escape. Lightly dampen the edge of the lower crust. Place top on, trim with sharp knife using a downward stroke or clip with shears to within half an inch of plate and fold under.

8 Crimp the edge, pressing the edge between the forefinger and thumb of one hand and forefinger of the other.

9 We cut 3-inch strips of butter wrapping and wet it, then stick it to the edge of pie plate and let it fall over the dough. This prevents juices from boiling out.

10 Place in hot oven (450 deg.) for ten minutes, then reset the automatic electric dial to 350 deg. for the remaining thirty minutes for fruit pies.

THE QUESTION BOX

With the announcement of the rationing of jams and jellies, etc., we are answering problems on jelly making by sending our Wartime Jams and Jellies leaflet to signed addresses — yours for the asking.

Mrs. J. M. asks: Is bread flour satisfactory for making pastry?

Answer: Yes, but use two tablespoons per cup more shortening and do not roll more than absolutely necessary.

Mrs. S. G. asks: Will planking a prepared pie in a warm place for a few minutes prevent boiling over?

Answer: No. Place cold pie in hot oven. Lower the temperature if it begins to boil over.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write her care of The Napanee Beaver. Send in your questions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:—

What is the score, Chum? The last time I heard, you were knee deep in household problems but, no doubt, by this time, you are triumphantly on top of the heap, regaling other young matrons on your acquaintance with a success story on some such subject as "how I banished dirt-spots and the fear of fart." Or maybe the utmost confidence that you will tell me any problem that comes your way, in the same indomitable fashion that you once applied to my algebra homework. Remember? That seems a long time ago and there has been much water under the bridge since then. You were going to be a fashion artist and I was counting on starting the world with a best seller; so much for crystal-gazing with pots and pans and the bridge club, and here I am in my khaki uniform, unquiet queen of the clipping department. Oh, I cub report from time to time but my main forte is clipping, still. Never in my wildest dreams did I imagine that I would ever don a uniform. You will recall that I always gave the Girl Guides a wide berth but that was in a world where war seemed unthinkable, a world which had been "made safe for democracy." Pale plays some strange tricks, does it not?

I expect you will be amused to hear that I was "orderly officer" last Sunday night — a beastly chore. I thought that I was a past-master in the art of sidestepping such duties but it finally caught up with me. I still think it smacks of conspiracy. There were several sergeants wearing smug and satisfied smiles when the duty roster was posted. You see, I have been quite frequently and as a result, avoid most of the chores which normally would come my way and, I suspect, that some of my chums went out of their way to see that I was not overlooked for orderly. Very thoughtful, too! If I ever catch the wretch that wished it on me. . . Yes, I will!

Incidentally, Sunday night is a jinx night for the poor orderly who must stay on duty until the last weekend straggler has checked in, usually, as dawn is breaking. Trains in Kingston arrive at ungodly hours and it means an all-night job when I called the roll and tucked all the good little C.W.A.C. in bed at 10:45 p.m., then I locked the doors and stretched myself on a chesterfield, near the door, where I would hear the bell when it rang. It did at regular intervals, coinciding with my catnaps. Every time I snatched forty winks there would be a peal. Confidentially, I found myself looking with a very jaundiced eye upon the happy C.W.A.C. returning starry-eyed from weekend leave, to be addressed by their faithful watchman, Sergt. Nickey herself. You have accused me of viewing life in the C.W.A.C. through the most kindly of rose spectacles — and I confess I would let you in on one of its bleaker moments. I will now assuage your envy by assuring you that such moments are few and far between.

I am feeling very frivolous tonight and just in the mood for a party as it is fortunate that I have been invited to a dance at the airport. There is a tawdry-type sergeant in airforce blue who has been telling me about planes and the men who fly them. Very interesting! Tell Dave that I have come to the conclusion that the junior service has its points, too.

I must scurry for my plait to give myself a thorough overhauling. I think a dash of perfume might be in order, too. Sergeant Gaczinski brought back from her home in Cornwall last week-end a tall intriguing bottle of "Honeysuckle." That will do nicely.

Hastily,
NICKEY.

THE PLIGHT OF THE GREEKS

One hundred and fifty thousand Greeks in Eastern Macedonia and Thrace have been forced to leave their homes, it has been revealed by George Exindaris, former Greek Minister of Agriculture and Member of Parliament who has escaped to Cairo.

Exindaris stated that, as they did in the Bulgarian army occupied the Greek territory of Eastern Macedonia and Thrace, they closed schools and forbade the use of the Greek language. Between September and October 1941, when the Bulgarians were still neutral, Germany would win the war, they carried out mass executions on the pretext of anti-Bulgarian activity, and deported many thousands of Greeks.

The surviving inhabitants are allowed only about one-quarter of a pound of bread per day, and are required by a recent decree to wear shoes between Greek and Bulgarian national dress. Those who choose to remain Greek are obliged to live in other parts of Greece, leaving all their property behind. Very few of the inhabitants of the area have elected to take Bulgarian nationality, and as a result the number of refugees increased daily.

Exindaris expressed the fear that if the war lasts much longer, the Greek population of Eastern Macedonia and Thrace, which was originally almost 100% will be almost totally exterminated.

HOUSEWIVES DISAPPOINTED WITH "D" COUPONS VALUE

Housewives who went to grocery stores last week, when the "D" coupons for jams, jellies etc. became valid, were disappointed because in most cases their available coupons would not procure them the bottle goods they desired. The few coupons the average family possessed would buy very little of the bottled fruits and jellies. Many customers went away without being able to make their intended purchases. In Napanee some groceries had a fair supply of jams jellies and other sweets but there were not enough coupons to buy them, and housewives decided to wait until they had accumulated enough coupons to make their desired purchases.

According to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board one "D" coupon is good for six fluid ounces of jam, jelly, marmalade, extracted honey, apple butter, maple butter or honey butter; or one-half pound net of maple sugar or comb honey, in squares; or 10 fluid ounces of canned fruit; or 16 fluid ounces of molasses or maple syrup; or 12 fluid ounces of corn syrup; or 12 fluid ounces of corn syrup, cane syrup or any blended table syrup. If none of these things is wanted, coupons may be used for one-half pound net of sugar

EXTRA SYRUP FOR INFANTS

Ottawa, (B.U.P.) Infants are allowed special concessions under the new rationing system for corn syrup announced recently by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Under the rationing system "D" coupons will each be good for twelve fluid ounces of corn syrup, cane syrup or other blended table syrup, and two of these coupons will become good each month.

For infants who need more than this amount, arrangements have been made for local ration boards to exchange regular sugar coupons from the baby's ration book for extra "D" coupons. The exchange will be on the basis of one sugar coupon for two "D" coupons so that a maximum of 48 fluid ounces of corn syrup per month, in addition to the regular ration, will be available for infants whose diets require corn syrup rather than a sugar feeding formula.

The exchange of coupons may be made for infants of two years and under, and the complete ration book must be presented when the exchange is made.

DIME MESSAGES

A ten word message for a dime. This service is one of the many made available to soldiers in training at the Canadian Ordnance Corps Training Centre at Barrfield. This service, however, at the present time, is limited to Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton every night, with a special message service on Friday nights only to Kitchener, Waterloo, London, Windsor, St. Catharines, Peterborough, Ottawa and Brill.

Deadline for the receiving of messages is 7 p.m. when they are long-distanced to central points in the above cities, and relayed immediately by telephone to those for whom they are intended.

This service has proved very popular with the soldiers at Barrfield, who wish to get news quickly to their parents and loved ones, who live in the centres where the service has been established.

OUR THANKS

to the School Boys and Girls of Napanee and District

During the past summer, over fifty local school girls and boys materially aided the War effort by assisting in the manufacture of essential wooden component parts in the Gibbard Plant. This space has been taken to publically express our appreciation to them for their efforts.

With war production in our plant taking as much as 70% of our manufacturing capacity, we were hard pressed for help. These young people came with us when the schools closed in June and were of tremendous assistance during the summer months.

We feel that they enjoyed working with us and liked the pleasant plant surroundings which we are endeavouring to provide for our workers. It wasn't easy going for them all the time. During the many hot days, some of which must have seemed long, they stuck right to their jobs. We helped them along through providing rest periods, supplying cool drinks, canteen services and playing music while they worked .... little extras for which so many have expressed their appreciation.

A COUNTRY EDITOR SEES Ottawa

WRITTEN SPECIALLY FOR THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS OF CANADA by JIM GREENBLAT, Editor of the SUN SWIFT CURRENT SASKATCHEWAN

We hear a lot about manpower, but what about Canadian womanpower? Well, there are 4,240,000 women over 14 years of age in Canada. Here are some interesting figures about them. As of January 30, 1943, of this number there were 1,152,000 in industry and 255,000 directly or indirectly in war industry. Farm women numbered 630,000; women students 300,000. There were more than 31,567 in the armed services (and that figure must be considerably increased by this time). 200,000 are considered unemployable.

+ + +

Canada's vegetable oil industry is one of those revolutionized, in a sense by the necessities of this global war. This industry is, of course, agricultural. Take flaxseed, of which 53 per cent. of that used was imported in 1939. In 1942, however, all of the 3,286,195 bushels used were of domestic origin. Our acreage objective for 1943 is 2,402,000 or an astounding increase over the previous year of 67 per cent. All these changing phases having to do with our agricultural and industrial economy will be part of the post-war problem.

+ + +

Harking back to the Order-in-Council which made it an offense to waste coal or heat, owing to the serious fuel situation facing Canada, it is interesting to know that our normal peacetime coal needs are about 30 million tons. This year, geared to such a high war tempo, provision must be made for about 47 million tons. Canadians can be selfish as individuals and sneak excessive heat, more than necessary, or they can play ball for the good of all in Canada. It's really co-operation for national conservation instead of coercion that is wanted.

+ + +

The Quebec conferences enhances Canada's status in the eyes of the world. In this connection I find that in 1937 our capital city could boast only two legations, four consulates and one 28th Commissioner's office. Today there are representatives of 22 nations always in close touch with the Canadian government. The housing shortage in Ottawa creates problems, too, for numerous commercial and military attaches and their staffs. A very international flavor is exhuded when one comes across the flags of United Nations in front of various homes and buildings scattered around the city.

+ + +

Children in the country, here's a war job for you. The National Research Council needs 100,000 lbs. or more of common milkweed for experiments in blending with certain types of synthetic rubber. It will be paid for. Farmers who have goodly stands of the weed can cut with a binder, lagging a long stubble of at least eight inches and making small sheaves. Dried sheaves shipped collect to Ottawa will be worth $30 a ton. For further information write Dr. Harold A. Senn, Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

+ + +

When you hear of abandoned farms, you think of former drought areas of western Canada. Therefore it might jolt far easterners and far westerners to know that an official release just out shows that in Eastern Canada there are between 12,000 and 13,000 farms, covering about a million and a half acres, abandoned, lying idle for some time. Surveys show, paralleling the western causes much the same, they were abandoned because land was originally submarginal for agricultural purposes; some because of unsound farm practices, etc.

+ + +

It is amazing the number of people who come in a continual flow, from various parts of Canada and the United States, and visit the Peace Tower. To reach the top and get that wonderful panorama view from the balcony right under the big clock, one has to climb a couple of short series or stairs and ascend by two different elevators — one slow, the other faster. The attendants everywhere are, I find on every visit, most courteous. The Memorial Chamber is worth a visit to Ottawa alone. On the descent one is always given a good view of the famous carillon bells.

+ + +

They say the cost of living in Ottawa is really high, but how does it compare with things out your way? Here are a few average prices listed by the Ottawa Citizen the day of this writing. sirloin steak 40.8 lb; round steak 36.8 lb.; prime rib rolled roast 42.2 lb.; ham, boiled, 67.5 lb. and medium bacon 48.1 lb.; grade 'A' eggs, 44.3 dozen, creamery butter 39.5 lb.; Canadian cheese 32.4 lb.; oranges 40.6 cents dozen. United States anthracite stove coal at $16.75 ton; vegetable shortening 19.1 lb. I do know restaurant eating, piece by piece, is high—but if one shops around off the main by-ways it is possible to dine reasonably, even if not in fancy surroundings.

GOLDEN CORN ON THE COB FAVORITE WITH FAMILIES EVERYWHERE

"The corn is ripe on the ear" and the succulent golden kernels of corn on the cob make one of the most popular meals it is possible to serve the family at this time of year.

This favourite dish certainly runs away with butter and a few feeds of corn on the cob can play havoc with the family's weekly ration. The way of making sure that the butter supply situation does not get out of hand is to butter the cobs before they are brought to the table, using a pastry brush dipped in melted butter to do the job.

Corn served off the cob makes for butter economy and there are many delicious dishes that can be made with either fresh or canned corn. The kernels may be cut from the cob before cooking, or the ears may be cooked in boiling water for 6 to 10 minutes, depending on maturity. One medium ear of corn will make half-cup after cutting from the cob.

Recent tests made in the kitchens of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have shown that the kernels are toughened when corn is cooked in salted water. Among many recipes for corn dishes tested lately, these were found to be specially good.

MEXICAN CORN SAUTE

Three cups uncooked corn, cut from the cob, half-cup diced green pepper, one-quarter cup of diced sweet red pepper, two tablespoons fat, half-teaspoon sugar, salt and pepper.

Combine everything but the salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over slow heat for ten minutes. Uncover, add salt and pepper and cook two minutes longer. Serves six.

CORN AND TOMATO CHOWDER

Three tablespoons chopped onion one-third cup chopped celery, three tablespoons fat, one and one-half cups corn—three medium ears, two teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one and one-half teaspoons of sugar, three cups milk, scalded, one-third of a cup cracker crumbs.

Sauté onion and celery in fat until light brown. Add tomatoes, peeled and cut in pieces and the corn. Cook fifteen minutes. Add salt, pepper and sugar and stir well. Add to the hot milk, stir in cracker crumbs and serve at once. Serves six.

V

TOMATOES PROBABLY THE MAJOR CANNING CROP THIS YEAR

Tomatoes will pronably be the major canning crop this year and mere women will be canning more tomatoes than ever before.

It is fortunate that tomatoes, so high in food value and so versatile in their various uses, are the easiest of all vegetables to can.

METHOD ONE

Select fresh, firm, fully ripened tomatoes that are free from blemish. Sort and grade the tomatoes, setting aside those that are to be used for the juice. Wash these, cut them in pieces and cook over a slow fire for five minutes. Strain and keep hot.

Blanch the other tomatoes a few at a time, by dipping into boiling water or steam for half-minute. Immediately dip in cold water. Slip off the skin, remove core and peel whole into sterilized sealers. Fill the sealers with boiling hot tomato juice. Add half-teaspoon salt to each pint and one teaspoon salt to each quart sealer. Adjust rubber ring and partially seal. Process:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Pints | 30 minutes |
| Quarts | 35 minutes |
| Oven, 375 deg. F. | |
| Pints | 35 minutes |
| Quarts | 45 minutes |
| Pressure cooker (5 lbs.) | |
| Pints and Quarts | 15 minutes |

Remove from processor as soon as processing time is up and immediately complete the seal.

METHOD TWO

Tomatoes that are soft but not over-ripe or are extra large or poorly shaped may be canned by this method. Wash, blanch, cold, dip, peel and remove core as above. Cut up the tomatoes and pack into sterilized sealers squashing the tomatoes down so that enough juice is extracted to fill the sealers. Add salt as in method 1.

IT'S A NEW ONE

A private at the Canadian Basic Training Centre #3 went on sick parade with a termed a terrible headache to get the medical officer to some considerable time to

"How often do you get asked the M.O.

"Every ten minutes," hopeful soldier.

"And how long does it M.O. enquired.

"About half an hour," ply, which placed the in the ranks to continue ing.

MOHAWK FLYERS ENTER ONTARIO PLAY-OFF

On Saturday afternoon of this week the Flyers from Mohawk Airport, tourney in Simcoe meet the No. 1 Bombing Gunnery School Softball team from Jarvis in the first of a two out of three series for the Ontario championship in the Intermediate "B" class of the O.A.S.A.

The return game is scheduled to be played at the Ribbard Park, Napanee, on the following Saturday, September 25th, in the afternoon.

All the contests at the Jarvis Flyers are a well balanced and hard hitting outfit. These series with Collingwood for the zone play-offs had to go to three games in order to decide a winner, and the local Flyers will have to play exceptionally smart ball to clinch the honors.

Further details of the game here will be available later this week, and fans should watch for the posters.

BD. OF EDUCATION AT MONDAY MEETING ENGAGES NEW TEACHER

Replaces Miss McQuade Resigned on Account of Ill Health

Owing to ill-health Miss Margaret McQuade, who has been classics teacher at the N.C.V.I. for the last several years, has been forced to resign and the Napanee Board of Education, at their meeting on Monday evening, accepted the resignation of Miss McQuade.

Miss McQuade's resignation was unexpected and came after the 1st term of the school had opened. The chairman of the Board, P. U. Laidley, also chairman of the management committee, J. M. Simpson, and the principal of the school, C. E. Jamieson, went to Toronto on Saturday and were able to secure the services of Mr. Crook at a salary of $1900 per year.

Mr. Crook is not a specialist, but will be accepted as such, on account of his standing, for present purposes by the Department of Education. Mr. Crook is a young married man and, until recently, was connected with the R. C. A. F., from which he was demobilized. He is a graduate of Toronto University and was

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

We are so accustomed in Democratic countries to the indoor pastime of denouncing ourselves in general and our governments in particular, that often we do ourselves a disservice. There is a middle of the road position. We do not like to hear a nation, any more than an individual, boasting unduly of its accomplishments. Perhaps, Munitions Minister Howe's statement as to the amount of war production now being done by Canadians is a justifiable cause for pride. It is rather a creditable achievement that, on the production side alone, to say nothing of the food and other farm goods we are shipping overseas, Canada is producing $55,000,000 worth of munitions a week. In the year ending September 1, 1943, Canada had produced $3,094,000,000 worth of war materials, exclusive of timber, food, fish, base metals, and similar commodities. It is estimated that 1,100,000 persons are engaged directly or indirectly in war work. The development in amount produced and people employed has been without parallel in the history of Canada. In the year ending September 1, 1940, total war production was $225,000,000, with 300,000 employed. In three years, this has grown to production of $3,094,000,000 with 1,100,000 employees.

By the end of this year, Mr. Howe announced "Canada will have launched approximately 750 ships, delivered more than 10,000 aircraft; military vehicles will have passed the 600,000 mark and armored fighting vehicle output the 35,000 level. The nation will have turned out nearly 100,000 guns, barrels and mountings, as well as 1,000,000 small arms." These are but a few of the figures which Mr. Howe presented to the Canadian public. They should give us a justifiable pride in our achievement.

At the same time, it takes little thought and imagination to conjure up a picture of desolation and confusion which would follow upon the order to stop all this wartime activity. Some day it will all stop. Then there will be a period of readjustment and change-over to peacetime production. What will happen in the meantime? What will happen to the 1,000,000 war-workers?

A nation which has the gifts, brains, will power and organizing genius to accomplish all that has been done in war time, can solve our national post-war economic problems, if there is the same unity of purpose, the same determination as that exhibited during the past three years. It is not too much to hope that those who have been responsible for the present achievements will tackle all the post-war problems, as they have done those of the war period.

THE SCENE CHANGES

The military scene has changed quite materially with the capitulation of Italy. It has been a most favorable turn for the United Nations. At this time of writing the situation is not clarified. It will take a few days for the Germans to get adjusted to the new military conditions. It will also take the United Nations, moving with every speed possible, some days to accomplish their complete plans for the occupation of Italy. There are some hundreds of thousands of Nazi soldiers in Italy. They are hampered in any attempt they might make to get out. The Brenner Pass, the narrow bottleneck which forms the only means of communication between Italy and Europe has been blasted time and again by United Nations bombers. The exit from that area would be difficult in the extreme.

The probability is that the Germans will elect to fight it out in Italy. They are experts in fighting their battle on other peoples' territory and may be counted on to oppose every move the United Nations will make to occupy the Peninsula.

The Allies are not under any illusions on that score. It was this realization that the capitulation did not end the struggle in Italy which led to the cancellation of the order for a nationwide celebration in Canada. Events are moving with great rapidity. This has been called a war of movement. Events in the Italian theatre bear this out. It is hard to tell what may happen at any moment. The important matter for the Allies is that they hold the initiative and are able to call the time.

Italy and the Italian people are paying a terrible price for their tolerance of Mussolini. They were never very enthusiastic about this war. They were led into it when it looked like a sure thing for them. But their decision to enter the war against Great Britain has led to one disaster after another. Italy has lost her empire, her cities have been bombed and blasted. Thousands of her sons have been killed, and other thousands wounded. Nor is the end yet. No matter what happens from now on, Italy stands to suffer. Though she will undoubtedly suffer less as a nation under the United Nations, than she was suffering when the whole might of the Democracies was bearing down on her country and people. Italy, which might have had a glorious place in history, even under Mussolini, had he confined his activities to the social and moral well-being of his people, has signed a dishonorable peace and is at the mercy of those who have always been her best friends, and would have continued to be friendly.

PRIVILEGE AND RESPONSIBILITY

Speaking at Harvard University, the other day, Premier Churchill spoke plainly with respect to the part which The United States must play in the post-war world. He told the American people that they were a great people and the price of greatness was responsibility. The United States has become a strong and powerful nation. They can no longer live to themselves alone. The experiment along that line following the end of the First World War was a contributing factor to the breakdown of the League of Nations, and of collective security. If the United States is to avoid the mistakes of the past, she must assume a large share in the post-war world.

The address of Prime Minister Churchill came at an opportune time. For just now the American people are getting their plans in shape for the next general election. The present administration has recognized that, and to some extent, at any rate, is planning for the future.

The Republican Party, on the other hand, is divided on the subject. Traditionally isolationists, there are still those of influence in the party who are convinced that the future of the Republican Party is bound up with a policy of self-sufficiency. However, Wendell Willkie is convinced that The United States must assume a large share of responsibility for post-war conditions. His trip around the world, when he was able to see for himself the world-wide need, has opened his eyes to the larger responsibility devolving upon the United States. Not only so, but Governor Dewey, who is a strong contender for the Republican nomination, has recently come out in favour of American participation in post-war rehabilitation. It would seem then, that both leading candidates of the Republican nomination, are committed to the policy of having The United States assume large responsibility for keeping the peace in the post-war world.

It must not be assumed, however, that the policy will be adopted without a struggle. The United States has grown and prospered on the theory and practice of self-sufficiency. Large sections of the country still believe that The United States should keep out of world politics. This sentiment, centering largely in the Middle West and Southern States exerts a powerful influence in framing political policies. Between now and November 1944, the diverse opinions will be well thrashed out on the platform and some decision will be made.

Mr. Churchill's address, therefore, was very timely. Mr. Churchill did not take sides in the American debate, but what he did was to remind the Americans that greatness brings responsibility. He further suggested that the future peace of the world could better be assured if the splendid spirit of co-operation now moving The United States and Great Britain to concerted action, was maintained after the war.

The United States is a great nation. It has potential and actual powers second to none. In finance, trade and economics, it already operates on a world scale. It would seem that the natural course to pursue would be to take a place in the Council of Nations and when the war is over, work along with Great Britain and Russia to assure the settlement of all international disputes by negotiation.

AFIELD

Our duties took us yesterday, September 9th, over quite a section of Northern Saskatchewan, from Saskatoon to Prince Albert, and down to Melfort. This is being written in the Hotel Winston, at Melfort. This part of Saskatchewan promises large and bountiful crops. For several days it had rained, but now the weather is dry, and the binder, combine, swather, and thresher, are abroad in the land. The rain did little damage, save to delay the harvesting operations a little. But the bright prairie sun soon clears away all surplus moisture.

There have been sections in which hail has played havoc with the crops, particularly around Biggar and Wilkie. There was, in these places a feeling of disappointment, but a hopeful looking-forward to another year. The yield, where it has matured normally, is heavy. Wheat, particularly so. We got a picture of a crop in stook which will measure up to 100 bushels an acre. This was a small experimental field crop but from a regular prairie farm. The houses and barns look well kept and many have been recently painted. The shortage of help is a terrifying prospect. It is not unusual to see one man trying to harvest the crop on a half-section. Modern machinery helps, but even at that it will be late before it is all harvested. Last night there was a heavy frost, but it is too late to do damage, save to the garden plots. On the whole, in this part of Saskatchewan, the farmer is satisfied with the crop conditions. There are other conditions tied up with marketing over which they are, by no means, so enthusiastic.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor,
The Napanee Beaver.

FORMER RESIDENT DEPLORES DECLINE OF GOLF COURSE

Toronto, Sept. 10, 1943.

Dear Editor:

The pleasure of my recent week-end in Napanee, received a hard jolt when I learned the condition of the fairways of the Napanee Golf and Country Club. I had been looking forward to another round on the good picturesque nine-hole course in Ontario. To say that I was disappointed on learning that the course had reverted to pasture, is putting it very, very mildly.

I quite realize the struggle the Club has had for the last few years, to keep going. Even nature has seemed to be against it, the last two years, excessive moisture and abnormal growth, to nothing of the labor shortage, have not been exactly on its side. The Clubs' few paid hands put up a grand fight and apparently have lost. As I understand it, the R.C.A.F. Detachment came to their rescue and after getting the course in fair condition, were refused free ground fees. This seems hard to believe. The camp at Deseronto is to be a permanent affair and is composed of talented men from all over the British Empire, and I'm a rabid passage of golfers. Deseronto has not failed to offer them in the way of recreation. Consequently every turn to Napanee, viz: softball and golf! They are an invaluable asset to the town in many ways and should be given every encouragement possible.

At the annual meeting in 1942, I suggested that, following the example of many golf courses of our Allies across the line, they purchase a few sheep, build a small corral in the gully where they could be driven in at night, and hire a smart boy and a dog to shepherd them each day to an assigned part of the fairways. Sheep would do a better job than any mower, because they crop closely around all obstacles. The government has asked the country to raise more sheep, to increase the wool supply for war materials. The sheep would more than pay for themselves at the end of the season, in these days of meat rationing.

The criticism was mostly destructive and that was that. It is not too late to do something about it. If left until next year it will require the expenditure of thousands of dollars (if any) to put the course in shape again. With such an excellent clubhouse on such a wonderful location, it would be a crime to let it go.

Here is a dig. Some of the stockholders have not been near the place for years and yet they expect a return on their investments. Enough said!

INTERESTED.

SALVATION ARMY CARRIES ON

Brass Bands marching men off to war may clook its music with harsher martial rhythm, shuffling feet on crowded pavements may muffle its tempting, many-colored uniforms of half the world no more the adornment of Nova Scotian town may subdue children who are waifs among mothers, the aged, the sick or the deserving.

The Salvation Army is an amazing organization, though today its achievements, no longer unrivalled, may often be overlooked. It is basically a church, but is possessed of faith. It boasts no dizans of finance or industry among its leaders, but is built instead, upon the broad shoulders of common, Christian folk.

Started in a London slum's degradation, it reaches today to the topmost levels of a thousand communities in a hundred countries.

Survivor of many Great War, it finds in this second world conflict new trials yet greater opportunities to serve.

With all it is doing for men and women in the armed services of the United Nations—in enemy lands it has been allowed to minister and its democratic—it has not neglected the old to serve which it began the meeting of human emergencies wherever and whenever found with an understanding and compassion born of experience and with practical measurable help.

THE DREADED GESTAPO CHIEF WINS MORE POWER

Heinrich Himmler's appointment as German Minister of the Interior has interpreted few political disguises from Berlin today as a move to keep the Nazis on top to the bitter end and check any inclination toward weakness on the home front.

The Berlin correspondents of the Neue Zuercher Zeitung, declaring the appointment had a "meaning which cannot be misunderstood," described the move as "a warning to all willing to start new political trends."

Coming close on the heels of the Fascist's final mass aerial raid on Berlin, Himmler's election was seen as a possible indication that morale in Germany is lower than hitherto had been believed.

The Neue Zuercher Zeitung dispatch said the situation was one "in which it is convenient for the Nazis to find a scapegoat."

Himmler's appointment means that the dreaded Gestapo chief also assumes direct charge of thousands of civil servants and bureaux throughout the country. One Geneva hitherto has kept him informed of what nearly everyone is doing in his new post will both simplify his job and extend his power.

It was promised that the appointment must have been made with the consent and approval of the army thus indicating that the top military leaders still are ready to carry on the war in co-operation with the Hitler regime despite old differences with the Nazi party.

Were this not so, the army doubtless would not have permitted a man of Himmler's calibre to assume one of the most important posts in the Reich.

The Neue Zuercher Zeitung said the designation "services and party" definitely to discredit rumors of any cleavage of the regime."

The Swiss paper the Tat interpreted Himmler's appointment as "a radical action by the interior policy," involving tightened control of the home front, elimination of dissenters without mercy, speedier evacuations from bombed areas and the replacing of incapable party bosses in danger zones.

The Times of London described Himmler's designation as "the most outstanding piece of news which has been issued from the interior policy front for months." Dispatches from Switzerland said that Hitler was there as an indication that Hitler thought it necessary to take stern measures to keep the home front in line and prevent any recurrence of the collapse of 1918. A military commentator said Hitler's action was equivalent to making his "iord high executioner chief executive" and police minister of the entire country.

Top Allied air strategists also found in Himmler's appointment fresh support for their conviction that an allout air attack will open the way to invasion within a matter of months. Strategists insisted that to impose the strong hand of Himmler upon the with the greatest speed, all available air strength must be concentrated on the number one target—the Reich.

Whether such a decision had been made at Quebec is not known. But it should be pointed out that when air strategists speak of an all-out attack they mean literally that—the hurling by the European theatre something close to the total output of American heavy bomber planes and concentration in this theatre of substantial numbers of the heavy bombardment groups not scattered around the world.

These experts recognize that it would mean short shrift for many months to come while Germany was being blasted from the rear. But they would be a matter of only a few months, after which it should be a simple task to reinforce the weakened sector by ground forces.

It also would mean a parallel policy to the bombing of slowing down of large scale deliveries of planes to the African front to concentrate all planes in Europe.

In the view of air strategists this policy would enable the United States Air Force to double the tempo of its weight of day attacks in a matter of a few weeks, planting them on a scale comparable to the R.A.F.'s night bombardment.

The R.A.F. would be able then to increase the frequency of its night attacks, possibly to something approaching every other night rather than the present average of 10 heavy attacks a month,—or, alternatively, it would let the R.A.F. increase the weight of its current scale of attack.

Notably these views are shared by both British and American strategists and by no means are confined to those in charge of heavy bomber planes.

The argument is advanced that attacks on the present scale coupled with the steady advance of the Russian faltering, already have forced the Germans to extreme measures to maintain their production activity.

If the Allied air force could have enough planes to force the Germans to fight almost constantly day and night in the air, air strategists believe that the Luftwaffe fighter force could be brought to a point where it would hit the down-curve that drove it from the air over Britain and Sicily. Once that point is reached, they feel the Allies could attack Germany at will by air and the issue would be a matter of mathematical calculation.

Associated Press War Analyst

This columnist once consulted the delphic oracle at the shimmering base of Mount Parnassus in Greece, and came away with more concrete information than was disclosed by Messrs. Churchill and Roosevelt in their press conference on the promontory at Quebec at the close of their momentous parley.

The Allied pair did a highly-polished job of playing their cards close to their chests—each after his own fashion. F. D. R. went through the ordeal quite impassively, so we are told by correspondents. While the Prime Minister fidgeted.

The puckish - faced John Bull creased and recreased his legs, loosened his collar, mopped his forehead, and "once he got a firm hold on a half-smoked cigar and hurled it far out over the bluffs of the St. Lawrence River." Having observed Mr. Churchill at close range in London over many years, I wonder whether he really was fidgety, or whether he was putting on one of his little shows for the boys. I have a suspicious mind.

Both men made smooth speeches, but neither disclosed much. However, joking aside, we didn't want them to do a lot of talking for the benefit of the enemy.

What really matters is that the conference radiated supreme confidence, and we know from past experience that another big job has been well done. The two leaders did emphasize that the Allied war machine is grinding ahead and that great events are impending. That's something satisfactory to get ahead with.

One of the most interesting —and likely important — points brought out was that since the Quebec conversations had much to do with planning the offensive against Japan, Russia wasn't invited to participate, because the Soviet Union isn't at war with the Nipponese. The fact that Russia and Japan are not fighting each other may mean much to us when we come to final grips with the Mikado's forces. Our greatest need will be airbases, and if we aren't able to use Russian soil we shall have to carve them out of Chinese territory now held by the enemy.

Well, while we should like to hear Moscow say that Siberian air bases would be available for the offensive against Japan, it's likely Marshal Stalin would be equally happy to hear that a "second front" is being opened in Western Europe. Maybe he will, but in that matter the "Supreme Twins" held their peace. They did indicate, however, that a conference among the big three — Britain, Russia and America — is expected, and that's of vast importance from the understanding.

Speaking of the second front, F.D.R. introduced a line of thought which interested the Press greatly. He pointed out that offensives can't be put through Hitler over night, and cited that what was planned in June of 1942, not effective until November. That was the invasion of North Africa. The plans made at Casablanca in January of 1943 didn't materialize until Tunisia and Sicily.

With that the President paused. He didn't mention that he and Mr. Churchill met in May and planned fresh adventures, which haven't yet developed. However, we undoubtedly are in the verge of something big in Europe — something devised in the May conference. And of course, the Quebec meeting has laid a course to knock out the Japs — a project which may take considerable time to develop.

Meanwhile we are to get ahead with the job of crushing Hitler. The sign point to the imminence of a Continental invasion, but speculation as to where it may come is fruitless. We'll wait and see what form of attack he is guessing.

It won't have to guess long, though, for the blow is near.

TORTURE AND SAVAGERY UNPARALLELED

BY JAMES EARL RYAN

The Inter-Allied information office in London on official persecution of Jews in Europe, recently released a report on Italy and their conduct of war. It set out with increasing emphasis the programme of what it called murder, torture and savagery alleged in world history. Detailing official German documents in charge of the Italian theatre, the report declared that Italian Jews have suffered "unparalleled persecution" since the Nazis occupied the country.

Poland

Poland has suffered more than any other country. Of the Nazi-created ghetto in Warsaw, the report declared that "the life expectancy of the Jews there is now only two months." From the time an individual is driven into a ghetto, he is considered as dead. Ownership of property and other rights are believed to be terminated.

At least 1,000,000 Jews have been slaughtered. Jewish children die of starvation and disease at the rate of 6,000 a month. Deaths in Poland during the first three years of the war totalled 3,000,000. Jewish deaths in Poland during the same period totalled 2,000,000. Jewish births in Poland during the three years numbered only 200,000.

Deportations

Deportations permit only 24 hours for preparation. Persons selected for deportation are told to be ready at a railroad car in the station. Each person is searched and his baggage is searched and his baggage is searched. Then he is loaded into the car, 50 to the car. Each car is sealed and is then attached to a train. Destination is usually unknown to the occupants. The report declared that the conditions in the cars are indescribable.

Poland

Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania and even Italy have had their life expectancy of Jews reduced from

Mr. and Mrs. L. Parks and Leila attended Centreville Fair on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Day were in Centreville on Saturday at the Fair, where Mrs. Day carried off a number of prizes.

BATH

Bath, Sept. 11. — The funeral of the late Mrs. Wemp was conducted in St. John's Church on Thursday afternoon by the Rector, Rev. L. G. O. Walker. The church was filled with friends and relatives, who came to pay their respects to one whom had been called so suddenly from our midst. The late Mrs. Wemp was formerly Laura Grant and had lived in this village since her marriage. She was a devoted member of St. John's Church. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, one daughter, Mrs. Eric Holt; two sons, Grant, of Montreal, and Floyd, of the R.C.A.F., also a sister in New York. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment took place in the family plot in St. John's cemetery.

Rev. L. G. O. and Mrs. Walker and Miss Beatrice are enjoying a holiday.

The Third and Fourth Forms are not in attendance at their classes in Bath School until September 20, in accordance with the regulations.

ENTERPRISE

Woman's Association

Enterprise, Sept. 11. — The September meeting of the W. A. of Enterprise United Church was held in the church basement. The President, Mrs. Potter, opened the meeting with a hymn, followed by prayer. Mrs. Pratt was pianist. Mrs. H. M. Jackson gave the scripture reading and Mrs. George Nelson the commentary on it. Mrs. Roy Hartman sang the solo "Have Thine Own Way, Lord". Mrs. Clayton Brown gave the Association a donation of money. Plans were made for a bazaar early in the fall. Canvassers were appointed to collect money in place of the usual fowl supper. The Association decided to donate $35.00 to the Church Board for their thankoffering. A hymn, the Mizpah, and "God Save the King" closed the meeting.

Women's Missionary Society

The W. M. S. of Enterprise United Church held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, September 8th, at the home of Mrs. Roy Hartman, with an attendance of 12. The President, Mrs. H. E. Vannest, gave the theme of the meeting and the call to worship, and opened with a hymn, followed by the Litany. Mrs. Wm. Jackson was pianist. Mrs. O. B. Jackson and Mrs. George Nelson were appointed to mark the bals in September. The quilt, which Mrs. Irvine Cryderman donated, was sold. Mrs. Roy Hartman gave a reading "Vacation Perils". The selection from the Bible was read by Mrs. Frank Jackson, which was followed with special prayers for the Armed Forces and victory, by Mrs. Roy Hartman, Mrs. Geo. Nelson, Mrs. Pryor, Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mrs. Storey and Mrs. H. E. Vannest. A booklet on "South African General Mission" was read by Mrs. H. M. Jackson, and a booklet on "Christ In Africa" was read by Mrs. George Nelson. Mrs. H. E. Frair dedicated the offering. The meeting closed with a missionary hymn and the benediction. The hostess served popcorn and candy. The next meeting will be a quilting in the church basement, with lunch.

Farewell for Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Sedore of the Free Methodist Church, Enterprise

A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent at the Free Methodist parsonage on Tuesday evening, September 7th, when 35 of the members and friends of the Missionary Society met to bid farewell to their minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Sedore. After an evening spent in social intercourse, an address was read by Miss Elsie Wagar, and, on behalf of the Society and friends, Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy presented the minister and his wife with a beautiful electric lamp, and Master Glenn Sedore with a purse of money. In a few words Mr. Sedore thanked the people for their gifts and invited all to visit them at their new home in Napanee. The serving of lunch brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

DR. HESS' CATTLE SPRAY IS THE BEST, WE BELIEVE, ON THE MARKET !

Reports from farmers using it all agree that this is the case ! Only one good spraying in the morning will keep them free. The 5-gallon Economy Pail sells at $6.50, or 1 gallon, with your container, $1.40. Sold in Napanee only at WALLACE'S, Sole Agents for Dr. Hess' Stock Products.

It's because we've cut so many corners that we've got things out of shape. The cure ? Go straight. Keep on the square.

Mr. Arthur Bertrim, of Belleville, was the week end guest of his sisters, Mrs. Fred Armstrong and Mrs. Moore Sandford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Long, of Alexandria, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pringle on Sunday.

MISS VERA McFARLANE, HOSTESS FOR BRIDE-TO-BE, AT PYREX SHOWER

Miss Vera McFarlane was hostess at a Pyrex shower, in honour of Miss Dorothy Jackson, whose marriage takes place this month. Pink and white streamers and bouquets of roses and gladioli lent a festive air for the occasion.

The evening was spent in games, riddles, music and contests. A gaily decorated bread wagon, filled with gifts was wheeled in by Florence and Helen McFarlane.

Miss Jackson thanked all present for the very useful pieces of Pyrex, after which lunch was served. A short sing-song followed. Mrs. Bertha Lavack accompanying at the piano.

We can plan for a post-war world in an hotel conference room. But we have to bring it up in our own dining rooms, and living rooms and class

Agriculture Minister Announces Increases In Milk Subsidies

Ottawa, (C.P.) — New and increased subsidies on dairy products to meet increased costs brought about by increases in feed grain failures in whole milk and cheese producing areas were announced Friday by J. G. Gardiner, Agricultural Minister.

Beginning October 1st and continuing until next April 30, subsidies will be paid to dairy producers as follows:

1. Fifty-five cents per 100 pounds of milk delivered to distributors of fluid milk and of such milk bought by distributors for fluid milk consumption as the Agricultural Food Board may direct. The present subsidy is 25 cents.
2. Thirty cents per 100 pounds of milk used in concentration purposes as the Agricultural Food Board may direct. No subsidy now is being paid although 25 cents was paid in March and April of this year for milk to be used for condensed, evaporated or whole-milk powder purposes.
3. Thirty cents per 100 pounds of milk used in the manufacture of Cheddar cheese. This subsidy is new.
4. The eight cents a pound subsidy on butter fat will be continued until December 31, and 10 cents a pound will be paid from January 1 to April 30th, 1944.

"It is expected that these subsidies, together with the prices at which milk sells, will make it possible for farmers to produce sufficient milk to provide the fluid milk, canned milk, cheese and butter necessary to feed the civilian and armed population as well as supply our Allies with such cheese, canned milk in considerable quantities," said the Minister's statement.

It is thought that if Western grain is moved east at present cell-ing prices in sufficient quantities, farmers in whole-milk and cheese producing area, with the assistance of subsidies, will be able to maintain production at a reasonable level."

It is expected, he said, that Ontario and Quebec farmers who have light crops will be supplied with sufficient grain at present costs to maintain their planned production of meat and dairy products.

ROADS TO DEATH

Railway workers have carried on steady sabotage in Poland, German military railroads to the Eastern front over Poland and east and west, giving Poland a strategic position of great importance to the German army. Consequently, the German High Command has recently been compelled to devote a special force of over 40,000 soldiers and S.S. men to the protection of railroads and roads against sabotage.

Thus far, it has been of no avail. A constant stream of reports tell of railway "accidents," derailments, fires, "stealing" of tools and machinery in passenger and freight trains.

A bridge near Przemysl (main junction for eastbound communications in Poland) was demolished and the Germans admitted saboteur Arrests were made amongst the local population. Dozens German soldiers guarding the bridge were arrested. The main line thus was lasted several days.

Thirty-five Polish railway workers were hanged in Wadowice near Cracow, the first of the year, for sabotage on the Cracow railway section. Three Polish workers were executed in Warsaw for being part of a "gang" that robbed German freight trains. Two Polish railwaymen in Radom were sentenced to death and five others received sentences from twelve years to life for attacking a train guard.

The Krakauer Zeitung—a Nazi paper — reports increasing Polish attacks on German trains and that Polish railway workers are deliberately slowing down.

The Germans report that saboteurs dug a hole in a secondary road running east from Warsaw, then covered it lightly with branches and earth. The next day the first truck in a Nazi munition column plunged into the trap, exploded and the next two trucks did the same thing. Five German soldiers were killed and the road made useless for the next few days.

WEDDING BELLS

MYLES - TAYLOR

Cooke's United Church, Kingston, was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding at 3:00 p.m., Saturday, September 4th, when the Rev. H. W. Cliff united in marriage Lenna Jean Taylor, youngest daughter of Mrs. Taylor and the late Charles R. Taylor of Elgin and Clayton Wray Myles, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Myles of Napanee. The church was effectively adorned for the occasion with gladioli, asters, and ferns and Miss Clark played the wedding music.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Eberl Morris, of Elgin, looked charming in a white floor-length gown of net and lace over taffeta and wore a headdress of bouvardia from which gracefully fell a three-quarter veil. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses and bouvardia.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Vera Taylor, Reg. Nurse, of Smith's Falls, who wore a pretty floor-length gown of heavenly blue net and carried an arm bouquet of red

Teachers' Salaries In Eight Provinces

Reflecting enlistment in the armed forces, together with the fact that other branches of employment provided more attractive remuneration, the number of male teachers in eight provinces of Canada, including Quebec, declined from 14,700 in 1939 to 12,600 in 1942, a net loss of 2'100. Fully 80 per cent of this loss was from the one-room rural schools, where the teachers were younger and lower-paid. There were 26,100 teachers reported in the eight provinces. There were approximately 17,000 one-room schools in the eight provinces. In other words, one-third of all teachers' work in such schools.

Under wartime conditions, teachers in the small schools are staying less than two years in their jobs, on the average, before moving on to another school or another kind of work. In the Maritime Provinces they are averaging $500 in Alberta, British Columbia and Ontario between $800 and $800. Accordingly in the province where the salaries are best, half of these teachers receive less than $70 monthly, and in some provinces half receive no more than $40 monthly.

During the first three years of war their salaries in the eight provinces increased on the average about $10 per month, but this was not enough to offset the comparative attractiveness of war employment, and in the year just ended a very considerable number of these small schools have either had to remain closed or to be put in charge of teachers without certificates.

In larger schools, during the first three years of war, salaries nowhere increased as much as $10 per month, except in Saskatchewan where they had not recovered from the low levels reached in the drought years. There were small increases, however, in all provinces but Prince Edward Island.

Rid The House Of Ants

Ants frequently enter dwellings in search of food. They can become, if not controlled, a great pest. They feed on many kinds of foodstuffs but are particularly fond of sweet or fatty substances. Ants may be discouraged from entering houses by keeping shelves, tables and floors in kitchen and pantries as free as possible from crumbs and other food fragments and by storing foodstuffs in ant-proof containers. In addition, openings in floors and walls should be carefully plugged.

The most satisfactory material so far discovered for destroying ants is sodium fluoride sold by druggists in the form of a white powder. The powder should be scattered or dusted lightly in places frequented by the ants and left undisturbed until the ants have disappeared. As sodium fluoride is somewhat poisonous, care should be taken to prevent children or animals pets from gaining access to it.

As an alternative, baits may be used. They may consist either of meat bones or sponges dipped in sweetened water. When large numbers of ants have collected on the baits they may be destroyed by immersion in very hot water. A bait trap which has been used with success may be made by taking a small tin with a tight lid, punching several holes in the sides and top, and placing a small piece of sponge inside moistened with a syrup prepared by mixing ten grains of sodium arsenate, six ounces of sugar, and one pint of hot water. In using this bait, great care must be taken because of the poisonous nature of sodium arsenate.

If we were charged for breaking family or industrial relationships, as we are charged for breaking plate glass windows, most of us would soon be broke.

TIME'S RIPE— AND SO ARE THE GRAPES

Hello Homemakers! Ontario's last perishable fruit of the season is ripening, and the time is truly ripe to fill every jar you have left with grapes — with grape jelps to be served hot or cold; I suggest as a sauce to top desserts, or jelly for breakfast. This delicious fruit is quite inexpensive, and the period required for cooking or canning is unusually short. Fortunately, too, grapes are easy to "do down."

Be sure to choose compact bunches of large firm grapes for quality and flavour. The deep, rich, blue Concord grape is the favourite with many homemakers.

Grape Jelly

Wash grapes and remove stems. Place in a kettle. Mash until juice flows freely. Cook slowly until grapes lose their shape. Remove from fire and pour over night through double thickness of cheese cloth. Measure juice; bring to boiling point and boil five minutes. Add an equal measure of heated sugar, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly for about five minutes or until it cheets from the side of a spoon. Pour into sterilized glasses. When cool, pour on melted paraffin and keep in a cool, dry place.

Grape Jam

Pour pounded blue grapes, two and one-half cups sugar, two and one half cups of corn syrup.

Wash and stem grapes; weigh; separate pulp from skins, and cook pulp gently until soft. Press through sieve. Combine pulp and skins; cook on electric element turned "Low" for five minutes. Add sugar and corn syrup. Simmer gently until thick (about 15 minutes). Pour into hot sterile glasses and while still warm, seal with hot paraffin. Yield: nine 8-ounce jars.

Grape Juice — Without Sugar

After picking grapes, leave for two or three days to mellow. Pick over and wash. Add one-quarter cup water to each cup fruit. Simmer until tender — DO NOT BOIL. Press through cheesecloth. Clarify by straining again through another cloth. Reheat juice to simmering point and stir in string constantly. Pour into sterilized bottles. Cap and immerse in hot water bath, kept at simmering point, for fifteen minutes.

Grape Ketchup (Requested)

Four lbs. grapes, one lb. tart apples, two lbs. granulated sugar, one and one-half cups vinegar, half-teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cinnamon, two teaspoons allspice, two teaspoons cloves.

Wash grapes, remove from stems. Place in pan and steam until soft without adding water. Cook apples until tender and press through sieve. Add sugar, vinegar, salt and spices. Simmer twenty minutes on electric element turned to "Low". Seal in clean, hot jars.

TAKE A TIP:

When making grape jelly:

Long cooking is apt to destroy the natural pectin which gives the grapes their perfect jelling property, so it's wise to use a kettle with a wide base — the juice boils up faster.

Jelly is best when made in small quantities — one to three quarts of juice in a pan or twelve quart kettle.

The time required depends upon the ripeness of the grapes and the rapidity of boiling.

Use the "sheet" method to test the jelly. Let a small amount of mixture drop from the side of a wooden spoon — when the drops flow together and drip off, jelly is done. Be sure to stir mixture frequently as it jells quickly.

Grape jelly tends to crystallize — especially if the grapes are real ripe. To prevent this, add chopped tart apples to the mixture and cook together. To one quart of grape juice, add one medium-size apple cut in pieces, removing core only. The apple will improve the flavor too.

Remember to skin the grapes in making grape jam or preserves and cook the skins by bringing to a simmering point only; boiling toughens the skin.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. T. C. asks: Is it possible to use corn syrup tins for canning tomatoes?

Answer: Yes. Scald the tins and proceed in exactly the usual way except do not add salt or sugar. Before the tins are put in the oven, punch the lids down very lightly. When the oven baking is done, tap the lids on with a hammer and seal with paraffin wax.

Mrs. S. W. asks: When substituting flour for egg to thicken a sauce or custard, how much do you use?

Answer: One egg: two tablespoons flour. In custards at least one egg must be used per cup of milk; flour may be substituted for the other eggs.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY
THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:—

Here I am once again launched on my favourite topic life in the C. W. A. C. This is not by any chance your favourite topic, too, is it? What a pity, I Nevertheless, I will tell you all about it and don't let me catch you skipping as I sense dull. Likewise do you account for the fact that you still address my letters as "Corporal" when I distinctly remember mentioning my promotion? Why don't you marry Mrs. Scott, or at least read my letters? I did not mean it, honestly I didn't, so don't get wrathy.

You know, Babs, I am always going to be grateful for the opportunity that community life has given me of understanding the other fellow. I have seen happiness and suffering in adjoining cubicles and I think it has widened my horizon as nothing else could ever do. It gives one perspective on one's own problems.

Another angle which always impresses me is the intuition and kindness which the girls show to anyone in trouble. I would like to tell you about a girl at my barracks who received word that her brother, with the Canadian troops in Sicily, had been wounded. Of course the poor child was terribly shaken for this brother is the apple of her eye and while most of the girls disp'ay photographs of their beaus in their rooms, her only pictures were of this big brother. The girl's showed her the most wonderful kindness and sympathy, expressed more in actions than words. They were planning over one another in their eagerness to help the youngster pack to go home. Corpl. Betty Reid of Shawinigan Falls, Que., ironed her shirts, Cpl. Gladys Flynn of Mount Forest, Ont., borrowed a bag and packed it for her and Corpl. Shirley Price of Renfrew, Ont., rustled her up a cup of hot tea. In case you are wondering, the corporals are not the only kind-hearted people in No. 39 Company but the girl in question is a corporal herself and consequently close friends with these girls.

Turning to a very frivolous topic, I have just invested in a new lipstick which is the envy of all the girls about it. The colour is "flag-red" and an advertising pamphlet assured me that it was created to be worn with khaki and would be the answer to a service woman's cosmetic problem. Undeniably the lipstick looks its flamboyant best when contrasted with khaki but it is as conspicuous as the name implies — not quite the thing for a C.W.A.C. who endeavors to comply with regulations and apply her make-up with discretion. Besides it awakens a spirit of rebellion within me and makes me hanker for blood-red nail polish, which, of course, is taboo. So my pet, if you have no objections, will send my "flag-red" lipstick to you to wear with your mustard tweed suit. It should make a fetching combination and there is no law against you being conspicuous as a sunflower.

Last night was very warm so several of the girls rolled their bed-rolls and took them out to the verandah on the terrace where the big gymnasium mat is spread. It was a perfectly lovely night and we congratulated one another on having such a brainwave. I was ready to take it back though, just as I was falling asleep, when I looked up and saw a few huge bats playing tag among the pillars of the verandah. After a moment I longed for the security of my snug berth upstairs. Bats are my idea of a nightmare; then I reminded myself that I was a brave C.W. A.C., turned my back to the bats, and went to sleep. The last I remember was being dimly conscious of sky spattered with stars and hearing in the distance the deep bass note of a river boat.

Cherrio, Babs, play hookey from domestricity long enough to drop me a line. Incidentally that broad fist of yours gets more difficult to decipher all the time. I am going to need the services of a code expert any day now.

As ever,
NICKEY.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. I am renting a heated apartment. If the landlord allowed to cut down the heat, while we are paying him for, without reducing the rent?

A. Under the existing rentals regulations a landlord is required to maintain heat and other services. Under the new rentals order which will become effective October 1st, a landlord must obtain a permit from the Rentals Appraiser before he can reduce heat unless fuel is not available or the lessening is due to government orders. If it is reduced, the Rentals Appraiser may order a cut in the rental.

Q. Is peanut butter rationed under the new effective October 1st?

A. No. This rationing applies only to sweet spreads and neither peanut butter nor soya bean spreads are included.

Q. Do I have to get a permit to buy a used non-portable typewriter?

A. It all depends upon its age. Such typewriters manufactured before December 31st, 1932, are not rationed.

Q. My electric stove is in such a state that our dealer says it is no longer serviceable. Can I get a new one?

A. Provided your stove is quite beyond repair and provided as well that there are no facilities available for the installation of a gas, coal or wood stove. If all these conditions prevail, you must complete a statement of essentiality in duplicate and place it in the hands of your dealer.

Q. My baby feeds quite a lot of corn syrup to put on and I doubt if the quantity now available under rationing will be sufficient. Is there any way in which I can get a little of it for her?

A. Infants who need more than the 24 fluid ounces of corn syrup per month permitted under the ration will be issued extra "D" coupons to obtain it provided sugar coupons are surrendered to a branch of the Ration Administration or your Local Ration Board.

Q. In view of the fuel situation, we are thinking of rifling our ashes next winter but are having difficulty in buying a sifter. Will more of them be made available?

A. Yes. A limited supply of metal has been released for the manufacture of sifters and ash sieves and more of them should be on the market in a short time.

VICTORY
HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

To pack a nutritional and attractive lunch you need several pieces of equipment; a thermos for the milk drink, a glass jar with a screw top for soups or desserts, paper cups for salads, wax paper, spoon and fork.

First of all I will tabulate the food that a good lunch must contain:

1 PROTEIN FOODS SUCH AS MEAT, FISH, EGGS OR CHEESE: There are many ways of adding this type of food to the lunch besides the conventional sandwich. The fish and eggs may be included in a salad. Eggs could be served devilled or hard boiled and packed in the paper cups.

2 FRUIT OR VEGETABLES: You could use fresh fruit such as apple, orange, peach or other fruit in season. The vegetable may be included in a salad cabbage and raw apple salad or carrot strips, celery and radishes. You will probably be surprised to find that many of our vegetables served raw will improve the flavour of a salad. Try shredding beets, turnips, and parsnips. The British people are using these vegetables raw in salads, and nasturtium and dandelion leaves as garnishes. Any cooked vegetables left over from the day before may be used to make attractive salads.

3 MILK: This may be included in the lunch as a beverage, soup or dessert. For a change from whole milk you could use buttermilk, chocolate milk or cocoa. Cream soups of most any vegetable would add a hot dish to the lunch box. Either the soup or beverage could be carried in the thermos. If you want the milk to be included in the dessert, try giving the family firm milk puddings molded right in the paper cups. When you are making a man's lunch give him a serving of cream pie for a change. This can be placed on a piece of card board and wrapped in wax paper, but you must be sure he carries his lunch box by the handle.

Use your imagination and you will discover many different and attractive menus for your lunch-carrying family.

You will probably wonder why I have not yet mentioned sandwiches. I have left them until the last because they are usually found in every lunch box and I wanted to try something new. When making sandwiches there are a few points I would like to stress. Do not make the sandwiches too far ahead of time, as they dry up quickly—losing their palatability. Wrap the sandwiches carefully and separately for each different flavour. Have the filling moist but not wet. Use whole wheat bread often as it provides a great deal more of the Vitamin B complex.

You will find some people prefer meat ground and mixed with a dressing or pickle instead of just sliced.

Don't forget these few points when you are making up your next lunch box. Try to give your family a surprise each day.

A POST CARD REQUEST TO THE HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA, 111 AVENUE ROAD, TORONTO 5, WILL BRING YOU A FREE COPY OF ITS AUTHORITATIVE VITAMIN CHART.

CUT 2 CENTS A BUSHEL OFF YOUR FEED GRAIN BILL

Dominion Government offers 2c per bushel reduction on Western feed grain if orders placed in September, plus free freight from head of lakes.

To encourage production of urgently needed beef, hogs and poultry the above offer is now made by the Government to Eastern Canadian farmers. If your order is placed in October the reduction is 1½c per bushel; in November 1c per bushel; and in December ½c per bushel. Last winter deliveries were held up because of weather and other causes. Order your feed grain now, play safe and save money.

LOANS TO FARMERS — Should you need cash to finance the immediate purchase of feed grain the Manager of your local Royal Bank branch will be glad to discuss a loan with you.

SCHOOL FOR LEADERS FOR MISSION WORK

BY CORA NILL

The Annual School for Leaders of the Women's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada, under the auspices of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch, opened Monday, August 30th, at the Quinte Ladies' College Whitby, with a registration of approximately one hundred and forty delegates.

The inspiration beginning was made at dinner Dr. C. R. Carscallen, head of the College welcomed the guests of the College, named Trinity Castle, built in 1854 by Sheriff Jarvis, on the side of the Castle in which in that year as a private boarding school with Lord and Lady Dufferin performing the ceremony. The high educational standards maintained by the School was noted by Dr. Carscallen, who said that it justifies its existence, points where they but naturally as a Christian attitude.

Rev. W. I. Smythe, Dean of the school, Mrs. John Crawford, wife of Queen St. United Church, Kingston, and staff organist, Mrs. Dudley, organist of St. Paul's Church, Bowmanville, featured largely in the success of the school.

The series of lectures on "Missions in a Warring World," by Dr. Kenneth Beaton, concluded on Thursday afternoon. The meaning of missions in a warring world, the necessity for a reiteration of the New Testament conception of the eternal value of every human life, the great eternal purposes in the heart of God transcending any value of any human life that victory in this war is ultimate but that peace can never be won until Christian love is supreme and universal and Jesus has been progressively re-incarnated in the lives of men and women, were points developed by Dr. Beaton. In a convincing lecture as he reiterated that only in the missionary enterprise of the Christian Church lies hope for ultimate peace.

The receipts from the Missionary department under the direction of Mrs. Roper, literature secretary, were $727.50.

Thursday night was dramatization night when various groups used this method to conclude their study.

The school closed Friday noon, having had a registration of one hundred and fifty-six.

SELBY MISSION BAND HOLDS PICNIC

The Selby Mission Band members and leaders held a combined picnic and field day at Springside Park, on Wednesday, September 1st. Miss Alma Wood, president of the W.M.S. conducted games while the leaders prepared lunch.

After singing grace, thirty-two sat down to a well laden table and did ample justice to the goodies provided by the members' mothers. Several rounds were sung while still at the table and Mission Band song sealed forth, causing great echoes. Recess was then called until the tables could be cleared away and sports then started, with the following results; Girls' race, 11 years and over, Olive Irwin; Girls' race, under 11 years, Dorcas McCutcheon; Boys' race, 11 years and over, Mack McFarlane; Boys' race, 8 years to 11 years, Neil Berdnt; Boys' race, under 8 years, Bill'e Denison; Girls' straight jumping contest, 11 years and over, Olive Irwin; Girls' straight jumping, under 11 years, Helen Fitzpatrick; Boys' straight jumping, 11 years and over, Arthur Cole; Boys' straight jumping, under 11 years, Billie Denison; Girls' running jump, 11 years and over, Olive Irwin; Girls' running jump, under 11 years, Gertrude Robinson. Sides were then chosen and a tug-o'-war followed, the winning side getting a treat. Sides were also chosen for the following contests, with different leaders each time, the hoop race, threading the needle, passing the cup of water, round the stick and buver and seller; the winning side receiving a treat each time.

A game of ball was then enjoyed after which "London Bridge is Falling Down" ended a complete day.

SWITZERVILLE MISSION BAND

The Busy Bee Mission Band meeting was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon, September 8, with thirteen members present. In the absence of both president and vice-president, Colleen Moore conducted the meeting, which was opened with the singing of the National Anthem, followed by the Lord's Prayer. Geneva Robinson read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. The roll call to worship and the response were used and a suitable hymn was sung. Beulah Craig read the scripture lesson and Mary Vanalstyne gave the prayer. The offering was received by Rosemary Moore and Barbara Robinson, and the response repeated by all. Some good thoughts on temperance, peace and stewardship were given by the heralds, Beulah Craig, Mary Vanalstyne and Colleen Moore.

Readings were given by Miss Alkenbrack and Nelson Brandon, and the story from the new study book was told by Mrs. Wales, after which copies of World Friends were distributed by Vernon Snyder and the meeting closed by singing, a hymn and repeating the Children's Benediction.

MOUNT PLEASANT PIONEER W.I.

On Wednesday, September 1st, the regular monthly meeting of the Mt. Pleasant Pioneer Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Smith being in charge. There was a good attendance of members and seven visitors were present. The meeting opened by singing the ode, after which the prayer for peace was repeated in unison. Items of business were discussed and many contributions received for the travelling basket. An interesting social programme, conducted by Mrs. Hudson, began by all joining in singing several songs from the W. I. song sheets with Mrs. B. Black as accompanist. Mrs. A. Alkenbrack gave a humorous reading after which a splendid paper on Home Economics was given by Mrs. Button, which was very instructive. Mrs. Emberly demonstrated useful articles made from pieces of wrapping cord saved from parcels. The president read an interesting article written by a Canadian soldier who had been in a hospital in England, telling how the beds in that hospital were covered with quilts which had been made and sent from Canada, by Women's Institute members.

Mrs. Alkenbrack explained the work being done by the Girls' Garden Brigade after which different methods of decorating a glass plate were demonstrated by Mrs. Hudson.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, followed by lunch, which was served by the hostess and her assistants.

SILLSVILLE W. A.

On September 7th a number of willing workers met at the hall in Sillsville to do war work. Two quilts were tied and partly bound, which took up the afternoon. Refreshments which were contributed by the members, were served by Misses Margurite and Myra McLean. A very pleasant time was spent. We expect to meet again in two weeks to do Red Cross work. Lunch money amounted to $1.15.

QUANTITY OF MONEY

and volume of credit are matters of high national monetary policy.

Canada's Chartered Banks exist to perform two main services:

1. They receive the savings and other funds of the public, who thus build up bank balances in the form of savings and current accounts.

2. They advance money to communities, enterprises and persons to serve their legitimate needs.

Along with these main functions the banks, through more than 3,000 branches and sub-agencies, render a large number of other important services related to local and national needs —services which have greatly increased as a result of the war.

But the quantity of money in existence in the country at any given time, and the volume of credit, are matters of high national monetary policy. The nation's own central bank, the Bank of Canada, determines them. The Bank of Canada makes extensive use of the Chartered Banks' facilities in giving effect to these policies.

The Chartered Banks' responsibility, clearly established and regulated by the Bank Act, is in the realm of commercial banking—that is, to receive deposits and to serve the needs of trade and industry.

MOHAWK FLYERS LOSE FIRST GAME OF O.A.S.A. FINAL PLAY-OFFS

Jarvis Here Saturday Afternoon
Game Called for 3.30 p.m.

The Mohawk Flyers, district representatives in the O.A.S.A. Intermediate ball play-offs, lost the first game of the finals to the Norfolk Juniors, at Simcoe, on Friday night, by the score of 10 to 4.

A large crowd of fans and a couple of flights of airmen led by a brass band, paraded to the ball park where Air-General Gunn, a visitor in the district and Group Captain Bellamy the Officer Commanding the Jarvis School, took the march past. Others took part in the opening ceremony at the plate. The feature of the event was the fact that it was the first time in the history of Ontario Softball Association that all service teams were meeting to decide the provincial championship. The game was an excellent one, with the exception that the local team was responsible for eight costly errors.

Neither team have the playing edge and errors alone were responsible for the outcome.

Score by Innings:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

The game is scheduled to start at 2.30 p.m. and the admission has been reduced to 25c per person. The reason for the increase in price from the "50c game" is due to the heavy losses incurred in travelling to Simcoe last week.

The fans should not balk at this as this is not too expensive for Diversion's recreation.

There is a possibility of a parade of Airmen from the Mohawk Station led by a Band; ensign raising and opening ceremonies, etc., prior to the game at the Park. At present arrangements are being made for the same, but no definite announcement could be published at press time.

PREMIER DREW TO BROADCAST FRIDAY, SEPT. 24TH

Premier George Drew, following a Cabinet Meeting held on Friday last, announced that he would make use of the steward-ship of his Government to the people of Ontario, in a radio address on Friday night, September 24. The Premier, whose Government has been in office a little over four weeks, has created precedent and a great deal of interest by the announcement of this radio address.

Prompt action has been taken by the Government to implement the election-two point programme announced by Premier Drew during the election campaign. It is anticipated that the address will deal with matters totally affecting the affairs of the Province. No time has been set by the Premier and his Cabinet, in addition to work. The conference of the hundred farm leaders held in Toronto two weeks after the Drew Government took office demonstrated that the Province is going to get immediate action.

The address will be carried over the Ontario Regional Network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and will include coverage of the United Provinces.

The address will be carried locally by CKWS and CBL.

STOLEN CAR WRECKED AFTER EXCITING CHASE

Two young men from the County of York, Gordon Downey and Theo. Latto, appeared in the Magistrate's Court, Monday, charged with the theft of a motor car from Daniel Hunt, and after pleading guilty to the charge were remanded for sentence for one week, pending further investigation.

The two youths, in their late 'teens, while going through the town on Sunday, saw Mr. Hunt's car parked at the corner of Robert and Dundas streets and drove away with it. The theft was immediately reported to the Napanee Police who communicated with the Provincial Police in Belleville. The Belleville Police drove east on No. 2 Highway until they spotted the stolen car going toward Belleville and gave chase. The police had to drive at a speed of almost 90 miles an hour before they could get anywhere near the stolen car. Unfortunately the youth who was driving the Hunt car could not make the right hand turn at the main St. of Belleville, and after knocking over a lamp post at the corner, struck a tree, almost completely wrecking the car. The occupants of the car were thrown off without being seriously hurt and started to run away.

Downey jumped in the river after running through the park and being swimming across the river but stopped and turned back after the police fired a shot near him. The two youths were finally apprehended by the police and were brought to Napanee gaol.

NO REJECTIONS AT LAST CLINIC NAPANEE BLOOD DONORS

70 Donors Give Blood Last Thursday

An almost impossible record was made at the Blood Donors' Clinic last Thursday, when there were no rejections from the large group of donors. In nearly all clinics where large numbers of donors come up, there are cases where a vein is too difficult to locate or the amount given is not enough to pay for transportation and other con's of handling in the processing industry in Toronto.

The following donors gave for the first time :- Mrs. Jas. Haigerty, Mrs. J. M. Graham, Gordon Walker, Mrs. Jim Hunter, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Clifford Fraker, Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, Miss Dorothy Oliver, Mrs. Oliver Oliver, Winford Martin, Mac Smith, Mrs. A. E. Groombridge, Miss Betty Brown, Jas. E. Dowdle, Miss Mary Dowdle.

Mr. Herbert Clancy, of Enterprise, 78 years old, was back for his second donation, as were Geo. Smith, Mrs. Phoebe Howitt, Mrs. Erma Denison, Mrs. David Roffey, Norman Richardson, Herb. Correll, Mabel Mellor, Mrs. Martin, Harold Briscoe, Mrs. Kathryn Reid, Jas. Stapley, Ralph Thompson, Mrs. Wm. O'Neill, Walter Storey, Mrs. Russell Hunter, Reg. Stalker, Don McMillan.

Those who have donated three times are Mrs. Caroline Caird, Mrs. Harry Seymour, Mrs. Mary Beach, W. E. Fowler, Chas. Cooper, Mrs. Geo. Moore, Ross Dudgeon, Mrs. Wilfrid Miller, Mrs. Wilfred McCabe, Basil Ballance, Mrs. Robert Denison, Thorold Doxee, Lyall Martin, Stanley Kerr, Miss Elizabeth Ketcheson, Mrs. Geo. McTaggart, Mrs. Florence Wilson, Miss Irene Murphy, Arthur McLaughlin, Wallace Hogeboom, Miss Eva Hart, Harold Aikenbrack.

Those who have donated four times are Mrs. Jos. Aalen, Okel Drew, Victor Drew, Meredith Wilson, Mark Schultz, Adrian Miller.

Mrs. Jessie Turner has donated six times.

Mr. Chas. McConnell has donated seven times.

R. C. A. F. BAY OF QUINTE LEAGUE REVIVED

During the past summer, several games were played by the teams from the various airports in this district in a league which was known as the R.C.A.F. Bay of Quinte League. The Mohawk Flyers, Trenton Main Station, Trenton No. 6 Repair Depot, Collins Bay and a couple of other eastern teams participated in these games.

According to the executive of the league, it has been decided to hold a play-down for the league title and Trenton 6 R. D. and Trenton Main Station, as well as the Mohawk Flyers from Deseronto, are all tied for first place.

A draw for positions was made and the two Trenton teams "saw-off" with the Mohawks getting the "bye". A two out of three series in both cases.

The first of the series was played last week and again on the 21st. If a third game is necessary it will be played on the 23rd. If not the Mohawks play in Trenton on the 23rd and back here on the 28th. In case of a third game, it will be decided by a toss, to see who travels.

FEWER EXHIBITS BUT BETTER QUALITY AT ODESSA FAIR

Attendance Fairly Good

Although the number of exhibits was somewhat smaller at the Odessa Fair, last Friday, the quality was well maintained in every class. The Fair management was well pleased, nevertheless, with the interest shown in the Fair, for although the day was rather unpleasant, the attendance was quite good. Some of the usual exhibitors were unable to make entries because of lack of help on their farms and consequent increased work. Aside from the booth operated by the United Church there was only one refreshment stand on the grounds, because of difficulty in securing food supplies, candy and ice cream.

Music was provided during the afternoon by No. 3 A District Depot Band of Fort Frontenac, Kingston, which was present by the kind permission of Lieut.-Col. L. M. Hughes.

Two classes of horses were run during the afternoon, for cash purses, with the following results :

EDUCATION

The Canada and Newfoundland Education Council has been meeting in Quebec City. Dr. J. S. Thomson, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in an address to the Association, called attention to the need of spending money on education in the post-war world. "As I understand it," he said, "the basic principle of the proposals for reconstruction rest upon the conviction that the real wealth of the nation is its people. Surely the best method for conserving and developing this most valuable of our resources is the education of youth. This will involve the expenditure of money," he continued, "but in a democratic society the final control and direction of public spending is a reflection of what the people count as valuable."

There is much sound reasoning in this statement. Added emphasis is given to it because of Dr. Thomson's position, not only as General Manager of The British Broadcasting Corporation, but as President of the University of Saskatchewan. The world is going through a revolution. It is not something that is going to happen, it is happening now. There is no area of life untouched by the upheaval through which we are living. Nothing will ever be quite the same again. Medicine, science, politics, economics, business, are all affected. Nor is education outside this great historic movement. Things are happening in education, too. What Dr. Thomson says is just an indication of the changes.

We used to think that we were spending too much money on the training of our youth. The main object of groups charged with control of education seemed to be to raise a bit of money. In the light of what has happened during the past four years, we will have to revise our judgment on that score. There is no shortage of money for the things we really believe in. We have raised money forwar loans which, a few years ago, would have seemed impossible. There is lots of money in the country, experience shows that people will give liberally to some cause in which they are desperately interested.

Leaders in the educational world, like Dr. Thomson, can do Canadians no greater service than to interest them in education. We must become as enthusiastic about the kind of education we give our children as the Germans have been and as the Russians have shown themselves to be. We have seen, in those totalitarian countries, a whole generation of youth, changed and moulded by a clearly defined educational system. It had one purpose in view, and everything was turned to the achievement of that end, with what results we know to our sorrow.

Whatever is needed of money or equipment for the training of future citizens of Canada, must be provided. Whatever the curriculum may be, it is imperative that it indoctrinate youth with a love of democracy and a faith in the institutions of a freedom-loving people.

THE WEST AND WHEAT

We are writing from Kelvington, Saskatchewan, a small town in the Northeast section of the Province. During the past three weeks we have covered most of the northern half of Saskatchewan, from West to East. Harvesting is well under way. The crop is not as bountiful as last year, due to two factors. In the first place the Government restricted the acreage sown to wheat, and then the natural growing conditions have not been so good. To the novice, this shortage does not appear. For driving through the country is a trip through endless fields of grain. Only on one section was the shortage apparent. In the Kerrobert, Wilkie, Biggar district, severe hail storms wiped out the whole crop.

The weather has been ideal. Roads for the most part are good gravel. Only once we ran into rain and mud, but once was quite enough —too much, indeed.

The harvesting is largely done with the combine. There are areas in which the binder, stooker and thresher are busy. But in other large areas, one man will be seen driving a combine which cuts and threshes all in one operation, while scattering the chaff in a manner similar to that in which road machinery spreads gravel or sand. The country seems overloaded with wheat. Every elevator has one or two annexes and is filled to overflowing. Farmers have granaries out in the fields for storage purposes. In many places, last year's wheat, all threshed and neatly piled, stands out in the fields, seemingly undamaged by the wind, snow and rain. Now this year's crop will have to be piled alongside that of last year.

People still talk of the terrible weather last winter, when the thermometers, for several weeks, hovered between 25-60 below zero. This intense cold killed outright, trees and shrubs, on which men had spent a lifetime. We called on Seager Wheeler — a real dirt farmer. He has, on five occasions, won the world's sweepstakes for wheat and hundreds of other coveted prizes. He has a doctor's degree from Queen's and in the King's Birthday Honors List, this year, received an O.B.E. All the cherry trees, crabapple trees and plum trees, which he had developed for the prairie climate, were destroyed by last year's frost. But at 76 years of age he is planting more and is hopefully looking forward.

It is hard to estimate public opinion on political issues at a time when all are busy in the harvest. But from observation, it would appear that Gilbert and Sullivan were all wrong when they said "every child was born either a little liberal or a little conservative".

CANNOT BE TOO CAREFUL

Even the Government has to exercise more than ordinary care these days. The announcement of the reorganization of Canada's home defence might not have attracted much attention under ordinary circumstances. But these are not usual days. Canada has taken a large place in the councils of the United Nations. Actions are watched; what is done in Canada is quoted all over the world. Consequently the report of the reorganization of our home defence forces has attracted the attention of the United States. It has been used there as ammunition in an intense political debate, now going on. The point there discussed is whether or not the United States should draft married men into the service. Those who oppose the proposal used the news item from this country to show that it was not necessary to raise a larger army. Why conscript more men when Canada was discharging some of her troops. So went the argument.

The wording of the announcement was not clear enough. A good deal of explanation was needed. The announcement should have been amplified at the time. The public must be taken into the government confidence. So far as that can be done without hurting our war effort. The unfortunate fact is that once a misrepresentation gets abroad, it is almost impossible to overtake it—and in this instance Canada's reputation has not been helped any.

The situation seems to be as follows. After Pearl Harbour, Canada organized two defence divisions, one, the Seventh, for defence in the East and the Eighth for work in the West. The Sixth Division had, before that, been stationed on the West Coast. Now with the attack from Japan not nearly so threatening as it then was, a new disposition of the men in these defence divisions will be made. The Seventh and the Eighth will be disbanded and the Sixth will be reduced in strength. The men in these divisions will not be placed in civilian life. They will be used somewhere else.

The re-organization is designed to make more men available for active service in some other area. There appears to be no thought of breaking up the divisions and letting the men go home. In the light of the changed conditions brought about by the removal of the threat of invasion from Japan, the new arrangement seems to be a wise one. But the Government should have let everybody know all about this when the original announcement was made, then there would have been much less confusion about it in the minds of the people, and the United States would have been unable to use it for political capital.

A GOOD MOVE

In view of what has happened since it was a good move for the Dominion Government to withdraw its request for a public demonstration on the surrender of Italy. The surrender was great news. Naturally there was a desire on the part of those in authority to see that the event was celebrated; but this grim war business goes on relentlessly, and there is hardly time for an organized celebration. Then too, the events which followed the first announcement make it clear that had a celebration been held, it might have seemed like counting our chickens before they were hatched.

The battles now raging in Italy are of the most intense sort. The Germans are well entrenched. They dominate the beaches and level plains with their gun emplacements on the hills. Their aeroplanes, too, have bases nearer the scene of battle than the United Nations. This accounts for their initial success.

The Germans in all likelihood have no hope that they will be able to stop the United Nations. They are fighting delaying actions, and seeking to confine the battles to Italy. This is an old trick of the Germans. They fight all their wards on other people's territory. Modern Germany knows nothing of the devastation and the destruction of war. They have succeeded always in having the other German nations' land and cities destroyed. The warfare has changed that, to some extent. The cities of Germany have now felt something of the terror which they hitherto have inflicted on others. The bomber has brought the horror of war right home to the German people. But are the devastation caused by marching troops, by tanks, guns, and all the modern weapons used in land warfare are unmarching troops, by tanks, guns, and all the where Dieppe showed the defences to be almost impregnable.

Reducing Time Loss

"Since the outbreak of the war a number of changes have been made in the Labor Department's conciliation machinery with a view to bringing about quicker settlements of industrial disputes. A study of statistics relating to disputes dealt with by the department makes it evident that these changes have resulted in a very considerable reduction in the loss of manpower through strikes.

"In 1942, the third year of the war, the number of workers in Canada reached the highest peak in all our history. There were about 80 per cent more wage earners in 1942 than there were in 1917, the third year of the last war. The increase in number of workers no doubt accounts, in part at least, for the fact that in 1942 there were 113,816 workers involved in strikes as against only 50,255 workers in 1917.

"However, in measuring the effects of strikes upon production the important thing is not so much the number of men involved as the number of man-days of labor lost to the nation's productive effort. In 1942 there were more than twice as many man-days lost in 1917 being 1,123,515 as against 460,202 man-days in 1942.

"From these figures it is seen that in 1917 the average time each man remained out on strike was 22 days, whereas in 1942 the average for each man amounted to slightly less than 4 days.

"While it is not possible accurately to determine all the factors leading up to this very great reduction in manpower lost there can be no doubt that much of it has been due to the improved machinery set up in recent years by the Labor Department and the speedier handling of industrial disputes."

ONTARIO FARMERS GIVEN POTENT VOICE

The new government of Ontario, implementing one of its pre-election promises, gathered nearly 600 farmers in Toronto recently and invested a committee of 21 chosen by the conference with more authority than possibly has ever been given to any farm group in Canada. This committee virtually has authority to draft the future agricultural policy of the Government, such a drastic departure from the usual that the experiment is bound to be watched with interest by all parts of Canada.

There was no suggestion in the speeches of either Premier Drew or Col. Kennedy, the Minister of Agriculture, that the committee which the conference was called to appoint would merely be an advisory body. Here are Premier Drew's closing words: "The committee chosen will be given full powers and an opportunity to organize and plan for the production of food in this province. I believe this is the beginning of a new deal for agriculture in Ontario."

The Government had no part in the choosing of the committee. It invited some 31 farm organizations to send delegates to a two-day meeting and when a nominating body reported selection of the permanent committee it was given unanimous approval by the meeting and accepted by Col. Kennedy. In the beginning it will be largely a fact finding committee empowered to take evidence and make any investigation necessary. But later, the Minister of Agriculture made clear, its recommendations would result in necessary legislation empowering the committee to carry its plans into effect.

"This is something farmers have been asking for year after year. It may come under the heading of a New Deal, but it is one that should be far-reaching. If farmers can so direct their own affairs why cannot we? other organized bodies will do. Of course an obvious defect in the plan as a cure-all for agricultural troubles is that so many of the difficulties about which farmers complain bitterly have their root in prices which, during wartime at least, are a Dominion and not a provincial concern.

Britain's chief county agricultural units have almost unbelievable power to direct farm production and Premier Drew has frequently stater how impressed he was with their work. These units, however, do not decide policy, simply apply the decisions of the Ministry of Agriculture in their own districts. The committee set up in Toronto recently, differs in that it has been directly charged with advising on provincial farm policy. It may advise the setting - up of county units to carry the policies decided upon directly to the individual farmer.

Premier Drew told the meeting he considered the committee the most important body ever chosen in Ontario, said the basic in calling the meeting so soon after the new Government came into power was dictated by the grave danger of food, the serious danger of our falling down as a people as our obligations to feed others, and to evident urgency of organizing production for next year."

THE BOMBERS NOW HIT HARDER

The heavy four-engined bombers of the R. A. F. and R. C. A. F., now striking pulverizing night blows at Hitler Germany are reaching them with a greater flying range than planes of the same job less than six months ago.

The Lancasters and Halifaxes especially are giving an improved performance with the Lancasters bearing the brunt of the assaults and moving into position as the R.A.F.'s ace heavy bomber, a reliable source says.

New improvements are consistently being built into the four-engined planes and tireless research goes on to uncover additional ways of increasing the striking power of the British Bomber Command.

The latest dividend of the aeronautical research appears to be greater range. More planes are getting through to the targets and returning to bases with engine trouble. It was revealed that on the average about 80 per cent. of the attacking forces hitting Germany reached the primary target and dropped bombs. Seventeen per cent. are successfully reaching secondary objectives. The rest, for a multitude of reasons, including mechanical failure, fog, combat with ground defences or night fighters, are not able to drive the attack home.

This almost startling record of night bombing efficiency has, on several occasions been bettered. On special thousand plane raids, it has been reported, at least 90 per cent. of the attacking force dropped bombs on the primary target. The significance of this record is apparent when it is considered that the load of 700 bombers take part in the heavier R. A. F. and RC. A. F. assaults.

By increasing the speed of the bombers, their vulnerability to night fighters has been reduced. Their capacity for evasive action and general invulnerability is greater.

Recent changes in the bombers have not necessarily made it possible for them to carry a bigger load, but, it was pointed out, the improvements have made the "center comfortable" for the planes to carry the same weight of bombs. The so-called practical load for the main objectives in Berlin still remains about three or four tons per plane. A heavier load would make the bomber easier prey for the night fighters.

The policy of systematically improving and building up British heavy bomber strength is in marked contrast to the German attitude toward this type of plane. In the current issue of Flight, London, one of Britain's leading aviation journals, it is reported that Germany appears to have only one such kind of strategic bomber in use. This one is now being used in the west principally on submarine convoys off the coast of Portugal.

The article points out that Germany's military failure to build a heavy medium type of bomber probably lost for the Nazis the Battle of Britain and prevented the Luftwaffe from smashing Russian resistance. The German High Command, it was said placed all its faith in the "co-operation" type of bomber, one that could work in conjunction with ground forces. German plant output was geared to that theory and now faced with the great strain of turning out enough fighters to meet the growing Allied bomber threat, German industry cannot shift over in any measure to production of the heavy bomber.

RATION ORDER PROHIBITS THE EXCHANGE FOODS

Ottawa, C.P. — Exchange of rationed foods exempt among members of the same household — unless the foods are to be shared at a meal — is prohibited under an order announced by the prices board which tightens the existing regulations.

The order provides that if members of two households are planning a meal together, the guests may bring the hostess rationed foods to be used at the meal. But it now is illegal for persons to use coupons to buy rationed goods to give them away.

An exception is made for goods purchased as gifts to members of the armed forces or merchant marine serving out of Canada, or to relatives living out side Canada.

The new order consolidates all previous food-rationing orders and irons out administrative points and technical difficulties which have appeared in rationing operations. Previously four Board orders covered rationing rules.

One new provision in the consolidated order requires the surrender of ration books by persons who leave Canada for 60 days or more. It is against provisions of the order for anyone else to use his book in his absence.

Anyone who joins the armed forces — other than the Reserve Army — must immediately surrender his book to the prices board.

A change has been made in the time limit for surrender of ration books by guests at hotels.

Previously they were required to turn them into the management after one week's stay. Now they must be turned over after a two weeks' stay and the following coupons will be surrendered for each full two weeks' residence: One sugar coupon; one tea or coffee coupon; two butter coupons; four meat coupons; and one preserve coupon.

"Consumers now are requested to destroy all ration coupons which have expired" said the prices board statement. "If a consumer comes into possession of loose coupons he must immediately destroy those which have expired and surrender the remainder to the board.

BLUNDERS MARK LEADERSHIP

A reversal unsurpassed in world history — a reversal, indeed, of world history — makes this an anniversary of tremendous significance. On September 1st, 1939, with Hitler's invasion of Poland, began a series of victories so devastating that dictatorship threatened to engulf the world. Today the threat is dissipated and the Great Dictator is being revealed as the Great Bunderer.

For surely as dawn succeeds darkness, Hitler has had his war through the very "intuition" that he boasted would win it. His boast seemed curiously prophetic during the successful military ffrasles that began with Poland's three weeks' debacle and engulfed Norway, France and the Low-lands. Greece, Yugoslavia, and almost Russia.

But in Russia's vast, dim marches, not only did the tide turn but the mind lifted. At Stalingrad the Reichswehr's fame foundered on the rock of defeat. And why? Because it had been jammed into a strategic teapot by its master. The exercise of moral whose "intuition" was based on all its faith in the "co-operation" type of bomber, one that could work in conjunction with ground forces. German plant output was geared to that theory and now faced with the great strain of turning out enough fighters to meet the growing Allied bomber threat, German industry cannot shift over in any measure to production of the heavy bomber.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, SEPTEMBER 26TH, 1943

"ABIDING VALUES FROM ISRAEL'S HISTORY"

Lesson Text: Deuteronomy 11: 13-25

The word Deuteronomy comes from a Greek word meaning "second law." This book contains a second law—a law which was found in the temple during the reign of Josiah, 621 BC. The first code of law was, of course, the Ten Commandments. The lesson for to-day is taken from the second code.

This lesson marks a stage in the development of religion and morals. It is the highest known at that time. But we must note its place in history. The morals and ethics which are the basis of this code are not according to the standard set by Jesus. But in this section, the Children of Israeal are told that their blessings diligently to God's law and do it, they will be rewarded with good crops and prosperity. The writer says that if they obey, they will be rewarded with plenty of rain for their growing crops and will be assured of a good harvest. Now we remember that Jesus said God causes the rain to fall on the just and the unjust. We must see this lesson from Deuteronomy only as a upward stage towards the ultimate standard of moral conduct established by Jesus. We must never forget that the law as said, is a school teacher leading men to Christ." We live under a Christian dispensation not that one.

Then, too, the Mosaic law, or the law as outlined in this document, says that if the people obey God, God, on his part, will drive out the enemies before their face, and the Hebrews will be given the lands which belonged to their enemies. That is hardly the kind of teaching we would desire to have our government follow in the New Charter, have made it clear that we seek no territorial gains in the present struggle. We are looking forward to a world in which man may be able to solve their problems by peaceful conferences, rather than by sort to arms. Instead of a second law—a law which was found in the temple during the reign of Josiah, 621 BC. The first code of law was, of course, the Ten Commandments. It is just as well to be frank about this and to admit that the law as laid down in this chapter was regarded by Jesus Christ, and that we are to take this passage as a guide to conduct in the twentieth century as least, not a Christian guide. There is an important principle involved in the next section. It has a direct bearing on our work in the church. The people are enjoined to teach the precepts of God to their children, and that they will have them in their hearts and in their minds. For a long time now the British people have quite neglected as a source book for children's conduct. A knowledge of the Bible, of course, is not back to the good old days when the Bible was a sort of fetish, and people regarded it as a sort of talisman. All the same the Bible is the best book of all our moral conduct, for our democracy, and for international order. In our Sunday school children get a smattering of the Bible. But a half hour a week is not enough. The State is beginning to recognize the weakness of a people who have no knowledge of the principles on which their practice is established. It is founded. In an increasing number of ways the state is favoring the teaching of the Bible in day-schools and Ontario Sunday school children are able. Indeed encourages it. There are hundreds of school boards in Ontario who now permit ministers to teach in school-time the truths of the Bible. We cannot have a strong state unless its citizens are loyal to the principles on which it is based. Hence the obligation to teach our children and to indoctrinate them with truths from the sacred word.

Ernestown, Sept. 17 — Mrs. Wesley Thompson opened her home on Wednesday afternoon, September 15, for the monthly meeting of Union W. A. There was a large number present.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Joel Kellar have returned home after spending the past two weeks at Sandy Hook Point and Prince Edward Point.

Mrs. Walter Harkness and daughter, of Montreal, have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. Harkness' sister, Mrs. Geo. Hall, and Mr. Miller.

Mrs. Victor Vandervoort and family spent Tuesday evening in Napanee with Mrs. Vandervoort's father, who is ill.

Mrs. Gertie Craig and son, Bruce, of Windsor, visited at Mr. Joel Kellar's on Wednesday, and at other points here.

MOUNTAIN GROVE

Mountain Grove, Sept. 18. — A miscellaneous shower was given in the Town Hall on Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield McDonald, who were recently married. LAC F. D. Steele, R.C.A.F., Bienfait, spent the past few days with Mrs. Steele and son, Ronald.

Pte. W. Scott, of Alford Bay, B.C., is spending two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willet Scott.

Mrs. M. Frederick, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Gordon Steele.

Mr. George York, of Winnipeg, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Freeborn Brink.

Mrs. Fred Steele spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. M. Kellar, of Kingston.

Wm. J. Ums spent ten days with friends in Niagara Falls, Shannonville and Deseronto.

Gerald Cox, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cox, was rushed to the General Hospital, Kingston, on Sunday, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. P. A. Walker and son, Norman, of Hamilton, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. G. Steele.

BETHEL

Bethel, Sept. 16. — We are having fine fall weather, although rain is greatly needed to soften the ground for fall ploughing.

Several farmers have threshed, while others are waiting for the machine to come in again. The grain crop is not very heavy and threshing jobs are of short duration.

Silo filling and potato digging will be the next work, and, without rain, potato digging will be very hard work.

Mr. Stanley Bradford and family who resided in Mr. Edgar Drew's house for the past two months, have recently bought the late Wm. Clark's farm north of Colebrook from Mrs. Wm. Clark, who resides at Colebrook. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford and family have moved to their new home.

Masters Donald Alkenbrack and Jackie Robinson are attending Newburgh High School, as are also Miss Dene Babcock and Miss Betty Gilligan.

Miss Elva Babcock will attend Napanee Collegiate and Miss Marie Galbraith and Bobby Galbraith will attend Sydenham.

Mr. Gordon Haynes has Mr. Roy Hamilton remodelling an old building into a new barn house.

Once again, after a very successful year, the camps are closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ball, of Kingston, were recent guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ball.

Those who attended the Centreville Fair last Saturday report the usual good crowd and a fairly good exhibit.

WILTON

Wilton, Sept. 18. — Pupils and teacher of Wilton School had a half-holiday on Friday, to allow them to attend Odessa Fair.

Mr., Mrs. A. M. Graham Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Neighbors, friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie M. Graham on Saturday evening, September 4th, to celebrate with them their twenty-fifth anniversary. Huge bouquets were presented to the surprised couple and they added a gorgeous color to the room. One of the gifts, from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vankoughnett, was a three - tiered wedding cake which graced the guests' table.

Congratulations were heartily extended to Mr. and Mrs. Graham and games were enjoyed. Mr. W. Hunsberger won the prize as the most accurate shot in the dart shooting game. Bingo prizes were well distributed and Mr. Glenn McConnell and Mr. Fred McCutcheon contributed musical numbers.

Mrs. Frank Smith read some humorous verses composed especially for the occasion, after which Mr. Graham thanked the guests for the gifts and their good wishes and expressed his delight in welcoming them to the very happy anniversary evening.

After a sumptuous repast the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Graham many more happy years together.

The Late Lieut. J. E. Atkinson

Lieutenant George Eaton Atkinson died on September 4th, of wounds received during the invasion of Sicily. He was the husband of Edna Galt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Galt, Hawley, and the late Mr. Galt.

Lieut. Atkinson was born in Port Rowan, where he was educated in the Public School and Collegiate. Later he attended Queen's University where he graduated with the degree of B.Sc. Before enlisting with the Royal Canadian Engineers, he was engaged as a building engineer at South Porcupine.

He took his officer's training at Brockville and Petawawa. He was interested in sports and played on the Simcoe O. H. A. team.

Besides his wife and young son, James, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. James Livingstone, Port Rowan, and Mrs. Frank Ryn, N.Y.

This is the second bereavement in a little over a year for Mrs. Atkinson, as her father died on July 12, 1942.

THE NAVY LEAGUE TAG - DAY SATURDAY, SEPT. 25

SPONSORED BY
ALICE L. HARSHAW CHAPTER
I. O. D. E.

The Navy League of Canada is again holding its tag day in our municipality on Saturday, September 25th, and we wish them every success in this very patriotic effort on behalf of merchant seamen. We live in peace in this community while our brothers, fathers and sons bear the brunt of battle not only on the sea, but also on land and in the air and it is our duty to support every effort, in any way to strengthen their morale so that the victory may be ours and not Hitler's.

The Navy League has made marvellous contributions to our fighting naval men and our merchant seamen and its sixteen hostels and recreation centres have added greatly towards the welfare and comfort of these men of the sea. It is interesting to know that during 1942, more than two million merchant seamen and fighting men guests of the Navy League Seamen's Clubs where their meals were provided and comfortable sleeping accommodation, hot and cold shower baths, recreation and pleasing entertainment. When these men leave the Navy League hostels they do so with courage in their hearts and thankfulness because of the generosity of Canadian people for all that they have received.

The Department of Naval Affairs have proclaimed time and again that the efforts of the Navy League have done much to keep our seamen on the sea in keeping their morale high and their courage undaunted in the great battle of the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Navy League, like the Naval Department, give the fullest praise and thanks to our men who have given their lives in the service of King and Country and it is plainly our duty to give this organization the support that is needed in order to carry on this great undertaking.

The laggers for the Navy League in this community will feel that they have performed a noble and patriotic service if every citizen gives them the support which they need at this time. We must not ignore their outstretched hands for they form the first line of defence in that stretches from this community to our home men of the seas, carrying our encomiums and thanks for the tremendous service they are rendering in protecting and serving us, for if it were not for these men, the battles of Europe might well be fought on the streets, lanes, highways and the fields of our own country.

LET US RISE TO THIS TASK AND CARRY OUT THE NOBLE TRADITIONS OF LORD NELSON WHO SAID "NO NAVY YEARS AGO." "ENGLAND EXPECTS THAT EVERY MAN THIS DAY WILL DO HIS DUTY."

OBITUARIES

ROBERT WILSON BROWN

On Friday, September 4th at his home on the Lake Road, Centreville, Robert Wilson Brown, a well known and highly respected resident of Camden Township, passed peacefully away after an illness of five weeks, borne with patience and fortitude. He was born in May 1866 on a farm a few miles north of Enterprise and was a son of the late Richardson Brown and his wife Mary Jane Reid, whose family comprised five sons and five daughters.

In his young manhood he was engaged in the lumbering business for some years but farming was his chosen occupation and about thirty-three years ago he bought the farm on the Lake Road between Centreville and Enterprise where he resided, married, but a niece and wife have mourned Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wesse lived with him and gave him tireless care and devotion. They and their three children mourn his loss, in common with a large circle of friends, who esteemed him as a good neighbor and a man of sound principle.

He is survived by one brother, Fred Brown, ex-warden of Lennox and Addington, and three sisters, Mrs. Edward Wesse, Camden; Mrs. E. Jones, Edmonton, Alta.; Mrs. R. E. Youmans, Camden East. The funeral service was held on Monday, September 7th, in Centreville United Church, conducted by Rev. H. E. Prair. Interment was in the family plot at Knox Church, Reidville, where the ritual of the Orange Order was followed.

The pall - bearers were Messrs. Johnston Cousins, John Bell and John W. Reid, of Enterprise, and Orel McKnight, Stanley McKeown and L. Weese, of Centreville.

ROBERT N. FRETTS

The death occurred in Kingston General Hospital, on September 14, 1943, after a lengthy illness, of Robert Nelson Fretts, in his 52rd year. Deceased was born at South Fredericksburgh on October 27th, 1920, the young son of Mrs. Daisy Fretts and the late George Fretts. He was educated at Hawley and Napanee.

In September, 1939, he enlisted in the R. C. A. F. at Kingston and the following year he went overseas. He was in England for one year and was invalided home in September, 1941. After residing with his brother, Sidney for a time, he returned to the hospital in Kingston, there receiving his discharge from the army.

He bore his long illness with patience and Christian fortitude. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Daisy Fretts, 40 Stephen St., Kingston; three sisters, Mrs. Walter Switzer, Bath; Mrs. Norma Mills, Kingston, and Phyllis, at home, also two brothers, Fraser of Cananoque, and Sidney of Napanee.

The funeral took place on Friday, September 17th, 2:00 p.m., from the Wartman Funeral Home, Napanee, to Morven White Church. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. J. Bell, of Zion United Church, Kingston. Mr. Ward Wartman sang "Some Day We'll Understand." The hymns used were favourites of the deceased. Interment followed at Morven Cemetery. The many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The floral bearers were Mr. Carman Patterson and Mr. J. Barrett, Kingston. The pallbearers were Lynn Arthur Perry, Milford Lake, Pat. Culhane, Alfred Dillenbeck and Archie Aikenbrack; all chums of the deceased.

WEDDING BELLS

DILLON—WAY

The Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, was a pretty setting on Monday, September 18th, at 10:00 a. m., when Mary Elisabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Way, was united in holy matrimony to Patrick Gerard Dillon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dillon, of Enterprise.

The church was decorated with gladioli, fern, and other ornamental flowers. The arch under which the bridal party stood was of evergreens interspersed with white and mauve spirea and white wedding bells.

To the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She was gowned in a floor-length dress of white slipper satin, with long inserts, cut on princess lines, and fitted at the waistline. Her finger - tip veil of illusion tulle fell from a sweetheart head-dress, and she carried an old-fashioned nosegay bouquet of Jacqueminot roses and Bouvardia.

The bridesmaids were Miss Geraldine Dillon, who was attired in light blue moire, and Mrs. Joseph Craigen, of Sudbury, who wore a dress of turquoise blue sheer. The maid of honour, Miss Kathleen Dillon, was gowned in pink sheer and wore a matching shoulder-length veil of net. The three attendants were sisters of the groom.

The little flower girls were Mary Eleanor Way, of Toronto, niece of the bride, and Helen Dillon, of Enterprise, niece of the groom. Both were dressed in yellow silk taffeta with mauve accessories.

The groomsman was Ambrose Way, Jr., the bride's uncle. The ushers, Joseph and Patrick Way, were brothers of the bride.

Rev. Father Hugh Dillon, C.S.S.R., of Toronto, brother of the groom, performed the marriage ceremony, while present in the sanctuary were Rev. Father Galbraith, C.S.S.R., of Toronto, and Rev. Father Powell, of Erinsville. Master William Scanlin and Master Bernard Barrett were Acolytes.

During the nuptial mass, wedding music was played by Mrs. Joseph Breault. The choir rendered music while the register was being signed.

The happy couple left the church amid showers of good wishes and confetti, and they, with about 70 guests, motored to Napanee, where dinner was served at the Superior Restaurant. The table of the bride and groom received, both wearing navy blue sheer and corsages of roses. The bride's table was centred with a large three-storey wedding cake and candles, and the table decorations were carried out in pink and white. During the dinner hour Miss Mary Scanlin presided at the piano.

After dinner, Rev. Father Galbraith acted as toastmaster, and proposed the toast to the bride and groom, to which the groom replied. Father Galbraith proposed the toast to the parents of the bride and groom, Patrick Way replied to the toast to the bride's parents, and Rev. Father Powell proposed the toast to the groom's parents.

Other congratulatory remarks were made by Rev. Father Dillon and Mr. J. P. Finn, of Enterprise; Dr. F. J. O'Connor, of Kingston, and Mr. J. J. Scanlin, of Tamworth.

Two vocal solos were rendered by Mr. J. Killoran.

The newly-weds left for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Sudbury, the bride travelling in a two-piece aqua green wool dress with brown accessories and a fur-trimmed coat in harmonizing colors. Upon their return they will reside at Centreville, where the groom is prospering as a cheese buyer.

Magistrate's Court

Thomas Baker, who some weeks ago was remanded for sentence by Magistrate Garvin, for one month, on a charge of non support of his wife and family, appeared in court on Monday and the charge was dismissed as evidence was produced showing an improvement in Baker's attempts to provide for his family.

On Thursday, Reginald Huffman, Camden, pled guilty to theft of an axe from the bush lot of Dr. Warner of Yarker, and was given a suspended sentence of one year upon payment of the costs of the court.

Archie Navin pled guilty to attempting to break into the store of John Wilson on the night of September 15, and was sentenced by the Magistrate to serve 10 months in the Ontario Reformatory. Young Navin, who was released from the reformatory on August 26th, was found by Constable Cook on a roof at the back of the Wilson store, attempting to raise a window with some tools which were produced in court. In answer to a question by the Magistrate, Navin said he was after money and when asked by the Magistrate what he wanted in the way of sentence this time, he replied "anything under two years." Navin has had several similar convictions registered against him in the past years, although he is only in his late teens now.

Marshall Babcock, Yarker, paid $10.00 and costs after pleading guilty of careless driving.

Roland Champagne, Montreal, for speeding on the highway, paid $15.00 fine and costs.

Letter From Sicily From L. B. Kellar

The following letter was received by cousins of L. B. Kellar, son of John B. Kellar, who was killed at Vihy in the First Great War.

Canadian Army Overseas,
July 24, 1943.

Dear Cousins:—

Just a line or two to let you know I am well and safe. I never felt better in my life. Of course, you know by the news I am in Sicily and I think it is one hell of a country. Nothing but mountains and hills and rocks, and heat and dust and flies. It is about 120 degrees day after day, and the dust lies about like snow. There are no trees growing. (Maybe we are going so fast we kick it up a bit more). However, our meals are excellent, and fruit is plentiful. There are lots of oranges, lemons, prickly pears and grapes. Ripe figs from the trees are delicious. I nearly made myself sick on them the first few days. We also manage to get quite a few eggs. We don't wear any more clothing than necessary. Right now I am working on the set and wearing a pair of shorts and running shoes. Everyone is as brown as the natives. This is the first mail we have been able to get out since we left. The British Isles on my birthday. I believe we should get some mail now, soon. Hope so anyway! If you get a chance to send anything, will you please put in some writing pads and envelopes. I only have three left and will have to go scrounging when they are gone. You can buy next to nothing here. I have not did receive the thousand cigarettes you sent but they may catch up to me later. Hope so anyway. At present we only get seven cigarettes a day in our rations.

Will close now and I hope this reaches you soon. Write as often as you can.

Your loving cousin,
Leon.

W.M.S. WORKERS' CONFERENCE HELD

A Workers' Conference and Executive meeting of Belleville Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society was held on Thursday, September 16, in Bridge Street United Church, with twenty-five in attendance.

Mrs. Stanley Spafford, president of the Presbyterial, presided over both sessions. The morning worship was in charge of past-president Mrs. P. L. Hooper, on the theme of "Christ, the same, yesterday, to-day, and forever." Miss Mata Mellow summarized last year's meeting.

Mrs. E. L. Fraser presented the financial report. She received $6,758.-55 from organizations and $221.84 as a personal for the late Mrs. M. E. Switzer. She remitted $5,750 to Brunch which is an increase of four hundred dollars for the half year.

The new secretaries of departments were introduced. Also Mrs. J. H. Trumpour, Cannifton, branch secretary of Stewardship.

The following secretaries presented ideas and problems. Corresponding Stewardship, C.G.I.T., Associate Members, Literature, Missionary Monthly and World Friends, Temperance and Press.

Silent prayer was offered in the passing of a beloved branch president Mrs. T. Daley, Port Hope, who "Went Home" on September 6th.

Afternoon Session

Mrs. Albert Empey heard the afternoon worship on a challenge "That all members of the Missionary Society be enthusiastic about missions and do all in their power at home and abroad to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Three vice-presidents, Mesdames MacLellan, Macklin and Empey spoke briefly.

The circulating Library will be sorted with some kept for special reference and the others will be available to any auxiliary who writes Mrs. A. McCreary, Queensboro.

Mrs. T. J. Nickle presented a resume of the worship services at Leader School, O.L.C., Whitby. Mrs. C. W. Haggerty, branch president, brought highlights from the Dominion Board.

The Fall rallies will be held on October 13th, Stirling, October 14th, Thomasburg, October 19th, at Napanee, with Miss Marjorie Gregg, Missionary at Large, of Port William, as guest speaker.

Miss Ida MacKenzie, Field Secretary, will make an itinerary in Belleville Presbyterial, beginning with a C.G.I.T. rally in Bellevile on November 13th.

The President stressed the need for candidates as fifty are needed in the next four years. She asked that it be a subject of prayer in all auxiliaries.

INDUSTRY'S BIG CHANCE

Industry is finding full scope for its productive capacity in winning the war. After the war the age of plastics, the age of flight and another great opportunities will call for even greater production and for something more than that. Without the incentive of winning the war we must find a new incentive to keep men and management plan together not only to produce for the new world, but to produce the new world itself.

Stepping up production was the problem that faced industry in the infancy. Everyone thought that in producing more goods, and developing our resources, lay the hope of a Golden Age — employment for all, higher wages, leisure, security and happiness. But this did not happen. Something went wrong.

Then people came to realise that mass outlets for mass distribution had to be found. So the new science of merchandising - advertising came into its own. Ice-boxes, refrigerators and vacuum cleaners found their way into more and more homes.

But still something was missing. Depression followed depression, and, even in prosperity, men were restless. The magnificent products of industry were often used to harm the people they were intended to benefit.

What is the forgotten factor that has kept industry from achieving its true goals? Industrialists have realised that we have used people to develop things, instead of using things to develop people. That has been the upsetting element. To-morrow's production lines must turn out men and character along with plan'ies and planes — men whose teamwork together will build a new world.

The natural running mate to mass production and mass distribution is mass cooperation — teamwork between Government and business, management and labour, man and man. A new way of carving and living will to pull together can do for the new age what mass production did for the industrial era.

The Late Mrs. Isaac Storey

After being in ill-health for some time and seriously ill for six weeks before her death, Mrs. Isaac Storey passed away at her home in Napanee on Wednesday afternoon, September 15th, 1943, a week before her death she was brought back to her home from Kingston General Hospital, where she was a patient for three weeks.

Mrs. Storey, who before her marriage was Lillie May Baldwin, was the daughter of the late George and Margaret Baldwin. She was born about 78 years ago in Napanee, but her early girlhood was spent in the Township of Richmond, near Napanee. After her marriage she and her husband and family lived in Strathcona, Deseronto, Prince Edward County and for the past twenty years, in Napanee.

She is survived by her husband, three sons, Guy Baldwin, George Storey, Homer Storey and one daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Earl Pollard. She also leaves two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Guy Baldwin and Mrs. George Storey; one son-in-law, Earl Pollard and six grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. She is survived also by one sister, Mrs. Herbert Huffman, R.R. 1, Napanee. Two brothers predeceased her some years ago.

Her funeral was held at her late home, Centre Street, Napanee and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Greenwood, of Kingston. Interment was in Riverview cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Stanley Kinkley, John Porter, Leo Scrimshaw, Thomas Fybus, James Hicks and Rudolph Vaikman. The floral bearers were Mrs. Storey's two grandsons, George Storey and Carl Baldwin, and Glen Stevens and Garnet Hart.

LABOR IN BRITAIN LOOKS TO PLAN FOR DEMOBILIZATION

A recommendation that the formula "use plus length of service and quality" should govern the demobilization of Britain's armed forces, but subordinated to manpower requirements in the Far East, should the Pacific war outlast the European war, will be laid before the 75th Trades Union Congress at Southport, Lancashire, on September 6th, by its general council.

The Council will urge in its customary report, that the Government's demobilization machinery, which was regulated with regard to the needs of war and industry, be put in reverse and that a consideration be given to the demands of industry for the early release of men of special skill and ability, but it adds:

The General Council realizes that in the event of hostilities in the Far East continuing after they have ended in Europe, decisions of strategy and tactics will inevitably limit considerably the application of the 'age plus service' formula, and will require the detention of men who on strict application of the formula would be entitled to priority of discharge."

The report will further ask Britain's labor unions to agree on the maintenance after the peace time transitional period, of "measures of public control over prices, production, distribution and consumption, as being equal in effectiveness to those established during the war."

The Council warns that unless this is done, it will be impossible to stabilize the speedy transfer of the nation's resources from war to peace and to see that the inevitable shortage and dislocations of the transition period are not accentuated by uneconomic and unregulated distribution and do not create hardships and inequalities, between different sections of the population.

"Inflation and deflation must equally be avoided and industrial raw materials must be controlled and properly allocated, public and private investment must be controlled and directed, and consumer rationing must be maintained and, if necessary, increased."

The report concludes with the view that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to exercise control over a comprehensive range of economic and industrial activities without some measure of control over Labor itself."

It Has Almost Everything

Romantic coral islands, complete with all the conventional trappings of waving palms blue lagoons and dazzling beaches, have apparently little to do with the war against the Japanese, but in the Fijians reach an island has been put to excellent use by the Army and is proving an important part in keeping men of the forces healthy.

Under the coconut palms a unit rest camp has been established to enable sleuthful or tired men to recuperate or to regain some of the sleep lost during long periods of shift work. In the past there has been in New Guinea the unit concerned has established a splendid record for hard and ceaseless work in unhealthy and steamy jungle conditions, after spending long arduous hours of heavy labor, began to feel the effect of the enervating tropical climate. So the rest camp was built. The men usually spend two days on the island, and most of them regard it as not long enough.

"I'd like a week here," one soldier said as he left. "You know this island has got everything except Dorothy Lamour."

Theoretically, the island is a place where soldiers can lare about and do nothing, but in practice they spend practically the whole day rounding the beaches or coral reef, swimming, fishing, or collecting shells and coral. You reach the island by a large canoe manned by natives, and as romantic as anything else ever described by Ballantyne or Conrad.

At the camp there is only one rule —punctuality for meals. After a late breakfast the day is free to do what they please. At low tide most popular sport is the coral reef, which holds endless fascination for the collectors. There are hundreds of varieties, the most prized being beautifully spotted giant cowries, pearl shells, and cat's eyes. The latter, which are eagerly sought by Americans are the "safety door" of a species of sea slug that lives in a small-like shell. As soon as the shell is touched the slug withdraws into the shell and the "door" closed, leaving a cat's eye glaring balefully at the intruder. Hundreds of cat's eye are collected every day, and saved as souvenirs, sold, or made into jewellery.

Coral proves a disappointment to the collector. There are only a few shadings of every conceivable pastel color, but there is a catch to it. When taken from its water it quickly reeks to high heaven, and then turns a drab muddy color than disappears even the most enthusiastic souvenir hunter. After a few days coral has been bleached in the sun, it becomes dazzlingly white but few have the patience or foresight to put it through the bleaching process, and the track back to the camp is littered with hundreds of pieces of jettisoned coral. The beaches, too, are a shell collector's paradise, and contain every variety and shade of shell.

The camp is run by members of the unit, who keep the tents in order, clean the camp, and provide meals. The meals are one of the delights of the place. Keen appetites and months of privation have caused to make a meal of fresh fish or roast goat the answer to a gourmet's dream.

When all the souvenirs collected here eventually arrive back in Australia many a wife will have to listen to endless tales of the delights of a tropic isle, and will inwardly curse the day her husband ever began to collect shells, coral, and cat's eyes. There will be only one way out of such a situation — a return visit to the island to collect more souvenirs.

STELLA

Stella, Sept. 20. — Threshing will soon be completed over the Island if the weather stays dry. It has been very backward fall as it is very showery and the grain is not ripening quickly.

One family of our old residents in the person of Robert Fleming passed away in the Kingston General Hospital on Thursday last. He was in his 77th year. The funeral was held on Saturday at 2:30 o'clock from his late residence to Glenwood cemetery. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. K. Harris. The remains were placed in the family plot at Glenwood. Left to mourn are one brother, William, of Harrowsmith. The pallbearers were David Caughey, Morrison Scott, Tom Coulter, Joe Fleming, H. S. Paterson and James Kilmartin.

Mrs. Wm. Richards is in Kingston taking treatment.

Mr. Joseph McClurn is under the doctor's care. His condition is quite serious.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Cochrane and Mrs. A. Strain have returned to their homes in Buffalo, after visiting with friends on the Island.

Captain Thos. Sanders and Wm. Sanders, of Buffalo, have returned home, after spending a week with their brother, Mr. Joseph Sanders, and Mrs. Senders, at Stella.

Walter Brown has returned to Kingston, after spending the summer here.

TOMATOES ARE A GOOD SOURCE OF VITAMIN C

Hello Homemakers! Tomatoes are our second-best source of Vitamin C (Ascorbic Acid), which we must have in adequate quantity in our daily diet to keep the mouth and gums in good condition and aid in building sound bones, teeth and blood vessels. Citrus fruits — oranges, lemons, grapefruit, tangerines, are the best. In case supplies of these may be curtailed we wish to live outside the citrus belt should eat raw tomatoes and juice generously, and can all the surplus home-grown and market-bought tomatoes possible. Then we will have an inexpensive source of Vitamin C for the winter and spring months. It is likely that commercially canned tomatoes and tomato juice will be available for those unable to can at home.

Luckily, tomatoes and tomato juice can be easier to "put down" than most products. Although some Vitamin C is lost in home canning, the following methods will prevent the loss of the least number of Vitamin C units.

RECIPES

Canned Whole Tomatoes

Wash the tomatoes in cool water. Scald 6a few tomatoes at a time to loosen the skins. Remove the cores, shaped core and any green portions of each tomato and slip off the skins. Remove the small black spot at the blossom ends. Cut the tomatoes into quarters or leave them whole, and pack them into the containers. Press them down just hard enough to form enough juice to fill the spaces and cover the solids. Fill containers to within one-quarter inch from the top by adding one teaspoonful of salt to each quart of tomatoes. Add no water, seal all jars completely, then loosen one-quarter inch. Process in boiling water bath (pint jars 35 minutes; quart jars 45 minutes). If tomatoes are heated and packed boiling hot, process them ten minutes.

Tomato Juice

Wash, trim and quarter the tomatoes, but do not peel them. Put the pieces into a pan, crush them slightly to set free enough juice to start the cooking. Cover the kettle, and bring the fruit gently until the tomatoes are soft but not mushy. Force the pulp while hot through a sieve or food mill, using as little time enough to remove the seeds. Bring the strained tomato juice just to the boiling point. Transfer the boiling hot juice to the hot fruit jars or bottles, filling one large head celery, three-quarters cup flour, one-quarter cup salt, one-quarter teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Wash tomatoes, cut in pieces, add onions and celery washed and cut. Boil these very well. Press through a sieve. Put again on the stove and add sugar, salt, butter, flour and cayenne pepper. Melt butter, add flour, sugar, salt and pepper. When blended, slowly mix with the strained tomato. Heat to boiling and let cook until thickened. Pour into sterilized jars and seal and sterilize ten minutes.

Chili Sauce

One 6 - quart basket tomatoes, eight onions (chopped), four green peppers (chopped), two cups cider vinegar, two tablespoons salt, two cups corn syrup, four tablespoons mixed pickling spices (tied in a bag).

Peel the tomatoes and cut in pieces. Chop onions and peppers. Put in large preserving kettle. Cook slowly, uncovered, for three hours or until thick. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once. Yield, approximately seven pints.

TAKE A TIP:

To dry herbs for winter use, gather on a dry day just before they begin to flower. Dry them quickly in the warming oven or near the range. Then strip leaves from stalk. Dry in a moderately hot oven and rub between palms of hands until reduced to a powder. Pass through a fine sieve and put in hot, perfectly dry bottles, cork tightly and store for use.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. E.D. says: "How can you prevent tomatoes boiling out of jars in oven canning?"

Answer: Place the jars in two cake pans with an inch of water in them (one inch apart). Do not use boiling pan unless the bottom is flat. The electric oven is preheated to 200 degrees, then the jars are put in and reset to 275 degrees. If the temperature falls below 250 degrees (even light) notice the time when temperature is again 275 and calculate 25 minutes from that time to open if there is a space at top — this is a vacuum.

Mr. E.H. asks about dill — seeding or herbs.

Answer: Substitute two spries of dill for one and half tablespoons of dill seed.

Mrs. C.M.D. asks: "Will the salt solution destroy flavour of peaches if I can pears or peaches?"

Answer: Use the proportion of two teaspoons salt to each quart of water and do not allow peaches to stand in the solution over 30 minutes, even if canning for 20 minutes. Process in oven at 250 deg. after.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

You wily little apple polisher! So you want my camera to take pictures of your favourite officer? Why not say so in the first place instead of buttering me up in that disgusting fashion? Confidentially, I really like it but I have to keep up a front. Feeling in a playful frame of mind, I promptly parcelled it up and sent it to you. Serves you right, my scheming young friend.

You ask why I have been neglecting you. Dear girl, not only have I neglected you but I have been neglecting myself, too. I am the most busy little bee in the employment agency. How did it happen? Opportunity knocked and my finger was on the latch. You see I had done a little publicity for them before and I was the logical person for the job. Of course, my glory will be of short duration as I will have to return to a more hackneyed occupation when the bands leave this district, but it has been a liberal education, perhaps I will be a reporter, yet.

I am positively consumed with envy of the recruiting sergeant, Muriel Preston, of Scarborough, Ont., who was attached to the tour in this district. She has done such an exceptionally good job that she has been chosen to proceed with the bands on the remainder of their tour across Canada. What a break! When I saw her last she had just heard the news and was in a tailspin. I have never seen anyone more excited. She was telegraphing her parents, packing her bags and receiving her instructions practically simultaneously for she had only a few hours in which to reorganize and get underway. Muriel is a peach and I am delighted that she is getting the trip. Vancouver and Victoria trippings, oh! her tongue I had a jealous spasm. I was glad to give my right hand to be going.

I was talking to the bandmaster of the Brass Band, Nadia Svarich of Vermeville, Sask., and she tells me that the girls are proving great little troupers, toasting the discomforts of living out of a kit bag as part of the big adventure. I know most of the band personnel quite well now, having shared many a coke with them between concerts, when they swarm into the nearest restaurant and play the nickelodeon. The girls always have a fund of nickels on hand for this purpose and as soon as I ordered the music-box started playing— Buonnano, Off to Buffalo.

Most of the girls are from the west, which, they give me to understand, is the best country in the world. I remember hearing Pte. Vera Vawter, of Smeaton, Sask., describing the filling prairies and Pte. Lorna Blake, of Kelowna, B.C., fishing in about the beauties of the Rockies. I piped down in St. Lawrence was the pride of the east. It was hard to be modest.

I hated to see the bands packing to leave but I have a hunch that our paths will cross again. That is one of the features of army life. One never says "good-bye" but merely "au revoir." Which reminds me that I must bring this to a close. I am going to the station with the bands to cheer them on their way. I have invested in a number of little chain trucks which I intend to give the girls as a souvenir, so that they will remember the "Quilck" they left behind them in Kingston.

Love,
NICKEY.

MAIL CHRISTMAS PARCELS OVERSEAS BY NOVEMBER 1ST

Christmas boxes will have a much longer distance to travel, entailing more handling and reshipment to reach many members of Canada's Active Service Forces this year, Dr. Ian A. Mackenzie announced today. To ensure the Dominion's men and women overseas to receive their gifts from home in time for Christmas Day, the Postmaster General, Hon. William P. Mulock, K.C., M.P., calls on the public to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas — not later than November 1st.

The date is ten days earlier than last year's closing time; but with many of our men serving in the Mediterranean area, etc., the "quick line" has been advanced to meet the rapidly changing conditions.

The public are cautioned to lose no time but to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas — now and during October — the earlier the better to avoid congestion and the anxiously awaited gift. The more distant the parcel may be from Canada, the earlier their Christmas mail should be sent.

Citizens are requested not to delay until the last minute to post their gift parcels but to MAIL EARLY and so prevent congestion by giving the Post Office opportunity to give their mail's prompt handling and to arrange for adequate cargo space, which because of the shipment of war supplies is necessarily limited. Thousands of Christmas parcels last

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. The farmer with whom I have been negotiating for the purchase of furlewire wishes to charge the maximum authorized price. I have at his pile and refuses to deliver it at the same price. Is that right?

A. No, the maximum price for fuelwood includes delivery to the consumer. If any extra charge is demanded for delivery of the wood, please report the circumstances to the nearest office of this Board so that investigation may be undertaken.

Q. As I am on a diet, I do not find it necessary to use all my sugar coupons. Can I nevertheless buy sugar to the amount allowed me by my ration coupons and then sell or give the surplus to my friends?

A. Of course not. You should not buy more sugar than you yourself require and you should destroy the coupons. Buying sugar in excess is distinctly contrary to the rationing regulations either to sell sugar obtained by ration coupons or to give it away. To permit such a practice would be to defeat the whole purpose of rationing, which is to hold consumption to minimum individual requirements so that commodities in short supply may be conserved.

Q. I am about to lease a farm in my possession. Is it necessary for me to complete any rental's form in this connection?

A. No. Lands and buildings used solely for agricultural purposes are exempt from the rentals regulations and it is not necessary to complete any form or make any report when they are leased.

Q. Why is it that prosecutions under wartime regulations seem always to lead to the punishment of small business people, the larger concerns escaping?

A. Your assumption is quite incorrect. Large as well as small business firms have been successfully prosecuted for various infractions of the wartime regulations and heavy penalties have been imposed upon some of the former. If you will call at the nearest regional office of this Board, proof of this will be furnished.

Q. Is there any penalty provided for furnishing false statements in connection with securing quotas of rationed goods for public eaterers and similar establishments?

A. Yes, indeed. If you know of such false statements, please report them without delay. A Toronto restaurant proprietor was recently fined $150 for making such a statement and for selling tea without receiving ration coupons in exchange.

Q. Are maraschino cherries included in the list of goods now rationed?

A. Yes, maraschino cherries are amongst the commodities now obtainable only after the presentation of ration coupons.

STAMP IN HAND WORTH TWO IN POST OFFICE

A stamp in the hand is often worth two in the post office, especially when a letter is ready for mailing.

The Postmaster General recently sent out a time-saving idea for wartime living to all Canadian Post Offices. His bulletin asks postal clerks to urge people to buy postage stamps not one at a time but in quantities. This will last a week or a month. This message was prompted by the long queues which are seen daily waiting in front of the stamp wickets in post offices.

It is a pathetic duty in these times at the present moment for postal leaders at Hitler headquarters, who evidently involved in the difficult task of organizing the withdrawal of the German armies in shorter sectors, to be told that it was believed that the stand of the reasons of political profit.

The decision to issue new stamps have been the subject of much discussion and Pilot policy.

The new stamps are to be issued in the usual facial denominations and the same design as the present issue, with the exception of the 1c. stamp. The new stamp will bear a portrait of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the famous Canadian statesman.

The decision to issue new stamps at this present moment is considered by many to be a wise one, as it will relieve the congestion at the post offices and will also help to relieve the shortage of labour in the post offices.

The post-war world will be just the same as the pre-war world if the post-war people are.

VICTORIA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Victoria branch of the Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Jack McFarland, Selby. The president, presided and opened the meeting in the usual way by the singing of the ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. The roll call was then re- sponded to by each one naming a Leading Canadian Citizen. Arrange- ments were made to attend the health programme being held at Rothlin on October 13th, and also for the pot-luck supper for the next meeting. Mrs. McCracken, convener of Citizenship, took charge of this part of the program, which began by a sing song of old songs. Mrs. H. Edgar gave a reading. An exhibit of a pair of cord slippers in attractive colors was much admired. Community singing added a bit of humor at this time and Mrs. McCracken gave a well prepared paper on Translation of the Bible and on the Life Work of Learned Men, who did so much to make it possible that this great Book could be read and enjoyed by so many. A Brain Teaser was conducted and tax- taxed the minds of each one partici- cipating. Mrs. Frank Dennison con- ducted a very appropriate contest on prominent men in connection with the Government. Mrs. Edgar was the prize winner.

The singing of the National Anthem brought a pleasant and instructive evening meeting to a close. A delic- cious lunch was served by the host- ess, which every one enjoyed very thoroughly.

NAPANEE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The first meeting of the Women's Institute for the fall and winter months was held on Tuesday, Septe- mber 14, in the agricultural rooms.

Mrs. James Haggerty, president, presided and the meeting opened with the singing of the ode, prayer for peace and a salute to the flag.

The treasurer, Mrs. Powell, pre- sented her report which showed a balance on hand. The Institute quilted a quilt, the top being don- ated, and it was left to Mrs. Hag- gerty and Mrs. Powell to sell it, if possible. The donation towards the cenotaph wreath, which includes the district of Lennox and Addington, was ordered to be paid. It was also decided to hold a euchre on the after- noon of September 24th with Mrs. Marshall Hudson and Mrs. John Yake as the conveners. The prizes will be donated by Mrs. Earl Loucks, Mrs. Robert Milsap and Mrs. R. M. Wagar. It was decided to pay the bill for printing of the new programs be paid.

The roll call was "A day I have especially enjoyed this past sum- mer" and met with a good response.

The meeting closed with the sing- ing of the National Anthem.

WILTON WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. Stuart Simmons opened her lovely home and entertained mem- bers and friends of the Wilton Wo- men'sInstitute for their September meeting, with a good attendance. The meeting opened as usual and bu- siness letters were read. War work sent to the Salvation Army since last meeting included 8 quilts and 3 pairs mittens, and to the Red Cross 10 quilts, 1 child's dress and 3 pairs mittens. The programme of the evening was in charge of Mrs. Bruce Burt and was as follows: Communi- ty singing; reading by Mrs. D. Hit- mons, Mrs. Archie Simmons, Mrs. Will Mills, Mrs. W. C. Snider, Mrs. A. W. Babcock, Mrs. Geo. Emberley, Mrs. Bruce Burt.

The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close and a social hour was much enjoyed. It was decided to attend the health lecture demonstra- tion at Odessa for the October meet- ing. Mrs. M. Boulton invited the W. I. for the November meeting.

Discussion took place as to the packing of boxes for Wilton boys, both at home and overseas, and it was decided that the three groups assume change of packing the boxes this year.

REIDVILLE W. I.

Mrs. Oscar Fenwick was hostess to eleven members and ten visitors of the Reidville Women's Institute on Wednesday evening, August 25, the president, Mrs. D. Hannah, pre- siding. The roll call was answered by a donation for Ditty Bags for sailors. Mrs. King was appointed to look after the donations. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. J. H. Wilson for a box of fruit received during her ill- ness. Current events were given by Mrs. Hyland. Mrs. Boyce, district president, gave an address on the founding of the first Institute and the value of the home. Ester Mc- Laren took charge of the program. A reading by Mrs. Milligan, piano music by Marion Fenwick, contest by Ester McLaren, with the prize going to Mrs. Boyce, duet by Freda Fing- land and Ester McLaren, with Ma- rion Fenwick acting as pianist.

The meeting closed with the Na- tional Anthem. The hostess served refreshments and a social hour was spent.

TRIBUTE TO THE BELGIANS

In a Rotary Club address at Swan- sea, England, Rev. Frank Taylor, chaplain of Seamen's Missions in Swansea, told how he managed to escape from Belgium with his Belgian wife and son in May, 1940.

Taylor had been living in Belgium for seven years and was British Chaplain at Antwerp. The day after the invasion, he drove with his fam- ily to St. Malo, in Brittany, to find a ship that would take them to Eng- land.

Speaking of the 16-day campaign of the Belgian Army, he paid tri- bute to the people who numbered 600,000 to 800,000 — one-tenth of the population of the country.

"If any of you" he said, "have any shadow of doubt about the fidelity of the people of the Belgians and those in authority, I would like to elimi- nate it from your conception, because the King is a prisoner, the Belgian Government has never signed an armi- stice, and the people who have never given in, but are resisting in a man- ner very hard indeed for us, in com- parative security, to appreciate fully."

PREMIER DREW GIVES RADIO REVIEW GOVERNMENT'S PLANS

nswers Critics and Tells of Government's Efforts o Implement Promises

Ontario's first Agriculture Commission of Inquiry is now at work and other government committees are being appointed to inquire into fuel, housing, labor, forestry and other problems. Premier George Drew announced in his radio address last Friday evening.

"As a prelude to practical-remedies in agriculture in the Province Premier Drew said the committee with Archibald Leitch of Guelph as chairman, is "conducting an inquiry and will make recommendations from time to time on every phase of agriculture in this Province." The committee would be requested to go beyond the ordinary details of actual farming and make recommendations on farm education and other similar subjects.

Premier Drew replied to critics who have said his Government would be timid in its efforts to give a strong administration because we have not "clear mandate."

"It has also been said that we must have recommendations to obtain support", said. Let me remove any doubts that score. We will govern. Legislation and introduce legislation as we would have done if we enjoyed a large parliamentary majority of a General Election. It will be for the members of the Legislature to decide whether they intend support that legislation or not. have not thought of temporizing We are quite prepared to face consequences of standing by what said we would do."

At the first Cabinet meeting, he noted out, that he had fulfilled his promise in regard to camps of timber workers which disposed of vast abuses that had not been developed in accordance with agreements. Contracts had been cancelled thus releasing 13,729,280 acres of the finest timber lands to the control of the Province.

Another preparatory step toward the promised organization of forest conservation is the appointment by the Government of a committee of three, headed by Frank Hughes, K.C., in an effort to get the Ab'tibi Power and Paper Company out of government-ownership. Premier Drew also announced the membership of the government committee to enquire into the mining and oil problems in Ontario.

Turning to labor relations he said he instituted, he declared, additional machinery to lay the foundation of the very best labor laws that can be enacted.

Health and education were under views by their departments, he stated and progressive steps already had been taken. Speaking of the "disgraceful comment" over juvenile delinquency, the Premier said: "I will be our purpose to make sure that children of Ontario have a real understanding of discipline and respect for authority."

The Ontario Premier added to his remarks criticism of the "unsatisfactory" conditions in the Province in regard to liquor sale and expressed the hope that "before long provisions may be placed before the Dominion Government which will result in a considerable improvement in the general situation."

Passengers Allowed On Trucks When Deliveries Being Made

Ottawa — The Prices Board, last week, announced a new order clarifying that constitutes "essential and necessary" use of trucking equipment. The provisions of an order issued in April, 1942, prohibiting the use of trucks for transporting persons other than the driver and assistants necessary to load or unload goods have been revoked, the Board said.

Under the new order, passengers may be carried in the cab of a truck only while the vehicle is being operated on a trip to transport goods. This is defined as "wasteful and unnecessary" to travel in a truck to or from a place of recreation or entertainment, a sporting event, a picnic or social gathering." The operation of a truck for pleasure also falls in the "wasteful" classification.

The order specifically exempts from the restrictions the use of trucks for carrying persons to or from places of worship or a religious ceremony. Provision is also made for emergency cases and for the circumstances under which the operation of the vehicle takes place.

LETTERS RECEIVED BY MRS. PUNCHARD TELL SON'S DEATH

"D" Company,
Hastings and Prince Edward Regt.
Somewhere in Sicily.
August 20th, 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Punchard,
Person, Ontario,
Canada.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Punchard:—

Words cannot express our deepest sympathy in the loss of your son, Freddie. We all knew and loved Freddie as a brother. For four years we have lived together. We have slept, eaten, trained and finally fought together.

We will always remember Freddie for his good humour and cheery disposition. He was a great sportsman and was loved and known by, all throughout the Regiment. He was one of our best ball players and soldiers.

We will always remember Freddie on the battlefield for his dauntless courage and his will to win. He gave his life so that the rest of us may live in peace. The battles which following Dieppe and the Regiment was recommended to receive battle honours was a fitting tribute to his memory.

We have written these few lines to let you know how we feel and felt about Freddie. We hope that knowing our feelings your loss will be easier to bear.

We grieve with you and the family. You have lost a great son — we have lost a great soldier and a great friend.

Yours very sincerely,

Pte. C. A. Hicks, Pte. W. D. McClifton, Pte. Ashley Shirley, Pte. J. B. Leslie, Corpl. L. S. Christie, Pte. E. J. Kuhl, Corpl. M. Heffernan, Pte. A. H. Heffernan, Pte. G. H. Turner, Pte. J. W. ## CAR THIEVES GIVEN TERMS IN REFORMATORY

Gordon Downey and Thomas Latto, the two Toronto youths who stole and wrecked a car belonging to Dan Hunt, Napanee, appeared before Magistrate Orvis Irish in Napanee Court, on Monday for sentence and were given 18 months and 12 months respectively in the Ontario Reformatory.

Mr. Hunt gave evidence that his car was almost completely wrecked and that he was out about $200 by the wreckers for what was left of it, and that a car to replace it would cost $900.

The Magistrate held that Downey was the actual one responsible than Latto, in that he was the one who drove the car and also was in possession of a large bunch of keys for different makes of car.

The car was stolen in Napanee a week ago last Sunday, and after a 60-mile-an-hour chase it by the police was smashed against a tree in the city of Belleville.

During daily family worship Gen-eralissimo Chiang Kai-Shek requests the following hymns: "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," and "Nearer My God to Thee," and a special favorite is "Rock of Ages." The last-named he sings in Chinese, for it was one of the first of all Christian hymns to be translated.

NEW CONTROL OF EMPLOYMENT HIGH PRIORITY INDUSTRIES

The Government has, by Order in Council, provided that employers in "A" or "B" labour priorities may not release male employees without the written permission of a Selective Officer. Similarly, male employees in the same industries may not give notice of separation to their employers unless without first having secured the written permission of a Selective Service Officer.

"A" and "B" are the two highest priorities and include all war industries and essential civilian services, including the delivery of fuel in cities, food processing and meat packing plants and many other services.

Local Employment and Selective Service Offices will notify employers that they are in either "A" or "B" category, and immediately such notice is received by the employer, he will be required to post it for the information of the employees. This rule will then be effective in the particular plant.

For the present, female employees are not to be included in this further control.

Instructions being issued to National Selective Service Officers will permit of the issuance of the necessary permit to change employment in cases where obvious hardship or unfairness would result from a refusal to grant permission.

"Many thousands of firms," the Minister of Labour explained, "fall in categories "A" or "B". While every effort will be made to avoid imposing hardship on any individuals, the need of preventing avoidable labour turnover in industries highly important to the war effort is greater than ever and the new rules are expected to give substantial assistance in that direction."

Hon. Mr. Mitchell further pointed out that the principles involved in the new regulation, before being approved by the Governor in Council, were carefully considered by the National Selective Advisory Board, and were unanimously approved by that Board. The Board is composed of men from organized labour, employers, farmers, returned soldiers, and Government departments.

The Minister concluded by saying: "The Order takes into effect September 20th 1943, and there will be no doubt in most cases as to whether the employment comes under the Order or not; however, in each case doubt employers will be furnished the information by the local Employment and Selective Service officer."

The standard penalties, contained in National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, will apply in the case of failure to comply with the new regulation regarding separation from employment in categories "A" and "B".

The new control on employment in "A" and "B" priorities does not constitute any interference with men joining the Armed Forces, voluntarily or by conscription, nor with the medical examination or military training under Mobilization Regulations.

UNITED CHURCHES' SUNDAY SCHOOLS RALLY DAY SERVICES

A joint rally day service for the Sunday schools of Trinity and Grace United churches was held last Sunday morning in Trinity Church auditoriums.

E. C. Hogarth, superintendent of Trinity Sunday School, Jr. Retail, superintendent of Grace Sunday School, Rev. G. M. Chidley and Rev. C. D. McLellan were on the platform and conducted the service. Stories were told by Miss Eleanor Smith, Miss Doreen Windale and Douglas Preels and Mrs. Harold Donison sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The address was given by Rev. G. M. Chidley, who also presented attendance prizes to over twenty members of the Trinity and Explorers League of "Trinity Church. Prizes for perfect attendance were given to Kenneth Storey, Evelyn and Donald Tack.

LT. G. E. ATKINSON AWARDED THE M.C.

Lieut. George Eaton Atkinson, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, was among the men on whom honors were conferred as a result of conspicuous bravery in the Sicilian campaign. Lieutenant Atkinson was awarded the Military Cross.

He died early in September as the result of wounds received in action. Lieut. Atkinson's widow, the former Edna Galt, of Bewdley, resides at Port Rowan, Ontario.

ALLIES CONTINUE STEADY ADVANCES IN ITALIAN CAMPAIGN

Russia Makes Great Strides in Pushing Germans Back

WEDNESDAY —

Premier Churchill, in a confident review of the war situation and a report of his conference with President Roosevelt, told the British House of Commons that the present Mediterranean campaign was not a substitute for direct assault on Europe across the English Channel. He promised that a second front would be opened up in force at the proper time. Mr. Churchill stated that a conference between himself, Roosevelt and Stalin would be held in the near future. He also said that in the four months' period ended September 18, not an Allied ship had been lost by enemy action in the North Atlantic and that during the first two weeks in September, not an Allied ship had been sunk by enemy action, anywhere in the world.

• • •

• • •

R. A. F. planes landed in the Dodecanese Island of Kos, about fifty miles northeast of Rhodes and occupied the airport. Italian ground forces co-operated with the R.A.F.

• • •

The Russians advanced from captured Vellija into the Smolensk defence zone and the main German Crimean escape railway was cut by the Russians.

• • •

THURSDAY —

The British Fifth Army in Italy continued to move forward, taking in some places against bitter enemy resistance. The Eighth Army occupied Potenza, an important rail town in the south-central Italy. The Germans were reported to be pillaging and burning Naples.

• • •

French and Corsican troops occupied more than half the island of Corsica and were driving the Germans to the southeast and south coasts.

• • •

The Russians captured 1,000 more towns and smashed the last formidable Nazi barrier before the Upper Dnieper front, drawing nearer to Smolensk, Kiev and Melitopol.

• • •

• • •

FRIDAY —

The Allied Fifth and Eighth armies continued their advance in Italy and their lines were straightened out. The Germans, realizing they have no hope of holding Naples, continued to send bombers over the city so as to make it useless for the Allies. The battle for Corsica was said to be practically over with French, United States and Corsican troops closing in on the last section held by the Nazis.

• • •

On Thursday the Russian Army drove to within artillery range of Melitopol and further thanked Kiev by reaching the Dnieper, south of Kiev.

• • •

• • •

Hanover was given the most concentrated air raid of the war by British and Canadian bombers, early on Thursday morning, when 2,000 tons of bombs were poured down on the remnants of the city, in half an hour.

• • •

SATURDAY —

The Anglo - American Fifth Army opened up a full-scale offensive toward Salerno, and the British Eighth Army advanced to Altamura and Matera, north of Taranto, on the Adriatic.

• • •

The French occupation of the Island of Corsica continued and R. A. F. fighters shot down, in all, in a heavy raid in which 22 planes were lost four of which were Canadian.

• • •

The Jap airdrome at Pinschaven in New Guinea was captured by Australian veterans, who were said to be within a mile of the coastal base.

• • •

MONDAY —

The British Eighth Army advanced 27 miles up the Adriatic coast and entered the Foggia plain, within 25 miles of the city's great string of airfields. On the left flank the Fifth Army was within 30 miles of the German defences northeast of Salerno.

• • •

The Germans on the Island of Corsica were hemmed in a narrow coastal strip.

• • •

Following the capture of Smolensk the Russians were only 100 miles from the Polish border. While the Dnieper River cliff has to be crossed, Russian forces were storming the river in at least half a dozen places during the week-end.

• • •

Australian troops were within three-quarters of a mile of the Japanese air and supply depot base of Pinschaven, New Guinea.

• • •

TUESDAY —

The Allied Fifth Army pursued the fleeing Germans to within eleven miles of Naples. The Allied Armies were also advancing along the whole 108-mile front across Italy and were near striking distance of the great air base at Foggia on the Adriatic.

• • •

The Russians crossed the Dnieper at many points and the Germans were reported evacuating Kiev. Russian forces also entered the east bank suburbs of Dnieperpetrovsk, the great steel city on the Dnieper.

• • •

The city of Emden, in Germany, was given a terrible pounding Monday. The nearby city of Aurich was also heavily raided.

• • •

The Japanese base of Finschaven in New Guinea, was reported practically surrounded, and its fall was expected in the very near future.

NEWS ITEMS ABOUT MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Reid received a cable on their birthday anniversary from Son. Hugh E. Reid, with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin, Erinsville, received a cable on Monday, from their son, Lieutenant Aircraftsman Gerald McLaughlin, announcing his safe arrival in Great Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hunt have received a cable from their son, Sergt. Jon. Hunt, R.C.A.F., announcing his safe arrival in Great Britain.

TIRE RETREADS PERMITTED BY NEW ORDER

Ottawa. — Hon. C. D. Howe, Munitions Minister announced Thursday that all passenger car owners now may have their tires retreaded and passenger type camelback without a tire ration permit.

The new order does not affect conditions governing the sale of new tires for essential passenger cars. Applicants must continue to certify that their tires or tubes are completely unusable and cannot possibly be repaired and kept in service.

"Canada still faces a serious transportation problem and, as a result, we want to conserve as many tires as possible in service for the longest period," said Mr. Howe.

Reclaimed rubber, which is made from old tires and tubes, is used primarily in retreading with other rubber in making military or essential vehicle tires. Small quantities, however, now can be diverted to the retreading of passenger car tires, the Minister said.

The collection of old tires and tubes must continue if we are to satisfy present and future demands for reclaimed rubber," said A. H. Williamson, rubber controller.

Rubber for the manufacture of non-military tires continues to be short, despite increasing production of synthetic rubber, and tire sales to civilians are still controlled by a strict quota system.

Non-essential civilian passenger car owners are not expected to obtain any kind of new tire until after the war, Mr. Williamson said.

Church News From Bay Pastoral Charge

In these days of war when there is so much dividing men and nations, Christians must maintain an unbroken and unbreakable fellowship.

On Sunday next, October 3, World Wide Community Sunday will be observed in the Bay Charge. Bay, Bethany and Anderson, morning and evening respectively. A special order of service has been prepared and it is anticipated there will be representative attendances at all services. Gretna and Bethany are uniting for their services. Invitation cards have been sent to members and adherents.

Last Sunday, Bally Day was fittingly observed with services at Bay, Bay, Sand Hill and Gretna. Anderson held its service on the Sunday previous, with record attendances.

Tentative plans have been made for the anniversary services to be held in the near future. Rev. H. A. Mellow, recently inducted as Minister of Deseronto United Church, will preach at Bethany on Sunday, October 10th.

Rev. G. M. Chidley B.A. of Trinity United Church, Napanee, will be anniversary speaker at Anderson on Sunday evening, October 17th. There will also be a congregational social on Monday evening.

Arrangements are provided to have as their guest the Rev. H. A. Mellow, B.A. of Deseronto United Church, Toronto, on Sunday, October 24. Mr. Mellow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mellow of Gretna, and is well and favourably known on this circuit.

SHOWING OF STOCK FEATUTE OF EXHIBITS AT NAPANEE FAIR

Number of Exhibits Slightly Less than Previous Years

In common with may other rural fairs this year, exhibits and attendance at the Lennox County Fair, this week, are somewhat smaller than in previous years. Scarcity of farm help and lack of gasoline for transportation are considered the reasons for the falling off. The exhibits entered were, nevertheless, of excellent quality. This was especially true in the livestock classes.

The number of horses entered was equal to, if not larger, than last year and many fine animals were on display. The cattle section of the show barn was also well filled and in the sheep and swine pens, there was a good showing of animals. In the poultry building there was an especially large entry of geese and ducks and other poultry was well represented.

There were very few exhibits in the Palace. The section for Women's Fancy Work was not nearly as well-filled as in past years, but some beautiful specimens of hand-made quilts, hooked rugs and afghans were on display, as well as other fancy work by Napanee ladies.

There was an interesting display of farm products, including vegetables and fruits, and some canned goods by the members of the Girls' Garden Brigade, which gave evidence of much hard work and careful preservation on the part of the members. There were a few entries of potatoes by the Boys' Potato Club, sponsored by the local office of the Department of Agriculture.

The tables given over to the display of canned fruits and vegetables and fresh fruit were quite well filled and there was a good exhibit of cut flowers.

Hay Bay will hold its anniversary on Sunday, November 14, when Rev. Stanley L. Osborne B.A., B.D., MacBar. will return to his former pastorate and conduct the services. Mr. Osborne is minister of Port Credit United Church, where he is carrying on an effective ministry.

As yet plans have not been completed for Sand Hill anniversary but announcement will be given.

To these services former members and friends are cordially invited.

BISHOP LYONS OFFICIATES AT SPECIAL SERVICE TYENDINAGA CHURCH

Christ Church Celebrates 100th Anniversary

A large congregation assembled in Christ Church on Sunday morning, for a special service of Praise and Thanksgiving, commemorating the One Hundredth Anniversary of the building of Christ Church, Mohawk Reserve, Tyendinaga. The preacher was the Right Rev. Dr. Lyons, Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, who also celebrated the Holy Communion. He delivered a stained glass window in the vestry, which was given in honored memory of the early members of the Church. The Bishop took his text from Psalm 122, verse 6, John the Divine, chapter 21, verse 5, 6 and 7. "Behold I make all things new", "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end." "He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

He made the people to look back through the years of history to their forefathers, to the faith of Christ, and to look forward to the future. We think more about the future, he said, than any preceding age, and the new order in the new world will be. The Bishop stated that we are laying the foundation of the new order at the present time and we are making our contribution to its character. Some of us are in the armed forces, when we think of the great people of the past, and feel a tinge of regret that they are go more with us; but we have a spirit of thankfulness and reverence that they have left us — thankful that we live in this favoured land — thankful for all that we have, be it much or little. We must have hope for the future, which should be supported by our labours. The vision of hope series eternal — the Alpha and Omega, and we, as church people, must catch the vision of serving mankind. The text was "I am Alpha and the Apostle St. John who lived under conditions very similar to those in some parts of the world today, and the text is just as applicable to us. God is present in the affairs of nations, and with his people as all times — the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. If we acknowledged Him in our lives, we establish a companionship with Him, moving slowly, but surely, to that new order which will be ours to enjoy with the Sovereign Lord of the Universe, and we are "to be co-workers with Him in bringing it to pass."

As our forefathers were true to their God, and were thankful for His leadership, so should we try to emulate their devotion. It is a privilege to worship in this beautiful old Church, so well preserved and cared for, the Bishop said, and he urged the congregation to do it's part to make this community, this diocese, this country, this empire, the Kingdom of our God and of His Christ.

His Lordship stated that we were linked with the past in a tangible way on this occasion, by the use of the Queen Anne Communion silver, given by Her Majesty to the Mohawks in 1712, and asked all to remember in their prayers the men and women of this parish now with the King's Forces, even now facing danger for us.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers, those on the altar being given by the Guild in memory of their deceased members. The hymns chosen were, "The Church's One Foundation," "Faith of Our Fathers", and "Thy Hand O God has guided Thy Flock from Age to Age."

DEDICATION SERVICE

In the afternoon the Bishop dedicated the beautiful new Memorial Window in All Saints' Church, given by the Womens Guild in cherished memory of their members in Parish. The subject of the window is "The Resurrection," and was richly executed in imported cathedral glass by the Robert McCausland Co., of Toronto.

The sermon was preached by the Very Reverend Dr. Seeley, Dean of St. Georges Cathedral, Kingston. The Dean gave a very inspiring sermon on the Saints of God, past, present and future, and paid special tribute to the little known saints of every day life, he considered the Guild on which a beautiful gift for the adornment of God's House, were offered, a truly Mohawk hymn was sung by a full surpliced choir. The hymns were, "We love the place, O God, wherein Thine honour dwells"; "Blest be the Tie that Binds our Hearts in Jesus' Love," "Holy Offerings, Rich and Rare," and "Alleluia — the strife is o'er, the Battle won."

The Reverend Canon Radcliffe, the Rector of Deseronto, and the Rev. Reginald Rural Dean Pringle, assisted in the service.

NO BAN ISSUED ON HEATING

Ottawa — Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions, said in a press release last Wednesday, that no order has been issued by the Government which could be interpreted as either a ban on the heating of dwellings, stores or offices before a certain date or as limiting the temperatures to which these buildings should be heated during the coming winter. He said the statement was made to clear up misunderstanding.

"Some misunderstanding has apparently arisen over the Government's coal conservation policy," Mr. Howe said. "We are receiving reports from various parts of the country which suggest that there is. One such report was that issued by Government order as the earliest date on which fuel may be burned.

"This is not true. Only regional orders have been issued by the limiting of the heating season. Because of the nature of the Canadian climate, therefore; it would be impossible to devise an order which would apply equally to all sections of the Dominion.

"While we must conserve fuel, it is equally essential that our health be preserved." Mr. Howe added. "This is the reason why we have left in extremely cold offices or sit at home in uncomfortably low temperatures.

"I appeal to you again to save as much coal as you can, and above all not to waste it. At the same time, I repeat that there is no order or regulation prohibiting the lighting of furnaces before a specific date or limiting temperatures."

UNUSED COUPONS ARE VALIDATED

Ottawa, Sept. 28. (C.P.)—Preserves coupons which are already valid, but which have not been used, may be used in the purchase of honey, molasses and syrups on the new increased scale which becomes effective Wednesday, the Board said yesterday.

This ruling applies to coupons D-1 D-2 and D-3. Coupons D-4 and D-5, which were not scheduled to become valid until October 15, now may be accepted on or after September 30th.

The valid date of other preserves coupons will, however, not be changed, and the next coupons, D-6 and D-7, will become good November 11.

IMPROVING !

Indications of the improved economic conditions of our country are shown in reports from Ottawa. Two-pant suits are back, cuffs go on trousers again, and essential civilian cars may have their tires retreaded. That is good news, Not that we missed the extra pair of pants, for most of us have got along with the clothes we had before the one-pant order was issued, and the same goes for cuffs. Few missed the cuffs, for few bought cuffless trousers. It is quite interesting to see how few cuffless trousers there are on an average group of men. As for tires, well we've managed somehow—most of us—by driving slowly, babying along the tires we had, watching them during the day as a mother watches her child, and at night giving them an affectionate good-night look before shutting the garage door.

Still there is a great relief in knowing, now, we can have two-pant suits, trousers with cuffs on them and our tires retreaded. It helps our morale, just to know these things denied us for a while are now available, even if we do not need them. It is to be hoped the Berlin radio, ever on the alert for news from the United Nations, will not pass this up.

A CRITICAL STAGE

The war has reached a critical stage—not necessarily on the military front, but on the political front. On the military front, the campaign of the past summer has been spectacular and, on the main, successful. Certainly, comparing the situation to-day with what it was even a year ago, we have great cause for rejoicing. The United Nations, all summer, have been on the attack. They have held the initiative; they have determined the war strategy and forced the Axis to conform to their plans. Italy is out of the war as an active partner of the Axis. The Balkan States are showing signs of unrest. The Axis Satellites are beginning to seek a way out, while the neutrals are more and more inclining towards the United Nations.

The phenomenal achievements of the Russian Forces have confounded even the experts. The Russian steamroller, reputed to be effective only in winter weather, has gone steadily ahead all summer. There has been scarcely a set back. The German forces are being forced to retreat steadily. Even though the retreat has been orderly and the Germans have kept their lines intact, yet the Germans are distinctly on the defense, and are giving up territory which they took at a heavy cost, and which they had firmly believed they could hold indefinitely.

On the military front the situation is very gratifying.

The Political Front

On the political front, however, the matter is not so reassuring. The British, who live right close up to Europe, know that the future peace of the world is bound up in some way with the future of Russia. Great Britain is prepared to co-operate with Russia in the post-war world, if we are to judge by all the statements of her public men.

In the United States, on the other hand, there is a very strong opinion against co-operation with Russia. The resignation of Sumner Wells, Undersecretary of State, is an indication of the tension in the States and the trend of opinion. The Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, represents the group who do not wish to co-operate with Russia in the post-war world. Sumner Wells was the most outspoken friend of Russia in the Roosevelt Administration. Mr. Wells has resigned. It is not difficult to guess the reason.

Mr. Edward R. Stettinius has been appointed in the place of Mr. Wells. Mr. Stettinius has been in charge of the administration of lease-lend and is inly forty-two years of age. He is probably a bit more sympathetic to Russian collaboration than Mr. Hull. But it is not easy to determine Mr. Stettinius' attitude to post-war Russia, on the basis of his friendship at the moment. Certainly, he has seen to it that every possible aid should be rendered Russia, under lend-lease. But that is a military matter and has little to do with the situation after the war. At any rate, there is considerable discomfiture among those who hope for a general post-war agreement between Russia, Great Britain, the United States, and China, over the resignation of Mr. Sumner Wells.

If the future is to be secure all these political fences should be mended, at once.

V

GETTING ON

For several years the C. C. F. was not taken very seriously. Few people paid much attention to them. But the results of late indicate that the C. C. F. must be considered in any future political situation. C. C. F. is a strong factor in British Columbia, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Ontario. We are not so much interested in the C. C. F. as a party, but we are interested in the things for which they stand. We are not alone in this. The success of this socialist party, in recent elections, is a clear indication of what the people are thinking and of what they want.

The two older parties are not neglecting to benefit by this swing of public opinion. The Progressive Conservative Party has been getting its house in order. Mr. Bracken has taken a progressive position; the report which Dr. Charlotte Whitton has been preparing for Mr. Bracken and the Progressive Conservative Party, on social reform, will be published soon. It will undoubtedly embody the latest ideas in social matters and form the basis of future action by the Party.

The platform on which Premier Drew went to the country, and which undoubtedly was a large contributing factor to his success, was a progressive, forward-looking platform. It certainly leaned well over to the left. Mr. Drew was elected because of this.

Now, the Liberal Party is in caucus. It too, sees the handwriting on the wall. The people are no longer content to listen to old platitudes. They want action. No party which hopes to win an election at the polls dare ignore this trend in public opinion. We are in a new world, civilization is on the march. What the future will be, no one would dare predict. But of this we are sure, the changing views of the average man and woman are being reflected in political action. The conscientious effort of the two older parties to meet this situation is ample evidence that no matter to whom the future of Canada will be entrusted, those in charge will be committed to a large measure of social change, in which the welfare of individuals will be given much more consideration than has sometimes been the case in the past.

MORE DEFINITENESS NEEDED

One of the weaknesses of the present attitude of the United Nations, and those who speak for them, is a lack of definiteness with respect to the objects for which we struggle. This is well illustrated by the address which Sir Harold Butler, British Minister of Public Relations, delivered in Toronto, on Monday. He described the German mentality, perfectly, and described the way in which the Germans, now facing defeat, hope to win the peace. "I feel sure," he said, "that Hitler and his generals are very well aware they can no longer win military victory, but I am equally sure, they are still hoping that, somehow, Germmy will win the peace." Then, after dealing with the history of Germany, he said: "We cannot be satisfied with less than unconditional surrender, and when we have obtained it, we shall have failed, despite all our blood and toil, unless we succeed in destroying Prussion militarism, root and branch, so that it can never threaten the world again."

With all that we are in hearty and enthusiastic agreement. But does it go far enough—to insist that we destroy German militarism and secure unconditional surrender? That is the negative side of the matter. Having secured unconditional surrender, having destroyed German militarism, what then ? What are we going to do with the victory we have won. What are we going to do with Europe ? What are we going to do with Germany itself ? It is a great thing to talk about these matters in general terms. It is a great thing to say we must not lose the peace. But what plan have we got to prevent us losing the peace. We have the Atlantic Charter, to be sure, but that, again, is a very general statement. No what the war is getting into a stage favourable to the Allies it is about time we knew just what the peacemakers have in mind for the future of Europe. The European people are waiting, no doubt, for some such lead. Certainly in the United Nations there are great numbers of people perplexed almost to despair because of the unwillingness, on the part of those responsible for the future peace of the world, to get away from vague generalities.

A MOMENTOUS PARLEY HEARS

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Prime Minister Churchill has the knack of hitting the nail on the head as he demonstrated when he drove home the point's of his notable two-hour war report to the House of Commons.

Coupling was the Premier's warning of the need of cordial relations between the Anglo-American allies and their Russian colleagues—a subject which long has been driving many timid statesmen to the hurricane cellar. He broached the matter by announcing that not only will there be a conference of representatives of Britain, America and Russia as early date" but that this will be followed by a Roosevelt - Stalin - Churchill parley, and of this latter project he said:

"No meeting during the war could carry with it greater significance for the future of the world as a meeting between the heads of the three governments, for without close, cordial and lasting association between Soviet Russia and their great allies we might find ourselves at the end of the war only to have entered upon a period of deepening confusion."

Mr. Churchill thus approached a great issue which is causing increasing anxiety — that is, the need of ironing out important differences in viewpoint between the Anglo - American partnership and our Soviet ally. These problems are largely political, and unless they are solved they will bode no good to a post-war world which will be entering a new epoch in the progress of mankind.

To my mind, the fundamentals on which all parties must adjust their outlook in the future seems to be leading her straight to domination of the west of Europe and Asia after this war. Look at it what-ever way you will — politically, economically or militarily — and the answer is the same. This vast, self-contained, industrious people will be the most powerful unit of the post-war world scene. That's a decree of Fate, and the only way to meet it is to recognize it and strive for a frank understanding.

Among the questions on which the Soviet and the western Allies appear to be rather far apart is that relating to the method of handling the defeated Axis countries, and especially as regards the treatment of Germany. Britain and the United States demand unconditional surrender, which would be followed by military occupation.

Moscow, on the other hand, has insisted that a new group of liberal German officers and others in Russia who have formed committees and are trying to persuade the German people to overthrow Hitler and form a government which they might then secure a negotiated peace. The signs are that the Soviet doesn't care for the Allied plan for occupying Italy.

Underlying the issue of the post-war handling of both Germany and Italy, then, is, of course, the big question of what form of government these countries ultimately will adopt for themselves. Frank words must will they draw their inspiration ?

Then there's the question of the Balkans, which Russia regards as within her sphere of influence but which the British and Americans interests in the Middle East. And over all will be hear the old rivalry between Britain and Russia for domination of Persia strategically situated as it is working overtime, as was made quite clear to me during my visit to that country. More than incidentally, many observers hold that Stalin has her eye on the Persian Gulf to provide her with an ice-free warm water ports which she needs so badly.

So it goes, and the further we proceed in surveying the position the more apparent does it become that there must be a mighty lot of give and take among the allies if grave difficulties are to be avoided.

THE HIGH COMMAND IN ACTION

BY CLARK LEE

When the gulfs at Salerno was at its toughest and most thinly-held beach-head was seriously threatened the Allied High Command consumed 66 functions at the tactical and effective peace developed over the past six months.

The big four of the United Nations' armed forces in the Mediterranean — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander and Air Marshal Sir Arthur W. Tedder — had foreseen that the operation would develop into as it did. They had correctly gauged the strength of the German reaction and knew what to do to meet it without losing time. Cunninghham sent in his big guns to blast the German counter-attack in close support of ground troops. Tedder threw all his planes into the struggle and Alexander hurried the Eighth Army up from the south.

With the assistance the Fifth Army fought off the Germans and gradually began to advance inland. Our High Command had anticipated that the period from the third day after the landing to the ninth or tenth day would be critical and had planned accordingly. There was no need for any sudden changes of plan when the crisis came.

The early stages of an operation like the Salerno landing, the Allied commanders meet every morning for a conference. The temporary location of headquarters is chosen for convenience and time saving and since the others cannot easily move their base, Eisenhower shifts his own headquarters to be near them.

All the big four travel a great deal by airplane.

The sessions last for an hour or an hour and thirty minutes. When a critical situation arises, the meetings are shorter and the officers hurry away to put into effect decisions that have been reached. When a session lasts longer than usual, the commanders' aides jokingly remark that "at least they aren't making any mistakes in a hurry this morning."

When a problem arises, there are discussions among the land, sea and air commanders, each of whom has his particular point of view. Fair instance, Alexander may ask for more planes over the Salerno beaches and Cunninghham may request additional air cover for his shipping. Tedder will reply that if he meets those requests it will mean detaching planes that have been assigned to attack enemy communications and prevent reinforcements from reaching the area.

Over this, Eisenhower acts as the referee.

During a crisis the commanders work harder and faster. Each of them thinks of some action he can take to relieve the pressure.

Cunninghham will offer to supply some ships that had been assigned for another purpose. Tedder will dig up some additional planes. Alexander will have a plan for speeding up the movement of reinforcements.

Eisenhower is very proud of the way the commanders work together and of the absence of rivalry among the high officers and their readiness to assist each other. He gets along on terms of close personal friendship with each of the three British commanders.

POLITICAL TANGLE Follows Surrender ITALY'S COLLAPSE

Out of the ashes of the Italian armistice has come the first great political tangle of the second Great War, far overshadowing the failed acceptance of Almiral Jean Darlan, and paving the greatest ethical problems and in Italy.

These are facts evident in Africa and in Italy.

A few days ago the Italians were deadly enemies.

Today some are fighting with the Allies.

Today some are fighting against the Germans. Some want Africa for Italy as by "technical extension" but to come and go as they please, in the uniforms of the Italian armed forces.

Divisions in Italian ranks. Germans as though they were fighting at the side of the Allies. Then Badoglio, in a speech, over all Italian radio said "Our place is by side with the Anglo-Americans, there is Italy . We are fighting side by side with the Anglo-Americans, who are now denying assistance in the ride of getting Germans from the country."

Badoglio surrendered unconditionally, but in his speech he said he did not forget that all talk about unconditional surrender is out of date and irrelevant to chemical conditions of today."

There are few precedents in international affairs for the whole movement to change from one enemy to another in the middle of a war, particularly a government headed by men who at one time or another secured a policy of "conciliation" avidly as the friend of Germany the Italian government.

Badoglio brought the first act of aggression, the Ethiopian campaign, to a successful conclusion and the agreement to change from one enemy to overnun the next group.

Except for a Churchill - Roosevelt statement that the "unconditional" surrender does not depends on their sovereign rights at the time of the armistice, there is no definite international policy down by Britain, the United States for dealing with the defeated foe.

In Africa and Italy are thousands of Italian aviators, soldiers and sailors who, if not actively fighting on the side of the Allies are allowed to move as they please because they surrendered on time.

What the Allies will do to Pantelleria's garrison of Sardinia with the Italians drove out the Germans and now are on the side of the Allies? Similar questions are asked about Italians under the different circumstances have the British and American troops as well as the French, in such as the French , in a way a political complication.

Presumably this "local solution" policy has been adopted on the grounds of "military expediency" but many who were ready to see justice such a reason for dealing with Darlan are not ready to do so with the Italians, in view of the element of doubtful military value as Allies.

While General Dwight D. Eisenhower is the principal adviser to Badoglio's government, his actions are directed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, OCTOBER 3RD, 1943

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS AND THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS

Lesson Text: Matthew 5: 17-29; 19; 16-22; John 3: 29, 40

In spite of the fact that we are at war, and that everything depending on the devotion and sacrifice of everybody, there are not wanting evidences that laws and regulations designed to equalize sacrifice and to bring the war to victory are disobeyed.

"Almost any newspaper records the actions of people caught violating wartime regulations. It is not too difficult a matter to get around them. Indeed there are those who are willing to pay large sums to lawyers who will find holes in a law that they can by which they can be evaded. Indeed it often happens that unscrupulous law makers will insert a "joker" in a law so that its intent may be defeated.

It is just this sort of thing that Jesus had in mind when he talked about keeping the law. Jesus did not say but what he said was that it was the spirit that was the important matter. Unless the people were willing to cooperate in obeying a law it would be next to impossible to enforce it. For law in the final analysis depends on public opinion and public opinion rests on the attitude of mind of the individual on any given matter.

That is what Jesus meant when he spoke of fulfilling the law. "He came," he said, "not to destroy the law but to fulfil it." To be sure there are many regulations in connection with religion and worship which would seem antiquated to the worshippers at Jesus' day. Jesus did not however suggest that they should be disobeyed. On the contrary he insisted that they be obeyed. But he insisted that more was necessary. Unless the people were in the spirit unless your righteousness exceeds the righteousness of the scribes and pharisees you shall in no wise enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

We can imagine Jesus saying "well there are lots of hypocrites in the church, there are men who put on their good clothes and make a great show on Sunday and then put one over on their friends on Monday. There are plenty of people who are careful to keep the law behalf of the law but refuse to spend a nickle on a poor broken brother. Yes, we can imagine Jesus saying all that but then he would end up by saying "Well I guess I'll to point out the hypocritical in the church. He was much more concerned to be fair and to be fearful of the spirit.

Jesus Himself was the revealer of the spirit of the prophets. He said as he said, not to destroy but to fulfil. He refused to do His own will that was best in the past, and that was nblest in the present but did not break with the past but made use of its deep spirit in His life. He came to destroy but to fulfil. There is much in Christianity today which is not in accordance with the spirit of Jesus. It is the worthlessness of Jesus. That must be wiped from the face of the earth. But does it follow that the beautiful which lies beneath may become clear, which does not mean that the chaff must be destroyed. It must be purified, simplified and made more in accordance with the spirit of Jesus and the mind of the Church.

Jesus put his finger on the weak spot in the life of the young man who came seeking guidance He pointed out to him the things in which his relations. He had obeyed them all the lester. But does Jesus not say something else which lies beneath all these outward expressions of religion? Is not failure to obey the law but his love of money? That was the point of the whole matter. So Jesus suggested that the young man sell everything he had and give the money to the poor. That was too great a test and the young man went away sorrowful. Let us not be too hard on the young man. But it is a test which very few are able to meet successfully. That is the final test, what is the thing we love most? What is the chief concern of our lives? Jesus called it idealise poverty. He insisted that it was the test of man's sincerity, his religion, and his love for the qualities of life and not that of which laws and regulations are but the outward expression.

GERMANY'S FATE IS SEALED

One of the war's most amazing documents, the manifesto issued by German officers now held as prisoners by Russia after surviving Stalingrad, has just been issued by the Legation of the U.S.S.R. to Canada. This manifesto was drawn up at a meeting of the prisoners shortly after the Five Germany National Committee was formed in Russia and called the German Officers' Union, had taken its place beside the committee in seeking the overthrow of Hitler. The appeal of the captive officers is remarkable in that it declares Germany's fate as far as winning the war is sealed; the Germans, the officers assert, have the means in their hands to avert complete disaster and are urged to bring about the speedy despatch of the Nazi leaders.

"To German generals and officers! To people and army !

"At the beginning of the fifth year of the war, we surviving generals, officers and soldiers, fighters of the sixth Germany Army, the Stalingrad Army, address you in order to indicate the way to the salvation of our fatherland and our people. All Germany knows what Stalingrad means. We experienced all horrors of the Stalingrad Inferno, In Germany, we were buried alive. But we have risen from the dead for a new life. We cannot remain silent any longer. As no one else we are entitled to speak not only on our behalf but also on behalf of our dead comrades on behalf of all the victims of Stalingrad. That is our right and our duty. The grave military and political reverses which commenced at the beginning of this year as well as steady deterioration of the German economy compel us to recognize the hopelessness of Germany's situation. Stalingrad was the turning point.

"It was followed by Caucasus and Kuban Valley, Africa and Sicily, Italy's collapse — blow after blow. The summer offensive of the German army fell through. The Red Army has recaptured Orel and Belgorod, Kharkov, Taganrog and Donetz Basin and advances towards the Dnieper. Our fatherland is shaken by the most ruthless air raids. The war on the fronts inevitably draws nearer. The overthrow of Mussolini, the dissolution of the fascist party, Italy's withdrawal from the war, a withdrawal of Finland, Hungary and Rumania which should be expected with certainty — all these are the stages on the path leading to Germany's complete isolation, an isolation even more complete than in 1918. Every thinking German officer realizes that Germany has lost the war. Our entire people feels this. This is clear to ruling circles as well — to those responsible for all these calamities Hitler and his regime bear full and undivided responsibility before history for the fatal errors and miscalculations which will drive Germany to her doom if only people and army do not compel her to turn back in time.

"Hitler as a political leader caused the creation of the invincible coalition of the mightiest world powers against Germany. Hitler as a leader of troops brought the German army to the heaviest defeats. He buried German soldiers this tho winter campaign 1941-42 without essential equipment. With the obstinacy of the monomaniac unable to learn anything, he conceived the adventurist march to Stalingrad and Caucasus. At Stalingrad and in Africa he sacrificed the picked German armies to his purpose. Now the whole of Germany is to be saved from a similar fate.

"The war is continued solely in the interests of Hitler and his regime against the interests of the people and of the fatherland. The continuation of this senseless and criminal war may bring about the national catastrophe. We are ready to avert this catastrophe now is a moral duty and loyalty of every German who realizes the full weight of his responsibility.

"The bitter lesson of Stalingrad must be transformed into the salutary action. Therefore we address people and army. In the first place, we address the officers of the troops — generals and officers of our armed forces. The adoption of the great decision depends on you! Germany expects that you will find in yourself the courage to face the truth and consequently to act boldly and without delay. What is necessary — otherwise this will be done without you or even perhaps against you. The fatherland will never be able to adopt the only path which can lead to peace. The recognition of this fact compels you to destroy the criminal regime and to demand the formation of a government backed by the peoples' confidence.

"Only such a government can create conditions for our fatherland's honorable withdrawal from the war and for the ensuring of peace. It does not mean a calamity to Germany nor will bear itself as an enemy of new wars. Do not renounce your historic mission! Assume the initiative! Army and people will support you! Delay means immediate resignation of Hitler and his regime.

"Fight shoulder to shoulder with the people in order to eliminate Hitler and his regime and to save Germany from chaos and catastrophe. The fighters of the Sixth German army, Stalingrad army and all the Germans, prisoners, officers and men now in Russia raise their voice, being conscious that thereby they discharge their sacred duty to the nation. Long live free peaceful and independent Germany."

SELBY

Selby, Sept. 27. — Silo filling has been the order of the day during the past week.

The Lennox Equipment and Supply Company has installed a new feature for the manufacture of fence.

Mrs. W. M. Wilde has returned to Napanee, where she was the guest of Mrs. Leah Russell.

Mr. Thomas Dupree and son, Cole, are the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wood.

Mrs. Hawley Bradshaw and Mrs. Allan Bradshaw and children are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. McFarlane.

Mr. Cassidy of Toronto spent the week end with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Kingston, are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKnight on Sunday.

Mrs. J. Clarke was the guest of her mother, Mrs. John McConnell, on Sunday.

Mr. Donald Bruce, Miss Helen Bruce and Miss Franellyn, Kingston, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wilde.

The annual Sunday School Rally held in the auditorium of the United Church on Sunday afternoon, was one of the most successful of recent years. Several members of the school contributed to the programme, which was in charge of the superintendent, Mr. R. Hudgins. Rev. Patrick delivered a very fine message on the theme of Giving one's best, which was very much appreciated. A junior choir of 25 girls and boys led the singing and contributed a couple of choruses. An interesting feature of the exercises was the presentation of the Robert Raikes Diploma and seals, by the grading officer, Mr. Ross McConnell, who also had charge of the promotions of the junior and intermediate members to the new classes. Sunday school will be held at the same hour next Sunday morning, to which everyone is invited.

The Young People's Society will hold its first meeting of the season next Friday evening. All young people will be welcome.

Worship service next Sunday evening will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Merrick, with communion service following. Everyone is invited.

Remember the anniversary service October 17th.

DORLAND

Dorland, Sept. 25. — The dry weather of the past week has enabled farmers to catch up on some of their work. Threshing is nearly completed except for buckwheat, which is now in stook. Most of the sweet corn has been picked and has been sent to the canning factories, but tomatoes are mature very slowly owing to the cool, cloudy weather. The trees are taking on gay autumn tints.

Mr. James Roblin, who belongs to the Ferry Command of the Air Force has been visiting his mother, Mrs. D. W. Roblin, and his cousin, Miss Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Collins and daughter, Kingston, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Roblin.

A number from this appointment attended the anniversary services at Conway last Sunday. It is hoped the pleasant weather will continue over this week end on account of the special service to be held here by Rev. H. E. Herrington of Newburgh. Rev. J. Crawford will be conducting anniversary services at Union appointment on the Lansdowne circuit. The latest of the local boys to join the Armed Forces is Allen Mallory.

SILLSVILLE

Sillsville, Sept. 27. — A number from here attended the anniversary services held in the Adolphustown U. E. L. Church today, when Rev. Herrington, of Newburgh, was the guest speaker.

Rally Day services were observed in the Sunday school Sunday morning.

The hunting season for ducks opened here Saturday morning, but there was very little shooting compared to former years. It is said that the lack of ammunition means fewer duck hunters.

Mrs. D. R. Sharpe gave a handkerchief shower last Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret McLean who is joining the fall class of nurses in training at the Kingston General Hospital. The guests were the other girls of the district and their mothers.

HENDERSON

Henderson, Sept. 25. — Everyone regrets the illness of Mr. Herbert Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Jokie Arney, also Mr. Tommy Killingbeck, Northbrook, were visitors at Arnold Clark's, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Woodcock were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Ellen Scott.

Mrs. S. Turcotte spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. J. Clarke, and grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Scott.

Mrs. Jos. Clancy spent Sunday with Mrs. Herb. Scott, who is very ill.

Mrs. Charlie Graham spent Thursday with Mrs. Arnold Clark.

Miss Joyce Scott, who has been in Toronto for several months, has arrived home for a few holidays.

Mrs. S. Clark called on her son and his wife on Sunday night.

KALADAR

Miss Leila Delyea of Harlowe, is employed at the Kaladar Hotel at the present.

Mr. Walter Vilneff of Kingston visited friends in Kaladar for a short time.

Mrs. T. Bartlett and daughter, Donna, of Peterborough, spent a holiday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parks.

Mrs. Arch Wood of Flinton visited for a day with her daughter, Mrs. M. Tryon.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thompson are living in Napanee at present.

TAMWORTH

Tamworth, Sept. 27. — The Town Hall in this village was the centre of attraction for five days last week when a course in Remodelling was conducted by Miss E. M. Collins, of the Women's Institute Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. This was sponsored by the local Women's Institute Branch. A class of twenty regular members took advantage of this training, besides many who spent a part of the time and gained considerable valuable information in the art of sewing. Several coats, dresses, suits and other garments, as well as ladies' suits, made from their husbands' discarded suits, were brought forth and made into 1943 styles. At the closing of the class on Friday, refreshments were served and a small presentation was made to the instructress, Miss Collins, in appreciation of her efforts.

L.A.C. Frasier and Mrs. Frasier of Dartmouth, are visiting at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. H. J. Millar and Mr. Millar. Mr. Frasier is in the Marine Division of the R. C. A. F.

Mrs. Morgan Scott of Montreal, is spending a week at the home of her friend, Mrs. Ida Lockridge.

Mr. Wesley Millar has resumed his studies at school here after having spent the summer holidays in Windsor, where he was employed with the Ford Motor Company.

HAWLEY

Hawley, Sept. 27. — The Hawley W. A. and Maple Leaf W. I. Red Cross unit, met at the home of Mrs. George Creighton on Tuesday, October 5th, to do war work and enjoy a pot luck supper. Let everyone do his part, and it is our duty to support every effort, so that victory may soon come.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Clark and family of Windsor, are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. C. L. Sivrey and Mr. Sivrey, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. O'Connor spent the week end at Tweed, with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith.

The farmers are busy silo filling, and corn is a very good crop considering the early frosts, which did some damage.

Mr. Raymond Fretts has purchased the home of Miss Hall, Napanee, and will be moving soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Galy, were Friday evening callers at the Ackerman home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith attended the sale of Walter Woodcock, near Napanee, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fretts were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. O'Connor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Woods and daughters visited Mr. and Mrs. Hawley on Sunday.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. How does one become identified with the organization of the Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board?

A. If you belong to any organized women's group, it is entitled to select a liaison officer to represent it under the Women's Regional Advisory Committee of the Board, which in turn represents the Consumer Branch throughout the Dominion. There are now almost 13,000 of these liaison officers and committee members and the Branch will not be satisfied until every women's group is so associated with its work.

Q. Is it permissible for me, as a farmer to give a lift to a soldier in my truck?

A. There is no regulation whatever against you doing so.

Q. Are farm machinery agents subject to the licensing order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, A. Yes, anyone engaging in that business is required to hold a licence of the Board, but if he already holds a licence for any other class of business, he need not obtain a second one. It is further provided that any person proposing to enter the farm machinery business or to take on that type of business or to enlarge his premises for that purpose must first obtain a permit to do so.

Q. Are pie fillers rationed as preserves under the latest rationing order?

A. It canned and made from whole fresh fruit or fresh fruit sliced, pulped, in pieces or in sauce form, pie fillers are considered preserves and consequently are rationed. Raisin pie filling and fillers such as chocolate, caramel and cocoanut, or a cream filling merely flavored with lemon or other fruit flavoring are not rationed.

Q. It seems to me that the location of our Local Ration Board in the country is very inconvenient and that something could be done to make it more accessible to consumers. What steps should be taken to that end?

A. If you will communicate with your branch of the Ration Administration, an investigation will be undertaken to see if improvement in your situation cannot be made.

Q. What am I entitled to charge for potatoes now that I, a producer, sell them directly to consumers?

A. You are entitled to charge the legal wholesale price fixed for your district, i.e., the ceiling price from a wholesaler to a retailer and to add to that a mark-up of 40 cents per 100-lb. bag, 20c per 75-lb. bag, 25c for 50 lbs., 15c for 25 lbs., 12c for 15 lbs. 8c for 10 lbs. and for smaller quantities, one-eighth of a cent per pound. You should first of all ascertain from an office of the Prices Board the legal wholesale-to-retail price applicable to your particular district and then add to it the legal markups as indicated.

The United States gallon is 16⅔ per cent. less than the British, or imperial gallon.

NEW SCHEDULE

PRESERVES RATIONING

EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 30, 1943

Preserves rationing gives the consumer a number of choices both of products and sizes of containers. Because of the wide range of container sizes and the variation in buying habits across the country it was necessary to put the system into operation and then make adjustments on the basis of experience.

Now that preserves rationing has been in effect for several weeks, it is possible to made some increases in coupon values. The new schedule is announced below and is effective September 30th.

The new doubled ration allowances for molasses, extracted and comb honey will enable consumers in areas where consumption of these products is heavy, to buy more and still leave enough for districts where the total demand is light.

The increased ration allowances for corn, cane and blended table syrups and maple syrup are adjusted to bring coupon values more closely into line with the great variety of container sizes now in use.

SOME PIE FILLERS ARE NOW RATIONED

The Ration Administration has announced that under the preserve rationing now in force, pie-fillers, if canned and made from whole fresh fruit or fresh fruit sliced, pulped in pieces or in sauce form, are considered preserves and consequently are rationed. Raisin pie filling and fillers such as chocolate, caramel and cocoanut, or a cream filling merely flavored with lemon or other fruit flavoring are not rationed.

Another instance of the increasing spread of mechanization in industry: the fleet of 267 boats used by salmon gillnetters in the Bella Coola area of British Columbia in 1938 included 98 sail boats, but by last year there were none. All the gill-net boats in the area were gasoline-powered.

Promotion Exercises At United Church Newburgh

The Rally Day Service of the United Church Sunday School was held on Sunday evening, September 19th, in the auditorium of the church. Mr. Hubert Simkins assisted Rev. H. B. Herrington in the service. Suitable readings were given by Ruth Morgan and Howard Wagar. The scripture lesson was read by Wayne Tompkins. The main feature of the service was a promotion exercise led by Mrs. Herrington, superintendent of the Children's Department of the Sunday School. While the choir sang "Open the Gates," Miss Doreen Card and Miss Betty McLeod opened prettily decorated gates on the platform for junior pupils to pass through on entering the intermediate class. These pupils, Ruby Pero, Alice Jaynes, Clayton Rose, Donald Baker, Howard Wagar, after being presented with diplomas from their teachers, Mrs. R. Wightman and Mr. H. Simkins, were welcomed by the intermediate teacher, Mrs. R. Kleinsteuber. The children leaving Miss Simkins' primary class were Margaret Ramsay, Maude Wagar and Lois Yates. Having passed through the gates opened by Jean Pero and Margaret McGill, they were given diplomas by Miss Simkins. Mrs. Stuart Moore, teacher of the Beginners, presented Beverley Card, Lois Morgan and Betty Medway with diplomas, while Dorothy Embury and Dean Baker opened the gates for these pupils to pass into the Primary Class. Miss Simkins received these little folk. Beverly Ramsay and Romanie Finke opened the gates for the Nursery Children leaving Mrs. Herrington's class and going into Mrs. Moore's class. These little people were Inis King, Paula Alley, Shirley Conway, Roy Jaynes, Reginald McQuay and Edward Mounce. While the "Happy Welcome Song" was sung, Irene Embury and Marion Wagar opened the gates for Dale Angelyn Fluke and Gale Gannon to pass on their way into the Cradle Roll Department to the Nursery Class. Rosebuds were given by Miss E. Yeomans. Miss Eileen Hounslow was pianist for the promotion service.

At the conclusion of these exercises Rev. Herrington gave a brief and profitable address.

EXTEND EXPIRY DATE OF CANNING COUPONS

The previous expiry date for canning sugar coupons of September 30 has been extended until further notice. Originally these coupons were to expire on the date mentioned, but they may be used until further notice is given and that will be well in advance of the date chosen.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 3RD - 9TH

The week of October 3 - 8 has been set aside by Royal Proclamation as Fire Prevention Week for the purpose of impressing upon the public the disastrous and needless waste of life and property occasioned by fire and the means to be taken to reduce this tragic and unnecessary wastage.

When it is considered that Canada's loss by fire in 1942 was 304 lives and over $31,000,000 property damage, it is easily apparent that something must be done about it. Fire is a disease that annually saps our national wealth and every citizen should resolve to do his bit to wipe out this menace to our happiness and prosperity.

Every citizen can be a soldier in this campaign by simply being careful and safe by disciplining himself in his smoking habits, by seeing that every fire hazard in his home, store or factory is removed and by knowing what to do should a fire start. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen are battling a grim enemy on far-away fronts. Let us battle that other enemy — the "Fire Demon" — on the "Home Front." We, too can help to win the war by preventing fires. Every fire is small in its incipiency but it might easily reach the proportions of a conflagration. Our duty is to see that a fire does not start.

This week, in the press, over the radio, in theatres and from the platform, John Citizen will be exhorted to use every care while fire, not only during Fire Prevention Week but every week in the year. It would be well for him to take this advice to heart and to make Canada a fire-safe country in which to live. We tired only to call to mind two holocausts which have occurred during the past year in order to show the tragedy which can follow in the wake of fire. These are the Cocoanut Grove Night Club fire in Boston in which 491 people lost their lives, and the Knights of Columbus Hostel fire in St. John's, Newfoundland, in which 99 lives were snuffed out.

WE CAN'T BE TOO CAREFUL WITH FIRE

Prevent fire and cut down this appalling loss of life. Parents! Do not on any account leave your children alone in your house. Twenty-seven small children lost their lives by fire in 1942 when left alone.

These figures speak for themselves. The unfortunate victims cannot ...

ANSWER FOR OPTIMISTS

BY LOUIS F. KEEMLE

International developments in Germany and the determined stand which the army is making against Russia's smashing offensive towards the Dnieper river indicate strongly that the Nazis are prepared to carry the war at least into next year and to go down in utter defeat rather than pay to save Germany by unconditional surrender.

It is the best answer to optimistic forecasts that Germany will collapse by the end of this year.

There have been various theories about the reasons for the assumption by Heinrich Himmler, head of the Gestapo, of internal dictatorship in Germany, which is what his appointment as Interior Minister amounts to.

Himmler has his own army inside Germany and actually is stronger than Hitler, if he should care to turn against the No. 1 Nazi. However, he knows he is in the same boat with Hitler, and if they split, the whole Nazi regime would be most likely to collapse.

Hitler and Himmler, then, are determined to work together to prevent a breakdown of the war effort among the German people under the terror of the Allied air offensive or continued military reverses which may in turn is an assurance to the army at the front that they will not be let down by the people at home, as they claimed they were in the last war.

The Germans insist they were not militarily defeated in the last war, which is a lie, but they have been taught to believe it thoroughly. Assurance of home support to the end this time is the best guarantee against a breakdown of army morale.

The strengthened Hitler-Himmler coalition, however, is a reasonably sure sign that they do not count on a separate peace with Russia. There is no doubt they would be glad to withdraw entirely from Russia if it would end the fighting in the East and permit use of their full army to defend the southern and western walls of their "fortress." It would mean incalculable prolongation of the war. However, it is certain that Russia will not make terms of any kind with the existing Nazi regime. A truly democratic revolution in Germany might be another matter, and this Hitler and Himmler are determined to prevent. They know they could not deceive Russia on a faked one.

As to the military situation, the withdrawals of the German Army on the eastern front are slow and orderly. There is no sign of cracking and almost no prospect that the Russians can crush it this year. It is far from certain that the Russians will be able to reach the Dnieper before the autumn rains slow their offensive. The Germans will still have the line of the Dnieper to fall back on against whatever winter offensive the Russians are able to muster.

MEDICAL SCIENCE WINS AGAIN

Medical science has produced a new technique for treating victims of sea shock or underwater blast, according to leading depth charge authorities. torpedoes and bombs, and the highest proportion of recoveries out of 190 cases has been recorded in recent weeks.

Sea shock effects have been closely studied since the beginning of the war, and doctors have been largely baffled by some of the phenomenon produced. These effects include a variety of wounds and injuries, mainly abdominal and pulmonary, with minor complications, such as persistent hiccoughs.

The victims are immersed, shipwrecked seamen and sea-crashed airmen in the vicinity of underwater explosions, technically described as causing "sudden waves of positive pressure propagated through the water, which affects persons within a radius of about 60 feet, with considerable individual variations in susceptibility, according to the nearness or physical resistance."

In a detailed report of the clinical studies made by the Lancet, British medical publication, says that knowledge of sea shock effects and complications is still limited and lacking in precision, and that the closest investigators are still in the dark as to how many of the lesions recorded may be caused by under water blast waves.

Nevertheless appreciable progress has been made with new methods of treatment, devised by leading medical scientists, which have unquestionably saved the lives of many seamen and airmen, according to one observer.

Lancet's report, enumerating the effects of sea shock, says they are primarily marked by paralyzing pains, mostly abdominal, with intestinal perforations in the worst cases. It was found in some cases, all suffering from lesions confined almost exclusively to the intestine, stomach and lower end of the oesophagus. Perforations were present in nine cases.

It was recorded that almost all of the victims were hurt while swimming normally away from the explosion and one of the most useful lessons learned is that wherever underseas blasts are known to be possible a man should swim on his back. This has been shown to be the best protection against blast effects.

WHEAT FOR GREECE

"Every month since August 1942," says the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, "Canada has been sending half a million bushels of wheat to Greece." This announcement, made in the House of Commons recently by the Minister of Trade and Commerce, must have had tremendous appeal for Canadians generally. Almost unbelievable stories of pitifully gallant struggle being put up by the people of Greece have been seeping out of Europe. Our hearts have bled for them in their hour of supreme sacrifice, but commiseration is a negative and sustenance quite another. Sympathy does not fill empty stomachs. Now at last we can be sure that our moral support has something tangible behind it.

As a matter of actual fact, our shipments of wheat to Greece have passed the 5,000,000 bushel mark. This has been a straight gift from Canada to the Greeks and has been carried in neutral Swedish vessels. During the five months ending May, over 2,235,000 bushels were safely delivered, distribution overseas being supervised by the International Red Cross.

For our own larder it is expected that we will have about a billion bushels of wheat after this year's harvest. At the present time there are about 650,000,000 bushels in storage. Western grain growers have been encouraged by the Agricultural Department to reduce wheat acreage and increase coarse grain production. The total acreage production now is about 11,000,000 acres from the former total area of around 26,000,000. More than 185,000 farmers have taken advantage of the wheat acreage reduction bonus system which has now been in force for three years. Last year the production bonus amounted to $21,000,000 and this year is anticipated it will reach $26,000,000. According to recent statements of the Department of Agriculture about a million dollars have been paid to date out of the Federal Treasury in various forms of aid to grain growers. Unless a big market for wheat develops before the end of the war, there seem little chance of stopping the present policy of bonusing western growers for turning wheat acreage into the production of coarse grains and other purposes.

FOUR YEARS OF WAR

We look back with amazement on four years of war — Canada's remarkable production record, her decisive role in holding the life-line of the Atlantic and in gaining mastery of the air, her troops in the spearhead of the assault on the Fortress of Europe. Finally, as a climax, the most momentous conference of the war has just been completed on Canadian soil. Almost overnight Canada has been thrust into the status of a world power.

What does this fifth year hold for us?

These last years have tested both our defences and our offensive power. In every instance we have come out on top. Now in the coming year we have other severer tests to meet, more dangerous ones perhaps unless we see what is at stake.

First of all on the home front there is still a battle to be won. Have we the honesty and discipline which will hold off inflation? Can we, under increasing strains and pressures, maintain and step-up our industrial teamwork? These defences must be held by every employer, worker and consumer at home.

There is a further test, larger in scope and more difficult to recognize.

Already one dictator has gone, and piece by piece, from without and from within, the structure he built is being torn down. One ideology is on the way out. What will take its place? We cannot leave Europe in the state of the man in the biblical parable—swept and garnished and ready to be taken over by seven other devils.

A blue print is needed for the post-war world worked out not on paper only but in the life of a nation, which has proved what honest teamwork means between race and race and between industrialist, worker and farmer, a nation which uses its resources for the good of all and the exploitation of none.

The Fathers of Confederation have shown us what we can do. They built a nation when they were brought together by a union of faith which overarched all differences of race, political creed and economic interest. With that vision and faith rekindled in us today, we can produce that blueprint — a pattern every other nation will covet for itself. This is our essential task in the building of a new world.

This is the test which the fifth year of war is calling Canada to meet.

The Late John A. Birrell

The death occurred early Tuesday morning, at his residence on the Deseronto Road, about four miles west of Napanee, of John Allen Birrell, who had lived in or near Napanee all his lifetime.

He was born in Richmond Township, about 84 years ago and was the youngest child of the late Robert Birrell and Eliza Henry. When a young man Mr. Birrell came to Napanee where, for a number of years, he conducted a prosperous feed grinding business. About six years ago he moved to the farm on the Deseronto Road, where he lived until his death. He was taken seriously ill the latter part of March and had been in Kingston General Hospital on several occasions, for treatment.

Mr. Birrell was an active member of No. 212 Oddfellows Lodge in Napanee and was a past noble grand of the lodge and a past district deputy noble grand. While residing in Napanee he was a member of St. Andrew's Church and recently had attended the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, in Deseronto.

He was married twice. His firs' wife, formerly Elizabeth Grass, Napanee, left three children, Miss Mary Birrell, Allan and Beverly Birrell, who also survive. Some years ago he married Minnie Maracle who also survives. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Ezra Woodcock and Mrs. Fred Tavernier, of Napanee. The late Mrs. Edith Wilson and the late William Birrell were also a sister and brother.

His funeral will be conducted under Oddfellow auspices on Friday, United Church, Napanee, by Rev. G. M. Calder, on Thursday afternoon. Interment will be at Riverside Cemetery. The pallbearers will be members of the Oddfellows Lodge.

MARLBANK

Marlbank, Sept. 27. — The September meeting of the W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Kendall, Thursday evening of last week, with an attendance of twenty-three members and visitors. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by prayer by Rev. Seaton. The scripture lesson was read by Miss Bessie Allen. The topic for this meeting was The Church. The roll call was answered by The Duties of a Good Church Member. The meeting was then opened for business. Plans were made to hold a bazaar and supper in November. Bills for cleaning the church and repairing the windows were ordered paid. Discussions took place on buying a furnace for the church. A card was read by the secretary from Mrs. J. Kirkpatrick, of Toronto, in reply to a letter sent her by the W. A. The secretary was asked to send a Get-Well card to Mrs. Gordon Dennison. A talk on "The Church and the Church To-day" by Mrs. McCutcheon was enjoyed by all. A reading "The Church Supper" by Mrs. Badgley, and readings by Mrs. Burd and Mrs. R. Asselstine, followed. Lunch fees $3.41. Birthday fees, 16 cents. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. A hearty vote of thanks was given Mrs. Kendall and Mrs. Roy Young for the use of their home.

A delicious lunch was served by the committee in charge.

WEDDING BELLS

BLAIND - FLYNN

The marriage took place at the residence of Very Reverend Dean E. M. Leacy, Napanee, on Wednesday evening, September 22nd, at eight o'clock, of Lillian Loretta Flynn, of Napanee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Erinsville, and Ernest A. Blaind, Belleville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blaind, Belleville.

The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Langevin, Erinsville.

The bride wore a tailored suit of pastel blue tweed with matching accessories and a corsage of orchid and roses. Mr. and Mrs. Blaind attired in a beige suit with brown accessories and wore a corsage of roses.

Following the wedding ceremony a buffet supper was served at the Richelieu Hotel, after which the bride and groom left for a short trip to Bannerville and Niagara Falls. They will reside in Napanee.

Harry B. Ham, Veteran Film Actor, and War Ace, Dies

Harry Breden Ham, 52, associated with the motion picture industry for nearly 25 years, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home at 621 N. Rexford Dr., in Beverly Hills, on July 27.

Mr. Ham, a native of Ontario, Canada, came to Los Angeles before the first world war as an auto race driver. During the war he distinguished himself as a flying ace. He attended the Royal Military Academy in Kingston, Canada, and was graduated from Yale. Shortly after the Pearl Harbor attack, Mr. Ham tried to enlist in the Canadian and American air forces but was refused because of his age.

His first movie work was in 1914 and 1915 when he acted in many of the old Christie comedies. In 1920, he joined the Stoll Co. in London as a film executive. Next he went to Paramount Studios as a special sales representative and after three years became district sales manager of First National in London.

Mr. Ham came to Hollywood in 1929 to produce Spanish pictures for Paramount. Soon, after this he went with the Myron Selznick agency and continued with this organization until last year when he joined Lyons & Lyons. He was with the William Morris Agency at the time of his death.

Mr. Ham leaves a family which includes his widow, Mrs. Helen Ham; two daughters, Lucita and Myra Ham; a sister, Mrs. E. Eliot Palmer and his mother, Lady Sharp.

Miss Agnes Coxall Died in Kingston

Miss Agnes Coxall, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Coxall, former well-known residents of Napanee, died in Kingston on Friday, September 24, in her 71st year.

Miss Coxall had been living in Kingston for several years and had been in ill-health for some time. While in Napanee she was a faithful member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and was well known by a large circle of friends.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. P. J. Hollis, Napanee; Mrs. M. J. Getty, Alton, Illinois; and Mrs. W. J. Maguire, Akron, Ohio, and one brother, Mr. C. P. Coxall of Peterborough, Ontario.

Her funeral was conducted at the Tierney Funeral Home on Sunday afternoon, by Rev. G. M. Calder, minister of Trinity United Church, and interment followed at Riverside Cemetery, in the family plot.

SECTIONAL RALLY NAPANEE SECTIONS Belleville Presbyterial

A joint rally of Napanee South and Napanee North sections of the Belleville Presbyterial, will be held in Trinity Church on Thursday, October 14th beginning at 9:15 a.m. Morning session will include giving of auxiliary reports and a memorial service conducted by Mrs. B. Herrington. The special feature of the afternoon session will be an address by the visiting missionary, Miss Marjorie Grigg, M.A., who is home on furlough from Gujerat Presbytery. Miss Grigg is particularly interested in the new Canadian of Finnish extraction, and has spent two furloughs in Finland in order to become better acquainted with the background of these people. She speaks Finnish fluently and sings in Finnish, folk songs and hymns.

Provision will be made by the ladies of Trinity Church for all delegates to eat lunch at the church. Delegates will bring their lunch tea and sugar. Hot water and milk will be provided. All women interested are urged to come and enjoy the fellowship and inspiration of these gatherings.

WEDDING BELLS

KERR - MILLS

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Mills, Napanee, their daughter, Ella Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Sergt. Donald George Kerr, of Liverpool, England, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Kerr, of Vancouver, B.C., on Friday afternoon, September 24th, at 3:00 o'clock. Reverend G. M. Chidley read the service. An aunt of the bride, Mrs. Frank B. Mills, played the wedding march. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Elsie Duguid and P./O. Ted Turner, both of Kingston.

x x x

The bride wore an afternoon gown of light blue crepe with sequin trim and her attendant was dressed in a gold crepe gown. The bridal bouquet was a muff of red roses. Miss Duguid wore a corsage of talisman roses.

The home was decorated with pastel plods which were arranged in profusion through the rooms.

Following the service, light refreshments were served, after which the bride cut the wedding cake and the guests drank a toast to the young couple.

The guests from Napanee included Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Chidley, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Mills, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Mills, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Smith and their two sons, Robert and Mack; and from Kingston, Miss Duguid and P./O. Turner and Sergt. Fred Davis, of the R.A.F. and from Cleveland Ohio, Mrs. Elton B. Seager.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Kerr will reside in Kingston.

GRANGE - JACKSON

The United Church parsonage at Selby was the scene of a pretty Fall wedding on September 15th, when Rev. W. R. Merrick united in marriage Dorothy Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson, Selby, and Mrs. James Robert Grange, twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Grange, Napanee.

The bride chose a floor-length dress of white sheer over satin, with three-quarter veil of white net caught in a halo of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and maiden-hair fern. She was attended by Miss Ruth Aikens, Kingston, wearing a floor-length dress of pink net over satin, with matching flowers and a corsage of pink roses. Oscar Grange, twin brother of the groom acted as best man.

After the marriage a reception was held at the bride's home, where a buffet luncheon was served to about thirty guests. As a gift friends of the bride, Tea was poured by two aunts of the bride and groom, Mrs. T. McCutcheon, Selby, and Mrs. P. Hagerman, of Kingston.

Amid showers of confetti the couple left for Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a mossy green crepe dress, with brown accessories.

OBITUARIES

THE LATE JOHN STAFFORD

John Stafford, aged seventy - one, passed away at his home in Camden East, on Tuesday, August 24, after a long illness. Mr. Stafford was born in Lonsdale, Ont., and went to Michigan at the age of twenty-one.

In 1905 he was united in marriage to Gertrude Bourisseau. Surviving are his widow and children — Mrs. Louis of the armed forces somewhere in the South Pacific; Mrs. Lee Rosencrans and Joyce, of Traverse City; Ione of South Bend, Ind., and Mrs. Robert Anderson, of Biloxi, Miss. A brother, Elias, and a sister, Mrs. Wellington Gibson, of Napanee Ontario, also survive.

Funeral services were held Friday, August 27th, 1943, in the Methodist Church and burial was made in the Northport cemetery.

Sewing Classes Held at Newburgh

During the week of September 20, Miss E. M. Collins of Toronto conducted afternoon and evening sewing classes in the Women's Institute Hall. This was sponsored by the Women's Institute. The classes which were both interesting and educational, were attended by an average attendance of fifteen persons nightly.

On the afternoon of Mrs. Collins' departure, tea and light refreshments were served. On behalf of the class, Mrs. Acton Robinson thanked Miss Collins for her help and instruction.

WEDDING BELLS

LOCKRIDGE - McGREGOR

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized in Newburgh United Church, Toronto, on Saturday, September 25th, when Margarette Lockridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGregor, Enterprise, became the bride of John Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lockridge, Newburgh. Rev. Clarke Latimer, B.A., pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at high noon. The bride was very attractive in her wedding dress of navy blue cheer, blue hat and accessories and wore a corsage of talisman roses, lily-of-the-valley and maidenhair fern. She was attended by Miss Ruth Glenn, of Kingston, wearing a pretty brown crepe dress, brown hat and accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and mums and maidenhair fern.

Mr. Alvin Lockridge was his brother's best man.

The groom's gift to the bride and bridesmaid were sapphire set pendants and to the groomsman a gold collar and tie set.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at "The Gavarin" in Toronto, after which the happy couple left for an extended honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in Newburgh, where the groom is a prosperous farmer.

Some of us who say we are "standing back of others" are so far back that, when needed, we're not even within call.

RED CROSS NEWS

On Saturday afternoon, September 18th, a shower was held in the Red Cross rooms for service men in hospital in Newfoundland. The Canadian Red Cross Ontario Women's War Work Committee is packing one thousand of these Personal Property Bags, and the Napanee branch made and filled forty. Much were shipped last week. Each bag packed here contained two pencils, paper and envelopes, one book, package of cigarettes, hard candy—two in each bag, one game, either a checker board, an cribbage board, jig-saw puzzle or playing cards, depending generally, and cake soap, along with some odd things as far as they would go. As usual, the people of Napanee and district responded most generously to the call for contributions and there was also twenty-five dollars given towards the expense of packing the bags. The Red Cross units from Enterprise, Tamworth, Roblin W. I. and Conway contributed generously, and cards with the names of these units were enclosed in the bags packed with their articles. It is to be hoped that the presidents of these units will have some interesting letters from the recipients.

At a special executive meeting on September 18th, Mrs. Duffett's resignation as chairman of the Finance Committee, was read and accepted. Mr. W. J. Wiggins was appointed to this position with Mrs. W. H. Duffet as first vice-chairman.

The Fall session of work is in full swing now and workers are needed in the work rooms. If only a few hours' work each week can be given it will be gladly received.

Unless a new spirit grips the nation, Democracy may be buried with the very men who are giving their lives to save it.

SCHOOL DAYS — MORE WORK

Hello Housemakers! — Every mother has more ironing and pressing to do during school terms. No matter how simple a method we give you, the pile of laundry after a big wash is not diminished.

If you want your clothes to keep their shape and be easy to iron, put the dresses and blouses on clothes hangers and fuss with them a bit. See that they will dry smooth and straight. Button the buttons and the zippers, straighten the seams, pockets and collar, and you will but iron the dresses. Be kind enough to hang them in the shade, so they keep their even colour. Then when they are taken from the line fold each piece back in a heap instead of crumpling. It is a wise plan to iron linens, cottons, rayons, etc., and turn the garments inside - out. The rayons are dampened first, then cottons, lastly, the linens. Your hot iron will then be in use consistently. For linens which need a real hot iron, then the cottons, and last of all, the rayons which are pressed with the iron at low heat. (Turning an automatic electric iron control from high to low requires time to adjust the temperature, and you are apt to damage the switch.)

When dampening, be sparing of moisture on satin rayon, a little more lavish on cottons and linens. Use a perforated capped bottle a clean one of your finger tips for producing a fine even sprinkle. Cover the dampened clothes in a basket for an hour overnight — longer may cause minute mould growth.

Begin on the rayons or hem of the article; do not run into corners with the weave of the material.

Iron with long even strokes, as the steam escapes more freely than when short strokes are used. Do not press into folds more than is necessary or the sharp edges may soon fray. When ironing garments press the thin parts of the material first before they dry out. Hang each article over a clothes rack to air thoroughly, hanging blouses, shirts and dresses on hangers.

May we remind you that in these half-settled days of inconvenience-tion not to press articles you need but iron — bath towels, dish towels, overalls, seersucker materials, etc. no one is doing unnecessary jobs.

TAKE A TIP:

1 Rayons need very low heat. It is wise to try the iron on a piece of the fabric that does not show.

2 Jersey silks, etc., need moderate to low heat. A damp pressing cloth should be used on the wrong side of the garment.

3 Wools need moderate heat. Again, a damp pressing cloth should be placed on the wrong side of the fabric and iron should be pressed down lightly. The iron should be lifted and placed on the next area — never moved up and down as ordinarily.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. H. K. suggests:

Uncooked Mustard Pickle

One gallon cider vinegar, one cup salt, two ounces white mustard seed, one ounce celery seed, one quarter pound dry mustard, one teaspoon cayenne pepper, two cups brown sugar. Saccharine to taste, cucumber, onions, cauliflower, etc.

Combine vinegar and flavourings. Cut prepared vegetables in suitable sizes and place in the liquid. Cover and keep closely in keg vegetables under liquid. The longer the vegetables are left in the liquid, the better the flavour. Some or glass jars are desirable.

Mrs. J. C. says her family likes a sun-plant meal frequently.

On a plate arrange three crisp lettuce leaves. In them place devilled eggs; slices of green pepper and shredded carrot; thick slice of a cantaloupe and a few grapes in the centre. For dressing put some grated carrot in a piece of cheesecloth and squeeze the juice over the lettuce and carrots.

Mrs. C.M. asks: "How much saccharine do you recommend to add to two quarts of preserving berries?"

Answer: Cook apples in a little water. Add saccharine to taste before serving. Then pieces should be taken the cooked sauce from the stove.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Bobs —

Glad to hear that the possible budrey did not balance but that I understand. Is a trial common to a Budrey? It is a knack like juggling, and I am sure that when you have more practice you will catch on. To tell the truth, I was mean enough to be pleased that something came you. It puts me in my class. So cheer up Henneyville, and get the books, if necessary. What am I saying? Heaven forbid that I should lead any young matron astray, so forget that I mentioned it.

Guess what has happened to Barty after persistent cavalier. Cuthbert, you cramped up in Kingston ! He has been transferred from his camp and sent here and did not tell her anything about it but just dropped in and surprised her. I think it is rather hard to find out of her self-control especially as he is now a sergeant major. It is not nearly so easy to keep a good "dangling" when he is on "Company" and Barty always straight out of Barty's vocabulary. I am so easily influenced. But you know all about that, you have been practically around by the nose for years.

Returning to Barty and her Cuthbert. I think I am going to enjoy watching developments. If I am not mistaken, that young man is not going to stand any more nonsense. He has certainly changed on me. I describe as a whirlwind courtship. Barty is wearing a rather dazed expression but I am looking forward to a "made" when the first shock wears off. I know exactly how she feels. There he was in the background and a very nice background he made too, then suddenly he crops up at alarmingly close quarters — very disconcerting ! As I have told you before, she rather fancies herself as a woman with a mission, so what she will do, I cannot imagine. Stand by for fireworks !

Drop me a line soon and let me know about your progress in budgeting. I am not any more successful in conniving. I can do that, too.

Your partner in crime,

NICKEY.

Front-Row Stand

That civilians in Holland take a front row stand rather than run for a shelter in case of an air attack is the story described in "Wings Abroad," the London publication of the R. C. A. F.

Sergeant Les Moore, of North Troy, N.Y., flying with Lloyd V. Chalburn's squadron, attended a locomotive in a railway yard near Alkmaar, Holland. Flying back over the target to find out what fun he had scored a hit he had the satisfaction to see two spouts of water rise from the engine's boiler. To his surprise he noticed a number of spectators on a nearby highway, watching the attack and cheering the hit.

They wanted whether the flak had been heavy or not. Sergeant Moore said he did not know because it was the first time he had seen any.

MALTA'S GARRISON AVENGED

Four years of almost daily air raids, of work, of constant privation — that is the story of the British Army troops who, until last March, were stationed on Malta, most - bombed spot on earth.

It is a story which only now can be told, for the war is over for some units of the Devon, Dorset and Hampshire regiments—could not be publicized while the island was under fire. But, today, the men who fought off the Axis through those long years are attacking in their turn. They are among the vanguard of the allied forces which are invading Fortress Europe.

When they are gone when the soldiers trained long and hard, preparing to defend the beaches and airfields of Malta against Axis assault; when they helped to build three additional airfields when they constructed stone hangars to shelter Malta's small force of aircraft.

No longer do they have to rush out swiftly during enemy raids to fill bomb craters on landing grounds while the R.A.F. s'uggles with attackers in the sky. That was almost a fulltime job in itself, since the German planes struck more than 2,000 times.

Those soldiers who weren't wielding shovels and picks during the raids blazed away with small arms and Bofors guns, bringing down more than one raider.

When the attack was over, they often formed "bomb drivers" and marched across the island, collecting unexploded bombs with their hands as they went.

At the docks the troops unloaded convoys of arms and equipment. They drove trucks to deliver the supplies, built up dumps and reclaimed debris.

But the toughest enemy the men faced was not the Luftwaffe; it was hunger. During their last nine months on the island there was not enough food to allow more than a quarter of a pound of bully beef a day, a slice or two of bread and a few locally-grown vegetables. In the last three months there was no beer or cigarettes at all.

The shortage of food was so acute that the men had to give up sports in their time off, as they developed an appetite which would not be satisfied. In the end, no work except that which was absolutely necessary, could be done at all. On some afternoons, to conserve energy there were "sleeping parades."

On March 31, 1943, the soldiers were taken off Malta to prepare for their new role as attackers. They landed, on July 10, on the beaches of Cape Passero in Sicily and went in the forefront on the British attack all the way.

FARMERS AFFECTED BY TWO RECENT W.P.T.B. ORDERS

The order making conditional sales of feeds illegal will be good news. In the past, some dealers have made a practice of making the purchase of feeds conditional on the sale of a bag of milfeed. This has led to farm complaints in rural districts. In some cases, dealers have developed where farmers who were compelled to buy milfeed they needed to get milfeed they needed. Finally had to take to feeding grain to their livestock along with the byproduct.

The ban, so farmer, if he does not wish to do so has to buy any flour from a feed dealer in order to get milfeed.

There are still some farming districts of Canada where certain feeds such as organic products of animals and fish are used in place of the other order issued recently by the Board will put a stop to this practice. The saving of every possible bit of protein feeds for Canada's expanding livestock industry is vitally important today.

The products covered by the order include bone char, bone meal, bone meal, bone phosphate, dried blood, blood meals, fish meal, fish meal, animal tankage, whale meat and whale bone, cottonseed meal, linseed oil meal soy bean, oil meal. From now on no sale of any of these products for fertilizer may only be done on an order from the feeds administrator.

SHOULD ARRANGE NOW FOR 1944 SEED POTATOES

GROWERS ARE URGED TO MAKE SURE OF THEIR SUPPLIES THIS FALL

Many farmers in Ontario will require a change of seed potatoes for planting in the spring of 1944 if best results are to be obtained from next year's potato crop, says R. E. Greeds, of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Last spring, many potato growers fully intended to obtain new stock but, due to high costs of seed at that time, coupled with shortages of seed, and price and transportation, they either decided not to go to the extra expense or just neglected to do so.

Therefore many potato fields this year are found to be infected with such diseases as fusarium wilt, bacterial ring rot, black leg, leaf roll and mosaic. In such cases the yields usually are greatly reduced and the continued use of such seed would be a most unprofitable potato practice.

On the other hand, certain growers, particularly areas adapted to potato growing, have been given special attention to production of seed potatoes this year, and, as a result, a limited quantity of high quality seed is available. Almost every year much good quality seed is sold during the fall months as ordinary table stock. This practice is mostly due to lack of storage space by seed growers. Then, later on, during the

FARM CASH INCOME AT HIGH POINT

Cash income from the sale of farm products in Canada for the first six months of 1943 is estimated preliminarily at $538.3 million, compared with $428.7 million in the corresponding period of 1942, and $356.6 million in 1941. The 1943 increase was common to all provinces except Ontario, and was most marked in the Prairie Provinces where substantial sales of wheat and other grains were made from the large 1942 crop. The greatest increase in 1943 was in Saskatchewan which was the only province recording a decline in the first six months of 1942 as compared with 1941. Increases in farm cash income occurred in all three Maritime Provinces, Quebec, and British Columbia, although the change in Nova Scotia was of a minor nature.

Income from the sale of wheat increased substantially from the relatively low figure of 1942, but the greatest percentage increase occurred in the receipts from marketings of oats and barley. For Canada as a whole, receipts from the sale of oats amounted to $27 million in the first half of 1943, compared with only $6.3 million in the corresponding period of 1942. The sale of barley increased from $4.3 million for the six months of 1942 to $19.6 million in 1943. Other substantial increases were recorded in income from the sale of hogs and dairy products, the income from the sale of hogs totalling $106.2 millions for the six months, and $110.3 million from dairy products.

LOW - SUGAR PICKLE RECIPES

The spicy fragrance of pickles and the smell of burning leaves — both are sure signs of fall and who is to say which of the two conjures up the more pleasant mental pictures?

Since no sugar is allowed for pickling, other than what can be saved from the weekly ration, most prewar recipes are no longer of much use. But pickles have morale value, if but little nutritional worth, for they add interest to meals which are becoming simpler and less varied. With this in mind, the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has been doing much experimenting to evolve the best pickles and relishes calling for the least amount of sugar.

These and other low-sugar pickle recipes are available on request from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for Wartime Pickles and Relishes.

Carrot Relish

Two cups chopped sweet red peppers; two cups chopped green peppers; four cups chopped cabbage (1 small head); three cups chopped carrots; two cups chopped onions; one cup sugar; one quart vinegar; three tablespoons salt; one tablespoon celery seed; one tablespoon mustard seed; Combine sugar, vinegar, spices and salt and bring to boiling point. Add chopped vegetables and heat just to boiling point. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes about five pints.

Vegetable Marrow Chutney

Five lbs. vegetable marrow; one cup salt; one tablespoon mustard; three and one-half pints of malt vinegar; one lb. onions, chopped fine; one teaspoon ground ginger; quarter-cup brown sugar or honey; three sweet red peppers; two teaspoons turmeric.

Peel a ripe vegetable marrow, cut in half and remove all seeds and the stringy parts. Cut marrow into small pieces cover with the salt and leave for twelve hours. Mix mustard and turmeric with a little of the vinegar, add remaining vinegar and all other ingredients except the marrow, and boil fifteen minutes. Drain and wash marrow, add to boiling mixture and cook until marrow is soft. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. Makes about two and one-half pints. Malt vinegar gives a colour and flavour that approximates that of imported chutneys.

Mustard Pickles

Three quarts pickling cucumbers; one medium cauliflower; one quart pickling onions; two sweet red peppers; four quarts water; two cups cooking salt; one cup flour; six tablespoons mustard; one tablespoon turmeric; one cup of sugar; two quarts vinegar.

Prepare vegetables by peeling onions, cutting other vegetables into desired sizes. Make a brine of salt and water, pour over vegetables and let stand overnight. In the morning bring to boiling point and drain. Make paste of flour, mustard, turmeric, sugar and a little vinegar, add remaining vinegar, stirring until well blended. Bring to boiling point and cook until sauce is slightly thickened, about ten minutes. Add prepared vegetables, bring to boiling point, pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal. Yield about four quarts.

INADEQUATE SCHOOL LUNCHES MAKE FOR DULLNESS

An American Doctor recently made the following statement:— "There can be no doubt that much dullness on the part of school children, particularly among the lower income groups, can be traced in part to a lack of the proper kind of food."

In the light of surveys made in this country in 1939-40, there seems no doubt that this statement applies equally to Canada.

With school days here again the problem of the child who has no hot lunch to carry his lunch to school looms large.

Dr. L. B. Pett of Nutrition Services says— "There are few community enterprises that pay better dividends in child health than a school lunch programme."

Where it is not possible to serve a complete lunch at school, Dr. Pett suggests that community groups, in co-operation with the local school board should give consideration to providing for a hot supplement to the lunch brought by the children from home. As examples of dishes which can be prepared with a minimum of equipment and labor, Dr. Pett suggests — hot cocoa, soup, baked potatoes, scrambled eggs, macaroni and cheese, or baked beans.

In many schools necessary equipment has been provided by the school board. The food may be supplied by each family in turn and the teacher supervises its preparation by the older children.

Nutrition Services, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa, is answering enquiries in connection with the starting of school lunch projects.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC WATERS BEGIN TO BOIL

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Russian drums continue to roll out their message of the smashing of Hitler's greatest battle-line, and still more of the house that Adolf built on the Mediterranean sands has collapsed during recent days, but we shouldn't let these events in neighbouring Europe blind us to the significance of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's brilliant coup in the capture of the Japanese base of Lae on the fetid island of New Guinea half-way round the globe.

As the crystal-ball reads the conquest of Lae and its brother base of Salamaua presages important developments in the near future. I think we can begin to look for another big naval and air engagement to grow out of the present situation.

Further indication that we are witnessing the beginning of a new phase of Allied offensive in the South Pacific is seen in the attack by strong American naval forces at the week-end on Tarawa island in the Gilbert group, and on Naur island west of the Gilberts. The waters of the South Pacific are beginning to boil.

President Roosevelt in his message to Congress called pointed attention to the fact that the position "has become a threat on our part against the Japanese in the seas that lie north of the Solomons and north of New Guinea." MacArthur having personally directed this fresh operation against New Guinea, and at the time from a bomber over the smoking-hot jungles, also has said that the Lae victory is a serious blow to the Japs.

"With God's help we are making our way back," he said in a special announcement. He, of course, had reference to the Philippines, which he has sworn to redeem.

Now that's strong testimony, coming as it does from the commander-in-chief in Washington, and his captain in the Far Pacific, and the significance of it is this: The New Guinea coast on which Lae is situated, lies close to the island of New Britain where the Japs have their powerful base of Rabaul. This base is the key to all the islands which they hold in the New Guinea and Solomons area.

Lae gives MacArthur a springboard from which to strike at Rabaul. Important as Rabaul is, however, MacArthur already is looking across it to another much bigger prize some 600 miles farther north. That's the island of Truk where the Nipponese have the most powerful naval base of their mandated island group. The wa'ars of that stronghold are headquarters for a big part of the Mikado's fleet which isn't in home waters.

Possession of the strategic island of Truk — which we propose to have— will put us in a highly favorable position for naval operations toward the Philippines, the East Indies and Japan herself. But capture of Truk must mean another great victory for sunless the little men of Nippon run away.

The United Navy is eager for a showdown, but the Japs have shown little eagerness for another major clash. Still, that battle is bound to come. When it does it's likely fairly well to settle the naval argument outside Japan's home waters where they are holding the main fleet as a vital protection for their tiny island kingdom. In this connection, it is important to note that the Japanese have been steadily slipping in both naval and air strength, as they have not been able to replace the great losses inflicted on them.

It isn't unlikely that the offensive which is steadily growing in the Southwest Pacific may be co-ordinated with the projected drive against Burma. Mr. Roosevelt in his message reaffirmed that "after a long period of defensive strategy in Burma, we are determined to take the offensive there." At the best, a major amphibious assault on Burma can't be expected for some weeks yet, since the monsoon season with its deluge of rain is only now coming to a close. Once the dry weather arrives, it still will take much time to get a great expedition under way.

One would expect that under normal conditions, Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander of the Burma show, and General MacArthur would co-ordinate their efforts so as to split the Japanese naval and air forces.

THE THAIS AWAIT THE ALLIES

According to the latest escapes from Thailand to Chungking, Thailand's entire population is turning against Japan's rule and may be expected to take up arms against the invaders when the Allies are prepared for an all-out offensive. The Thais never liked the Japs from the beginning and know well that the Jap's program of co-prosperity means prosperity for the Japanese only. The escapee added that the Chinese residents in Thailand are suffering from untold restrictions. They are not even allowed to engage in business enterprises of any importance unless they become Thai subjects through naturalization. All the schools formerly operated by the Chinese are now closed and the Chinese language is no longer taught even to the Chinese themselves. Such anti-Chinese policy is only dictated by the Japanese. Regarding Thailand's attitude toward China, the escapee said that the Thai people are most desirous of maintaining the friendliest relations with the Chinese people. Whereas regarding relationship between the Japanese and the natives, the escapee said that they never mixed well. The natives are seldom seen talking to the Japanese in the streets. Disputes between the Japs and the natives are daily occurrences.

MEDITERRANEAN IS NOW AN ALLIED MILL POND

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press War Correspondent

The Mediterranean — Mussolini's boasted "Mare Nostrum" our sea — has become an Allied mill pond. Crossing to Italy in an Allied invasion convoy was uneventful.

We loaded quickly on our landing ship and just before dusk sailed from a port bound for the beaches south of Salerno.

A little more than a year ago these waters swarmed with Italian surface craft and submarines and the skies were controlled by the planes of the Luftwaffe. The situation has changed so in the last twelve months that the air service units aboard the ship whose job it was to serve and supply Allied airfields when we landed took the whole voyage in the lighthearted spirit of a tourist cruise.

One R.A.F. ground worker pointed through the twilight at a small naval escort ship in the distance and said:

"Look at chubby over there. He just came along for the bloomin' ride."

Our ship was one of the new type landing craft especially built for the type of operations which are necessary for the Allies to establish bridgeheads on hostile shores. It was flat-bottomed but rode the waves well, with a minimum of pitch.

These ships are designed to turn over every bit of shipping space possible for cargo, but the men who designed them found room for a small ward room.

The men went to sleep in bunks below or in hammocks stretched on the decks under the stars. In the morning they awoke to find the ship plowing through the calm of the Gulf of Salerno.

Standing at the bow of our landing ship was the skipper, Lieut. Charles Tyler of near Southport, Lancashire, England, a handsome Royal Navy Reserve officer who in peacetime was a representative of a pharmaceutical firm of perfumers.

"It's a marking-time process for everyday I... this war is," he said. "We shall be glad when its over. This is the fifth year."

Ration boxes floating in the sea and the sound of distant cannonading signalled our approach to the beaches. Then the sun magically cut the mist away and there ahead was the invasion shore. Dozens of small craft were bringing ammunition and food ashore from large supply ships anchored with the navy vessels.

Cruisers and destroyers moved about, firing at German batteries in the hills. Not far from the beaches British artillery was sending a steady storm of shells inland. From the closeness of the artillery to the beaches two days after the invasion began, we knew the landing must have been tough and costly. But where resistance is meagre the artillery pushes on ahead of the advancing infantry.

Our landing ship headed straight for a sandy stretch of beach. The bow of the ship grated against sand but plowed forward until it came to a halt with a light jar — much easier than we had expected. The front plate opened wide, the forward steel ramp grated down with a rush of chains to the very edge of the surf.

Then the long column got under way to debark to the invasion area, with the thunder of British artillery surrounding us on three sides.

The battle of the beachhead was still not won, but we were at least ashore. We had a lochold at last on the continent of Europe—in Italy, lush land of red tomatoes ripening slowly, blossoming with tobacco plants and rich apple orchards. It was also a land crawling with fleas, lizards, bugs and other insects — a land swarming with mosquitos and little Italian children begging for candy.

NORWAY IS PAYING HER WAY

Thanks to earnings of her merchant marine, the fourth largest in the world, Norway has been able to pay for then way all through this war.

That is not all. The Royal Norwegian Government in London has also managed to keep pre-war obligations in order.

On August 16 the Norwegian Government paid the final instalment of $991,000 on a 20 million dollar loan obtained at six per cent interest in the New York market, in 1922. Norway now has outstanding only one of its old expensive dollar loans, a six per cent loan of 25 million dollars contracted in 1924. All but 2.5 millions of this has been paid off, and the balance is due in about equal instalments payable in February and August, 1944. The last instalment paid on this loan amounted to $1,187,000 and was paid August 1, 1943.

On both of these loans, as well as on all other Government and Government guaranteed loans in the United States the Norwegian Government has paid interest and amortization, according to the loan contracts, during the period after the Invasion of Norway just as before the occupation. During this August and September the Norwegian Government is paying semi-annual interest and amortization instalments amounting to about 4 million dollars.

This recalls an episode from the autumn of 1940 when Vidkun Quisling through Sweden asked for a postponement of interest and amortization instalments on Norwegian foreign loans.

No hurry, was the humiliating answer. The Royal Norwegian Government in London has paid up already.

V

The British Government proposes to give special training to 200,000 men in the first three years after the war to meet the shortage of labor in the building industry, it was announced at a conference organized by the Building Industries National Council.

"My guess is the war'll be over by Christmas!"

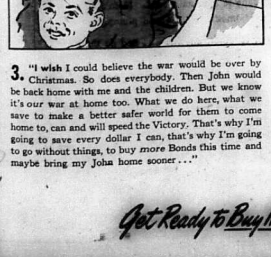
1. "Well, I hope's he's right . . . but it sounds like a pretty dangerous guess to me. Dangerous because, with ideas like that, some people are apt to slow down and go easy on the useful jobs they should be doing to shorten the war. Sure, we're winning, but when important things like this new Victory Loan come along, we've got to put it over! Then we can be sure we are speeding the victory. What's more, I figure Victory Bonds are better than even a savings account."

2. "This Victory-by-Christmas talk is wishful thinking. My own common sense tells me that winning this War will be a tough difficult job. The best way any man can help his country, and protect himself and his own business, is to put every dollar he can save into Canada's new Victory Loan. That's one sure way I know to speed the victory and bring our boys back home sooner . . ."

REMEMBER . . .

If all of us at home scrape together every dollar possible, dig into our savings, give things up, buy more Victory Bonds than we've ever bought, we have served notice on the world that Canada stands for a quick and decisive victory.

We tell our fighting men around the world that our town is not relaxing in this crucial moment. We have told them that we are determined to have this war over quickly and our men back home.



3. "I wish I could believe the war would be over by Christmas. So does everybody. Then John would be back home with me and the children. But we know it's our war at home too. What we do here, what we save to make a better safer world for them to come home to, can and will speed the Victory. That's why I'm going to save every dollar I can, that's why I'm going to go without things, to buy more Bonds this time and maybe bring my John home sooner . . ."

That's why I'm stopping up every little leak in the family budget,—repairs that might have been avoided or fixed up sooner; careless, unplanned spending for things we don't need . . . and things that just don't last the way they should.

★ And that's why I still look for EATON'S own brands when I shop . . . still look for the old trusted names on carpets and light bulbs, tooth powder and enamelware, shoes, dresses, stockings . . . I know that the names I've relied on in the past still stand as hall marks of quality and sound value. And dependability is so important these days.

So, as I say, I look for EATON'S own brands when I shop. I check my list of needfuls every time with the "badge of merit" labels at EATON'S. The lines, of course, are not as numerous as in the past—war needs have taken their toll—but those that are still on hand are safe landmarks when you're spending your dollars to the best possible advantage.

Half-pint Susie and big sister Jane . . . Mom and Aunt Jo and Grandmother . . . all of a family and not one alike, except when it comes to choosing dresses! Not that they like 'em the same . . . not a bit of it. Susie would fairly swim in a dress of Aunt Jo's. Jane is slim as a reed. Mom's sort of medium. Grandmother's little and plump.

But they all get together, anyway . . . and do their shopping at the C.D.S. They know they'll find the size just meant for them . . . and what's more, the dress will be becoming . . . designed with young-ness, with grace . . . attractive and right for the age that's going to wear it!

LETTER FROM AMOS CHADWICK IN SICILY

P 40237, Sergt. Chadwick, A.A., H.Q. R.C.A. Fwd. Can. Division C.A.O. C.M.F., Canadian Army Overseas. August 29th, 1943.

Dear Mother and Dad,

...and All at Home:

Here I am again saying hello from Sicily. We are all feeling fine and getting along O.K. I understand you hear a great deal about what we are doing here. I haven't heard from home, mother, since the end of June. It is a long time and no news. And had arrived safely in England. I was sorry I missed him by about two weeks.

We are still getting plenty of sunshine and no rain. It has only rained twice since we have been here and that only about 2 showers. The orange groves are suffering for lack of moisture. During one of the battles the irrigation plants were destroyed and they have not go' them back in operation yet. The majority of the roads are in pretty bad shape, even hard surfaced roads are a mass of little holes, and about six inches of dust over everything. It is really hard to drive and we kick up so much dust it is nearly like a fog. On some of the roads we get a bad jolt. They read like this: "Musadini crashed down here, don't follow his example."or "Drive slowly your wife don't want a pension, she wants you."

I have been swimming in the Mediterranean several times. It sure is refreshing after all that heat and dust; but no' as good as old Lake Ontario. I have met Capt. Medd. You will remember he was my teacher in those good old N. C. I. days. It sure was a thrill to see him. We have a good radio now and manage to hear most of the world news, as well as some popular songs. The B.B.C. gives us some very good programs. Fibber McGee and Molly.

...I had a cable from Iris; everyone is fine there. The heat over here is terrific; we are all tanned a nut brown. The meals are pretty good and we can get all the fresh fruit we want. Figs are delicious when picked off the trees. Don't worry too much over home there. Just keep the letters and "cigs." coming. We are all fine.

Lots of love,
Amos.

Y.M.C.A. SUPERVISOR AT I.F.S., DESERONTO ADDRESSES LIONS

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club, held on September 27th, Mr. H. Goodman, Supervisor of Y.M.C.A. Services at the Instrument Flying School at Deseronto, was the speaker for the evening.

Mr. Goodman is well known to citizens of Napanee and his efforts in organizing softball and other sports in this dis'rict are much appreciated.

Following the dinner and the usual routine of business, Mr. Goodman spoke to the Club on the many phases of the important work of keeping up the morale of our boys and girls in uniform. He spoke, generally, in connection with his work in other centres pertinent to coming to Deseronto and also since coming to this district. He was well aware of the reception that members of the Forces receive in Napanee and vicinity, but stated that much more could be done for those in the services.

He strongly emphasized the need of the co-operation of the civilian population in this effort. While it is the duty of the Supervisor to arrange recreation for the Forces, it is quite necessary for civilians to organize themselves in any way possible, to finally achieve worthwhile results. Mr. Goodman pointed out that one of the great needs was for social contact. He said that much could be done to alleviate the loneliness felt by the boys away from home. He pointed out that services clubs are in position to do a great deal towards this achievement and said that he would be pleased to cooperate with any committee to this end.

MR., MRS. J.M. JOYCE MARRIED 61 YEARS

On Tuesday, October 5th, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Joyce, Robert Street, Napanee, quietly observed the 61st anniversary of their marriage which was performed at the Methodist Church parsonage at Morven, by the late Rev. T. H. Macdonald.

Mr. Joyce is 84 years of age and Mrs. Joyce is 79. They have three children living, Jessie Mrs. F. A. Collins, Hillsboro, Ohio, Sheldon Rochester, N.Y., and Arthur, at Newburgh. Another daughter, Marjorie, died some years ago.

Mr. Joyce was born in North Fredericksburgh and is the last surviving member of a family of four brothers and three sisters. Mrs. Joyce was born in Scotland, but has lived in the vicinity of Napanee since she was two years old. For many years Mr. Joyce farmed near Napanee, but for the past 24 years he and Mrs. Joyce have lived in Napanee. They are both enjoying excellent health, and are regular attendant's at Grace United Church.

NAPANEE NURSE TELLS EXPERIENCES IN SICILY

"It is a year ago since the Dieppe stretcher and I left to come greet other places, believe me." Miss England continued. "Since leaving England we've got together here to come greet sane asylum but although things are pretty busy we have had quite a bit of fun too."

Since her group of nursing sisters was the first to reach Sicily, they were "given a big hand", by the troops, he said, and the officers had been doing their best to keep them amused when off duty. Before long she was interviewed and photographed by pictorial and newsreel men.

"Well, we've had our troubles and our fun and it still goes on, and from the news it's all in the good. We're proud to be here in the middle of it' after sitting in England so long," she wrote.

At the time of writing, Miss Richardson said she was in hospital with infected insect bites but expected to be out in a day or two. She explained that she had been in bed before leaving Siracusa and had come to her present hospital "by ambulance."

First Ambulance Ride

"It was my first ride in an ambulance as a patient," she stated, "and it was quite a drive, too."

Miss Richardson spoke of the abundance of wine, lemons, oranges, grapes, melons, canteloupes and figs in Sicily. She said she had not had much mail since reaching the island but that she had moved around considerably and no doubt her mail would soon catch up with her.

"No doubt you will think there are things which I might have told you about which I cannot," she told Mrs. Holmes. "They would only be censored. But I will have many anecdotes to te'l you one of these days, because we have had our bad moments and our exciting times, too."

One of Nursing Sister Richardson's visitors at the hospital since she has been ill was Col. William Boyd, of Ottawa, "It was sure nice to see him," she commented. "It's surprising the number one meets from home when they get together here." Gene Kinsey who resides at 264 Chapel Street. He went to England in November, 1941.

Miss Richardson wrote that the nursing sisters have been issued "most quite protective" uniforms for night wear, consisting of khaki shirts and slacks and khaki berets with one badge on them.

In closing her letter, Miss Richardson asked that Mrs. Holmes give her best regards to all her friends at the Grace A. Civic Hospital and her other friends, and asked also 'that she keep the letters coming.

Lieut. Nursing Sister Richardson graduated from Ottawa Civic Hospital and was attached to the military hospitals at Ottawa and Kingston before going to England two and a half years ago. From there she was among a group of nursing sisters who accompanied Canadian forces to the Mediterranean theatre of war. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richardson of Napanee, — The Evening Citizen, Ottawa, September 10th, 1943.

BLACK & WHITE DAY AT LENNOX FAIR GREAT SUCCESS

List of Prize Winners

The total a'tendance at the Lennox County Fair held in Napanee, last week, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, was much larger than anticipated for the first and second days of the fair. Fair officia's were decidedly pleased with the turnout and the interest shown by the citizens of 'the district.' The showing of stock and horses was unusually large and was considered the best of any of the fairs of the district.

The horse races attracted large crowds and were generally conceded to be the best held in the Bay of Quinte District, this year. George Tice, Belleville, was starter on the first day and J. J. Boyer was starter on Wednesday.

Magistrate's Court

In the Magistrate's Court Thursday, J. M. Simpson, K.C., on behalf of Harry Barrett, pled guilty to two charges, unlawfully selling liquor and selling liquor to a person under 21 years of age. Mr. Barrett has recently enlisted with the R. C. A. F. and Mr. Simpson asked for a remand for sentence until October 14th.

Four boys from eight to eleven years were in Court as a result of theft of potato sacks and fruit baskets from local stores. Only one boy, a lad of eleven years, who had previously been in court on a charge of theft of a bicycle, was charged with theft. His case was adjourned to go with warnings and the one young boy was given a suspended sentence on condition that he report to the Chief of Police each week.

MINISTERIAL ASSO. PASSES RESOLUTION RE COAL SAVING

The opening meeting of the Napanee and District Ministerial Association for the 1943-1944 season, was held on October 4th, at Trinity Church, Napanee, with the following present: Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille, Revs. G. M. Chidley, C. D. McLellan, A. C. McCallum, all of Napanee; Rev. A. M. Seaton, of Tamworth; Rev. H. E. Frair, of Enterprise; Rev. H. A. Bunt, of Deseronto; Rev. Bennett Crawford of Adolphustown; Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Mervin, of Shelbie, and Rev. and G. Fletcher, of Yarker.

The president, Rev. G. M. Chifley, opened the meeting by reading Psalm 96, followed by prayer by Rev. H. A. Bunt. The new members were welcomed into the association, Revs. H. A. Bunt and K. Crawford. The minutes were read and adopted. The time and place of the next meeting was left to Rev. C. D. McLellan. A letter from 'he officers of the local Salvation Army Citadel, expressing regret at their inability to be present, was read.

The communication from the Fuel Controller was received and discussed and the following resolution was duly moved, seconded and unanimously carried:

"We, the members of the Napanee and District Ministerial Association, assembled this meeting this Monday morning, October 4th, 1943, would respectfully state that, in view of the fuel shortage and the request of the Fuel Controller, we agree to use every means in our power to curtail the use of fuel in our churches. We would further suggest that public and commercial enterprises be asked to take similar action and that a report of this resolution be sent to the Fuel Controller, the Town Council and The Press.

In the discussion the sincerity of the group was illustrated by the fact that two of the town churches are holding all their meetings in one room and that it has been decided that when cold weather comes that church will be heated for meetings only on Sunday and Monday and only sufficient heat to keep the pipes from freezing would be provided on other days.

The address for the day was given by Rev. A. M. Seaton of Tamworth and Rev. Mervin, on his favorite "Preaching in an Age of Transition." He said in part: "The old order changeth giving place to the new. Where are we in religion? What is the position of Christianity? Actually amazing changes are taking place in the Church's position and for the good. Two phases of life. There are many facts that are discouraging but there is no place for worry. What the world needs to be courageous, positive and constructive. There ought to be far great central ones, the great fundamentals, the reality of God, faith, service, brotherhood, sin. Our purpose should be to change men inside. The paper provides for a free discussion in which all took part. The Archdeacon closed the session and expressed a huge cache of ammunition at Wewak.

CAR CRASH RESULTS COURT PROCEDURE

A car owned by James Keech, R. R. No. 3, Napanee, parked on the south side of Dundas Street at Petty Hill near the town limits was badly damaged on Saturday evening about eight o'clock when it was crashed into at the rear and driven up on the sidewalk by a car owned by Sam Hambly, Napanee, driven by Clayton Wagar, Napanee. Mr. Hambly, who was in the front seat of his car beside the driver was thrown against the windshield and sustained a cut on his forehead, which required six stitches to close. Damage to the Keech car was estimated at $125, which Mr. Hambly paid.

As a result of the accident Mr. Hambly and Mr. Wagar appeared in police court on Monday on two charges each. Mr. Hambly was fined $5.00 and costs on a charge of permit'ng a car to be driven without proper care and $10.00 and costs for being intoxicated in a public place. Mr. Wagar left the scene of the accident without reporting to the police, was fined $25.00 and costs of $3.60 on that charge and $5.00 and costs for careless driving.

Richmond was fined $10.00 and costs of $3.00. His car was damaged to the extent of $400.

C. W. VANDER VOORT EX-COUNTY SHERIFF DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Masonic Funeral Held Wednesday Morning

C. W. Vander Voort, ex-sheriff of the County of Lennox and Addington and a resident of Napanee and the County for about fifty years, died at his residence, John Street, on Monday, in his 80th year. Mr. Vander Voort had been an invalid for the past nine years and had been confined to his bed for the past three months. During his long period of invalidism he had maintained a keen interest in all current events and had enjoyed life although he was not to have his room.

Mr. Vander Voort was born on March 22nd 1864, in Sydney Township, near Belleville, and was one of thirteen children of John Wesley Vander Voort and Mary Ann Jones. His early years were spent in Belleville, where he learned cabinet making at John Vickie's Furniture Factory. Later he worked in Montreal and Belleville and for some time he operated a business. In 1895 he came to Napanee where he was employed until 1913 at the Gibbard Furniture Factory, after which he took up farming at Switzerville. In 1923 he came to Napanee again, when he was appointed County Sheriff, a position which he held until 1933, when he was superannuated. For many years he was an active Mason and retained his interest in Masonry until the last. Some years ago he was also an active member of the Oddfellows Lodge. While living at Switzerville he was a leader in the Methodist Church and since his return to Napanee was a member of Trinity United Church, where he was an elder until the last few years. Throughout his whole life he was intensely interested in music and had sung in choirs wherever he lived since his early youth. He had an excellent bass voice and did solo and quartette singing until he became ill. He was also a great lover of flowers and for a number of years grew gladioli in large quantities and many beautiful and rare varieties. He was a man of the finest character and was held in the highest respect by those who were associated with him in his official capacity, in his church life and in his family.

Mr. Vander Voort was married three times. His first wife, Frances Viola Rodlin, whom he married in 1885, died in 1894 leaving four children. In 1900 he married Mary Wale, who died in 1923. In 1924 he married Hattie Miller, of Switzerville, who survived the long illness has given him devoted and untiring care.

His funeral was conducted under Masonic auspices, to-day (Wednesday), at 11 o'clock, at Trinity United Church, Rev. G. M. Chidley.

Interment was at Riverside cemetery.

EACH WITH ITS OWN APPEAL

There is an expansiveness about the Canadian West that is hard to explain. We can well imagine a Westerner temporarily domiciled in Ontario, feeling, at this season of the year, a certain nostalgia for the wind-swept Prairies—with their endless miles of golden grain, their ever-receding horizons and their flashing, dancing Northern lights, and the clearness and the clearness of the atmosphere. Truth to tell, we never quite got it into our bones, but we can understand and appreciate those who have. The little fields, the short fences and the small farms of Ontario, to the Westerner, must convey a sort of shut-in, confined feeling.

To one who has been most of his life in Ontario, how different the experience. The small fields have a sort of homey look, the cattle more chummy, the luscious grapes and peaches, at this season of the year, attractive and enticing. The piles of pumpkins, the trucks loaded with tomatoes, and the withering stooks of corn have a beauty all their own.

Then there are the trees, the maples resplendent in their Autumn colors, the browns, golden and yellow splashed over the greens with fairy brushes, and the late apples reddening on the trees, for all the world like rosebuds out of season. It is all so indescribably lovely.

It is a wise Providence who has accompanied man's return from the field, the prairie, the forest and the orchard with such unforgettable loveliness—such a riot and charm of color and activity.

HOPEFUL SIGNS

When Andrei A. Gromyko, the newly-appointed Soviet Ambassador to the United States presented his credentials to President Roosevelt on Monday, he praised the assistance Russia had received from the United States, and then added: "The Russian Government has the unswerving desire and aspiration to maintain and develop friendly relations with the United States. The friendship of the people of our countries is not accidental," he said, "It is the expression of the basic interests of our peoples and our nations."

President Roosevelt, in answering, said: "Our countries are joined together in a high cause and I fully share your confidence that the unity of purpose which binds our peoples and countries together in the prosecution of the war will be translated into a close and lasting collaboration together with other like-minded countries, to the establishment of a just and enduring peace."

It is significant that both the New Ambassador and the President of the United States should speak of the future relations between these two great peoples. We could be excused from assuming that there would be the closest collaboration between these two in peace as in war. But there are still those who, in the United States, fear Russia. There are still those who mistrust the ultimate aims of our Russian Allies. Evidences accumulate that there is a widespread fear that the Russians may go too far and demand too much. Undoubtedly, President Roosevelt had that in mind when he spoke as he did to Mr. Gromyko. We have cause for the deepest gratitude as United Nations, that there sits in the White House, in these critical days, one who is truly a democrat, and who knows that the future peace of the world depends on the co-operation in the days that lie ahead of the nations who have so magnificently united in the common war effort.

Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor in the British Government, added his contribution to the debate on the relations between Russia and the United States, when speaking to 7,000 workers in Manchester, on Sunday. He said: "In the building of peace Britain will be the bridgehead between the United States and Russia. Upon these great powers will fall the responsibility, not only of agreeing among themselves, but to a very large extent policing the peace of the world." Once again Britain may be destined to play a unique part in the history of the world. With one hand held out to Russia and the other towards the United States, Great Britain may bind the two, now a bit suspicious of each other, into a united peace front.

THE WAY IT GOES

Twenty-five years ago; twenty years ago; fifteen years ago; ten years ago, yes, even five years ago, little or no attention was paid by the general public to the little group in the community who spoke and wrote about a new social order, a new world, reconstruction, and a new day. Of course, such a person might have been called a Bolshevik, a Red, a Radical, a Parlour Pink, or some other such name, but nobody really took him seriously. "Oh well! let him get it off his chest, he'll feel better" was about the attitude of the public to such men.

It is all different now. The pleadings for social and economic justice can no longer be laughed off, or brushed aside as the vaporings of a visionary. They have entered the realm of the practical. They have now become a practical issue. The idealist, the visionary has not changed. He writes and thinks, and speaks as he did, but the stand-patters, the fence-sitters, the backward-lookers, are taking him seriously. They would love to end all this sort of thing: "What was good enough for grandfather is good enough for me."

We are living in a new world; the clasp has been joined. The dead hand of the past strives with the living hand of the present. We are living in one of the great days of history — a day of which it might well be said, as Hitler said to his troops when he unleashed them against France, "What you do today will determine the course of history for a thousand years." What we are doing to-day, will determine the course of history for generations to come. Out of the ashes of the old the phoenix of the new will arise. The dead hand of the past cannot restrain the new life, nor should it be expected to do so. Those who would conjure up the ghosts of a bygone day to mould and direct the life of to-morrow, are living in a world that is as dead as a dodo, and are doomed to disappointment and disillusionment. Civilization has struck its tents and is on the march, just as truly as Montgomery's troops are marching up the Adriatic shores of Italy and General Clark's Fifth Army is battering its way along the Western Coast, to Rome.

PRESSING ON

The United Nations are pressing on. Premier Churchill has warned against undue optimism, and not without reason. The enemy are strong, persisten and resourceful. They were able, quickly, to make a redistribution of their forces when Italy surrendered. This is evidence of their resourcefulness. They are able to feed the people, fight on three fronts and withstand the terrific blows of the bombing raids, not only so, but they have resumed their submarine attacks. The submarines were undoubtedly called in for improvements. The new submarines are equipped for surface fighting, and seem to be using a new type of torpedo. They battled it out for two days, last week, with a convoy, destroying eight or ten vessels, including three escorting naval vessels.

The handwriting is on the wall, however, and the Germans must soon realize it. Russia on the East, while temporarily halted at the Dnieper, has surprised the whole world in her accomplishments. The U.S.S.R. has shown herself superior to the Germans in military ability, and in every other way.

Then, too, Germany cannot forever stand up against the terrific bombing raids of the United Nations. There is a point beyond which human flesh and blood cannot go. That point will be reached.

In the South Pacific, McArthur's Forces are on the aggressive. Bit by bit the Japanese are being harried and worn down. They are not quite so arrogant and sure of themselves as they were a year ago.

Then, too, in Italy, the inexorable drive and advance of the United Forces, which seem to have achieved a rather marvellous measure of co-operation and co-ordination, is making a heavy drain on the German manpower and military machine.

Secretary Knox, of the United States, said recently that the war had only just begun. What he probably meant was that the final drive against the European fortress had not been initiated. That must come. When it comes, when the Continent is invaded, the final test of strength will take place. But the United Nations will be ready. They will have behind them, at home, nations with the will to victory, determined, and unbeatable, because founded on the faith of a people is the value of the common man.

MARSHAL PETAIN'S LATEST MOVE

BY WAVERLEY ROOT

One of the rumors which has been passed about in diplomatic circles recently as an explanation for the failure of Washington to recognize the French Committee for National Liberation in Algiers as a provisional government, of France has been that the American government wished to keep open the opportunity for a deal with Marshal Petain. In fact, those guesses on this story went so far as to suggest that Washington might even consent to talk business with Pierre Laval.

Whether or not this thought was lurking in the backs of the brains of American diplomats, it seems to have occurred to Petain himself. A recent report from London that Laval had sent agents to Lisbon, on the way to sound out the Allies — and, a switch in his position, seems to be a garbled version of what actually has happened. Marshal Petain has approached out Allied diplomats in several neutral capitals on the possibility of saving his regime even when the Allies come into France.

(It is not altogether impossible, of course, that the Laval report has something behind it also — for Petain and Laval might each be trying to sell out the other to save himself).

Marshal Petain's chief ace-in-the-hole is the fear of popular revolt and possible disorder which has always been maintained in the Americas as an attitude in regard to Italy. He hopes that fear of fighting and bloodshed may induce the Allies to make any kind of order, even continued Fascist government, rather than risk chaos resulting from the disappearance of the existing regime.

France will be able to move from one camp to another with the least turmoil. Petain is relying on the fact if the present authorities are maintained in power. Up to date, they has been repressing the French people for the Germans. After an invasion, Vichy is likely to use the same police machinery to repress the French people for the Allies. The catch is, of course, that the repression will continue.

Petain is also pointing out that the intimate knowledge of German affairs which Vichy has gained by close collaboration with the Nazis could be highly useful to the Allies. On this basis, the logical person with whom to make an agreement would be Hitler himself, who could no doubt tell more about German tactics than Petain.

Why has Petain undertaken this move at this time? First, because it has always been his obsession to play the role of the saviour of France. He has almost certain to be accused through her troubles, and at the peace table, to be the arbitrator between the two parties — and a trial process, to secure a strong position for himself, whatever may be the outcome of the paternalistic dictator. This is a corollary to the necessity for barring General de Gaulle from the post-war French role in the peace negotiations, which Petain would succeed if he could persuade the victorious Allies to recognize him as speaking for France instead of the French committee. That Petain's policy since June, 1940, has been dominated by the desire to torpedo de Gaulle, whom he looks upon as the man who first ruined his scheme to make France the triumphant partner of a victorious Germany and Italy, and who is his rival for leadership of France, is no surmise. It is the plain meaning of statements made by confidants of the Marshal.

Secondly, Petain has no doubt been urged to this manoeuvre at the present time by the formation of the Committee of Purification in Algiers, which has already begun to attack the former Interior Minister, Pierre Pucheu, and reportedly intends to indict him for treason. He will probably be faced with this charge, then Petain is almost certain to be accused also if the French Committee, or, indeed, anyone else except Petain himself, governs France after the war. Even if Petain considered himself personally invulnerable, he would want to save his collaborationist associates from the retribution which the French Committee is promising them.

Petain's intention is to dismiss Pierre Laval and everyone associated with him, according to the Swiss papers his emissaries have been putting out. But here we are obliged to ask, "How can he do so?" Just as Badoglio was powerless to surrender Italy because he, not the Germans, held it, so Petain is powerless to dismiss Laval because the Germans, not Petain, give him his authority to govern.

Petain can only discharge Laval if the Germans permit it. It is quite possible that if Hitler decides upon a strategic retreat from France, as he might do, that he would permit Petain to announce the dismissal of Laval; on the theory that Germany's chances of securing a good peace and a favorable post-war situation would be better if Petain headed the French delegation to the peace conference rather than Laval. But if that is the case, the very fact that Hitler is willing to sacrifice Laval should be enough to convince the Allies that the sacrifice would not be a safe one to accept.

And aside from this angle, we have only to boil down Petain's offer to its essentials to see how unclever it is. He offers to give up Laval to the Allies if they will give up de Gaulle to him. It's hardly a fair swap.

DANGERS TO ALLIED PLANS STEM FROM NAZI SCHEMING

One of the greatest dangers to Allied plans for an eventual penetration to the German-occupied countries of Western Europe is the potential enough — the German policy of the inciting rebellious populations to open acts of sabotage.

If the Germans can make the underground movements in these subjugated countries abandon caution in the belief that full-scale Allied invasion in the West is imminent, the resultant acts of defiance then can be punished with such cruel dispatch that the forces of revolution are completely destroyed for the day when the Allies actually land and need this underground co-operation most.

That often is the reason for repeated Axis radio harping on "invasion dates" — often credited to London sources that will look good to the underground leaders. Even when this strategy doesn't fool the underground, it is bound to hurt morale by the constant postponement of the Allied programs, but people escaping from the Continent report that despite these official counsels of caution and women of the underground often are goaded.

An indication that the Allied warnings of this new German use for lies are succeeding now where they failed before is that underground activity, while continuing on its usual scale, did not increase appreciably in open defiance during the Sicilian campaign.

Meanwhile, they continue to store up for eventual use the day-by-day acts of violent German oppression, like this, among the most recent reported in London:

In Dijon, France, an attempt was made on the life of a German officer. The Germans found that the formula for the type of explosive used was given in a textbook used in a certain school. They examined all the text books, found one in which the page-size was turned down. They killed Pierre Lefebvre, the owner. It was only a coincidence and after Lafforge's death the Germans admitted Lefebvre's innocence. The Frenchman would will remember things like that.

And they continue to betray the Nazis with organized but careful sabotage, acts like these:

1. A train carrying Jews across Belgium to Polish extermination camps was held up and a number of them released, an operation during which twelve guerrillas were wounded and twenty of the escaping Jews killed by a German machine-gun fire.

2. The police chief in Amsterdam, Holland was shot with his assailant escaping on a bicycle.

HITLER'S WOES MOUNTING

BY LOUIS F. KEEMLE

Difficulties appear to be multiplying for Hitler as he prepares to make his final stand for the defense of Germany in Italy and the Balkans.

The problem of organizing resistance in Italy as a Nazi military stronghold is being greatly complicated by the partisan activity, which is driving bottlenecks through the Alps and by the hostile attitude of a large section of the populace and remnants of the Italian Army.

Serious troubles also appear to be developing in the Balkans. The claims of Yugoslav guerrillas to have taken possession of a large section of the country — may be exaggerated, but they unquestionably present a great weak spot in the Axis defense. The Germans may be slow to take advantage of it.

The Greek patriots, too, have been spurred to fresh hope by the prospect of Allied intervention. Added to this is the pressure on both Greece and Albania of large bodies of Italian troops who are not to be there any longer on Germany's side and who are a potential menace in event of invasion.

In northern Italy the supply and communication problem continues to become acute. Allied bombers have partly disorganized the single rail route from Austria through the Brenner Pass and there are unconfirmed reports that the German troops are interfering with the line. In addition, the Orvia tunnel and the coastal line through Nice.

There are circumstantial reports that Hitler is putting pressure on Switzerland to permit passage of German troops and supplies over the Swiss Railways. It seems extremely unlikely that the Swiss would agree. It is also hard to believe that Hitler would attempt to gain his ends by force and violate this traditional island of neutrality.

Yet if she never arises, Hitler is not incapable of such a desperate step. His blockade of the Vatican smacks of desperation. The motive for it is entirely unclear. Certainly it is intended to protect the Vatican from rebellious Italians in Rome, who would have no reason or desire to violate it.

The action can only be taken as a sign of the lengths to which Hitler is prepared to go when up against a stone wall.

Nazi-Jap Strength Great, United States Army Leaders Warn

Washington, (A.P.) — Despite recent setbacks the military might of both Germany and Japan is greater today than when they set out to conquer the world.

That's the consensus voiced by United States military leaders at a conference of industrial, labor and newspaper executives called by the War Department to hear a frank report of what is happening and what may be expected.

As the conference reconvened for an outline of problems of supplying Allied Forces around the world, Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War, declared there was "no doubt that our recent victories have failed to affect in any vital degree the strength of the enemy."

FORMIDABLE FOE

Lieut.-Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, Deputy Chief of Staff, said that while Germany has abandoned expectation of victory, she still is a formidable enemy.

Just how formidable was made clear by Maj.-General George V. Strong, Army Intelligence Chief, who said that the German Army and Air Force are stronger now than when Poland was attacked four years ago, and that Germany's employment in war industries has risen in the same period from 23,000,000 to 35,000,000.

Strong rejected any talk of an early German collapse and presented a similar report on Japan.

McNarney said the enemy has passed from the offensive to the strategic defensive, but it was made abundantly clear that Allied military leaders expect the next twelve months to produce fighting that will dwarf anything yet experienced.

AIR PROBLEMS

Speaking of difficulties to be overcome in carrying the war to Japan Lieut.-Col. Frederick R. Wideman, planning assistant on the Air Staff, hinted strongly that the ultimate air offensive must come from China.

In the New Guinea - Netherlands Indies area, and again in the island of the Central Pacific, he said, getting close enough for suitable air bases from which to bomb the Japanese islands would entail island-by-island - hopping conquests — a strategy which military leaders have rejected.

In the Aleutians, he said, the weather is too uncertain.

This leaves China - Burma - India, and Wideman said:

"Our problem in this area is really four - fold: (1) to bring relief to China to sustain her as an ally; (2) to mount and supply overland operations to reconquer Burma; (3) to transport into the area the vast quantities of material needed to construct heavy bomber air fields; (4) to provide the flow of supplies necessary to support an offensive."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, OCTOBER 10TH, 1943

"REVERENCE FOR GOD"

Lesson Text: Exodus 20:3-7; Matthew 4, 10; 6: 9 [illegible] John 4: 21 [illegible]

"Thou shalt have no other gods before me." The title of the lesson is significant: "Reverence for God." The implication of the title clearly is that there is an obligation resting upon all classes and conditions of people to exhibit a "reverence for God" in their daily life and practice. Our style of dress determines what we are in ourselves. What we believe about God is quite as important as that we believe in God; in a sense it is more important. Believe in a war god and we become warriors; believe in a god of fertility and productiveness and we become nature worshippers; admit, depends on what we believe.

Reverence for God follows naturally after belief in God, which is reflected in our whole attitude of reverence in life. The converse is true. Lack of reverence indicates a lack of genuine faith in God. In our day and generation there is far less reverence for one another, for human personality than there ought to be. It is no mark of our Christian ideals that our conduct towards each other shows little of reverence, or of respect. Children are not respectful; they know more than their parents; age is not accorded its proper place, or regarded with affection and reverence. How different with Jesus, the reverence he showed towards the aged, the well, the woman taken in adultery, blind Bartimeus, and others, reflects his deep and abiding reverence for his Father God. Perhaps when we learn again to fear God first, to have a higher fear than those which concern our lives, we shall have a deeper reverence for one another, and not till then.

"Thou shalt not make unto us a graven image." This was a most severe command in the days when this people. They were used to making idols of their own choosing, instead of these Yahweh was to be without images. Every religion, every nation had its god or gods, and it was natural that the Israelites should go and do likewise. But they have free course and be glorified. It was a tremendous step to take, and exacting demand: one that took the Israelites many centuries to learn.

"Thou shalt not take the Name of the Lord, thy God, in vain." The habit of taking the Lord's name in vain is a loose and irreverent habit that has grown with our lack of faith in the God of our fathers. The habit has passed through a stage of a Bigbrit, and they who were "Our Father," and the word "God" a truly spiritual conception of God, and they who worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." — That is the Christian injunction, less than that we do.

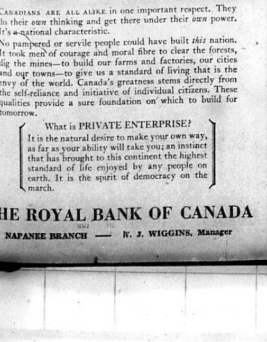
Three of a kind!



CANADIANS ARE ALL ALIKE in one important respect. They do their own thinking and get there under their own power. It's a national characteristic.

No pampered or servile people could have built this nation. It took men of courage and moral fibre to clear the forests, dig the mines—to build our farms and factories, our cities and our towns—to give us a standard of living that is the envy of the world. Canada's greatness stems directly from the self-reliance and initiative of individual citizens. These qualities provide a sure foundation on which to build for tomorrow.

What is PRIVATE ENTERPRISE?

It is the natural desire to make your own way, as far as your ability will take you; an instinct that has brought to this continent the highest standard of life enjoyed by any people on earth. It is the spirit of democracy on the march.

JAMES T. MILLER DIED AT QUEBEC Following Short Illness

Funeral services for James Thompson Miller, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Miller, Bethany, were held at the home of his parents and at Bethany United Church, on Monday afternoon of this week. The services were conducted by Rev. A.C. McCallum and at the church service favourite hymns were sung and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Sexsmith sang "Does Jesus Care." The pall-bearers and flower-bearers were school companions of the late young man.

Mr. Miller died in a hospital at Quebec City last Friday a few months after his parents had reached his bedside. He was taken ill at Quebec Airbase, about a week before his death and was removed to the hospital at Quebec a few days later, where it was found he was suffering from a heart complaint caused by an infection.

From his early youth "Jim" Miller had been intensely interested in aeroplanes and it was his greatest ambition to fly. He attended Napanee Collegiate, where he matriculated after which he spent a year in Toronto where he took a course in radio. In November 1939 he enlisted in the R.C.A.F. He served in the Air Force, and was with the Coastal Command until the following May, when he was discharged because of health reasons. He then went to Malton as a wireless instructor with Dominion Skyways and remained there about a year and a half. For the past eighteen months he was at Ancien Lorette Quebec, where he was engaged as an instructor and co-pilot at Quebec Airways Operating School.

Jim Miller was well liked by a large circle of friends who heard of his death with sincere regret.

He is survived by his parents, and one brother, Bert, and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Anderson, of Oshawa.

Presentation To Mrs. Percy Chambers

On Monday afternoon, October 4, the members of the Junior Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary held their weekly meeting in the schoolroom of St. Mary Magdalene's Church.

Patricia McDonald, the president, conducted the meeting and short service, assisted by the secretary, Barbara Bayley, and the treasurer Marjorie Dibb. These officers, on behalf of the members of the Junior W. A. and congregation, then presented Mrs. Percy Chambers with a gold pin, while Vera Archibeacon Dumbrille explained in a short address that this pin represented a Life Membership in the Diocesan W. A. Mrs. Chambers organized this group of girls several years ago and for some time has given freely of her time and energy to help the girls in their work. Mrs. Chambers was completely taken by surprise and in thanking the girls she told them how deeply she appreciated their gift.

Several members of the Senior W.A. were present and were very much impressed by the capability of the girls in carrying on both the work and business of their organization.

PECULIAR CARROT

Mrs. Murney Bronson, of Selby, brought to The Beaver Office, this week, a peculiarly shaped carrot, which appeared to be two carrots grown together in the shape of a "V".

U. E. L. CHAPTER I. O. D. E. MEETING

Appeals from the Flying School at Deseronto were presented to the members of the United Empire Loyalist Chapter, I.O.D.E. at the October meeting by the Regent, Mrs. D. R. Hall. One was for volunteers to go once a week to the school and conduct a "Mother's Corner" where the boys can have socks mended and buttons sewn on. Mrs. Fisher agreed to convene this effort. A committee was also named to form a Hostess Club to provide dance partners for the Airmen, at their dances.

Mrs. W. A. Ashley, second vice-regent, was named convener of a committee to fill Ditty Bags and would be glad to receive donations of money or articles for them. Mrs. Ashley was also appointed delegate to the semi-annual convention at Niagara Falls, this month.

A letter was read by Mrs. Goodridge from the Provincial Echoes Secretary, urging the Chapter to make an effort to obtain one hundred per cent. in subscriptions to the magazine.

A minute of silence was observed in memory of Commander Dobson, D.S.C., of H.M.C.S. "St. Croix", and a tribute paid by the Regent. Commander Dobson was formerly in command of H.M.C.S. "Napanee".

The present Commander of the H. M.C.S. "Napanee", Lieut. Stuart Anderson, sent a letter of thanks for the gifts received from the Chapter.

It was agreed to serve afternoon tea to 100 members of the C.W.A.C.'s who will be in town in connection with the Victory Loan Campaign on Sunday afternoon, October 17th. Mrs. Ernest Gilbard, Social Convener, will be in charge of the event. Mrs. Corkill agreed to take charge of the sale of articles on the chesterfield set, which will be drawn for later.

One new member was voted into membership in the Chapter.

The wool filled quilt on which tickets are being sold will be on display in the window of the Arm Restaurant. Tickets may be purchased there or from members.

The next meeting of the Chapter will be held on Thursday, October 21st. Paper, metals, rags, Victrola records and coal hangers wanted.

Good books and magazines are urgently needed for camp libraries.

OBITUARY

THE LATE SILAS CLARK

(Contributed)

After an illness of five years Silas Clark passed away at his home in Ernestown on Saturday, September 25th. He was born 43 years ago on the old homestead and was the youngest son of the late Walter B. Clark and Anna Storms. At the beginning of his illness he consecrated and surrendered his life to God and was wonderfully and graciously saved and baptized by the precious Holy Spirit. His life and testimony have proved a great blessing to all who knew him. His presence in the home and community always was a source of encouragement to live a life for God.

He is survived by his wife and three children, Marie, Marjorie and Paul. His mother and six brothers and sister, Mr. Ben. Clark, Windsor; Mrs. John Punnell and Mrs. Robert Walsh of Anderson; Mrs. John Curran, Mrs. Gordon Clark of Napanee, also Mrs. Gladwin Clement of Bath. The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon at the White Church, Morven, and was conducted by his pastor, Brother Rabbie. One of his favourite songs was sung by Mr. Ward Wartman and also one by his pastor and his wife.

Interment was made in Morven cemetery. The floral tributes were many. His pall-bearers were his five brothers-in-law, brother, Messrs. Ben. Clark, John Punnell, Robert Walsh, John Curran, Gladwin Clement and John Watters.

In Loving Memory

SMITH — In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. George Henry Smith, who passed away October 4th, 1938.

Gone, dear mother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed:
How sweet the memory, still,
But death has left loneliness
The world can never fill.

Ever remembered by her DAUGHTER AND FAMILY.

MISS M. HACKETT

NAPANEE WOMEN TO STUDY LAUNDERING MODERN FABRICS

Home care of fabrics to lengthen their wearing life in this emergency period when materials are more and more restricted will be the important and timely theme of a series of illustrated lectures to be delivered during the period from October 11th to October 18th, in Napanee, by Miss Margaret Hackett, of Lever Brothers' Educational Bureau, Toronto. Miss Hackett's attractive lectures include the Collegiate Institute, the Salvation Army Women's War Group, the I. O. D. E., the Rebekah Lodge, the Alice Harshaw I.O.D.E. Chapter, and the employees of Gilbard Furniture Shops, Limited.

Concerning on the interest which retailers are taking in this type of an educational program for their staffs, Miss Hackett says that they are responding magnificently to Government requests for fabric conservation and that she is frequently asked to lecture to sales personnel. "It is a real protection to the consumer to walk into a store and receive authentic information when the girls behind the counters. Then, too," she states, "I should imagine that with the growing demand of help stores find 15 takes less time and selling effort on the part of individual sales clerks if they can give authoritative information on the article they sell."

With the aid of a micro-projector and a series of slides showing greatly magnified fibres, Miss Hackett demonstrates how various fabrics are subject to damage and strain, and how the different fibre-cloth compositions and woven patterns of each type of material require individual care to preserve strength and appearance.

Betty Webster Weds Squad. Leader Gibson

A wedding of interest will take place this afternoon (Wednesday) at St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican Ch., when Elizabeth Jane Webster, daugh- ter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Webster, Napanee, will be united in marriage to Squadron Leader Harry Gibson, Royal Air Force, son of Mrs. Gibson and the late Mr. Robert Thomson Gibson of Newcastle-on-Tyne Eng- land. The ceremony will be preform- ed by Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille, assisted by Rev. N. R. Stout of Gan- anoque. Mrs. J. E. Madden will play the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Flying Officer J. E. Coubrough, R.C.A.F., will sing "Because." Fall flowers will be used to decorate the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a graceful gown of white slipper satin, with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. Her net veil will fall from a coronet of seed pearls which trimmed her moth- er's wedding dress. The bride's bou- quet will be a nosegay of red roses and bouvardia. She will have two attendants, Mrs. H. W. Webster, her sister-in-law, matron of honour, and Mrs. J. H. Grange. Mrs. Webster will wear a gown of Queen's blue with matching bonnet, while Mrs. Grange will be attired in crushed rose, with Dutch cap of the same shade. Both dresses are fashioned on the same classic lines as that of the bride. Both attendants will wear shoulder-length veils, and will carry nosegays of Talisman roses.

Lieutenant H. W. Webster, R.C.N. V.R., brother of the bride will be the groomsman, and the ushers are to be Flight-Lieutenant H. W. Wiley, R.C. A.F., Flight-Lieutenant J. C. Douglas, R.A.F., and Flight-Lieutenant W. H. Durnin, R.C.A.F.

The groom's gift to the bride will be a gold bracelet, inset with opals, and to the best man a silver penknife and chain, and to the ushers, pen and pencil sets. The bride's gift to the groom will be a cigarette case and set of brushes, and to each of her attendants, a necklace of pearls.

Following the ceremony a recep- tion will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Dundas Street, where Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Webster and the bridal party will receive the guests. The bride's mother will be dressed in a street-length two-piece ensemble of eagle grey crepe, with contrasting hat of fuschia velvet, and corsage of roses.

The honeymoon will be spent in the Laurentians. For travelling the bride has chosen a dressmaker suit of venetian blue, with matching plaque hat and black accessories. She will wear a corsage of deep red roses.

On their return Squadron Leader and Mrs. Gibson will reside in Nap- anee.

NEWS ITEMS ABOUT MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dowdle, Newburgh, received word from their son, Pte. Harvey Dowdle, R.C.O.C., somewhere in England, who was taking a course on motor-cycles, jeep cars, scout cars, that he had passed his test and made one hundred per cent, which makes him now an A.1 mechanic and fitter.

A.W.1 J. F. Ford, who spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Ford, left on Thurs- day for Scoudouc, N.B., where she is presently stationed. Before return- ing to her station, she will be the guest of A.W.1 Myrtle Morrison, S.A. Balth- urst, N.B., for a few days.

Cards of Thanks

MARRIAGES

CARD - ROE

The marriage took place at Tri- nity United Church at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 2nd of Peggy Alberta Roe, only daughter of Major W. H. Roe, Ile-aux-Noix, Que- bec, and Mrs. Roe, Napanee, and A.C.2 William Lloyd Card, youngest son of Mrs. Harry B. Card, Napanee, and the late Mr. Card. Rev. G. M. Chidley, minister of the church per- formed the wedding ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. The church was decorated with bowls of vases of gladioli and other fall flow- ers.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the dark-haired bride was beautifully gowned in a princess model ivory satin dress, with long train and full length tulle veil, fast- ened in halo style with orange blos- soms. She carried a bouquet of dark red roses.

The bride's attendants were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Roe, of Kitchener, and her cousin, Mrs. El- mer Gordon, Mrs. Gordon Reid, both of Napanee. Mrs. Roe's dress was of floor-length rose taffeta and Mrs. Scott wore turquoise taffeta also in floor-length. Both attendants wore matching flower crowns and carried fluffy roses. The groom's attendant was his brother, Mr. Randall Card.

Mrs. J. E. Madden played the wed- ding music and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Harold Denison sang "Because." The ushers were Mr. Mac Smith and Mr. Don Fowler.

Following the ceremony a recep- tion was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Carrie McMillan Centre Street. The guests were re- ceived by the bride's mother, Mrs. Roe, wearing black crepe and a fur- quoise hat, and the groom's mother, Mrs. Card, whose dress was moss green crepe with green accessories. Both Mrs. Roe and Mrs. Card wore corsages of roses.

At the reception a buffet supper was served by Mrs. W. E. Exley, Miss Doris Card, Miss Sarah Madden and the Misses Heeter and Alice Wart- man. Mrs. R. A. Correl and the bride's aunt, Miss Bert McMillan, presided at the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Card left for a short wedding trip and later will go to Moncton, N.B., where the groom is stationed with the R.C.A.F.

Previous to her marriage the bride was the recipient of many lovely gifts at miscellaneous showers given by Mrs. Lorne Crossman and Mrs. A. H. Medd, and by Mrs. W. W. Exley and Miss Doris Card.

GRIFFIN - MAXWELL

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Tam- worth, on Saturday, September 18, when Rev. A. W. Scanlon united in marriage Marie Elizabeth Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Maxwell, of Croydon, and Sidney John Griffin, also of Croydon.

The bride looked lovely in a two- piece dress of British navy, with matching accessories of light blue. She was attended by Mrs. P. Max- well her sister-in-law who was at- tired in a dress of Horizon blue with navy accessories.

The groomsman was Mr. Frank Maxwell, brother of the bride.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket, to the bridesmaid a gold necklace and to the best man, a gold knife.

After the ceremony the happy cou- ple left for Toronto, where they en- tertained friends and relatives. On their return they will reside at Croydon.

OBITUARIES

EDWARD WILSON CONGER

Funeral services for Edward Wil- son Conger were held at his late residence, in the Bethany district, Thursday, September 30th, when a large number of friends and relatives gathered to pay their last tribute to one who was held in high esteem. The service was conducted by his minister the Rev. A. C. McCallum and a quartette, composed of Mrs. Stanley Joyce, Mrs. Herb. Martin, Messrs. Wilfred Miller and Roy Hom- bough, sang. Mrs. Wilfred Miller pre- sided at the organ and led in the con- gregational singing. Interment took place at Riverside cemetery, Nap- anee, and was conducted by the Loyal Lodge No. 8, A.F. & A.M.

The late Mr. Conger was born in Napanee, December 29, 1885. He was married to Miss Gertrude Pearl Page of Gananoque 37 years ago, at Gan- anoque Anglican Church. She is sur- vived by his wife and one son, Wil- liam, at present engaged in war work in Kingston, his father and dece- mother, one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Cowle of Scotia, N.Y., and one broth- er, Charles Gordon with the Canadi- an Engineers, overseas, also survive. Deceased was a member of the Uni- ted Church and for many years acted on the Board of Stewards of Bethany Church. He had lived on his farm in the Bethany district for 21 years. He was also a member of the Ma- sonic Order.

There were beautiful floral tributes from far and near.

RED CROSS NEWS

The regular monthly executive meeting of the Red Cross Society was held in the room on Saturday October 2nd at 2:15. There was a good attendance and interesting re- ports were read from all departments The Finance Committee reported a successful results at the Red Cross Sock at the Boards of Bethany and on a sewing basket, donated by Mrs. Frank Wartman, also on a Crib Cover, donated by Mrs. Hughson. Miss Mary Jane Miley in a tiny costume of a Red Cross Nurse, sold tickets on these articles very suc- cessfully, thanks for the lucky ticket holders of these articles will be held in the rooms next Saturday, October 9th.

A special Thanksgiving Tea will be held in the rooms Saturday aft- ernoon at 4:00 o'clock and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

From Bath, Ontario, has come an- other quilt from one of our oldest members, Mrs. E. M. Williams ninety years old pieces and quilts them, periodically, for our branch. This should be an incentive to others to help in the many types of sewing to be done at the rooms. If you can give even one afternoon a week, your help will be greatly appreciated.

News From Tamworth United Ch.

The Rally Day service at the Unit- ed Church was well attended. The Superintendent of the Sunday school conducted the service and the ad- dress was given by the Rev. A. W. Seaton. Assisting with the program were Wray MacLauchlan, Jack Arm- strong, Joyce Amey, and Alice Mar- lin. Special music was rendered by the Junior Choir, which had been especially trained by Mrs. P. Rogers. A very impressive promotion service was also carried out, and certi- ficates were presented to those pass- ing on to higher classes.

Mrs. S. Haggerty made a special presentation to James Martin for per- fect attendance.

The service at the United Church on Sunday evening was conducted by the Rev. H. E. Prair, of Enterprise, in the absence of the minister the Rev. A. W. Seaton, who was con- ducting anniversary services at Ent- erprise.

Plans have now been completed for the anniversary services of the United Church. The date arranged is the 31st of October, when the preacher in the morning will be the Rev. A. W. Seaton and in the even- ing the guest speaker will be the Rev. Basil Thompson, of Queen Street United Church, Kingston.

On Monday, November 1st the Church Family Party will be held. It is hoped that all the members and the friends of the church will be present.

The Indian Air Force has spread its wings far afield to the East and the West. Its planes have taken a large share in the task of protecting India's invasive coast-line and the many ships approaching her shore- with vital supplies and troops. Its units have carried out important re- connaissance and bombing flights over enemy territory and taken part in the Burma campaign.

WHERE "THE LIGHTS STILL BURN"

BY RUSSELL HILL

ISTANBUL — This Byzantine city, reclining with feminine grace on the green hills that overlook the Bosphorus — the thin line of blue that divides Europe from Asia — is a splendid place from which to peer into the huge darkened European Fortress to the northeast.

Taking one's ease on the terrace of an attractive restaurant, one may savor a juicy steak and listen to the Turkish band play its International repertoire of songs while one watches a thousand brilliant lights that wink at each other across the water, and one is hard put to reflect that this is one of the last cities where the lights have not yet gone out.

"Up there" in Europe they went out long ago. And yet in the Balkan peninsula, which is the corner of the Fortress closest to us, Hitler has not succeeded in blacking things out so completely but that we can see fairly well what is going on.

In fact, everything that happens in that amazing and intensely interesting peninsula becomes known very quickly down here, be it from travellers arriving on the Orient Express or from reports received secretly by agents of a dozen different nations, or merely from items that have a habit of slipping into the Balkan newspapers despite the worst the censors can do.

The reports and rumors are often false almost invariably confusing, and each one, taken by itself, usually has little meaning. However most of them can be fitted into a meaningful pattern. This reporter's interpretations are based on talks with competent observers who have been there much longer than he has and on his own background knowledge of the Balkans.

There are two conclusions which, it seems to me, must be reached by any one who examines carefully the mass of available information about the Balkans today. One is that the arrival of Anglo - American forces would be welcomed by a great majority of the people, both in those countries officially occupied by the enemy and actively resisting him and in those other countries which the Germans call allies and we call satellites.

The other conclusion is that despite all the difficulties with which they are confronted the Germans intend to defend their Balkan conquest and will contest every bit of this predominantly mountainous terrain. For this purpose they have some fifteen to twenty German divisions and in theory a far larger number of "allied" divisions. However, the German divisions are the only one upon which they can rely implicitly.

It may be misleading to talk loosely about numbers of divisions, because one division may be three or four times as strong as another. German divisions stationed in the Balkans are not up to the usual strength as regards personnel or equipment. Moreover, they include lines of communication and other units which are not in the same class with first-line fighting troops.

The 20 or so Italian divisions in the Balkans are presumably stranded without a homeland.

Hungary and Rumania have been given nothing to garrison but their own countries. Yet here again the Allies would probably not get a very hostile reception. The Rumanian attitude is influenced by the traditional fear of Russia, which has been intensified by German anti-Bolshevik propaganda. However, the Rumanians have never really preferred Germans to Americans and British, and there is little reason to suppose that they would resist strongly any effort we might make to eject the Germans from their country.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Please tell me where the coupon value of maple syrup now stands.

A. The coupon value of maple syrup has been recently increased from 10 to 12 ounces.

Q. Don't you think something should be done to prevent additional congestion in centres where because of war activities, there is already enough overcrowding and a marked scarcity of living accommodations?

A. The National Housing Registration operated under the Consumer Branch, is now engaged in a recapaign which has such an object. It is hoped to curtail non-essential migration into such areas and thus to relieve some of the congestion which prevails.

❖ ❖ ❖

Q. Is it true that I can now have cuffs placed on my trousers?

A. Yes. The prohibition existing in this respect for some time has now been removed, and P. 8 perfectly legal for cuffs to be placed on trousers.

Q. How do I as a farmer go about getting lumber for my farm buildings at the lower prices recently announced?

A. Provided you do not buy such lumber in excess of $200 in value, 30 per cent. of this bill will be deducted in your favor by your dealer. This will be repaid that sum in the form of a government subsidy. This arrangement applies only to sales of soft wood, lathe, shingles and pos's over $10 and under $200 in value. On sales over $200 the approval of the Timber Controller is required.

❖ ❖ ❖

Q. Do I have to tender preserves coupons in order to buy mince-meat?

A. No, mincemeat is not rationed.

❖ ❖ ❖

Q. I still have some unused but valid coupons in my No. 2 Ration Book. What should I do with them?

A. If you do not require the rationed goods in question, these coupons should be destroyed.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

MEMO TO SANTA CLAUS

Hello Homemakers! November 8th is the last day for mailing overseas Christmas boxes, but we suggest sending the "long-distance" gifts this week. Christmas is one occasion when we like to give special yet useful gifts. It brings back memories of home festivities, and it impresses upon us the standard of life our men are fighting for.

We have talked with some of the men who have been in those distant theatres of war, and pass along their suggestions.

1 If you are uncertain as to the new address of a man or woman in the fighting services, use the last known address overseas. Boxes which are properly addressed are reaching the men and women on the war fronts in record time.

2 Homemade cookies and cakes are not edible when they reach the Mediterranean area. We suggest that you send not only if you are able to find vacuum canned products.

3 Send gifts the boys will appreciate. For instance, a recent photo in a waterproof folder a pocket-size book, a new song book, toilet articles and underclothing are always welcomed. Then, of course, men and nurses in hot climates are glad to get lotions for sunburn, insect bites and tired feet — but nothing must be sent in glass containers.

4 Eleven pounds is the limit for a box going to any member of the Allied Forces overseas, with the exception of the Americans, and the postage is 12 cents per pound. Parcels weighing 20 pounds may be sent to the C.A.S.F. now on duty in the West Indies or Newfoundland, the rate being 10 cents a pound. Eleven pound boxes to Allied Forces stationed in Canada may be mailed for 12 cents per pound. Over eleven pounds the civilian rate of 24 cents per pound is charged for parcels, i.e. from 12 to 20 pounds sent to Allied Forces in the Dominion. Pack well in tin with strong cord and write with indelible ink. Use two or three labels and write or print distinctly. We suggest that you cross out 'the word "abandon" on the declaration form and give the critics Commanding his unit as the alternative address. Parcels to those in units

Out of the average litter of eleven pigs 3 die during weaning, and much of this mortality is due to poor feeding of the brood sow.

Farmers who secure the biggest hog profits know that undernourished sows can't produce big litters of healthy young. That's why more and more breeders are feeding their sows Miracle Brood Sow Ration.

This feed contains the exact quantities of proteins, minerals and vitamins a brood sow needs to produce vigorously and have sturdy, uniform young.

PROFIT in Winter Feeding

MOST farmers realize that good profit can be gained by winter feeding. But to do this, as to improve your stock, money may be required. This Bank is always glad to assist progressive farmers in making a success of their business, and is willing to advance money to them. If a loan would help you to improve the productiveness of your farm, consult our Branch Manager near you.

Overcoming handicaps is nothing new to screen stars. Jinx Falkenburg injured her legs as a child, took up swimming to mend them, became a champion and a screen star. Joan Fontaine was a sick youngster but won back her strength and went on to fame. Barbara Hale suffered from a hip ailment until she was 14 and now will sing and dance in "Higher and Higher." Claudette Colbert spoke only French until she entered High School. You've got to keep trying. . . . For "Buffalo Bill" a goodly number of Indians were required to use bow and arrows and paint themselves with tribal markings. They hid to be taught by white men. . . . When the old Bob Hope film, "The Ghost Breakers," played Detroit a publicity man arranged for Hope to visit a haunted house. Thousands of fans came along, so it wasn't very ghostly. Hope got one scare when he sat on an old bed and the mattress began to move. It turned out that a fan had hidden under the bed.

V

A radio commentator apologized the other day for saying that Gene Tierney "smooched." It wasn't so long ago that a columnist attributed the same habit to Merle Oberon, who denied it. . . . Though Rita Hayworth had announced that she wouldn't marry anyone but Victor Mature, now a Coast Guardsman, she married Orson Welles. Welles has been running a magic show for servicemen and Hayworth acted as his stooge. When Mature was told of the marriage he said, "I guess the way to a woman's heart is to saw her in half." . . . Judy Garland's sister is a script girl. . . . The late Leslie Howard's last film is not "Spitfire" but "The Lamp Still Burns," which will be released soon. Howard's daughter, Leslie, is about to make her screen debut. . . . A new film, called "Eager Toshy—Gangster," is about the life of that criminal now in jail. He was offered $1,000 to say "Crime Doesn't Pay" at the end of the picture but refused it.

V

Laird Cregar, the heavyweight, will sing, dance and wear a wooden leg in the screen version of "Knickerbocker Holiday." Walter Huston played the role on the stage. . . . Sonny Tufts, who made such a hit in "So Proudly We Hail," can only collect a small part of the money his success will bring. Like Frank Sinatra, Tufts sold portions of his future earnings to various people with faith in him who advanced money to keep him trying. . . . Hollywood's juvenile actors, 1,285 of them, are looked after by the Screen Children's Guild. They average $10.50 per day when working and get $25 for speaking a line. Membership is confined to children from six months to 14 years of age. . . . To get a chance in Hollywood you have to make a reputation elsewhere. Gale Robbins was Miss Chicago, Trudy Marshall a billboard model, June Haver won a music contest, and Jeanne Crane a beauty contest winner. All will be seen soon.

NAMES OF MEN ENLISTED FOR ACTIVE SERVICE FROM NAPANEE AND THE SURROUNDING DISTRICT

It is the wish of "The Beaver" to secure and print a list of all men in the Town of Napanee and the County who enlist in the army raised in Canada. Friends of any who have already enlisted can assist in compiling this list by sending to "The Beaver" names and the units to which they are attached.

BATH

Bath, Oct. 2. — A number of residents attended the funeral of the late Mrs. C. F. Nicholson, which was conducted by Rev. R. Seymour, in the absence of Rev. James Robinson, who is ill at his residence. Both Mrs. Nicholson had been in Napanee on Wednesday attending the Fair, in company with her husband. She was taken ill on returning home and was taken to the hospital where she passed away on Thursday afternoon. Her sudden passing came as a great shock to her family and friends. Before her marriage in 1891 she was Emma Baker, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of Parrott's Bay. She has spent her entire life in the vicinity. Two years ago she and Mr. Nicholson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. She was a loyal member of the Women's Auxiliary of Bethel Church, which she attended. She leaves to mourn a sorrowstricken husband, an only daughter, Ila (Mrs. Wemp), five grandchildren, Jean, Lorna, Vida, Chester F. and Kendall Wemp; one brother, John W. Baker, of Kingston, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Miller, besides many nieces and nephews. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were Messrs. H. Woon, C. Campsell, R. Smith, H. Smith, A. Simpkins. The flower bearers were L. Baker, C. Smith, J. Sterling, W. Failing, B. Hogan and D. Liddle. Mrs. Richmond sang and, under God, this colorful kaleidoscope of peoples can form a united nation free from all racial barriers, free from fear, hate and greed. A nation, though young in years and development, mature in spirit—giving leadership to nations and the world-able, livable pattern of democracy to the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Doupe of Centreville and daughter Gulberg to Mr. and Mrs. Glen MacMillan, Moscow.

Mrs. George Meeks and daughter, Mrs. Sanderson, Fredericksburg, and Mrs. Robert Nanzatt, Falls and Storey and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Storey recently guests of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Storey.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mowers were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Switzer.

Warrington Wyatt of Flint, Michigan visited Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Wyatt and other friends in the village last week.

Mrs. Charles Coulter, Napanee, spent a few days last week with her nephew, W. J. Coughlin and Mrs. Coughlin.

Mr. G. T. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson and Mrs. Ethel Richmond, Church services in Napanee on Sunday next will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Seymour and Mr. Robert Hall, Rev. Mr. Robinson's assistant.

Mrs. Gordon Wright is spending this week in Kingston with her sister, Mrs. H. Hoyle.

Those who are attending Newburgh High School this term from Rylstone are Jean and Grace, on C. I. Wagon, also each day, Charlotte Bell, Marion Cowan, Erma Cooper, Doris Wright, Irene Cooper, Doris Wright, Mary Bell, Kelly Hollen, Fran and Dennis Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Peacock and son, Kingston, were Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Peacock.

Pte. Ray Davis, Base Daisy Weppler, Mrs. Davis and Kelly Davis, all of Toronto, were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Casey, and spent Saturday and Sunday on Mr. Casey's farm.

Douglas Carscallen is in a week end visit to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson.

H. A. Carscallen.

Mrs. H. A. Hopkins, Mr. G. A. Wagar and Mrs. Leota Hudson visited the Red Cross room in Napanee on Saturday last.

Russell Mitchell, Queen's University, Kingston, spent the week-end at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Osborough spent a few days with their son, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyel Kring and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kring and Mrs. Lemke, all of Peoria, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kring.

George Bell entertained several of his friends at a party on Friday, Oct. 7 to 9 in honour of his twelfth birthday. Those present were Bell Wright with lunch at the home. Those present were Helen Cowell, Velma Wood, Jean Hall, Jean Wright, Dorothy Irene Coulter, Mary Murphy, Betty Barnett, Jean Jackson and Lloyd Bell.

CANADA — A POST WAR LEADING POWER

Sir Archibald Sinclair: British secretary for air said recently that the Dominion is destined to emerge from this war as the fourth strongest military power in the world. Any thinking Canadian realizes that Canada will certainly be a post-war leading power and will have to accept a great mess she may not consciously have sought; She will have to live up to its responsibilities.

We hear and read constantly these days of plans for post-war recon

A DAY WILL COME..

"... a day will come, when I'll walk up the hill back of our place, and see the colour of the wheat showing on the South quarter. I'll find the buckskin pony, and rub his ears, and ride him down to the lake. I'll watch and check up on those Angus calves you've been telling me about."

"The farms round here are tiny, compared to ours, but I saw one that looked like the old MacGregor place on the Highway No. 3. I'll want to drive over to the MacGregor's like we used to do for the Saturday dance in the barn."

"Hope Dad will have the tractor by then. We'll need it if we're going to put the pasture into flax. Think we'll have to paint the house, and put in electricity for Mom. It's fun thinking about it anyway — although it all seems so far away just now."

"Time to grab forty winks, and I still have to write Margaret. We didn't get much sleep in the last (censored) days coming here and we've had a hot time since we arrived, but it's a thrill to be in it with Montgomery's men.

Be seeing you — "

Yes, a day will come . . . when he'll be back, ready to take his place in a Canada he helped make safe for all of us. To speed that day is in our power. We at home . . . in factories, in offices, on farms . . . work long hours to hurry it along. We go without, and lend our savings to provide what he needs to win quickly. This is the least that anyone can do. And when that day comes — you'll want to welcome him — and to help him make his hopes come true.

Get Ready to BUY MORE VICTORY BONDS

National War Finance Committee

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the face value of the Bond on the date of maturity with half-yearly interest until that time. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada backed by the entire resources of the Dominion. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest when due. A Victory Bond is an asset readily marketable at any time.

SUMMER OF 1940 TO SPRING, 1943 IN GERMANY

(FROM REVIEW OF WORLD AFFAIRS)

There are many stories about conditions in Germany, yet despite them all it is very hard to visualize how things really are. Perhaps a sum many of what an eye-witness has seen for himself in the provinces from the summer 1940 until now, may help us to understand the true condition of our enemy's affairs.

The winter of 1939 had been extremely severe. An administrative breakdown, due to bad communications and the weather, made nearly everyone short of fuel, and great suffering was caused. But morale remained unshaken. In August, 1940, the restaurants were crowded with chattering, laughing people. All classes were intoxicated with victory. Quick decisive campaigns in Poland, Scandinavia, and the West had raised morale to the highest pitch. Doubters and pessimists had been converted. Nearly everyone believed Hitler and the German Army to be invincible. A new era — a German era had come. The toll, sacrifice, and deceptions, and intrigues of long years had been justified by success. Victory had been won. Moreover, internal conditions were not too bad. Certainly there were shortages, but food was plentiful in all hotels and restaurants, and the ordinary citizen could have a rattling good three course meal at a small price.

Under cloudless skies the German nation was at ease, listening to excellent music, and drinking quantities of good wine. The Reich Chancellor's voice over the radio sailed and hushed the whole nation whenever it was heard. He was supreme, the unquestioned master of the nation. His words were regarded as almost divine. Women had not been called up, private business was still flourishing, casualties were comparatively light, Germany seemed to have the initiative everywhere.

American opinion was divided. Britain was desperately patching her inland defences, and hanging on to her life. She had lost her last foothold on the Continent and seemed to have no prospect of regaining it, even if she could defend herself. When the ancient Von Macksen stood for five hours reviewing the victorious flower - strewn troops, marching through the streets of a provincial city, the nation thought that this symbolic link between the old imperialism and the new was a national sacrament marking the end of a long struggle. We cannot fully understand Germany's position today unless we realize the national ecstasy of three years ago.

Presently there were rumors of large troop movements eastwards. Women, who thought their men would be coming home, found that instead they were being transferred from France to Poland. Travellers began to whisper of crowded roads and railways, and packed villages and towns in the German east. What did it all mean? Very slowly the public came to understand that the war was not over, that the men were not coming home, that a great new campaign was to be launched against the Eastern ally. Slowly the gaiety of 1940 disappeared. Slowly the anxiety which was to mark 1941 and 1942 as black years, began to grow.

Signs of unrest were first noticeable in industrial circles. Production began to fall, due to big call-ups, and the replacement of skilled German workmen by prisoners and foreigners. The swift and decisive victories in the Balkans were received with satisfaction, and later the tremendous advances, right to the outskirts of Moscow, were consoling.

The first real shudder of fear which passed through the nation as a whole, was when the last minute collection of winter clothing was made, in the autumn of 1941. The people knew then that no preparations had been made for a winter campaign, and that no such campaign had been expected. Everyone in Germany knew that something had gone wrong—something very big. Soon the gay and crowded restaurants, with their laughing and chattering patrons, began to grow silent. They did not become less crowded, because it was not easy to arrange meals at home.

About 50 per cent of the population now eats a large proportion of its food in a public place of some kind, but the crowds are silent. Everyone seems to talk in whispers. There is no laughing, and at one table out of three in most restaurants, there are people in heavy dark mourning. The scene, and opinion, have both entirely changed. Hardly anyone now believes that Britain and America can be defeated, and a decisive victory won. The most optimistic think that with further great sacrifice, perhaps, the Russians could be knocked out, and the British and Americans induced to compromise. The change is remarkable. Perhaps if we compare the two restaurant scenes — one of 1940 and the other of 1943 — we have the picture. Laughter and silence, chatter and furtive whispers, red wine and water, belief in victory already gained and the drab dark mourning of unexpectedly prolonged war, widows and mothers from whom the bottom has been knocked out of life — hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of them.

Germany's difficulties are now becoming even greater. It is no longer possible to get the meagre amount of clothing allowed on the ration cards. The textile shortage is acute. In some factories Russian prisoner workers have recently arrived with no clothes at all except their own frocks. During the winter many fainted at their work from the cold, and others contracted serious illness which involved prolonged absence or death. Managements already desperately short of labor, have been frantic. In one case, tremendous pressure was brought upon the Government to make a grant of clothes for these unfortunate women. After weeks of haggling, a small stock of bare necessities arrived, with the instruction that the clothes should be mothballed, and in the event of death or departure of the person to whom the clothes were allotted that they should be returned to the factory to be used by the next person employed at the same work. It is a pretty desperate state of affairs when even the meanest underclothing becomes the marked property of the State.

Conditions in foreign workers' camps throughout Germany are often deplorable, and in many, morale is low. Measures have been taken to close down banks competing against each other in the same locality and insurance companies are now forbidden to canvas for new customers. Small private businesses have been shut down on a vast scale, vaster than people realize. Old established trades far over military age have been forced to sell up and even to accept employment in the firm of a rival.

Enrolled members of the Nazi Party have often been able to save their businesses. We can imagine the humiliation of the successful elderly shopkeeper who has toiled for years to build up his trade, and who against a rising tide of Nazism, all Socialism, has struggled hard to preserve his independence and a measure of political decency only to at the last to become an employee of a Nazi competitor.

In street after street the traveller may see closed shops, now often used as private dwellings. Owing to the shortage created by bombing and military requirements in Berlin, a priority list of prospective tenants for closed commercial premises has been drawn up. Under a decree for the control of dwelling space, all householders with more than one residence, and all single persons keeping a separate residence were compelled to register by the 10th of April. The few shops which are still open have little to sell. Windows are empty, shelves are bare, household articles are almost unobtainable.

In railway restaurants, one is often asked to leave a deposit for a knife and fork. Family life is fast disappearing. Nearly everyone is engaged on long hours of work somewhere, meals being eaten at the canteen or in restaurants. In addition to ordinary hotels and restaurants, there are three main public feeding systems; (a) the industrial canteens, of which there are nearly 12,000, feeding 3,500,000 workers; (b) the central kitchens, of which there are about 15,000, feeding 4,700,000 German and foreign workers; (c) the communal restaurants, of which there are more than 200. Most of these are in the larger towns.

Gradually the bourgeois life is being stamped out, and some observers believe that this process has gone so far that it will be a generation before it can be restored. The disappearance of family life and small private enterprise is bolshevizing a hitherto middle-class nation. It is a remarkable phenomenon. It is a process portending dark, sinister tragedy for millions.

In some factories where working hours have been increased, although foreign workers and prisoners have accepted it fatalistically, German workers have protested. In some instances they have said they will only accept an extension if no control is given more food. One of the most noticeable things in Germany today is the growing shortage of oil. Trains have disappeared from the streets. Private motorcars can only be used on the most vital business. Farmers are being forced to use substitute fuels, and there are a dozen other signs. But most important of all, observers have noticed a big decline in the use of aircraft on manoeuvres and exercises. People who live near important airdromes, which a short time ago were the scene of restless activity, have noticed it. Aircrews were being trained night and day. Aircraft roared overhead at all hours. Now there is comparative silence, and it is believed this is due to lack of aviation fuel. Moreover, an officer recently on leave in Germany from Africa insisted that Rommel's difficulties have been partly due to this. This may be the idle complaint of a disappointed officer or it may be an important statement.

The concentration of propaganda is becoming steadily greater. This is dangerous to a nation. Nothing has been more striking in recent weeks than the degree of attention given to the home front battle. News has had a second place. The theme of German internal propaganda has been concentration of all national resources to beat the Russians. The elaboration of this theme has been considerable defence in the west, and the crusadeship for Europe against Bolshevism. There is a good deal of emphasis on the theme that the war with Russia was absolutely necessary. This is stressed, because there are people who have been asking whether is wasn't an absurd adventure, for which there was no need.

The whole national scene is grey and drab. All that the German people care for most is disappearing. There is no prospect of victory, and no prospect of peace. Everywhere the Gestapo and S.S. have larger powers, and are using them more ruthlessly. Party progranda is intense, and there is a lot of spying by members. Children and young people are ferreting out those who listen to foreign broadcasts, and this has created a nasty atmosphere. There is no escape from the war in the large industrial centres. There are grim, forbidding aspects of life in small towns we have described on the farms. Strange foreign workers have taken the place of Germans. Everywhere there is the mark of war, and the sign of crisis.

We meet this very grave situation that the Germans have embarked on their new policy. The need is desperate.

Does all this mean collapse is near? We think not. Many of the dismal signs are, in fact, due to a superhuman concentration upon the prosecution of the war. We shall see fiercer fighting than ever yet imagined, before the Nazi machine is destroyed. It is true that the High Command now has greater power, and Hitler somewhat less, but this is no guarantee of a good war. However, Hitler and the Party are still strong. A secret report to Great Headquarters (now in East Russia) found at least sixty per cent of the officers strongly pro-Nazi and the rest only relatively less dangerous. He thought the army as a whole would fight to the last man, and that, as the Gestapo and the S.S. have everything at home ready by the throat, there was little prospect of any immediate breakdown.

There is plenty of fight left in the German Army which is still supported by a powerful civilian arm, and the U-boats. It would be madness to underrate its fighting dimensions, leading to destruction. Such whispers have been heard before, and the laity in Germany for a long time. For such a development to impress itself upon an observer, so that he puts it into his report, is significant. The bedchamber of recent years has been almost asphyxiating. Now there is a slight stirring, very slight but in this Nation will discover deadly peril, for the gates of Hell shall not prevail against the Church of Christ.

GR. COMMISSION SSUES REPORT N PLANS AND ACTIONS

Recently Appointed Committee Gets Down to Work

The Ontario Agricultural Commission of Inquiry, under the chairmanship of Archibald Leitch, lost no time in getting down to business when it held its first meeting on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The meeting was called primarily to discuss organization and procedure but the situation with regard to 1944 agricultural production was felt to be so serious that the commission immediately began to discuss some of the problems before it.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture and W. R. Reek, Deputy-Minister, in addressing the Commission each stressed the fact that if an entirely free hand to consider all phases of agriculture and make recommendations to the government and assured the members of their utmost support.

Not only in the proceedings it was decided to tackle first the problems of food production and steps would be taken towards that end. A telegram was sent to the co-ordinator of foods administration, Ottawa, asking for a speedy decision on the question of the price differential between cable and seed potatoes and a reply was received stating that a new order on this subject was being issued.

The provincial and federal subsidies paid during the past year on grain "feed" with in a resolution which asked these governments to continue the subsidy at the September rates (December 31 without any reason as was originally contemplated.

The problem of securing an adequate supply of seed grain was referred to a committee which brought in a report, of which the following recommendations were made to the Government:

That a strong advertising campaign be carried on to encourage fall-to-farm movement of seed grain.

That a freight subsidy be paid on seed grain coming from Northern Ontario and Western Canada.

That the government purchase a quantity of suitable varieties registered and certified No. 1 seed Western Canada for holding purposes.

That the Dominion regulations be relaxed to permit the sale mixtures, oats and barley, for seed.

That the fees for grading of seed samples be cancelled for the present to encourage grading.

The inadequacy of the ceiling on Alsike this Winter wheat was discussed at some length and a special committee was struck to bring in recommendations on this matter. It was felt that the present ceiling price of $1.12 a bushel for Ontario winter wheat was far out of line with the price for western wheat. The members of the special committee are Arnold Huffman of Blenheim, and Ross Wilson of Canning Cross.

A number of the committees were asked to make investigations and report to the next meeting of the Commission.

Messrs. W. A. Dryden, Charles B. Sutton, Stewart Brown and W. A. Archer were appointed a committee to investigate all matters relating to the livestock industry and report back to the Commission.

Messrs. M. Robinson and M. C. Allen were appointed a committee to deal with a number of resolutions regarding potato production.

Mr. A. W. Pope of Rainy River was requested to present a report on the discrepancy in freight rates to points in Northern Ontario west of Port William, it being pointed out that these rates, from Winnipeg, were out of proportion to the rate to Port William.

Messrs. Wilson and Alex. McKinney, Jr., were appointed a committee to inquire into the present method of payment of hog subsidies and to present a report at the next meeting.

Mrs. C. Holland and Messrs. Reg Strutsch, R. J. Scott, W. E. Breckon, Ross Doyle and W. J. Fletcher were appointed a committee to bring before the Commission a report on the question of rural youth organizations and rural education.

A recommendation was forwarded to the Minister of Agriculture asking that the short course on farm mechanics be continued.

There was considerable discussion regarding hog prices, it being stressed that increased prices were necessary to ensure continued high scale production but, as the new bacon contract with Great Britain is now under negotiation, it was felt nothing more could be done until the contract price is known.

A recommendation was made to the Minister of Agriculture asking that he instruct the county agricultural representatives to conduct an educational campaign regarding shipping fever in cattle and foul-in-the-foot.

R. W. Gallup, deputy administrator of farm machinery, was called before the Commission and presented information regarding the quota of farm machinery which would be available in the next year. The Commission was greatly encouraged by the news that the supply of farm machinery would be much greater, the quota having been increased from 25 per cent to 76 per cent of the 1940 - 1941 output.

'Service For Canada' Meeting Held By Rotary – Lions

At a joint regular meeting held at the Superior Restaurant, on Tuesday, October 12th, the Rotary and Lions Service Clubs were hosts to representatives of the National War Finance Committee at a "Service for Canada" meeting.

Seated at the head table with the presidents of the two clubs, George Switzer Rotary, and Ryerson Humphrey, Lions were Mayor Dr. D R Hall, who was the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Jack Young, District Representative of National War Finance, G. S. Roberts, Provincial Representative of War Finance (payroll system), Rev. C. D. McLellan, R. G. Thorley, Supervisor of Victory War Loan campaign for this district and Ted Saunders, assistant supervisor.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Rev. McLellan presided at a remembrance service conducted in memory of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice during this war. In referring to these Mr. McLellan hoped that we at home would remember the sacrifice the boys have made and would consider it our duty to do our utmost that they may not have died in vain.

Past President Russell Hunter introduced the speaker of the evening, Mayor D R Hall, who spoke on the forthcoming Victory Loan. He emphasized the necessity of our backing the forces overseas who are giving their all that "we may live in comparative ease" The county has a big job to do but with the effort of everyone of us it can be accomplished to a satisfactory end.

Mr. Jack Young, when called upon by president Humphrey, said that he had no doubt, in view of the record of Lennox and Addington in previous campaigns that at least the minimum amount would be reached.

Mr. G. S. Roberts, Provincial representative of the payroll system said he was amazed at the fervor of the population of the province in their willingness to help bring this war to a speedy conclusion.

The singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever" brought the meeting to an end

BLIND CANADIANS EARN MILLION DOLLARS

"It is not my intention to attempt an analysis of figures relating to employment and earnings, but I would like to call attention to one figure—1,690 blind Canadian men and women were employed through the Institute at the end of the year which has just come to a close. Twenty-five years ago there were a few blind piano tuners and basket makers of whom there is no accurate record, but whose number was very small and whose earnings could not have aggregated more than a few thousand dollars. Now, there are almost eleven hundred blind people employed and last year they earned over one million dollars. If that one startling fact was the only accomplishment to which our Institute could point it would in my opinion be sufficient to prove the tremendous change which has been wrought in the lives of Canada's blind population by The Canadian National Institute for the Blind."

—From Colonel E. A. Baker's report as Managing Director of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

FARMERS ARE ASKED TO WORK THIS WINTER IN ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES

Only Men Not Necessary on Farms Will be Accepted

Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, has announced a campaign to secure the services of farm workers for transfer to essential industries, during the slack season on the land. The campaign will be carried out by the Department of Labour, in co-operation with the Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

"To a considerable extent," Mr MacNamara said, "fuel wood cutting and other woods operations have always depended upon the assistance of workers from agriculture during the Fall and Winter months. In order to secure their production. Similarly, in some parts of the country, metalliferous mining and fish packing establishments have also in the past leaned heavily upon the farmer during his slack season. Due to the war, the large numbers of workers available for these seasonal industries — a regular feature of the Canadian employment situation — have virtually disappeared. Many have gone into the Forces, while others are now steadily engaged in essential industries. In view of this fact, we must depend to an even larger extent upon securing men from the land while they are most needed at home. Moreover due to labour shortages, additional industries now look for men off the land; railway track maintenance and packing plants are among the industries now asking the services of farmers for the Fall and Winter.

Mr. MacNamara said that it was impossible to form a close estimate of the number of farmers sought by industry, but probably it would exceed 150,000 across Canada.

The Department of Labour points out that workers in agriculture have secured postponement of military training by reason of their occupation, will be allowed to continue on postponement if they accept approved essential employment during the slack season.

"There is no thought of interfering with farm production." Mr. MacNamara explained. "We do not want men while they are still required on the land for Autumn work, nor do we want to take away from the farm any man who is needed there for year round work. Nevertheless, there is a substantial margin of men who may be spared during the next few months, and those are the men whose services we wish."

The agreements between the Dominion and the Provinces for farm labour recruitment provide that Provincial Field Organizations will assist the Dominion in locating farmers for other essential industries in the off-season, and all the Provincial Organizations have been approached and are co-operating with Selective Service in the present campaign. Also several hundred local Farm Production Committees organized by the Provinces have undertaken to participate in the campaign.

MEMORANDUM RE OPEN SEASON FOR DEER

Division "D", south of the French and Mattawa Rivers — 1943 — November 8th to November 20th, inclusive.

Toronto 2.
September 7th, 1943.

Notwithstanding the fact that provision was previously made for an open season on deer in Southern Ontario extending from November 1st to November 16th, 1943, owing to many representations which have been made to the Department, a regulation is being provided to the effect that this open season for deer in that part of Ontario lying south of the French and Mattawa Rivers (other than counties that may agree to an open season under regulations to be yet declared) will during the year 1943 extend from November 8th to November 20th, inclusive.

We shall appreciate it very much if you will see that this information is supplied to all interested hunters who may enquire of you regarding licenses or accommodation.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE ON ALL WAR FRONTS BY ALLIED FORCES

Air, Sea and Land Successes Push Enemy Back

WEDNESDAY —

Following new Fifth Army gains of from six to eight miles, above Naples, the Allies were finding stiffer resistance from the Germans. The Allied Air Forces, based in North Africa, extended their operations to occupied Greece.

• • •

Autumn rains stiffened resistance from the Germans and, difficult ground conditions combined to slow down the Russian Armies' advances.

• • •

The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. blasted Frankfurt for twelve hours following an American air raid a few hours before.

• • •

THURSDAY —

The Fifth Army crowed the Volturno River and occupied Aversa and Maddaloni on the road to Rome. On the Adriatic coast the Eighth Army was engaged in heavy fighting west of Termoli and on the River Biferno line.

• • •

• • •

The British continued to hold Kos in the Dodecanese against the German invaders. The British were reported to be in control of all the Dodecanese Islands, except Rhodes.

• • •

In the South Pacific the Australians on New Guinea were within sixty miles of Madang the Japanese base.

• • •

Wake Island, strong Japanese air base, 2,600 miles west of Hawaii, was subjected to a hey air attack by United States planes, and a naval bombardment from a section of the United States Pacific Fleet.

• • •

FRIDAY —

The largest number of Nazi planes since 1941 attacked England on Thursday night in various parts of the country. Few of the raiders reached London. Bombs were dropped in East Anglia and the southeast coast areas, but casualties were reported to be light.

• • •

The Germans, reinforced by an armored division were reported to have escaped the Allied Eighth Army on the Adriatic, in a serious battle.

• • •

German soldiers captured the town of Kos on Kos Island in the Dodecanese but British troops on the rest of the island continued strong resistance to German attack.

• • •

After breaking through the Nazi middle Dnieper River defence line, the Russian Army established and

PROMINENT RESIDENT MR. WILLIAM A. DALY DIED ON TUESDAY

Death Followed Operation at Kingston Hospital

William A. Daly, President of The Daly Tea Company of Napanee, died Tuesday afternoon of this week, at Kingston General Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past three weeks. Mr. Daly underwent an operation two weeks ago, since which time his condition had been considered critical.

Mr. Daly had been almost a lifelong resident of Napanee. He was born on a farm just west of the town in Richmond Township, but when very young came with his parents and other members of the family, to Napanee, where he had since resided. His parents were George and Mary Daly.

George Daly, with his brothers, Edward and Denis Daly established the Daly Tea Co., in 1854, and the company has become one of the best known importers and distributors of tea in Canada, with business activities extending throughout the western provinces, Ontario and Quebec. The business was later conducted by the three sons of George Daly, John Geale Daly, the late Herbert Daly and W. A. Daly.

Mr. W. A. Daly had never taken an active part in the public life of the town but was one of its best known citizens. Throughout his lifetime he was intensely interested in sports and in his younger days was an enthusiastic cricketer. Later he was interested in golf and curling and generously supported all the other sports of the community. For many years he was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and later attended Grace United Church.

Mr. Daly is survived by his wife, formerly Florence McDougall, Stirling, and seven children, Miss Helen Daly, Reg. N., of Boston, Mrs. Jean Morse, Napanee, Mr. Morris A. Daly, Napanee, Miss Mary Daly, Toronto, William D. Daly with the R.C.A.F., overseas, Hilda, Mrs. George Gale, of Toronto, and Miss Marjorie Daly, of Toronto. He also leaves one brother, Mr. John Geale Daly, Napanee, and two sister, Lady Louise Twining, of London, England, and Miss Georgina Daly, Napanee. He was predeceased by one brother, Herbert, and two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Morden and Mrs. L. H. Bennett.

Mr. Daly's funeral will be held at his late residence, Robinson Street, on Thursday afternoon, at 3:00 o'clock, with interment following at Riverside Cemetery.

opened three bridgeheads on the west bank of the river. Kiselevsk, near was reported aimed ended in the Caucasus, opposite the Crimea

The Japs were reported to have abandoned their major air base at Vila and to have fled the northern half of Kolombangara in the Solomons.

SATURDAY —

United States warships sank a Jap warship and two destroyers in the Vella Gulf near the Solomons. Other Jap warships were put to flight.

• • •

Red Army troops extended their holdings on the west bank of the Dnieper River at Dnepro, increasing the threat to the entire German winter line. In the Caucasus the German bridgehead on the Taman Peninsula was mopped up and a drive into the Crimea seemed a possibility. In the north the Russians were about 70 miles from the Latvian border.

• • •

The Allied Fifth Army in Italy reached the south bank of the Volturno River as far inland as the city of Capua. In a brilliant amphibian action General Clark's British and United States troops seized the most important victory since the occupation of Naples. Capua is only 19 miles away from Rome.

• • •

The United States Air Force made a heavy attack on Bremen. The attack followed heavy night blows at Stuttgart, Pforzheim/Hanau and Munich.

MONDAY —

Allied gains were in control of the south bank of the Volturno and Capua Rivers, from the sea to the east of Pozzi 44 miles inland The British Army's British and Canadian troops broadened their Termoli bridgehead on the East coast.

• • •

The Russian Army drove the Germans back to the artillery range of the west bank of the Dnieper River bridgehead and German counter-attacks were repulsed north and south of Kiev.

• • •

During a two-day bombing and strafing of Japanese warfare on Wake Island, United States forces destroyed more than 61 enemy planes.

• • •

United States heavy bombers hammered Germany in a daylight, six-hour daylight assault. R. A. F. mosquito planes bombed Berlin Saturday night for the fourteenth time in a month. Allied planes bombed five airfields in Greece and Crete and fighter planes destroyed 16 Nazi bombers near Rhodes.

• • •

TUESDAY —

United States and British troops in Italy captured a town eleven miles northwest of Benevento and menaced the whole Nazi defence position along the Volturno River. On the Adriatic end of the line British and Canadian troops continued to fight slowly forward against heavy opposition.

The Russians entered the suburbs of Gomel and endangered the whole 200-mile German line in White Russia. The Russians who threatened to cover the German's link with the middle Dnieper River, where Red forces pushed forward through three widening gaps. Russian troops also penetrated outer defences of Kiev.

The British Admiralty disclosed that a new midget submarine penetrated the German Fleet's hide-out in Norway, on September 22, and damaged the German battleship, Tirpitz.

PROGRESS IN QUEBEC

The Province of Quebec has a far-seeing and vigorous Prime Minister, in Premier Godbout. Since he came into power, compulsory education has been established, and women have been given the vote. These two reforms certainly will have far-reaching effects. They were opposed by the reactionaries and those who, for one cause or another, desired to stop the wheels of progress. But the present government put them into legislation. Now, for the first time, Quebec takes its place with other advanced nations in the matter of education and universal suffrage.

Not satisfied with that, however, the Prime Minister has given notice that his government will, at its next session, bring in an Expropriation Bill, in virtue of which the government will be able to take over the assets of The Montreal Light, Heat, and Power Company. This is one of the strongest power companies in Quebec and has a virtual monopoly of the light, heat, and power in and around Montreal. The Premier points out that under the present set-up the people in Quebec are paying too much for these essentials. He proposes to take over the assets of the company and operate it for the benefit of the people, and to see that they get the benefits of reduced rates.

This is a bold stroke, but it is the sort of thing which great monopolies bring on themselves. Under our present system, when a business makes unusual profits, the media is cut, a new financial structure is erected, and the people continue to pay. It is this abuse of the capitalist system which has brought it into such disrepute of late. It is not free enterprise or the capitalist system as such, that are objected to, by large sections of the country, but the control of markets, slicing of melons, and distribution of stock or profits among a few, at the expense of the many, which is the root cause of so much of the present economic unrest.

We, in Ontario, know what benefits we have secured from the public ownership of electrical energy under the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, well organized, efficiently managed, consistently progressive, the Commission has been able to give the citizens of Ontario — one of the best Hydro systems in the world, and electricity at cost. To be sure there was opposition to Sir Adam Beck, when he sought to establish the Hydro, but now we have one monument to his honor in Toronto, and in the Commission itself, another monument, in which all Ontario citizens glory.

Premier Godbout had to fight one group of citizens in his own Province when he put in compulsory education and votes for women. He will now find he will be opposed by another group. This time it will be the strong financial interests who will oppose his legislation. If he succeeds in this as well as he succeeded in his other reforms, Premier Godbout will go down in Quebec history as one of the great progressive reformers of that Province, and will have fon the everlasting gratitude of millions of his fellow citizens.

SHARING THE COST

In an all-out war such as that in which we are engaged, everybody has to carry his or her share if total victory is to be assured. A glance over the long list of names which are published in last week's issue, indicates that the young men and young women of military age in this district are doing their part. Practically every young man who is physically fit in this area is now in some branch of national service. This is as it should be.

But, a total war means more than that. It means that the whole national effort must be channelled into war production. Food, munitions, clothing, and all the necessities of war, must be produced in great abundance. All that can go without defeating its own purpose. More money will, therefore, have to be loaned to the Government, if the war effort is to be sustained at its present measure of efficiency.

A new War Loan is soon to be floated. The amount required is greater than ever before, and the amount asked for is greater than in any previous loan. But there is plenty of money in the banks to meet the demand. In our local banks there is more on deposit, it is safe to say, than there was before the last war loan was floated. Wages are good, work is plentiful, prices for farm produce are the best they have been in years. Financially we are better off than we have been in a decade. More people, too, are sharing in this wartime prosperity, than ever before. A greater number of people are therefore in a position to invest their money in bonds.

When the drive gets under way, Napanee and the County of Lennox and Addington will meet its allocation. But that is not enough, the allocation is the minimum required. With all the money now in the banks and with so many citizens having a share in these deposits, we should not be satisfied until we have gone well over the minimum amount asked of us.

CONTROLS AGAIN

The Kingston Whig-Standard which, a while ago, made a great fuss because the Bay of Quinte Conference of The United Church of Canada suggested that controls now in existence should be continued after the war, will probably have to revise its judgment in the light of news coming from London and Ottawa. From both these capitals reports are that government controls will continue for some time after the war ends. We are not suggesting the Church Conference had anything to do with the decision made in Ottawa and London, but we are suggesting that Church Courts are not quite so out-of-touch with modern trends in world movements as sometimes the ill-informed outside-the-church would have us believe. The Toronto Star, commenting on the continuance of controls, says: "In Britain, the controls to be retained include rationing of food, clothing, and other essential supplies, and price limits for various commodities. Controls will be retained also over home, and overseas investments and export of capital, employment and raw materials and transportation facilities.

"In Canada, it is said that at least a year must elapse before the relaxation of controls begins. It will be gradual and, in some cases, the controls are likely to remain for a long period."

So, that's that !

TWO VIEWS

The way in which international matters get out of hand is well illustrated in the reaction in the United States and in Great Britain to the report of the five Senators who have just returned from a journey overseas. These men have made a secret report on what they saw, and on what they believe about the relationships between the nations now united in a common cause against Germany.

We have not seen the report, naturally, but we have seen lots of comment about the the facts of it which have leaked out into the Press. These comments are as far apart as the Poles, and reflect the national point of view of the persons or parties making them. This shows how difficult it is to arrive at international understanding, and how much give-and-take will be necessary in order to solve all our post-war problems, harmoniously.

A typical American reaction to the Senators' report is contained in a special dispatch to The Buffalo Evening News, from Raymond Clapper, a Washington correspondent, which says: Stalin is out to grab what he can, and Churchill is out to hold on to what the British Empire has. Russia's isolationist tendency and Britain's stand-pat attitude about Empire possessions, create difficult problems. Both Russia and Britain will have to yield something, if there is to be satisfactory collaboration. . . .

Believing, as I do, completely in the necessity of collaboration among us, I am at a loss to find any suggestions from London or Moscow that advance the cause of collaboration. There is not the faintest sign of any concessions. . . .

The interest of Allied collaboration for the long pull that still lies between us and victory, and in the interest of converting that victory into long-term security, some of us here in Washington look hopefully to London and Moscow to give us some signs that our readiness is reciprocated."

So much for the United States' point of view. The British reaction is summed up in a dispatch from James B. Reslin, from London to The New York Times: "Resentment (to the report) on the part of the British officials, available to this correspondent, is based on the assumption by the Senators that the United States had asked for more oil from Persia and had been refused, that we had asked for unlimited use of the air bases we have built on British territory and had been refused, and had requested the right to establish bases after the war on British territory and had been turned down.

"But so far as one can discover in this capital, none of these things has happened. Churchill was not being simply rhetorical when he said that he did not become the King's First Minister in order to preside at the liquidation of the British Empire, but at the same time there is not only very little basis for charging the British with holding out on us, but there is good reason for saying that if the United States ever makes it unmistakably clear that it is prepared to take its place in establishing a real world authority in collaborating with Great Britain and Russia, there is not a single base in the British Empire from Scapa Flow to Singapore, that will not be open to us."

ROME PRESENTS A KNOTTY PROBLEM

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Should the Germans decide to hang on to Rome, despite the certainty of ultimate encirclement by the Allies, it will pose as one of the war's toughest tactical problems for the Anglo-American armies which are continuing their steady advance up the Italian peninsula.

Hitler, the antichrist, who actually set himself up as messiah and has for years been making bitter sport of on all Christian churches, is in effect holding the Pope as hostage to shield the Nazi troops in the Eternal City. As added protection, the Hitlerites are surrounded by hundreds of thousands of civilians, and are encamped in the midst of shrines of Christendom and monuments which are among the priceless relics of history.

The Allies have sworn to free Rome, the Vatican and the Pope. President Roosevelt attributed something of the aspects of a holy war to this operation, saying there were certain elements of a crusade driving out the Germans. Because of all this, and because the capital city is the centre of Italy's chief railways, its capture is one of the main objectives of the campaign.

Obviously, however, the last thing the Allies want is to have to take Rome by force. That would mean the death of many civilians and the destruction of some of the world's most cherished heirlooms. Yet, if the German gangster should order several divisions of his troops to make a stand there, the Anglo-American armies would be compelled either to storm the city or accept the alternative of leaving the line of communications open. Any idea of starving the metropolis into submission seems out-side the picture.

There is no doubt that the Allies can surround Rome, despite increasing enemy resistance. Completion of the conquest of the island of Corsica, just off the western coast of Italy, will facilitate the landing of an amphibious force north of the capital to co-operate with Generals Montgomery and Clark who are advancing from the south.

Still, Hitler might consider it well worth while to sacrifice his force of occupation in order to keep the Allies out of Rome. From his standpoint, there are two arguments in favor of this gamble. One is that possession of the heart of the Italian railways would handicap the Allied advance up the peninsula. The other has to do with the moral effect which would be calculated to impress the might of Germany on the Anglo-Axis satellites and any wavering Italian Fascists.

Should the situation materialize, it might be that the Allies would leave Rome alone for the moment and advance against the main Nazi forces in the north. It would be a hard decision to make. Such tactics probably would require more troops than they now have in Italy, because they would have to protect their left flank against the German divisions which were behind them in the capital.

The war hasn't produced any similar ritualism. We have had so-called suicide stands in large cities, of course but never before have there been such religious and historical aspects to complicate the situation.

We mustn't assume either that the Germans will decide to hold in face of certain elimination. If they do, that the Allied Command will decide not to use force to oust them. It's a fair assumption, however, that if the Nazis make this stand the Allies will consider the problem of letting Rome alone for a bit.

Should the Germans be left in possession until their army in the north has been defeated, then they presumably will be able to surrender with no danger to themselves. It would be the old game of doing as much damage as possible from safe cover and then pulling "Kamerad!" when things got hot.

Well, there we have it. The United States wants collaboration, but saying England collaborate, and the British desiring collaboration but pointing out the United States are not willing to collaborate. A lot of education will be necessary, and a lot of good will, a lot of give and take, if we are going to make the brave new world, after the war, we have all been hoping for and praying for.

of Canada keep abreast of the Dominion's expanding needs

Six times since 1870 the Bank Act under which the Chartered Banks operate has been revised by parliament—six times in that period the activities of the banks have been carefully scrutinized by the people's representatives.

Every ten years the Bank Act has been thus revised. Each one of the six decennial revisions has contributed much to the evolution of the banking system to meet the expanding needs of a developing Dominion.

In 1934 the sixth revision of the Bank Act was made. Fifty members of the House of Commons made up the committee, which examined witnesses—among them bank officers, government officials and reformers -- and studied exhibits filed by various individuals and organizations. Findings were submitted to the House, and later that year the Bank Act was revised in many important particulars.

Through democratic enquiry and decision, the Canadian banking system has grown and been adjusted to meet the needs of the people, providing a depository for savings and a sound basis for Canada's free economic development.

MILITARY UNITS GIVEN GUIDES TO AVOID DAMAGE

The United States War Department has given assurance that every effort consistent with military expediency is being made to preserve such art objects as come within the scope of the Allied military operations.

In order to insure this, military personnel whose backgrounds include knowledge of art, are being assigned to the Allied military governments to counsel and guide commanding officers of various units on the value of these art objects in order that every effort may be made to preserve them, the War Department said.

Each major unit of the A. M. G. has a museums and monuments officer whose duty is to notify commanders of the existence of art treasures and to direct such preservation work as is practical once the surrounding areas are occupied.

Maps showing the locations of widely known art objects, including statues, museums and other structures containing both public and private collections, are being furnished combat commanders, including those officers directing aerial attacks. Commanders are doing everything practicable to keep these objects out of direct range," it was asserted.

Officers of the Army Air Forces operating in combat areas have informed the War Department that with the advancement of precision bombing ,the danger to art treasures has been diminished. They have pointed out, however, that in instances where art treasures are used to shield important military installations they cannot be held accountable for such treasures are directly within the scope of their military activities.

Meanwhile, Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the United States Supreme Court, announced that an organization meeting of the American Commission for the Protection of Salvage of Artistic and Historic Monuments in Europe was held recently in the National Gallery of Art.

Justice Roberts added that plans had been worked out for the commission to co-operate with the appropriate branches of the Army and Navy, and the Department of State, including the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation Operations, represented on the commission by former Governor Herbert Lehman of New York.

Problem For Neutrals

The new Mussolini "Government," announced by Adolf Hitler and announced recently by the German Overseas Wireless as existing in London diplomatic circles is of no real recognition from the Italians, and still less from the neutral countries of Europe.

The current existence of two Italian governments, that of Mussolini with German backing, and that of Marshal Pietro Badoglio and King Victor Emmanuel, which is recognized as having authority in Italy by the Allies, presents a neat problem to neutral governments. All bona fide neutrals, including even Spain, which until lately has been largely under Axis influence, are understood to be disposed to recognize the Badoglio regime.

The considerably greater claims of constitutionality which can be made by the Badoglio government are understood to be serving as a good out for neutrals who might otherwise be embarrassed by the choice they must now make between sides — between the Axis on the one hand and the United Nations on the other.

Few important Italians were recruited for Mussolini's new cabinet. It took place himself takes the posts in the new Fascist "Government" of Prime Minister and Foreign Minister. Marshal Rodolfo Graziani becomes Minister of Defence. Guido Buffarini, Minister of Interior, and Domenico Pellegrini, Minister of Finance.

The other names in Mussolini's cabinet are meaningless. They include Carlo Alberto Biggini (Education), Mezzasoma (Popular Culture), Joseph Pevorini (Public Works), Moroni (Agriculture), Antonio Frigali (Colonies), Dustice) and Gsi (Corporative Economy).

Mussolini's failure to get any more substantial recruits for his "Government" than he did is held to indicate that he is broke, through politicians and that the Fascist leaders, such as Farinacci and Bastianini, who normally might be expected to throw in their lot with Mussolini, are now either detained or have recognized that there is no hope

If, as is expected, the terms of surrender of Europe fail to the new German-Fascist Italian Government, the organization may well turn out a boomerang.

"JESUS AND THE SABBATH"

The seven-day week is as old as organized society. Because it is associated with religion, various attempts have been made to change it. This has been particularly true during political upheavals. The French Revolution saw the seven-day week abolished. In Russia the same thing happened after the revolution in 1917—a six-day week was established, a rest day coming every sixth day. Recent reports, however, tell that in Russia they have reverted to the seven-day week. The French short week lasted only a few years after the revolution. Whatever the reason the seven-day week, in spite of every attempt of anti-religious governments to abolish it, still persists.

According to the Hebrew tradition God made the world in six days, and when the work was completed, ordered a day of rest. In this way the Sabbath was instituted. Certainly all through the Old Testament the people were enjoined to keep the seventh day holy. There can be no argument against the necessity of a day of rest given. The purpose of the original sabbath was to allow men and women respite from their labor and opportunity to worship God. Like most other good institutions, this of the Sabbath was soon abused. Men surrounded its observance with rules and regulations. In time the keeping of those rules and regulations were looked upon as more important than the original purpose of the holy day. It came to be a burden. The prohibitions which edged in the sabbath observance, robbed it in many instances of the real purpose for which God designed it. The prophets denounced this legal attitude to the Sabbath times without number.

As an antidote to this legalistic attitude to the Sabbath, the instance of the Disciples and the Disciples is chosen by the lesson committee. The Pharisees argued that it was unlawful to work on the Sabbath, but since the Disciples had pulled a few grains of wheat and rubbed them in their hands, that was work; it was tantamount to threshing. It was therefore illegal. This gave Jesus His opportunity to express His views on the Sabbath.

In the first place, Jesus pointed out that on one occasion David broke the letter of the law. It was forbidden to anyone, save the High Priest, to eat the shew bread. But David went into the temple when in hunger and partook of it. That is to say he placed human consideration before a ritualistic regulation, says Jesus. "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath."

Another example of the same principle is found in the incident recorded when Jesus healed the man with the withered hand. The act of healing was done on the Sabbath. The Pharisees accused Him of work something which was forbidden on the Sabbath. They then sought to see how they might destroy Him.

Thus, the men from whom one might have expected most, should have been with Him in the religious men the church men of His day of rise and sought to Him out of the way.

It is strange how that same tends perpetuates itself through history. ## TAMWORTH

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. W. G. Richmond, with an attendance of 13 members and one visitor present. The President, Mrs. Harry Easterbrook, occupied the chair and opened the meeting in the usual way with the Ode and the Creed. It was moved by Mrs. Thomas Scanlon and seconded by Mrs. Harry Amey that the convention fee of $1.00 be sent to the District Secretary. Moved by Mrs. Smith Gilmour and seconded by Mrs. Bruce Richardson, that Mrs. Earl Bradshaw be the delegate to go to the Kingston Area Convention on October 21st and 22nd, also that Mrs. Manley Marshall be the alternate delegate. The President hoped that several members could attend the convention for at least the first day. Other matters of business were discussed, and when completed, Mrs. Harry Amey took charge of the program, as follows: The Motto, "Our Country is the spot to which our heart is bound", was given by Mrs. H. J. Millar, who recited the poem "My Native Land" by Sir Walter Scott. A patriotic duet, "The War Must be Won", was rendered by Mrs. Manley Marshall and Mrs. Earl Bradshaw, with Mrs. Beckett as pianist. A reading on "Wartime Cooking Economy" was given by Mrs. Fred Millburn. Also a suitable reading by Mrs. S. Gilmour, which was accompanied by several pictures, was much enjoyed. A piano solo by Mary Scanlon closed this part of the program. Following an explanation regarding W. I. war work by Mrs. W. G. Richmond, it was moved by Mrs. Earl Bradshaw and seconded by Mrs. Fred Millburn that a tag day for the Greek Relief Fund be held, and that Mrs. W. G. Richmond act as Convener for same. It was moved by Mrs. Fred Millburn and seconded by Mrs. F. W. Proute, that the Secretary send cards to the following people who are ill in the hospital: Mr. W. W. Redden, Mr. Henry Lott, Mr. Stanley Brown, and Mrs. H. Haggerty; also a card to Miss E. Bartlett, a W. I. member, who has gone from the village. And a letter of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. L. Brown. Mrs. Ames held a very interesting contest, and the National Anthem closed the meeting. Lunch was served by the hostess and her committee.

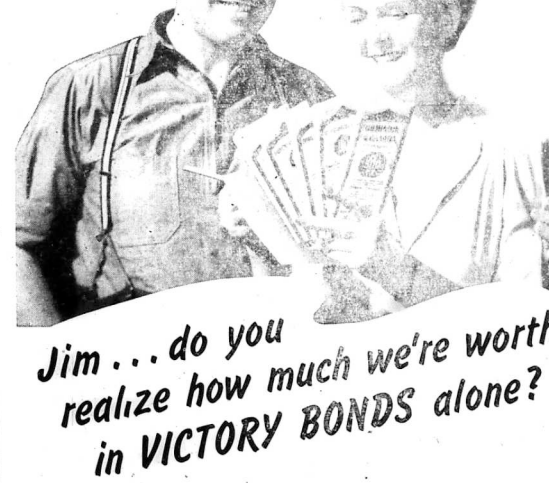
PROTECT PRICELESS OLD FAMILY RECIPES WITH MAGIC

IT'S ALWAYS DEPENDABLE!



Jim . . . do you realize how much we're worth in VICTORY BONDS alone?

JIM: We've done our share every loan. So it should be a tidy sum.

MARY: It is, but I wish we had a lot more. There is nothing like preparing for a rainy day, and buying Victory Bonds is one of the best ways to save.

JIM: Well, let's see. We bought a $100 bond the first loan, and found it so easy to pay for on the instalment plan that we doubled that for the second and third loans. That's $500 right there!

MARY: Then, the last loan, to help back the attack, we signed up for a $500 bond.

JIM: Well, in the next loan, we'll take another $500 bond . . . and a little bit more. That will give us a nice nest-egg for the future. When peace comes we can start building that home we've got planned. And there'll be plenty of good business opportunities to look into.

MARY: Besides all the things we'll be needing when everything is available again.

JIM: But by gosh, Mary . . . despite the kick we get out of providing for the future, I get my greatest thrill in knowing the money we lend is helping to beat the enemy . . . to bring our troops home quicker . . . and make this a better world for our children to grow up in.

MARY: It all ties together, Jim. By investing everything we can in Victory Bonds, we are being practical as well as patriotic. That's why, with victory on the way, we should save harder than ever before.

OBITUARIES

THE LATE JOSEPH E. McFERN

(Contributed)

On Saturday, October 2nd, Joseph E. McFern, an aged and very highly respected resident of Amherst Island, died at his home in Stella. Sacred on October 2nd. The late Mr. McFern had reached the advanced age of eighty-nine years. He was a carpenter by trade and had visited practically every home on the Island in this capacity. The many friends who gathered in the beautiful floral and spiritual tributes, were testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. His wife, formerly Rose McCormick, predeceased him last December. He is survived by four daughters and one son Mrs. William Munro (Josephine), Kingston; Mrs. Joseph Smith, (Inez), of Thiree Rivers; Mrs. Thomas Glenn (Lizzie), Stella; Mrs. David Dugsell (Mary), Cornwall; and Robert, of Stella. Thomas E. McFern was killed in the Great War. Hugh McFern and William McFern predeceased their father some years ago.

The remains were taken to St. Bartholomew's Church, where a requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Sullivan, for the happy repose of his soul. The pall-bearers were Edward McGinn, James McGinn, William McCormick, Joseph Hogeboom, Claude Willard and Raymond McMaster.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Arthur Rutan and Mrs. John McGinn, Napanee; Mrs. P. Taylor, of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McCormick and Patricia Mr. M. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith and family, Mrs. Y. Morrison, and Mrs. Munro and daughter, of Ottawa.

Meeting Bay of Quinte Clerical Union

A meeting of the Bay of Quinte Clerical Union was held in the Molyneux Rectory, Thursday afternoon, October 7th and was largely attended. In the absence of the President, Rev. J. B. Cresswell, recently removed to Prescott, the Litany of Remembrance was said by the Past President, Rev. G. G. Wright.

The Very Reverend Dr. Seeley, Dean of Ontario, was then elected President of the Union, and the Reverend Rural Dean Pringle was re-elected Secretary.

A report on the Quarterman book Club was presented by the Rev. C. P. Heaven.

It was decided that the next meeting of the Union be held in Wellington, in June, 1942.

The Lord Bishop of the Diocese spoke of the happy coincidence, that exactly one hundred years ago, the Clerical Society, the forerunner of the Bay of Quinte Clerical Union, met in the same Mohawk Rectory, one of the members being Bishop John Strachan, who, after the meeting, and attended by the Clergy, consecrated the newly built Christ Church on the Mohawk Reserve. Bishop Lyons spoke of the long history of the Union, and the continuity of its work to the present day.

The Reverend C. G. Wright, L.Th., gave an excellent and comprehensive paper on the Canon Synod. This was followed by a discussion on the many matters brought to prominence by the paper.

Afternoon tea was served in the Rectory by the Rectory Priscilla. who was assisted by Mrs. Robt. Hill, Mrs. Joseph Brant, and Mrs. Frank Ware, of Tamworth.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN WORK FOR THE BLIND

In the recently published Annual Report of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind four paragraphs appear showing blind people employed in new types of work. And how this new department came into existence, what it means, is explained in the article which accompanies the illustrations:

"The experience of Lindsay Williamson in finding positions for blind people in Industrial establishments led him to consider the possibility of achieving the same end, in some instances, by reversing the procedure. Why not, he thought persuade manufacturers that some of their assembly processes could be economically and efficiently handled by blind workers on the Institute premises, thus saving their valuable plant space and working hours for more vital operations? This, in turn, would provide regular employment for a group who, for various reasons, were not employable in outside industry.

"In 1943 the dream became a reality — the war had proved the logic of Mr. Williamson's idea and a new department was opened to take care of the sub-contracts for assembly operations which began to pour in from many firms who welcomed the services offered by the Institute plant.

"Today, there are twenty-five blind men and women steadily and happily employed as a result of this new venture and their number is growing. They operate small presses and do hand assembly jobs of all kinds. To them the clutter of their machines is a symphony daily rising in crescendo and peculiarising the fact that the world no longer owes them a living."

A COUNTRY EDITOR SEES Ottawa

WRITTEN SPECIALLY FOR THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS OF CANADA by JIM GREENBLAT, Editor of the SUN of SWIFT CURRENT SASKATCHEWAN

The question is being asked: How many people are in Ottawa now? The 1941 directory gives it as 223,103, an increase of 14,313 in the past year. That is, of course, Greater Ottawa. A survey shows, and this is interesting in the light of the housing shortage, that there are 13,973 houses; 2,282 duplexes, 658 triplexes, 637 apartment houses and 723 stores with apartments over them. Still they're thousands short.

• • •

Something else I have been asked about and still am as well as I'm off my chest. There are 124,000 civil service employees in Canada; 34,000 in Ottawa. And they recently predicted went on mass production in the nation's capital when the 34,000 started stepping before the X-ray camera for tuberculosis survey. It will take three months to do the job. Two out of every thousand, it is expected, will show unsuspected touches of T.B.

• • •

In a release, Munitions Minister Howe makes it clear that there was no arbitrary date set before which no furnaces could be lighted. He points out that, there should be no misunderstanding, only regional weather conditions can determine the length of the heating season. Besides the conservation of fuel, which everyone knows is tied up with our war effort, authorities are cognizant of the necessity of preserving the peoples' health, too.

• • •

That some folks don't give a hoot about the equal distribution of foods was shown in a story in the Ottawa Journal, related by a shopkeeper who was blazing mad because a woman came in with a big dog, evidently her pet. She ordered two ice cream cones, one for the dog, the other for her. Refused, she vented her wrath on everything from the government up and down.

This, I think, needs further publicity: Western Canada farmers wanting to ship feed grain to Eastern Canada for use on their own farms or for sale to relatives on farms can get cars through the Canadian Wheat Board. Freight assistance and other related subsidy plans may be claimed against such shipments by the purchasing farmer who buys feed grain direct from the western grower. Purchaser gets in touch with Feed Administrator, 640 Confederation Building, Ottawa (for subsidies); for cars, write Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg.

Do you know that Canada is now producing 85 per cent of the combined nickel output of the United Nations, 20 per cent of the zinc, 12½ per cent of the copper, 15 per cent of the lead, 75 per cent of the asbestos and 20 per cent of the mercury. Our aluminum production is now six times that of 1939 and equals the entire world production of that year.

• • •

Where does all Canada's war production go to is something folks might be interested in. Well, about 30 per cent is delivered directly to the Canadian armed forces at home and abroad; 70 per cent goes to Britain, the United States, India, Africa, Russia, China, Australia, New Zealand and to the South Pacific — in short to all the fighting fronts of the United Nations. Canadian workers and producers need not be ashamed of their contribution and will not be when the history of this war is written.

ONT. FIRE LOSSES OVER $10,000,000 IN YEAR 1942

The total fire loss in Ontario for 1942 was $10,670,029, an increase over the 1941 total of $8,727,294. Of the losses in 1942, approximately 84 per cent, representing property valued at $8,922,612, was insured, and 16 per cent, representing property valued at $1,747,417, uninsured. Ontario's loss was approximately 34 per cent. of the total for Canada, which amounted to 31,182,238, and was caused by 47,596 fires.

These facts are revealed in statistics issued by the Canadian Underwriters' Association, in connection with Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed from October 3 to 9.

In the last five years, Ontario fire losses have amounted to $44,850,206 an average of $8,965,292 per year, or per capita loss average of $2.38.

Smokers' carelessness accounts approximately 30 per cent. of the fires in Canada in 1942, and destroyed property valued at $1,752,676. Chimneys, stoves, furnaces, boilers and smoke pipes started 9,286 fires, with a loss of $6,136,629, while electrical wiring, hot ashes, coals, open fires, matches, and other sources were responsible for the losses.

The largest fires in Ontario in 1942 occurred in Toronto, Omemee, Midland, Hamilton, Barrien, and Picton. In Toronto, fire in a wholesale hardware caused damages amounting to $352,161; in Omemee a loss of $219,216 was suffered by a tannery; and a shipyard fire at Midland resulted in damage amounting to $186,000. At Hamilton, clothing manufacturers bore a loss of $176,790 through fire, and at Barriton and Picton, damages amounted to a total of $250,671.

Of the 46,996 fires in Canada in 1942, 35,446 occurred in residential properties, with a loss of $7,108,014; 3,669 fires occurred in mercantile properties with a loss of $8,666,071; fires in farm properties numbered 2,264 with a loss of $2,191,303; 1,501 fires occurred in manufacturing properties, with a loss of $6,977,610; and fires damaged or destroyed 543 institutional and Assembly Buildings, with a loss of $1,392,182. The remaining fires occurred in miscellaneous properties, with losses valued at $4,854,068.

All through the year regional underwriters' associations are actively engaged in fire prevention work, during Fire Prevention Week, a special effort is made to reduce fires and deaths from fire, by eliminating and correcting hazards, because, not only do fires destroy property, which is doubly hard to replace in war time, but they affect the rates charged for insurance.

No Change In The Restrction of Alcoholic Beverages

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The restrictions on the sale of alcoholic beverages which went into effect in Canada last autumn apparently will be continued unchanged into their second year beginning November 1, for there has been no indication the Government plans any alteration of policy, inspired sources said recently.

The original wartime alcoholic beverage order, announced last December 16, by Prime Minister Mackenzie King but retroactive to November 1, restricted the total sale of beer and wine by the year ended October 31, 1943, to 70 per cent. of sales in the previous twelve months. Wine sales were cut to 80 per cent. and spirits to 90 per cent.

The order was to be in effect until November 1st, 1943 — but last month it was amended by inserting "and any year thereafter during continuation of the present war."

Investigations made by Excise Revenue officials indicate generally that the restrictive orders have been "completely effective" so far, a departmental spokesman told the Canadian Press.

Bar and check-ups of withdrawals from bond and purchases by liquor boards indicate that the reduction in the sale of alcoholic beverages contemplated by the order has been effected, and there has been no diversion of increases in production of illicit liquors.

Stopping a passer-by outside police station, a constable said: "Can you spare a minute to come inside, sir?"

"What for?" was the suspicious answer.

"To take part in an identity parade," the constable explained. "You won't be kept five minutes."

"Humph!" snorted the passer-by. "They told me that yarn last time and I was kept three months."

GERMANS REPORT CANADIANS ON BIFERNO FRONT

London, (C.P. Cable) — With official disclosure of the whereabouts of the Canadian First Division in the Italian fighting still not forthcoming, two reports reached London purporting to place its location.

The German agency D.N.B., in a radio report recorded by the Associated Press claimed the Canadian First Division with the British 78th and Sixth Tank Divisions had been shifted from the Foggia area in Eastern Italy in the last few days "and sent straight to the front" which now stretches along the Biferno River.

D.N.B. added that the three divisions came from the central regions and the Salerno area, where the Allied Fifth Army fought early in the campaign.

A dispatch from Allied Headquarters of the Daily Express said the Canadians were among Eighth Army forces "battering at a certain town from which they would be able to 'leap ahead' once the town falls. The dispatch added that the town's name has been kept secret.

MRS. W. R. EPPES BURIED SUNDAY
Riverview Cemetery

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. R. Eppes was conducted at St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican Church on Sunday afternoon, by the rector, the Venerable Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille. Mrs. Eppes' death occurred at her home, Dundas Street, Thursday morning, following a long illness.

Mrs. Eppes was born in Belleville and before her marriage to Mr. Eppes in 1903, was Bessie Alford, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Alford. For some time after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Eppes resided at Belleville and then for some years at Desoronto, before they came to Napanee in 1925, when Mr. Eppes became organist of St. Mary Magdalene's Church. Before coming to Napanee Mrs. Eppes had taken an active part in the work of the Anglican Church, but during her residence in Napanee she had been in poor health and had been confined to her home most of the time. She was taken seriously ill about a week before her death occurred.

She is survived by her husband and one sister, Miss Pannie Alford, Reg. N., Belleville — and three brothers, Robert, in Cleveland, Newton in Toronto and Dr. Harry Alford, Belleville.

Following the funeral service on Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Eppes' body was interred at Riverview cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. E. J. Walters, J. M. Simpson, A. S. Bugle, son, B. M. Black, John Slater and Ben Hicks.

HERBERT RIKELY DIED MONDAY
Following Accident

George Herbert Rikely a prominent resident of Hayburn, in South Fredericksburgh Township, died on Monday afternoon, October 11 as the result of a fracture of the skull sustained when he fell out of a tree while picking apples, on the morning of the same day.

Mr. Rikely, who was in his 72nd year had lived practically all his lifetime in the Hayburn district, where he was a successful farmer.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Agnes A. Gilbert, and one daughter, Mildred. Mrs. Jack Roblin, of Adolphustown.

His funeral was conducted Wednesday afternoon at his late residence, by Rev. R. J. Crawford, for interment was made at Sillsville Cemetery.

Interesting Record

In going through some old family papers, Mr. John Wood Thompson found an interesting little record made by his grandmother, Esther Denison, in the years 1808 and 1809 over 135 years ago.

Mrs. Denison, in her own handwriting and in a book made by herself, has recorded the texts from which her minister, Rev. Datus Enslen, had preached his sermons during the years 1808 and 1809.

In Loving Memory

GALT — In loving memory of my husband Mr. Arthur Galt, who passed away October 9th 1934.

I seem to see in the soft dim light
His smile of love I loved the best,
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off West.
I miss you no less as time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going
For absence can never close the door of my heart.
And the hand of love is still glowing
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world.
Your love the best to recall—
For no one on earth could take your place.
You are still the dearest of all.
Sadly missed by his 41a WIFE and DAUGHTER.

DAFOE — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Elizabeth Dafoe, Marlbank, Ont., who passed away October 5th, 1940.

A door swings briefly open
And a loved one slips away—
Slips from life's dark shadows
Into bright, eternal day.
No earthly strife she hears.
No cruel work's alarm—
The world is sad and full of grief.
But you dear mother, are at rest
And free from all trouble and care.
Honor and love we hold for you,
And will, our whole life through.
Sadly missed by her
41ap DAUGHTERS and FAMILY

BIRD — In sad but loving memory of our dear mother Mrs. Chas. Bird, who departed this life on October 17th 1942.

'Tis memory now alone can trace
The kindly smile upon her face;
The words of love so gently spoken.
Or fill the circle that is broken.
Lovingly remembered by
41a HER FAMILY.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, rationing regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. My daughter is allergic to ordinary milk and requires evaporated milk in her diet. Is any provision made for her under the new evaporated milk regulations?

A. Yes. You should make out a consumer's application for evaporated milk at your Local Ration Board. If your daughter is over two years old this application must be certified by a physician duly licensed to practise in Canada who is familiar with her dietary requirements.

Q. My sis'er whose home was previously in Syracuse, N.Y., has now decided to remain permanently in Canada. She has had a temporary ration card for the past six months. How does she go about securing a permanent ration book?

A. She should make application to the nearest branch of the Ration Administration, giving full name and place of residence.

Q. I see that evaporated milk is now partially rationed in this country. Can you tell me if it is also rationed in the United Kingdom?

A. Yes, Evaporated milk is strictly rationed there under the points system, the allowance being four points per tin.

Q. We are now making plans for our annual deer-hunting expedition. Is there any way in which ammunition may be secured for such use?

A. Sorry, no. The small arms ammunition position is so acute that no supplies can be made available for sports shooting of any description. You may, however, make use of any ammunition which you have on hand from earlier seasons.

Q. Has price control really accomplished anything towards controlling commodity prices in Canada?

A. It has imposed a decided check upon the upward course of prices which prevailed at the time of its introduction. According to a late compilation, the cost of living has advanced only 2.6 per cent. since December, 1941, when price control went into effect whereas that of the United States advanced 13 percent. within the same period.

Q. I sometimes have problems in regard to prices, rationing, etc., which trouble me but do not know to whom to write in order to obtain information.

A. If you will communicate with any office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board it will be glad to furnish you with the desired information.

PRISONERS' YULE CARDS BANNED

O'tawa, (B.U.P.) — Postal facilities will not be provided this year for the sending of Christmas cards to Canadian and other British military prisoners and civilian internees in Europe, it was announced last week from the Prime Ministe's office.

Last year's large number of Christmas cards caused a heavy congestion of the enemy censorship facilities, with the result that ordinary letters for the prisoners were badly delayed.

"As the prisoners themselves have expressed the opinion that they would rather receive their ordinary letters promptly than have them held up through the sending of Christmas cards, postal facilities will not be provided this year for the sending of these cards either in Canada or in the United Kingdom," the announcement said.

Ordinary letters will be forwarded as usual, and each Canadian military prisoner in Europe and the Far East will receive a special card which is being sent by the Government on behalf of the people of Canada.

The restriction on Christmas cards does not apply to Canadians interned in neutral countries, it was pointed out.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

GOOD OLD STANDBY IS HOT MEAT PIE

Hello Homemakers! Just as soon as the winds pipe a little higher, menfolk (especially) praise a hot meat pie. And we homemakers should smile because it's a splendid way to use up those ends from the small roast.

If you are buying meat for pie, choose a piece of round steak or lean brisket and cut it into cubes (about 2-inch size). Brown the meat in a little fat, using a frying pan; then empty into a narrow, deep pot with a tight fitting lid so it can stew away without scorching. Add a tin of consommé, or four cups tomato juice, o ra cube of concentrated beef dissolved in water, or vegetable juice to cover, and let it simmer while you prepare cubed carrots, sliced onions and some diced celery which are put in along with seasonings. Let it simmer (not too fast) until done and serve with a lot of parsley sprinkled on top. For a special pie, put into a casserole, rtir in half-cup of sliced mushrooms and top with a good pie crust. Bake until richly browned.

A good old - fashioned beefsteak and kidney pie is a favorite, and it's the most savoury of meat dishes with its rich gravy and tooping of light fluffy biscuit or flaky pie pastry.

Beefsteak and Kidney Pie

One and one-half pounds chuck steak, cut in strips; three lambs' kidneys, one and one-half teaspoons fat, six cups boiling water, one large onion, peeled and sliced; one potato, peeled and sliced—one teaspoon salt, pepper.

Cut chuck steak in½ strips; core, split and quarter lambs' kidneys. Sear meat in fat. Add boiling water and simmer one and one-quarter hours or until tender. Place meat in individual casseroles. Add onion and potato, sliced. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Thicken gravy from the meat and pour a little into each casserole. Bake in electric oven of 450 deg. F. for thirty minutes or until potatoes and onions are tender. Roll pastry one-eighth inch thick. Cut six circles the size of the tops of casseroles, slash, and place on top of the meat. Bake fifteen minutes longer. Yield: six servings.

Chicken Pie

Cut up a boiling fowl and stew slowly until tender in a deep pot, using enough water to cover. Allow three hours for four pounds. Add carrots, onions and potato cubes. Season with salt pepper and sage. Drain off the liquid and thicken; pour over meat and cover with biscuit dough. Bake in electric oven at 425 deg. F. for fifteen minutes.

Shepherd's Pie

Four cups cooked beef, cut in one-inch cubes; two cups cooked sliced carrots, one cup cooked small onions, two and one-half cups gravy, three cup seasoned mashed potatoes, one egg, beaten.

Arrange the meat, carrots and the onions in one and one-half quart casserole or in six individual casseroles. Pour over the gravy (or tomato juice and meat extract cubes), then top with the mashed potatoes to which the beaten egg has been added. Bake in a hot oven of 400 deg. F. for thirty minutes. Yield: six servings.

Flank Steak en Casserole

One teaspoon dry mustard, one-third cup vinegar, salt and pepper, two onions sliced; two pounds flank steak, hot water.

Make a paste of the dry mustard, vinegar and salt and pepper. Slice onions very thinly. Cover steak with the paste and place in a baking dish. Cover with onion slices. Add sufficient water to cover. Cover and bake in an electric oven for one and one-half hours at 350 deg. F.

TAKE A TIP:

1 Protect wool blankets by stitching a wide band of heavy cotton at top and bottom.

2 Use two spoons instead of a fork when you turn a roast. The fork permits valuable juices to escape.

3 If water has been spilled on some of the pages of a book, slip a piece of a blotter on each side of wet pages immediately. Press with a warm iron.

4 To remove fish odour from frying pan add dry mustard to cold water; loop on garments that get hard wear. Use scraps from old gloves or handbags.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her, care of The Napanee Beaver, sending in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

Thanks for that bulky letter. When I think of you passing in the midst of preserving and pickling to send along such a nice newsy budget, I am touched to the quick. So you have added canning to your list of accomplishments? Dave must be bursting with pride. What a paragon you turned out to be! And we all thought you were strictly ornamental. Incidentally, I am going to be very glad this winter to know someone will have such well stocked pantry shelves. Grape jelly is my weakness—in case you are interested.

Barty is wearing a grin wide as a Cheshire cat these days. On her furlough she attended a botanists' convention and had her picture taken for the newspapers as she was earnestly discoursing with some famous botanical bloke. This is going to set Cuthbert back a lap or two. I feel sorry for him he was doing so nicely when he first came east. Barty was showing a decided interest in household furnishings, rationing and the high cost of living. Now all we hear from her is a technical jargon, reminiscent of a botanical journal. Confidentially, I do not think she gives a hoot for flowers but there is no denying that she is balmy about specimens.

I think I will give Cuthbert a tip to develop a graveyard couch. It might possibly save the situation. Barty still has an impressive array of medicine bottles in her harvard box and ministering to the sick was her first love. Anyway, it is worth a try.

What a social animal I have turned out to be! I have just returned from Sick Parade so here I am planning a fake ailment for Cuthbert. Misery must love company.

A cut in my hand has become infected and I have been nagging me. I have been attending Sick Parade every day for the past week to have the dressing changed. This morning there were only a handful of girls on Sick Parade but in the winter when the colds and sniffles start there is usually a waiting list so long as the nightly line-up at a day at Sick Parade.

I must tell about one of our little "Quacks" who has such a way with her that sooner or later everyone she meets fal's under her spell. She is a red - headed eighteen - year - old with an engaging grin and vitality to burn., although she could never offer Hedy Lamarr serious competition. However, she is leading the lads in air-force blue around by the nose. Whenever any man she meets takes her fancy she says to him at the first opportunity. "I like you," battins her eyelashes like mad, and she addsunofficially in her confession. Apparently it is infallible—bless their unsuspecting hearts.

The war news is so cheering these days that I suggest you start looking for that house in the suburbs." I have found myself giving quite a lot of thought lately to the post war world and my place in it. I hope that it will not be required to serve the year after the war which is stipulated at enlistment. I want to be home as soon as the war is over. Of course, if I were overseas I would not be in such a hurry to doff my uniform. Can you imagine anything more perfect than seeing "the lights go out again" in London? Yes? I can dream, can't I, and who knows? It will happen to other C.W.A.C.'s.

I must get back to that sock I am knitting with such painstaking care. With only some twenty odd more shopping days to Christ'mas, I will have to concentrate grimly to have this present ready for the festive season. I think you will recall that my knitting prowess has always been sketchy, but I press on undaunted. It gives me a nice glow to be knitt'in' for Britain.

Now that I was not tactless in mentioning Christmas to you when you are still in the midst of this autumn preserving orgy, but I always say, one must plan for to-morrow.

Cheerio,

NICKEY.

WONDER - WORKING PENICILLIN HAILED EVERYWHERE

A Canadian airman, suffering from complete paralysis, can thank penicillin for his life. A 10-year-old girl is cured of blood poisoning after she had failed to respond to treating with sulpha drugs.

These are some of the reasons why penicillin, a pronounced penicill-in-) the new wonder - working germ-killer, has been hailed by doctors even more enthusiastically than the sulpha drugs.

That is why the Canadian Government is financing new plants and equipment to produce an initial 26 billion units of the new drug for the use of our armed forces.

It was in 1929 that Dr. Alexander Fleming, of the University of London, was experimenting with a mouldy culture. He noticed that the liquid surrounding a f'eck of green mold on a plate was free from bacteria. The mold was penicillin notatum, a relative of the green mold in Roquefort cheese.

Then in 1939, Prof. Howard Florey and his collaborators at Oxford succeeded in isolating enough to test it clinically and to establish its remarkable properties. They found that it was greatly effective in the treatment of pneumonia, gonorrhoea and other diseases. They discovered, too, that it would cure patients of infections that would not respond to sulpha drugs.

Unfortunately, it is difficult to obtain enough penicillin for general medical use. It may take as much as three million units to treat serious cases. To grow molds and handle them is a lengthy business and one that requires a good deal of space. The greatest hope for quantity production lies in synthesis, and chemists have been trying to produce it artificially as they have done with many of the vitamins.

The war has speeded production of penicillin. Treatment of infected wounds and burns by the sulpha drugs has proved so effective that military surgeons boast of the low mortality from these causes. But even the sulphonamides do not always work, and doctors wanted a drug that would be at least as potent as the sulpha family without its danger of violent reaction. Penicillin is the answer.

Twelve plants are now in operation in the United States, and soon $3,000,000 will be spent there to expand production of the wonder drug.

In Canada, research in the production of penicillin has been proceeding at the Banting Institute for more than a year and for several months a pilot plant has been in operation on an experimental basis.

Under the new Government scheme, it is expected that Canada will be producing a weekly average of $500,-000,000 units by next April.

MORE "PEP" TALKS FOR NAZIS IN NORWAY

The Nazis are once again finding it necessary to give "pep" talks to the Norwegian people. In Norway because their morale is showing signs of deterioration. The same thing happened during the end of last year when some forty Nazi political leaders toured the country, making speeches meant to bolster up the courage and spirits of the soldiers.

Now, after anxious months of wondering about their people at home who, they know, are being bombed continually by the Allied Air Forces coupled with the reverses in North Africa and Sicily, and then the collapse of Mussolini and Italy, the troops in Norway need "pepping" up again.

Thus Gauleiter and Reichstahalter Sprenger has been sent to Norway, where he has visited several places, including Kristiansand and Stavenger. The theme of his talks has been the "unshakeable firmness of the home front and the resolution to endure the enemy air terror."

Transport difficulties between Germany and Norway in recent months have been such that the troops have been receiving their mail irregularly and morale has constantly suffered because of lack of news from their people at home.

From various sources in Norway have come reports of dissension among the soldiers, which is resulting in a rigid tightening up of discipline. A conscripted Norwegian worker in a report he sent out of the country says, "We sometimes mentioned that the Germans were not very united, but iron discipline was maintained and the orders of superiors were always obeyed."

A German deserter who recently arrived in Sweden also states that disciplinary offences are now very severely punished and the smallest

ONTARIO
An Important Message to
GROWERS of OATS and BARLEY
Which Demands Your Immediate Attention

More food than ever before in our history is needed for our armed forces, our allies and those at home.

Therefore, due to partial crop failure this year, it is imperative that Ontario Farmers plan NOW for their 1944 SEED REQUIREMENTS.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture requests your immediate co-operation and offers the following suggestions:

1. Secure wherever possible good seed of suitable varieties for your 1944 requirements.
2. Any grain—oats or barley—either of the 1942 or 1943 crops suitable for seed over and above your own requirements should in the National interests be cleaned and offered for sale as seed.
3. If you have surplus seed, give your neighbors the first chance. If not sold by November 15th, advise your Agricultural Representative. Do not feed grain of seed quality. If necessary, replace it with Western Feed Grain.
4. The Directors and members of County Crop Improvement Associations are urged to become actively interested in the movement and supply of seed grain.
5. If you are unable to obtain suitable seed—advise your Agricultural Representative of your seed requirements NOT LATER THAN NOVEMBER 15th.

Your Agricultural Representative for Lennox and Addington is

STELLA

Stella, Oct. 12. — Silo filling is about completed on the Island and the good crop of corn will help out the feed shortage.

Nelson Bros. are unloading their second car of oats at Ernestown and it keeps the ferry quite busy ferrying it over the bay.

Amherst Island's oldest resident passed away recently in the person of Joseph Edward McPhern, in his 99th year. He was the son of the late Robert J. McPhern and Ellen Allen. He was born near Oswego, N.Y. When a young man he came to the Island, where he has since resided. He was a skilful carpenter and a large number of fine buildings on the Island are examples of his splendid workmanship. He possessed a very strong physique. A few years ago, at the age of 80, he lost his home by fire, and, with little or no help, he erected a new home and had it ready for occupancy the next winter. Until a short time ago Mr. McPhern was able to be around and do light work. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Rose McCormac, last December. Surviving are four daughters, Mrs T. A. Glenn, of the Island; Mrs. M. Tugwell, of Cornwall; Mrs. J. Munroe, of Kingston, and Mrs. Joseph Smith, of Montreal, and one son, Robert, at home. He was predeceased by three sons, William, Hugh and Thomas. Hugh was a veteran of the first Great War, while Thomas was killed in action in France. The funeral was held from his late residence, interment being made in Emerald cemetery. The pallbearers were Edward McCoy, James

THE WAR ISN'T WON YET.....

SURE, WE'RE DOING WELL . . . but it isn't over, and we can't afford to relax our efforts as long as there is a single one of our men within range of enemy fire, nor as long as the enemy has any fighting ability left.

We can hasten victory. We can speed the end of the war. We can get our men back home, victorious and sooner, if we do our part without slackening, without complacency.

And we can quicken the coming of peace and happiness in which our wartime thrift will be rewarded. The Victory Bonds we have bought during the war, will be our key to opportunity, and to the enjoyment of new things when the war is won.

"The Fifth Victory Loan" will start October 13th. Lend your savings to your country – and plan to lend more out of income.

Every dollar you put into these bonds is still your dollar . . . earning good interest . . . growing into a nest-egg that ensures your future. You are not giving . . . you are LENDING, and what you lend is helping to shorten the war, to hasten the happy days.

Sentence Deferred on Two Soldiers Charged With Obstructing

Sentence was deferred until Thursday of this week, by Magistrate A. B. Collins, Belleville on Corporal John W. Brearley and Pte. Kennedy, police officer while discharging his duty.

The alleged offence occurred at the Superior Restaurant on Saturday afternoon last, when Chief Constable Moore was attacked by Ross Shetler, Napanee, after an argument. Shetler, in company with the two soldiers were said to have been in an intoxicated condition when they entered the Superior Restaurant for a lunch about 2:00 p.m. The proprietor of the Restaurant, Peter Ganas, warned them to be quiet, but after giving their order they became noisy and were creating a disturbance. As a result, Chief Moore was called and after warning the men, he finally took hold of Shetler to remove him from the restaurant, whereupon the two soldiers were said to have told Shetler not to go with the Chief. The soldiers had also previously been using bad language in talking to Miss Dorothy Sifter a waitress, and threatened to break up the place.

Chief Moore took Shetler outside the building and instructed him to go home, to avoid further trouble, as Shetler is now on suspended sentence, charged with obstructing police officer while discharging his duty.

Shetler then turned on Chief Moore and knocked him down on the sidewalk. Flight Lieut. Tucker, who was in mufti, came to the Chief's rescue and pulled Shetler off him, whereupon Corpl. Brearley and Pte. Kennedy pushed Flight Lieut. Tucker into a corner and prevented him from giving further assistance. Mr. Ganas in his evidence, also said that the soldiers prevented him from leaving his restaurant to assist Chief Moore.

ONTARIO SOFTBALL ASSO. "GIVES" TITLE TO JARVIS

JARVIS TEAM REFUSES TO PLAY HERE DUE TO POSTING OF PITCHER

The local softball fans will be sorry to learn that the series between Jarvis and Deseronto has been called off and the title awarded to Jarvis.

In Monday's "Globe & Mail" a three-column picture of the Jarvis team was displayed under a title of "Champions" O.A.S.A. Intermediate "B", by default of Deseronto I.T.S. They did not tell the complete story of the affair.

According to officials from the Deseronto Club, all entertainments, sports etc., were banned until further notice during the series. Jarvis could not come here and Deseronto could not go out of this area. This was in brief the orders from the Air Command, on account of "Polio" in the province. The order naturally called a halt to all games scheduled.

"Upon the notice of the "ban" being lifted, the local club wired the O.A.S.A. representatives, and stated they would be ready to play Wednesday of this week. The convener at Simcoe wired back that they would not lose one of their pitchers, due to touring and refused to field a team.

Then came a "nice" letter from the O. A. S. A. signed by its secretary, was incorporated in the missile the following paragraph: "This action is necessary through the inability of Jarvis to field a team."

The letter also went on to remark about the lateness of the season and softorth.

We wonder if they know the Senior play-offs are nicely started in Toronto and the Senior B has just completed their round at Sudbury, last week. We also wonder if they have the expenses incurred in sending a team to Jarvis, where they packed the stadium and gleaned a nice pile of dough for the Jarvis Club. Next year they will probably wonder why no "cheque" is forthcoming for the local clubs to enter this so-called "sporting" association.

TRENTON MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR HEROES OF H. & P. E. REGT.

Kingston. Those heroic men of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, who with their brave officer commanding, Lt.-Col. H. A. Sutcliffe, D.S.O., gave their lives in Sicily for the cause of freedom, were remembered at King Street United Church, Trenton, on Sunday, October 17 at the memorial service dedicated to their memory.

Members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment have written by their deeds in Sicily, glorious chapters in the pages of history. They were among the first to land on Sicilian peninsula, they scaled the heights of Etsoro, they captured the town of Centuripo and beat back crack Nazi units.

Sicilian names which will be forever remembered in the Counties of Hastings and Prince Edward, are Grammichele and Aquagrande, Carlentini, Regalbute, Lava Hills and Adrano.

No parade is being held, and the service will be a community one. Representatives of both the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties will be present. It is expected that members of the H. and P. E. (A.F.) at present stationed in Kingston and other nearby points will attend, as well as personnel of the 2nd (R) Battalion, H. and P. E.

TOURISTS ARRESTED THEFT OF BLANKETS

In the Magistrate's Court last Thursday, two Montreal women, Mrs. Marie Stefani and Mrs. Jeanette Stefani, pled guilty to theft of two blankets and a rug from Mr. Roy Rourke who operates a tourist camp just west of Napanee on Highway No. 2. The women were allowed to go on suspended sentence of six months after paying $26.53 each, in costs of the court.

The women, with their husbands and two small children, stayed in a cabin belonging to Mr. Rourke, on the night of October 12, and shortly after they had left the next morning Mr. Rourke missed the blankets and rugs. He notified the Provincial Police and the car in which the party was travelling was stopped at Brockville. The women claimed that the men knew nothing of the theft and said they had placed the articles on the seat on which they were sitting.

A Message From Our Leaders:

EVERY minute this war lasts is Tragedy for someone . . . and in choosing a slogan for Canada's Fifth Victory Loan, our Leaders have wisely used the humane angle in bringing home the necessity of a continued "home front" offensive.

IF your son, your husband, your daughter or your sweetheart should, in the last minute before victory be the last person killed in this war, how much would you have done to have shortened the war just one fleeting minute? What would you have been willing to do! What would your conscience say to you! Would it say: "I have done everything humanly possible." If not, now is the time to re-double every effort you have made. Every minute this war can be shortened saves lives — human lives — your son, and my sons. Shortening it ten minutes would save one hundred lives in a battle of world proportions such as is this war. A month would save an untold number.

LET IT NOT be said that when the road to victory was opened by our heroic fighting men and women that we, on the home front, did not produce the implements of war to have them follow through; that our courage, our high resolve, was not as great as theirs.

AS Honorary Chairman and Chairman of the County of Lennox and Addington, National War Finance Committee, we urge every citizen to pledge his support and money in buying Fifth Victory Loan Bonds to their utmost that we, in our Country, can never be criticized, even by our own conscience, for failing to

IMPRESSIVE SHOWING OF MILITARY UNITS IN VICTORY LOAN PARADE

Armouries Crowded for Dedication Ceremony

Sunday afternoon, October 17 the citizens of the County of Lennox and Addington and the Town of Napanee had the pleasure and privilege of witnessing the most impressive display of military personnel and equipment that it is expected the County will ever be presented. Organized with clockwork precision by Major Ketcheson, the Parade Marshall, the program unfolded as follows:

The General Assembly was called by the Buglers of the P.W.O.R. at 2:15 p.m. and the units participating formed up in their allotted spaces at the Gibbard Memorial Park. At a pre-arranged signal given by the Provincial Police siren, the parade moved off at 2:40 led by Great War Veteran Kling's Sergeant A. Babcock, carrying the King's colors, followed by units in the following order:

47th Battery, under command of Major Jamieson, complete with four guns, limbers and tractors. The Company Officers, being Capt. Laidley, Adj., Lieut. Whiteley, and Lieut. McCullough.

Royal Canadian Corps of Signals Brass Band, of thirty pieces, under command of Warrant Officer (1) Cruikshank.

Squadron of "R.C.A.F." Royal Canadian Flying Corps, under command of Flight Lieut. L. E. Vail.

Squadron of "R.A.F." Royal Air Force, under the command of Flight Lieut. Hayes, assisted by Flight Lieut. Greenwood.

Platoon of Great War Veterans, led by Mr. Francis Correll, M.M.

"Miss Canada" Girls carrying Fifth Victory Loan Pledge Flags, under command of Miss Lennox and Addington (Barbara Kimmerly).

Boy Scouts and Cubs, under command of Troop Leaders Glenn Holmes and David McLellan, and Cub Senior Sixer; Bob Ray.

The parade marched along the designated route passing the Reviewing stand opposite the Harvey Warner Park, where Group Captain Le-Poer Trench, took the salute. On the reviewing stand were Lieut. Stewart, R.C.N.V.R., Capt. P. U. Laidley, Squadron Leader Vernon, aide to Group Capt. LePoer Trench; Major D. R. Hall, M.D., County Chairman of the National War Finance Committee; W. A. Grange, Hon. Chairman. The parade moved along route to the Armouries for dedication service, where Mayor Hall, as chairman, officiated.

The Armouries was filled to capacity and suitably decorated. Facing the audience were the massed choirs organized by Mrs. J. E. Madden and composed of members of the following churches: Trinity United, Grace United, and St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican. The ceremony opened with a great roll of drums preceding "God Save the King."

Dr. Hall, chairman, called upon all present to dedicate themselves to the cause of Victory and the choir and audience sang "Onward Christian Soldiers." Following this Mr. E. J. Courneya, warden, in a colorful ceremony, presented the Fifth Victory Loan Pledge Flags to the reeves of the various townships. "Miss Canada" Girls, representing each township, added color to the ceremony by carrying the flags to the warden and then placing them on each side to the fore of the speaker's platform, thereby completing the picture.

Rev. G. M. Childey read the dedication prayer, which was followed by one of the features of the ceremony, the unfurling of the County Pledge Flag by Mr. W. A. Grange, Honorary Chairman. As the flag unfurled the band, choir and audience united in rendering "O Canada."

Flight Lieut. Ross Cameron, the speaker of the afternoon, was introduced by the Chairman, and gave a most impressive and inspiring address. Mr. W. A. Grange thanked the speaker.

The ceremony was brought to a close by the choir and audience singing two verses of "Land of Hope and Glory."

Modestly, sincerely, and above all truthfully, telling history of two torpedoings and his harrowing experiences in the icy waters of the sea; his going back again, and his ship again being sunk by the raider "Von Steuer" in which action he lost his leg by a shell.

In an introduction to his book 'My Name is Frank," William McFee says "Frank is so emphatic in the embodiment of the British forecastle mind that I don't wonder people listening to him over the radio sometimes suspected that he was a fake suspected that he was a fake suspected working from a professional script. Frank, however, is genuine. He is a Wallasey man. Wallasey is a Cheshire suburb of Liverpool. It is on the Cheshire side of the Mersey, like Birkenhead. Frank is one of a large family. He came from a family with a background, and he had something without which most forecastle men go to pot. He had imagination.

In his speeches to the war workers, Frank was told his story of the sea in simple thrilling English with a minimum of the coloring dear to the orator's heart. In factories big and small, at service clubs, meetings of Canadian manufacturers— Frank is still carrying his message of defiance his message of contempt for all that Germany stands for, to thousands of people, and he is starting off the National War Loan by making an appearance in New York at the special request of the Bureau of Advertising. He will then make a tour throughout Western Ontario, speaking at gatherings telling of his experiences.

BIG NEW VICTORY FOR RUSSIANS DEEMED POSSIBLE

Allied Armies Make Gains in Italian Campaign

WEDNESDAY —

Rain and the flooded condition of the River Volturno brought the battle of Italy almost to a standstill on Tuesday. On the Adriatic coast slight gains were made by the Eighth Army below Termoli.

• • •

Russian troops drew nearer to Vitebsk in the north and lunged behind German lines on the Sea of Azov in the south.

• • •

The Allies gained possession of the Azores Islands which will be a valuable link in the Atlantic battle against submarines.

• • •

THURSDAY —

The Italian Government led by Marshal Badoglio, declared war on Germany on Wednesday, with the approval of Britain, the United States and Russia.

• • •

Both the Allied Fifth Army and the British Eighth Army advanced in Italy against strong Nazi resistance.

• • •

Russian troops were reported to be storming the near approaches to Kiev, which was said to be nearly evacuated by the Germans. Kiev, 450 miles southeast of Kiev was being shelled by the Russians apparently in preparation for an invasion of the Crimea. The Germans were also reported to be evacuating Gomel, the White Russian fortress.

• • •

New Zealand troops appeared for the first time in the Solomons in mopping up the Japs on Vella Lavella Island.

• • •

FRIDAY —

The Allied Fifth Army threw several bridgeheads across the Volturno River, piercing German defences on the Road to Rome. The Eighth Army also advanced in the centre of the line and along the Adriatic.

• • •

The Russian Army appeared to be on the verge of new major victories which would yield them the cities of Kiev and Gomel, Zaporozhe and Melitopol.

• • •

United States and Australian airmen smashed Rabaul, key Japanese air base in New Britain, destroying 177 planes and wrecking 123 ships. The engagement resulted in the heaviest blow in the air to the Japs in this theatre of the war.

• • •

United States heavy bombers went deep into Germany on Thursday and smashed the important ball-bearing plant at Schweinfurt, but lost a record number of 60 bombers while knocking 104 German planes out of the sky.

• • •

SATURDAY —

The Nazi army fell back from the Volturno River and retreated farther toward Rome, as a result of heavy assaults by the Allied Eighth Army.

• • •

The Germans were reported to be fleeing from Zaporozhe entrance to the Crimea, after blowing up a large dam which they had repaired after it had been damaged when the Russians evacuated the district, two years ago.

• • •

• • •

In a new offensive that intensified the enemy's already serious Balkan problems, Greek guerillas on Friday, buried back 4,000 Germans in Central Greece and pushed on toward Karditsa, 160 miles north of Athens.

• • •

MONDAY —

The Russians made new crossings over the Dnieper, between Kiev and Gomel. In one section the Russian army advanced to a depth of fifteen miles on a 28-mile front, capturing five German strong points. Fierce fighting was in progress near Melitopol at the extreme south where the German losses were terrific.

• • •

German troops were said to have lost most of their positions along the Volturno River in Italy. Throughout central and northern Italy, Allied bombers kept up night and day attacks on enemy railways and freight yards.

• • •

The Chinese were reported to have started a new offensive in Yunnan Province.

BELLEVILLE MAN SENT TO GAOL FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Douglas Sadler, 87 Station Street, Belleville appeared before Magistrate A. B. Collins, Belleville in Napanee Police Court on Monday afternoon charged with driving a motor car while intoxicated and also with dangerous driving. Mr. Sadler pled guilty to both charges and on the first was sentenced to five weeks days in gaol and on the second five days, in gaol the sentences to run concurrently. His car was impounded for three months and he was also required to pay costs of the court totalling $17.50.

The charges were laid against Sadler following an accident on No. 2 Highway, four miles east of Napanee on Saturday Oct. 16 Sadler was travelling east when his car struck a parked car driven by Richard Pollard and owned by Jerry Cousins. Kingston. Sadler's car went into the ditch but he was able to proceed on his way which he did without stopping to see what damage had been done to the other car.

The police were notified of the accident and later apprehended Sadler after his car had been seen going into the ditch while travelling west.

Damage to the cars was estimated at between $50 and $75 each.

Boy Scout Apple Day A Great Success

The No. 1 Napanee Troop of the Boy Scouts Association raised approximately $125.00 on Saturday through the kind co-operation and support of Napanee residents.

This year the newly organized Cub Pack participated and were of great help in making the apples ready for distribution, as well as assisting in the tagging.

The amount raised this year is the largest yet raised by the Scouts on the Apple Days, which have been held here. The money is used to further Scout and Cub work locally and to pay registration fees to the National Scout Headquarters in Ottawa.

CLEARING THE AIR

On the eve of the meeting of Foreign Secretaries of the United Nations in Moscow, there is much speculation as to the nature of the conversations that will take place and the decisions that will be arrived at. This meeting may well be regarded as one of the most important. It comes at a time when there is much of encouragement to the United Nations. The Russians are continuing their phenomenal drive in the Dnieper sector, Air Forces of The United States and Great Britain are making the weight of their superiority felt in Germany and occupied Europe, the Axis forces are being gradually driven north through Italy while in the South Pacific, really staggering blows are being dealt to the Japanese forces. This is a congenial atmosphere in which to hold a meeting and to make plans for the future.

Some matters will have to be settled at once. The official Russian papers are calling for definite dates as to when another front is going to be opened up. The Russians believe that the present is an opportune time to bring to bear against the enemy the maximum military strength available to The United Nations. They are openly saying so. The conference will, no doubt, consider the relative effectiveness of bombing and a forced landing. There is a difference of opinion among experts among The United Nations on the subject. There are those who believe that by intensified bombing of Germany, she can be brought to her knees; others believe that in a quick, powerful landing, with all the danger that involves, lies the greatest hope of success. The conference should do much to resolve these various points of view.

By far the most intricate and delicate task before the conference, however, will be the political problem. There are those, particularly in The United States, and to only a slightly less degree in Canada, who are not anxious that Russia should have too much to say in the post-war world. When the war ends Europe will be a shambles. It may easily become the battleground for the contending political and economic champions of two totally different points of view—the Communist group and the Capitalist group. At the moment, these seem to be sparring for position. Each will wish to capitalize on its own contribution to the war effort, for its own advantage. In the meantime, there are those who would prevent Russia from having too much to say, even now, as to the future of Europe.

The conference will have some knotty problems before it, but none more difficult than this. What is to be the future of Europe? Is it to go Communist, is it to be rebuilt on the lines we have come to know as Capitalism? Or is it to be a combination of the two? On the solution to this hangs the future harmony of Western civilization. It is perhaps not too much to say that, to some extent at least, on the decisions made in this era, rests the possibility of future wars.

ONE GOOD THING

The famous five Senators from The United States, who went over to Europe on a fact-finding tour, have done one good thing. They are all agreed that The United States will have to assume some responsibility for keeping peace in the world, after the war. That is a distinct gain. It was the Senate who, after the Treaty of Versailles, refused to ratify the League of Nations Covenant, and so nullified, to a large extent the work of President Wilson, and paved the way for the breakdown of the peace treaty. If these five represent the voice of the Senate, it may be The United States will avoid one of the greatest pitfalls into which she was led following the First Great War.

On other counts the Senators have not been so successful. They have returned with a feeling that The United States has been, as they say, "outsmarted by the British." They have given such a one-sided opinion on lend-lease that public opinion in Great Britain has become quite incensed over it. Probably no other event during this war has done so much to arouse British protests against American spokesmen. "The Daily Mail", a leading London daily, has spoken very frankly on the Senators' account of lend-lease, stating that the Senators were ignorant of the facts. This paper points out that lend-lease does not operate only one way, but that Great Britain has lend-leased huge quantities of goods, for which the Senators gave no credit. "Between June, 1942, and April, 1943," The Mail says, "the United Kingdom provided to American Forces, 1,462,881 ship tons of articles and equipment, and 1,177,384 ship tons of constructive materials. . . . The contribution ranged from barbed wire to cooking stoves; from bombs to locomotives; from Nissen huts to parachutes, from Spitfires to lemon-crush; from artillery to socks." That and a great deal more was said by The Daily Mail, in answer to the American Senators.

It all reminds us of the situation which followed the First Great War, when a bitter controversy raged as to who won the war, the British or the Americans. It is unfortunate that this debate should have arisen in the midst of hostilities, especially when every ounce of energy was needed to defeat the enemy, and when unity of thought and action between the various members of the United Nations, is so much to be desired. But perhaps a bit of frank speaking may clear the air. At any rate, it was a great gain to have the Senators admit that The United States must not shirk her responsibilities for keeping the peace when it is achieved.

A COMMUNITY LOSS

During the past week Napanee and Community suffered the loss of two citizens who, over a long perior of years, had been intimately associated with the business life of the town. In the passing of Mr. W. A. Daly, the town lost one of its most diligent and progressive citizens. All his life was spent in this community, and all his working years in The Daly Tea Company, of which he was the guiding hand for a long time. Mr. Daly brought to bear on his business, a discerning business instinct, sound judgment, and tireless energy. In his early life, Mr. Daly was a well-known athlete, interested particularly in cricket and curling. He gave to these games the same energy and enthusiasm which he gave to his business. Till the last Mr. Daly kept his interest in sport, having an accurate knowledge of players and personalities, particularly in hockey, football and baseball. Mr. Daly was interested in all good works, and in all that made for the betterment of the community. He showed his interest, not only by his personal effort but, as well, by his generous contributions to every good cause, Napanee will not easily adjust itself to his going.

* * *

Mrs. MacLaughlin was one of the town's oldest citizens. She was fourteen years of age at the time of Confederation. Her memory went back to quite pioneer conditions in what is now Old Ontario. In every way she was a link with the past, a bridge between the Old and the New. She was a business woman long before it was the custom for women to be in business. But she demonstrated her ability to make a success of it. She had an indomitable will; this combined with a strong constitution and a vigorous mind, enabled her to take her place as a successful business woman and an accomplished telegraph operator. Though not in active business for the past few years, yet, her passing will be lamented by her business associates and by the whole community.

THE LEAST WE CAN DO

The least we can do in this titanic struggle is to see that the Government has sufficient money to carry on as efficiently and as thoroughly as possible. This is an all-out war. It is not being fought by two armies alone. It is being fought by two groups of nations. The armies are, of course, the spearhead of the attacking forces. But the armies must be supported to the full by the people back home. That means everybody. Every man and woman, every wage-earner is in the war. There are many ways of rendering service to the State. Some do it in one way, some in another. But whether we serve in the forces, on the farm, munition factory or essential industry, each can, according to his ability, do something more. That something is to buy War Bonds. Modern warfare is an expensive business — aeroplanes, submarines, tanks, guns, corvettes, trucks — cost money. The money is available; it is in the savings banks. We are all sharing in the wartime prosperity; work is plentiful, wages are adequate, farm produce is getting good prices. The Government needs the money — we have it. Of course, in buying a bond, we only lend the money to the Government and are paid for so doing. The security is the best obtainable. Let us make it easy for the committee by 'phoning and letting them know how much we are going to take. And let us be generous!

LETTER FROM ITALY

C 8154, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, 1st Division, A. Company, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Sexsmith, Shenener :—

Central Mediterranean Forces,
On Active Service.

Italy, Sept., 1943.

Dear Mother and Dad:

A few more lines to let you know I am fine, and still going strong. I wrote you an air mail a few days ago and hope you received it OK.

We are resting up for a couple of days before moving on and are sure enjoying the chance to clean up, rest and catch up on a lot of lost sleep.

We are in the mountains, very high up, so high in fact, that some of the lower clouds are below us and does it ever look nice. All around us are mountains and valleys, very high and very deep, with a few towns in the valleys, and it makes wonderful scenery. It's nice when you're up on the mountain, but, boy—is it ever hard climbing when you're on the move! Where there is a road fit, we travel by truck, but a lot of the time we have to just climb on our own pins. Outside of that, there has been very little resistance, now that Italy has collapsed, but farther north I expect there will be harder going, and not on account of the mountains, either!

Haven't received any letters since the few I got when we arrived in Sicily, but at long last received Dad's 1,000 smokes, and Frank Smith's 300, and was I ever surprised and glad. They are indeed a treat. I haven't seen Art in a few days, but he was fine when I last saw him.

The Italians are very friendly when we move through a town, and I know some of the older people are glad to see the last of "Jerry" and us to move in. They are, in general, pretty hard up for food and clothes, and, say! Jerry even took their chickens from them, so that they haven't any eggs. Things are going pretty good on all fronts, at present, and I hope within a few more months things are pretty well cleaned up. They are closing in on Jerry on all sides, and he must know he is finished.

Now, I must close once more, and hope this finds you both well.

Don't worry about me. I am fine.

With much love, I am,

WILLIE.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing fuel, wood and other necessary forest products; in base metal mines, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

Please answer this vital call NOW.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, OCTOBER 24TH, 1943

Lesson Text: Exodus 20; 12. Luke 2; 48-51. Mark 7: 6-13 John 19: 25-27

"HONORING OUR PARENTS"

The ancient Hebrew law insisted that children should honor their parents. The exact command was "Honor Thy father and Thy mother, that Thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God, giveth Thee." The persons who honor their parents are to be rewarded with a long life. This part of the command, the promise of the reward, is certainly not the highest motive for honoring parents. It is similar to the Old Testament philosophy of history which insisted that a good man or a good nation was bound to prosper materially. Now while that view of life has been superceded by the Christian interpretation that virtue is its own reward, yet the command to honor parents is not weakened by the reasons given for so doing. The Hebrew people were a great home-loving people. They had a very healthy, a very happy home life. Much of this was due to the way in which children were taught to have respect for their elders. There can be no strong, vigorous national life without a strong loyal home life; there can be no strong, loyal home life unless there is respect for parents and elders.

The matter goes farther back than that. There can be no respect for parents unless parents deserve that respect. An American commentator puts it this way: "Some mothers seem to fancy that the biological fact of motherhood entitles them to a special day . . . a special flower and salvos of indiscriminating praise — for exactly what? Is being a mother itself such a holy, beautiful, unselfish thing? A mother deserves precisely as much praise as she deserves. If she is a good housekeeper, praise her for that. If she is genuinely religious, praise her for that. But if she is only a relish, bargain - hunting "bridge shark", the less said the better. There is absolutely no virtue in the fact of motherhood, any more than in fatherhood. Let's get this fact out into the open and look at it."

That puts the matter very definitely. The point is that parents who expect children to honor them, must be worthy of that honor. It is not necessary to labor the point that there are some parents who do not deserve the respect and honor of their children. While those of us who have been blest with worthy, good parents will not have to be commanded to honor them; we will do it naturally. So the responsibility really rests upon parents.

In the passage from Mark, Jesus deals with those who were hypocritical in their attitude to this great issue. He has in mind some of His race who not only did not help their parents in time of need, but used their religion as a means of escaping their responsibility. Instead of helping their parents they declared certain gifts as dedicated to God, without actually offering them as sacrifice. This was an extreme case to be sure and we have to be careful against condemning a whole nation because of the few. Nevertheless, Jesus saw it to show to what extent some will go in their endeavor to escape responsibility.

Jesus gave an example in His own life. At the very end, when no longer able to care for His mother, and to exercise His filial responsibility, He laid upon John that obligation. He thought of her even with His latest thoughts. But Mary was worthy of the honor. She was worthy of Her love, affection and devotion of her son. That is the type of mother to be honored.

Mrs. Flora Black Died After Short Illness

Mrs. Flora Black died at her home, Newburgh Road, near the East Ward School, on Tuesday afternoon, after being ill only one day. On Monday morning she was found unconscious in her home, suffering from a stroke of apoplexy, and did not regain consciousness before her death.

Mrs. Black, who, before her marriage over 60 years ago to the late W. J. Black, Principal of the Flint Ward Public School, was Flora Charlotte Bott. She was born in Kingston Township, near Westbrook, but had lived all her married life in Napanee. Following her husband's death, about 40 years ago, she was office assistant for some years for the late Dr. C. D. Wartman, and later served in the same capacity for Dr. W. H. Milsap retiring from active work after Dr. Milsap's death. She was a lovbl member and regular attendant of Trinity United Church during her long residence in the town. She is survived by a stepson, Selwyn Black, Napanee, and one brother, John Bott, in Alberta.

Her funeral will be conducted at the Wartman Funeral Home by Rev. O. M. Chidley, on Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, and interment will follow at Centreville cemetery.

Family Honors 88-Year-old Mother On Her Birthday

A family dinner party in honor of the 88th birthday of Mrs. Nathaniel Kimmett, Roblin, was held at the home of her son, Arthur Kimmett, Shannonville, on Monday, October 18th. Thirty-one members of the family were present and dinner was served at a large table centred with a decorated birthday cake.

Mrs. Kimmett, who previous to her marriage to Nathaniel Kimmett at Roblin on November 18th, 1873, was Annie Hughes, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hughes, and was born in Richmond on October 18th, 1855. She is the mother of 12 children, of whom 10 are still living. Seven of her children and their families attended the birthday celebration. Three other children, who live in Colorado, U.S.A., were unable to be present.

Mrs. Kimmett is enjoying good health and is still very active despite her age.

FAST ACTION FEATURES VARIETY SHOW

The Massey-Harris Company show Combines for 1944, which will be playing at the Napanee Armouries on Saturday night, October 23rd, at 8:00 o'clock, is a completely new edition of a pleasing fast-moving musical review, which about a year ago was just an idea in the minds of a few men in the Massey-Harris Company. They saw the need for worthy good entertainment as a morale builder amongst the Canadian troops in training. They set to work and have produced a Variety Show that is top-notch in every way. It sparkles with action right from the opening chorus to the finale and it has enough variety to please the taste of everyone in the audience.

The original Massey-Harris Variety Show travelled from September, 1942, to June, 1943, during which time they covered all service camps of any size from the Atlantic to the Pacific. They were received with tremendous acclaim wherever they appeared. In all they gave over 100 performances and played before a total of 140,000 people.

V. O. N. NEWS

Mrs. T. J. Hunt, presided at the October meeting of the V. O. N., which was held at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Lewis.

The secretary, Mrs. W. R. Douglas, read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer, Miss A. B. Medd gave her report. Miss Morrison, the V. O. N. nurse has been very busy since coming to Napanee, and in her report stated she had made 146 visits, as well as holding the five Well Baby Conferences with the attendance of 76. Nine new infants and three pre-school children were admitted. Miss Morrison has also inspected all pupils in the school's and her records are set up for the new school year.

Great alarm was caused over the outbreak of poliomyelitis in the Trenton and Belleville districts, and Miss Morrison said every precaution was taken, and the teachers asked to speak to their pupils about the dangers of the disease.

Miss Winifred Dawson, National Office District Supervisor, visited and supervised the work of this branch on September 23rd and September 24th. She was very satisfied with the work, and the advancement made since her last visit.

FOREST MILLS

Forest Mills, Oct. 18. — Mrs. Fred McFarlane entertained the Women's Association of the Forest Mills United Church on Tuesday evening, October 12th. ## Anderson Ch. Observed 75th Anniversary

Rev. G. M. Chidley, B.A. minister of Trinity United Church, Napanee, conducted anniversary service at Anderson United Church, Sunday evening, when a large congregation of members and visitors listened to a helpful and inspiring sermon. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Hambly, sang two anthems which were well received. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers, emblematic of the season. Rev. A. C. McCallum was able to be present for the latter part of the service and on behalf of the congregation thanked Mr. Chidley for his stimulating message.

A capacity crowd filled the church auditorium and gallery Monday evening for the congregational social at Anderson church. Despite rationing and other wartime restrictions, the ladies of the congregation served a bountiful meal. A program consisting of readings, monologues, community singing and other musical numbers contributed by local and outside talent, was well received. Many of the items were given encores. About $5.00 was realized.

Plans are almost completed for the observance of the sixty-seventh anniversary of Greina United Church which will be held on Sunday evening, Oct. 24, at 8:00 o'clock when Rev. Harry A. Mellow, B.A. of Leaside United Church will be the guest preacher. Mr. Mellow is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mellow, both charter members of the Greina congregation, and was a member of this church when he became a candidate for the ministry. He now holds an important pastorate in Toronto, where he is doing splendid work. It is anticipated his message to his "home" congregation will be most timely and a great many will want to hear him.

Greina Church, was formerly Wesleyan Methodist. Its first minister was the Rev. Samuel Mighh, who helped in the building of the church. The late John Mellow and the late W. J. Mellow (father of Mr. J. P. Mellow) were the carpenters and the late Charles Ham was the bricklayer. The church has been recently re-decorated and electric lights have been installed. The service of music will be under the leadership of Mrs. H. R. Mellow, with a large choir. Well known hymns will be used in the congregational singing and the service promises to be an outstanding event in the history of the congregation.

POTATO CLUB TEAM SUCCESSFUL AT KEMPTVILLE

As a result of their high standing in the judging competition and examination, Ralph Donaldson, with the Achievement Day for the 1943 Potato Club, Robert Kenney and Jack Stafford, represented their Club in the Provincial Inter-Club Competitions for Eastern Ontario at Kemptville, on Friday, October 15th. The boys attained first place at Kemptville, in competition with Potato Club teams from counties in Eastern Ontario.

Accompanied by Agricultural Representative, C. W. Buchanan, the team will go to Guelph on Thursday to take part in a similar competition with teams from Western Ontario at the O. A. C. on Friday, October 22.

The winning team at Guelph will represent Ontario in the National Club contests to be held in Toronto on November 22nd and 23rd, the remainder of that week will be devoted to educational features, including tours in Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Ottawa.

The National Club contests bring together winning teams from all provinces, in Dairy Cattle, Beef Cattle, Swine, Poultry, Grain and Potato Clubs.

The winners of the final contests are declared Dominion champions—this title was won last year by the Lennox and Addington Boys' Potato Club team, Joseph Kilborn and Wray McLaughlin, R.R. 2 Brinsville.

The 1942 Boys' Potato Club, composed of 21 members, is sponsored by the local Lions Club.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MRS. FRED MARTIN

On Thursday morning, October 14, 1943, at the Kingston General Hospital, Sarah Agnes Thompson, beloved wife of Fred Martin, entered into rest, after a short illness. The deceased, who was in her 70th year, was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thompson, Napanee, and was dearly loved by all who knew her. She had a loving disposition, and was always ready to lend a helping hand. She had lived all her life in Napanee until her marriage, and attended the Public Schools and the Napanee Collegiate. Two years ago she was united in marriage to Fred Martin, of Vinkle, and went to live in Kingston, and, in July, 1942, went to Peterborough to join her husband, who was in the Army. She had spent the last two months at her father's home in Napanee to be near her doctor. She will be sadly missed by her family and friends.

Her funeral was held at the Warman Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon and interment followed at Riverview cemetery. The pallbearers were Herbert Lewis; Don Turner, Gerrid Babcock, Jake Perry, Harry Butler and John Martin.

Out-of-town friends who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Eli Jah Thompson, Bloomfield; Mrs. Norman Thompson, Master Jimmie Thompson, and Mrs. Maude Booth, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thompson, Miss Phyllis Thompson and Mrs. Fred Osmand, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Bowen and Mrs. J. Clark, Deseronto; Pte. Earl Thompson, Petawawa; Mrs. Allen Lewis, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. H. Martin, Viole., and Mr. J. H. Jaynes and family, Newburgh.

Mrs. Nettie Delmage Died in Cleveland Buried at Newburgh

On Tuesday morning, October 12, at the age of eighty-seven years, Mrs. Minetta E. Delmage, widow of the late William J., passed peacefully away at her residence 1,088 Glenmont Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

She was born on the picturesque Eagle Rock Farm near Newburgh, the oldest of twelve children. Her parents were the late Andrew V. and Adelaide DeMille Price, of Wesley.

She was married to William J. Delmage in 1876 and lived on the Delmage Farm until shortly after the death of her husband in 1910. Of this union there were seven children, of whom six daughters survive to mourn her loss. They are Mrs. Geo. E. Hardy of Deseronto; Mrs. John A. Pile, of Newburgh; Mrs. Frank P. Farwell, Mrs. George L. Hassell, Miss Helen A. and Miss Edith M. all of whom reside in Cleveland, Ohio. A son, Joseph P., died in early youth.

About 1912 Mrs. Delmage went to Cleveland to reside with her daughters. She was a devoted and loving mother; very fond of her plants, flowers and birds, also an artist with her needle. She is also mourned by her two brothers, Dr. Norman W. Price, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., Dr. Weston A. Price of Cleveland, Ohio, and six grandchildren. Miss Blanche Hawley of Napanee, is a niece.

Through the Christian influence of her parents the church became a part of her life, and for many years she was a member of Wesley Church. After leaving this community she became associated with Epworth Euclid Church, of Cleveland.

Funeral services were held in Cleveland on Wednesday, October 13th and the remains were brought to Newburgh, where interment services were held Thursday afternoon, October 14th.

OBITUARIES

THE LATE KATHLEEN M. MARTIN

The funeral of the late Kathleen Mae Martin was conducted in the United Church at Vennachar, Ont., at two o'clock on Monday afternoon, October 11, by Rev. M. Craig, Denbigh. Deceased was born on June 13 1941, and died at her home near Cloyne, October 9th, 1943. She was the youngest daughter of Iona Rose and Reuben Martin.

She leaves to mourn her loss, beside the sorrowing father and mother two brothers, Hartzel, 6 years, and William, seven months; one sister, Edna four years, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose of Vennachar, Ont., besides several other relatives and friends.

Rev. John Martin, of the Free Methodist Church at Enterprise, is an uncle of the deceased.

Funeral of The Late W. A. Daly

The funeral of the late W. A. Daly was conducted at the family home, Robinson drive, on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. C. D. McLellan, minister of Grace United Church, was in charge of the service and Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson, Toronto, delivered the address.

The honorary pall-bearers were: Messrs. W. B. Herrington, K.C., W. A. Grange, R. G. H. Travers (Kingston), E. J. Cockill, Dr. T. M. Galbraith, J. S. Hall, C. J. Mayhew and J. L. Boyce.

The active pall-bearers were:—Lieut.-Col. J. B. Willoughby, Kingston, the late Frank Ellis, Percy Huffman, W. J. Wiggins, Jack McPherson, of Napanee, and Fred Deacon, of Belleville.

PRIVATE PREVIEW

The Granada has kindly consented to let the Victory Loan Committee of Lennox and Addington use their theatre for a private showing of the picture, "Battle of Britain", a Frank Capra production. This picture has been put together by experts from Hollywood, who obtained the authentic material for it during the years of the blitz in Britain in 1940. This film was designed specifically for the use of the British Ministry of Information.

The film to be shown here is one of a very few copies flown from Washington for use in the Fifth Victory Loan. It will not, however, be publicly shown anywhere. The Lennox and Addington Victory Loan Committee are particularly fortunate in having secured it for private showing, by invitation only.

MRS. E. McLAUGHLIN DIED ON FRIDAY IN 91ST YEAR

Mrs. Ephraim McLaughlin, one of the best known and most highly-respected women of Napanee died at her home, John Street, on Friday afternoon, in her 91st year. For almost ten years she had been confined to her home following a fall, resulting in a broken hip and broken wrist, but until about three weeks before her death she had been able to be up around the house.

Mrs. McLaughlin was, in many ways a very remarkable woman. She had not been physically strong for a great many years, yet seemed by sheer strength of will power to have prolonged her life to her great age. In her early youth she taught school and then after her marriage she was actively engaged in business with her husband at Selby, Verona, for six years prior to coming to Napanee over fifty years ago. When Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin moved to Napanee they were for a time, associated with the late John Foxford in the Napanee Express Printing business. Some time later they took over the business of the North American Telegraph Co., which later was absorbed by the C. P. R. Together with the telegraph business they operated the Dominion Express and carried books and stationery as well. For nearly forty years Mrs. McLaughlin was actively engaged in the business in which she did the telegraph operating, and retired when over 80 years of age, after an accident which left her lame. Even after her retirement she continued to send telegraph messages until about two years ago.

Mrs. McLaughlin was born at Carleton Place and was the eldest daughter of the late Thomas Pettitt and was of Irish descent. Her husband died in 1927 and she was also predeceased by her only son, William, in 1939 and by her elder daughter, Gertaldine, who died in 1934. She is survived by her daughter, Miss Vivian McLaughlin a member of the Napanee Collegiate teaching staff, and one sister, Mrs. Mary J. Macy-Tonopah, Nevada.

Her funeral was conducted at her late residence on Monday afternoon by Rev. G. M. Chidley, minister of Trinity United Church. Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson, Toronto, former minister of St. Andrew's Church, Napanee, of which Mrs. McLaughlin was a member, gave the address in which he paid a high tribute to Mrs. McLaughlin.

Interment followed in the family plot at Riverview cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. W. S. Wilson, R. C. Hawley, Thomas Dinsmore, C. L. Graham, William Hunter and C. E. Jamieson.

Well-Attended Meeting Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society

A well-attended meeting of the Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society Board of Directors was held in the board room of the Society last Thursday evening. The president, C. L. Graham, presided.

The financial report was given by the treasurer, Miss Helen A. Fraser, and the chairman of the Finance Committee Mr. Howard Wartman stated that at the next meeting of the society the finance committee would present a report and some recommendations regarding the financial matters of the society.

Miss E. C. Anderson, secretary of the membership committee, reported that a campaign to secure members for the society would be conducted by the committee and it is recommended that at least two open meetings be held during the year, in order that more interest might be aroused in the work of the Children's Aid.

The monthly report of the superintendent, presented by W. P. Barrett, was carefully given a comprehensive picture of the great amount of work being done in the interests of the neglected children of the county. Mr. Barrett told of a family in the north part of the county in which there are ten children, whose father has been placed in the Ontario Reformatory. The children need clothing before the winter sets in and Mr. Barrett asked for donations of garments, which could be used by the family. The superintendent also told of several other problem cases, some of which appeared to be at least temporarily settled. With 54 cases still open at the end of the month, it was quite apparent to the directors that Mr. Barrett's time would be well employed considering that he also has under his direction 34 unmarried parents' cases, besides work in connexion with the Soldiers' Dependents' Allowance Board and the Dependents' Board of Trustees.

RED CROSS NEWS

At the Thanksgiving meeting of the Red Cross, October 9th, Mrs. Ken Benn and Mrs. T. S. Moore were the hostesses. Drawings were made by Mrs. W. Wigle for the two quilts and the lucky tickets on a sewing basket and a crib cover. The winners were Mrs. Pringle of Selby and Mrs. Burt of Napanee.

On October 16th, tea was served by Mrs. W. T. MacKenzie and Mrs. Coleman. Everyone is welcome to come to the Saturday afternoon teas, and also to the weekly work meetings.

On Thursday afternoon, October 21st, Miss Ellen W. Porter, Supervisor of Nutrition and Visiting Housekeepers Service of the Canadian Red Cross, will be in town and will speak at the rooms at three o'clock. A cordial invitation is given to all those interested in this subject.

TAMWORTH

Tamworth, Oct. 18. — On October 14th, about 9:00 p.m. Mrs. Jos. Burns, of Centreville, saw something peculiar hanging in a tree on her farm. Upon investigation she found it to be a weather barometer balloon, sent out from Buffalo, N.Y., at 11:30 a.m. the same day. The box attached proved very interesting, and had instructions in it for whoever found it to return the box to New York, as it could be used again for the same purpose, and a reward would be given to the finder. Mrs. Burns was glad to be of some assistance in the matter and stated that it was well worth seeing, as the mechanism of the whole thing was very interesting.

Despite the downpour of rain all day Saturday, a very successful tag day was held in this village in aid of the Greek Relief Fund. The following girls acted as taggies, and took their smoking like good soldiers: Leader, Jean Courtenay; Mary Scanlon, Regina Johnston, Sue Mitchell, Junie Steele, Eleanor Renaud, Glenna Pedley, Winnifred Steele, Helen Card, Joyce Amey, as well as two girls in Erinsville. This committee was sponsored by the Women's Institute, and Mrs. W. G. Richmond was Convener. The sum of $23.41 was realized. When the girls finished reporting all the regulation toys, they gathered at the home of the Convener and made 150 more tags and stuck to the job until practically all were sold.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Richmond received a cable on Monday announcing the birth of a son to their son, Bair. Eldon Richmond, and Mrs. Richmond, at Sutton, Surrey, England.

Several changes of properties have been made in this village during the past few weeks. Mr. Albert York sold his home to Mrs. Levey, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoag have moved into the house owned by Mrs. Ed. Cannon, and

ENTERPRISE

Enterprise, Oct. 16. — The October meeting of the W. M. S. of Enterprise United Church was held in the church basement on Wednesday, October 13. The theme of the meeting was "The Bible for All of Life". The President, Mrs. H. E. Vannest, opened the meeting with a hymn and the 19th Psalm read responsively. There were 16 members and 12 visitors present. The thankoffering, $12.60, was received and dedicated. Mrs. H. M. Jackson gave the Bible reading which was followed with a meditation by Mrs. George Nelson. Mrs. H. E. Frair led in prayer. Mrs. M. E. Jackson and Mrs. H. E. Vannest were appointed as delegates to the Belleville Presbyterial Joint rally, held in Napanee. During the day three quilts were quilted. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cecil Kennedy.

One Negro was worrying about the chance of his being drafted for the army. The other consoled him.

"There's two things that can happen, boy. You is either drafted or you ain't drafted. If you ain't you can forget it; if you is, you still got two chances. You may be sent to the front and you may not. If you go to the front you still got two chances, you may get shot and you may not. If you get shot you still have two chances, you may die and you may not! And even if you die, you still has two chances."

These Germans Felt so Sure...!

Not long ago there was more jubilation in German homes than we are feeling today.

Remember Dunkirk, Narvik, Crete—the conquest of the Netherlands, Belgium and France. The final triumph of the Nazi slave system over all your fathers strove for in the past—and all you hope to gain in the future—was so near.

Yes, we shall win now. But if we intend to win quickly and completely we must be prepared for supreme efforts that will tax our willingness and resources to the utmost. We must not allow the enemy the breathing spell he gave us!

Soon you are going to be asked to buy more Victory Bonds—to press on the victory offensive at home as ruthlessly as we expect our sons and brothers to do at the front. It is a rallying call to every man or woman who is proud to be called "Canadian". Surely you will heed it and respond to your very utmost.

DRUNK DRIVING CHARGES BRING GAOL TERMS

Gunner Randall Card, R.C.A. Petawawa, pled guilty in Napanee Police Court, on Monday, to three charges laid by provincial officers, following an accident about a mile south of Napanee on Saturday, October 23rd, involving a car driven by Gunner Card belonging to Mr. D. Tryon, Kingston (Card's sister) and a car belonging to E. S. Hamilton, Camden East, driven by Miss Doris Hamilton.

Gnr. Card was charged with driving a car while intoxicated, on which he was sentenced to serve seven days; with driving a car without an operator's license, for which he was fined $10, plus $3.00 costs; and with dangerous driving, for which he was fined $5.00 and costs of $3.00.

Traffic Officer Morden stated he had been called to the scene of the accident about 11:00 p.m., Saturday, and found the Hamilton car off the travelled portion of the road and Card's car crosswavs of the road, pointing to the Hamilton car. Randall had left the scene of the accident, but later was arrested walking toward Camden East. Both cars were damaged to the extent of about $50 each, but none of the passengers in the cars were injured.

Hubert Green, R.R. 1, Deseronto, pled guilty to driving a car while in an intoxicated condition, and was sentenced to serve seven days in gaol and his car impounded for three months.

Provincial Constable Taylor stated he received a complaint about 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, concerning Green and found Green in a truck in the ditch a mile east of Napanee, on Highway 2. Green was in an intoxicated condition and was endeavoring to get the truck out of the ditch, but was unable to do so because of a flat tire.

Sentence Deferred One Week

Sentence was deferred for one week by Magistrate Collins, in Napanee Police Court, last Thursday, in the case of Den Normile, who pled guilty to being intoxicated in a public place. Constable Cook, in his evidence, said that he had arrested Normile at the Hamburg Grill, where he had been found in a room back of the grill in an intoxicated condition. A fire was also found on the floor in the room where Normile was but Normile claimed he had not had anything to do with starting it.

ALPINE WOODS HONORED BY BOARD MEMBERS

Mr. Alpine Woods was guest of honor at a social evening held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Graham, Piety Hill, last Wednesday evening, when he was presented with an address and the gift of a chair by the members of the Board of Directors of the Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society.

Twenty-five members of the Board were present. An address was read by Rev. G. M. Chidley and the presentation of a handsome chair was made by Mr. C. E. Jamieson and Mr. W. F. Barrett, on behalf of the Board members. A tribute was paid to the address to Mr. Woods for his service of over 25 years as President of the Society.

Mr. Woods was connected with the Children's Aid for about thirty years, and was one of the pioneers in the work in the county. During the years he was a member of the society he gave freely of his time and talents and is largely responsible for a great deal of the splendid work done on behalf of neglected children in the county. He retired from the position of president at his own request at the last annual meeting held in April of this year. He is now Honorary President of the Society.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Woods gave a short review of his experiences in the work and showed how it had developed from a very small beginning.

Following the presentation refreshments were served from a table centred with yellow singe mums and yellow candles. Miss Helen A. Grange, the treasurer of the society presided at the tea table and assisting in serving were Miss Lepha Woods, Mrs. John Diamant and Miss Mildred Richmond.

Charges Dismissed

After a lengthy preamble on the duties of a police officer, Magistrate A. B. Collins, of Belleville in Napanee Police Court last Thursday afternoon, delivered his judgment on Corporal Brearley and Private Kennedy, R.C.O.C., Kingston, who were charged with obstructing a police officer in the discharge of his duties.

Magistrate Collins stated in giving his verdict, that though the two soldiers might technica'ly be considered guilty of the charge, he was inclined to give them the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charges against them.

The charge was laid against the two soldiers following a brawl at The Superior Restaurant, in which Chief Moore was attacked by a civilian who had been in company with the soldiers. The soldiers were charged with preventing anyone going to the assistance of Chief Moore and with also advising the civilian to disregard Chief Moore's warning.

The County Crown Attorney, K. S. Ham, in his argument, urged that a conviction be registered against the men.

NOTE BURNING INTERESTING CEREMONY AT MASONIC TEMPLE

Second Anniversary of New Temple is Observed

A large number of Masons from many points in Eastern Ontario gathered at the Masonic Temple, Napanee, on Friday evening, October 22nd, to join the members of Union Lodge No. 9, A.F. & A.M., in celebrating the second anniversary of the dedication of the new Masonic Temple. The ceremony of "Burning the Note", the last financial obligation in connection with the conversion of the former St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, into a Masonic Temple, was a very interesting part of the program of the evening.

W. Bro. William O. Coates, Worshipful Master of Union Lodge, presided, and taking part in the ceremony were two Past Grand Masters, M.W. Bro. W. S. Herrington of Napanee, and M.W. Bro. John A. McRae, of Kingston, who were assisted by R.W. Bro. Wilfred G. Wilson, W. Bro. George T. Walters, W. Bro. J. D. Mayhew, and Bros. Thos. H. Herrington and Harry L. VanDusen, all members of Union Lodge who had been active in the work of financing and constructing the new Temple.

After the ceremony an address on an interesting Masonic subject was delivered by M.W. Bro. John A. McRae, Past Grand Master, who was introduced by M.W. Bro. Herrington, and thanked by V.W. Bro. K. S. Ham. R.W. Bro. William C. Taylor, Westport, the present District Deputy Grand Master of Prontenac District, congratulated Union Lodge on having cleared off the debt on the new Temple in such a short time.

Another interesting event of the evening was the presentation by the Worshipful Master on behalf of some of the officers and members, of a neat of walnut tables as a wedding gift to the Senior Warden. Bro. Maurice Tierney. Under direction of the chairman of the Program Committee, W. Bro. Alex. McGregor, a musical program preceded the meeting consisting of a vocal solo by Bro. Bert Weese, and organ selections by Bro. W. R. Epps.

Masons were present from many lodges, among the visitors were R.W. Bros. Jas. F. Simmons of Chaffey's Locks, J. B. Pinkerton of Elgin, Chas. Higgins and Harry Milne, Kingston, and H. A. Carscallen of Enterprise.

Annual Meeting Large Audience Enjoys Fine Entertainment and Hears Address

An audience filling the Armouries, in Napanee, on Saturday night, October 23rd, saw the Massey - Harris Company's "Combines of 1944" in a sparkling show resplendent with gay, musical numbers, smart costumes, dances and comedy. The charming Mistress of Ceremonies Miss Betty Robertson, kept the show moving smartly and Pat McIntosh, comedian de luxe, kept the audience in roars of laughter on each of his appearances. His style is good, as are his jokes. A beautiful and talented singer, Miss June Barrett, won high praise from all sides with her songs. Miss Dolly Moncrief, a charming pianist gave splendid support to all numbers. Meta and St. John, in both their dances, received warm appreciation from the audience, as well as Carolyn, the Spanish dancer. The entire show was a splendid tribute to the talent of the producers, Mr. Ken. Easton and Pat McIntosh.

The Lennox and Addington National War Finance Committee is greatly indebted to the Massey - Harris Company whose generosity in sending this show here, and paying all expenses, made it possible for a large audience to hear Mr. Frank Lasker, Merchant Navy, give possibly, one of the most forceful speeches ever delivered to an audience in Napanee.

Mr. Laskier told, in a style all his own, of his torpedoeing the sinking of his ship by gunfire by the "Von Scheer," and of the untold sufferings and hardships, and bravery displayed by the men of the Merchant Navy. Particularly graphic was his description of a Canadian lad "Johnny" who although badly wounded kept his place in a life boat without a cry, kept bailing the boat until, after four days, death overtook him and he was buried in the sea.

The audience received Mr. Laskier with an acclaim, due any one of lasting. In closing his address he promised on behalf of the Merchant Navy, that the guns, tanks and armament purchased by the money subscribed to the Victory Loan, would be delivered to their destination by the Navy.

The net proceeds of the show were turned over to the Rotary and Lions Clubs to help earry on their charitable work.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Hunter Anniversary Preacher Grace United Church

Rev. J. Bruce Hunter, D.D., LL.D. assistant minister of Old St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, and until recently Chief Protestant Chaplain for Military District No. 3 with headquarters at Kingston, was the preacher last Sunday for Grace United Church anniversary services, held in Trinity United Church.

Large congregations attended both services, which were conducted by the minister of the church Rev. C. D. McMillan, who was assisted at the morning service by Rev. G. M. Chidley, minister of Trinity United Church, under the direction of the leader, Miss Lelia Scott, rendered special music and Mrs. B. M. Black presided at the organ.

In the morning Dr. Hunter based his sermon on the text, "In the Last Days it shall come to Pass", from the Book of Micah. Dr. Hunter said that Micah, together with many of the Old Testament prophets and men in succeeding ages had a vision of the golden age of man. The golden age has not yet come but men have faith that it will eventually dawn. The hoped-for golden age will be one in which the spiritual will dominate. It will be a period of peace and justice and one in which honest men must develop courage not only to do great things, but to meet the little difficulties of the day. To achieve it and maintain it there must be a personal belief in God and a dependence on him to direct and guide.

In the evening Dr. Hunter spoke on the subject "The Law of the Universe, Good". The unforseen good comes out in most unexpected places. From unexpected sources, he said, and good is often uncovered in people by others, having faith that it is in them.

Following the evening service a congregational get-together was held in the school room, which was well attended. The members of the choir sang a go-dle and an anthem, after which short addresses were given concerning the anniversary of Grace Church. Mr. Gerald F. Smith spoke about the business arrangements in connection with the project. Mr. W. F. Barrett reviewed the progress made during the ministry of the church and Rev. C. D. McLeod, Ian spoke of the spiritual significance of the church.

Refreshments were served by the executive of the Woman's Association.

NO REJECTIONS AGAIN AT BLOOD DONOR CLINIC HELD ON THURSDAY

Efficiency of Staff Credited with Fine Record

For the second consecutive month the almost impossible record was made at the Blood Donors Clinic of no rejections, when a large clinic was held Thursday morning, October 21, in the Armouries. A tribute to the medical staff and technicians, who operate under each and every one of these clinics, it means that more plasma for transfusions among our fighting men will be available when needed. The need is great, as last reports say there is only enough reserve for another one major battle. Canada is in the forefront in the research done to dry, and shorten the process of making plasma.

Donors are asked to come to the next clinic Thursday, November 18, and if they bring another, they will receive an examination at the clinic.

The following fourteen donors gave for the first time to this very needy cause:— James Haggerty, Stanley Evans, Miss Jean Oliver, Mrs. Beulah Quinn, Mrs. Marion Rose, Cameron Clark, Walter Yeomans, Mrs. Ethel Topping, Miss Mabel Haney, Miss Vola Wager, Mrs. Pearl Marshall, Miss Anna Parks, Mary McTaggart, James Hartin.

A WELCOME ANNOUNCEMENT

The Ontario Minister of Health, Dr. R. P. Vivian, has announced that the Ontario Government "plans to ensure that every resident of this Province will have access to adequate hospital facilities, in time of need." This is one of the most progressive steps that has been taken by our Provincial Government in many a day. That there is need of legislation which will guarantee to sick people all the benefits of modern surgery and medicine, goes without saying. There are thousands of people who are, at the present time, unable to pay for these services which, in recent years have become luxuries. Medicine has made tremendous strides of late, but many people have been deprived of modern advance in medical science simply because they could not raise the money.

The health and welfare of our people is a public concern. We have learned a lot since the outbreak of the war as to the effect of malnutrition and disease on the human body. In caring for the fighting forces and the wounded, every possible advantage of modern science has been taken. The result is the health of the men in the Forces is on a high level, and more men than in the first Great War, who have been wounded, are returned to the service of the State. If that can be done for the fighting forces in wartime, it can be done for all people, at any time. For the Armies of the Democratic Countries are not professional soldiers: they are citizen soldiers. They are men and women who have gone from the farms, the factories, the offices, the schools and professions. They deserve the very best that a grateful nation can give them in wartime. But they should not be denied the same privileges of care, for body and minds in their ordinary avocations which they enjoy when in the special task of defending the State.

National health insurance is long overdue. It is therefore encouraging to know that steps are to be taken by the present Government at Queen's Park, to provide hospitalization for all who need it. There is to be as little delay as possible, the Minister of Health announces. Already he has requested from the Hospital Associations facts and figures on which the Department will be able to base its new regulations. This is good news!

FREE ENTERPRISE AGAIN

Mr. Wallace, Vice-President of The United States, had a long article in last week's issue of The Saturday Evening Post. The article has been reprinted in many other papers and has received wide editorial comment. Naturally there are those who take sides on the issue raised by Mr. Wallace. Yet the statement is so clear, so fair, and so manifestly just, that it would seem as though the Vice-President has left very little room for argument.

Mr. Wallace maintains that in the post-war world, there must be freedom of enterprise. But he points out that great monopolies and certain abuses of patent laws, should be eliminated. This is a sane and sound position to take. It is difficult to see how anyone could take issue with it. There can be no possible doubt but that no government, either in the United States or in Canada, would survive a week, if it proposed taking over and managing every industry or business in the country. There must always be room in our economy for the little fellow, for the small business man, for the shopkeeper, the tinker, the tailor, the candlestick maker.

In order to protect this type of free enterprise, however, enabling legislation must be passed. The tendency, during the past decade, has been for large scale business enterprises to combine, amalgamate their forces and shove the little man to the wall. Probably that, too, must not be completely disregarded in any future planning. In all probability chain stores and similar organizations, are here to stay. The State must recognize that. The condition against which protest is so often made is not the chain store, the creamery or other wholesale and retail distributors. It is against the amalgamation of amalgamations, by which an ever-decreasing number of people receive control of an increasing number of commodities.

The Toronto Star rightly points out that there is a confusion in the use of the term "Free Enterprise," some meaning one thing, and some meaning another. There are those pleading for "Free Enterprise" who are pleading for the great monopolies or castles, the right of any few people to get control of any commodity they can, for their own financial benefit. It is for that group that controls are necessary. Indeed, if freedom of enterprise is to have any place in the post-war world, if it is to have any semblance of reality, the small man, the individual business must be protected against the monopolistic tendencies so clearly a feature of the economic set-up of the past decade or so.

IN RUSSIA

Just what is going on at the Moscow Conference of Foreign Secretaries, we do not know as no bulletins have been issued, and no information given out. Apparently, everything is harmonious between the three Foreign Secretaries. This perhaps is the greatest achievement of all. For there was a growing suspicion in well-informed circles, that a cleavage between the three United Nations—The United States, Great Britain and Russia—was widening. The difficulty seemed to stem from the fact that Great Britain was taking a realistic view of the future and was prepared to co-operate very definitely with Russia in the post-war world, whereas powerful influences in The United States were trying to keep that country from committing itself to any future co-operation with Russia, save that of military necessity.

Under these conditions the possibilities for a wedge to be driven between the two great English-speaking peoples, was more than a dream. With this as a starting point the Germans have continued through every known source to sow the seeds of dissension and of distrust, between the two. The one way of settling these differences and of cementing the friendship between The United Nations, was for these accredited representatives to get together and frankly talk the matter over. This, they have done.

The question of a second front, of future military plans, and of post-war collaboration, can be threshed out to the satisfaction of everybody, once that spirit of confidence, goodwill and honesty, was created. This seems to have been done. Goebbels has been outsmarted. He has been robbed of much ammunition, which he had hoped to use in his propaganda campaign. Whatever the definite, tangible results may be, of this we may rest assured, the unity of the English-speaking peoples and their gallant Ally, Russia, is being cemented in a fashion that will withstand any strain.

LOOKING BACK

In the onward sweep of life we forget, so often, the past, and its place in our experiences. One of the advantages of birthdays and anniversaries is that they present us with an opportunity for looking back. If for no other reason than that, it helps us to see how far we have come, the backward glance is of essential value. As the war rolls relentlessly on its way, we watch it progress with eager and excited gaze. We watch for the latest bulletin, listen to the latest newscast, in the hope that some spectacular victory has been achieved. With an advance of our armies of a few miles, we grow impatient. We want quick action, we want signs that our armies are making rapid progress against the enemy.

It is well then, to take time out once in a while and look back a bit. It is not necessary for our encouragement to go back in memory all the way to 1940, when Britain stood alone. Those days seem to belong to another era, to a world we have so long since left behind, that we can scarcely reconstruct our feeling and our emotions of that time.

An anniversary such as that which is forever associated with October 24th, is a good time to look back a bit. For it was on that date, a year ago, that the British Forces began their drive against Rommell, at El Alamein, not far from the Egyptian border. Since then the enemy has been driven out of Africa, out of Sicily, and Corsica. The Italians have thrown out Mussolini. The United Nations have opened the Mediterranean to sea traffic; most of the Italian Fleet is in the hands of The United Nations.

In Russia, Germany has suffered defeat after defeat at the hands of the Russians. Having been forced to make a stand at Stalingrad, the German forces did so, and suffered irreparable loss. Having been ordered to hold the Dnieper Line at all costs, they are in danger of repeating the disaster of Stalingrad.

City after German city has been bombed beyond repair. The production of munitions has been curtailed materially.

A year is not so long in the history of nations, but looking back to El Alamein, it seems a life-time. Considering all things, the progress made in the past twelve months, should fill us with confidence in our leadership, faith in our men and women, and courage to go on in the firm conviction that victory for The United Nations is inevitable.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, OCTOBER 31ST, 1943

"BIBLE TEACHING ON ABSTINENCE"

Lesson Text: Leviticus 10: 1, 2, 8-11. Proverbs 31; 4, 5. Luke 1: 13-15

Nadar and Abihu were the two eldest sons of Aaron. They were set apart for the priesthood. They were performing their priestly functions as described in to-day's lesson when they made some foolish breach of the church ritual. They were drunk and either did not know what they were doing or else they did not care. It was a sad situation. It was the first time they had officiated at the service. Just what it was that they did we are not told, but it was bad enough to bring upon them the condemnation of Jehovah.

It is bad enough that the people should go astray. But it is infinitely worse when leaders refuse to practise self-control. Leaders have a special responsibility for they are looked-up to, imitated, and used, by others, as an example. There are leaders in every community, people particularly in social life who set the style, set the standards. There are enough people of that sort who are members of churches and who, if they refused to serve liquors at their parties and entertainments, could in a short time set a standard which would change the whole atmosphere of the community. Since the First Great War our women have had a much larger part than they sometimes think because in their position of leadership in the community, they have made it the smart and "proper" thing to serve liquor to their guests.

Don't let us fool ourselves with respect to this liquor situation. Perhaps you have been down-town on a Saturday night. Perhaps you have not been down around Queen Street West, Toronto or around Jarvis St. But then one does not have to go to those areas to see the devastation which indulgence in intoxicating liquor makes. It is no respecter of persons: whether rich or poor, whether brilliant or dumb, whether strong or weak, it works its inevitable damage, damage to will, to intellect, to pocket book, to the home and to the whole personality.

Our lesson is called "abstinence." That is something that needs to be underlined and emphasized in all our thinking and in all our planning. Our generation has been an undisciplined generation. We have participated largely on this North American Continent developed a rather cynical attitude to law — we get away with as much as we can. The great need of our whole generation is self-discipline. Either we achieve that soon or we shall have more and more regulations and discipline imposed from without. Perhaps the way may bring us to our senses. Perhaps we will have to do without some things we thought essential, perhaps we may be reduced to hard-pan before we are through. It may be, that only in that way can we learn to discipline ourselves. Only in that we shall learn the value of those humble, decent fundamental virtues which alone make a person and a nation, strong. There must be in the planning for the future, a basis of common decency, honesty, simple living, temperance and self-discipline.

● This war has to be fought on the home front as well as on the fighting front—with dollars as well as with bombs. Our fighting men are making us proud of them—we are their trusted comrades—our job is to fight with our work and our savings.

Every Victory Bond we buy helps to shorten the war and bring our boys home more quickly. Surely it is not too much to ask that we economize more—and lend more—to bring this about.

"We know our money is safe in Victory Bonds, because it is backed by all the resources of Canada. And, as we save and lend, we are building up a nest-egg, to be spent after the war on all those things which today we do without. Buy more Victory Bonds.

Plan to buy bonds out of accumulated savings and out of your earnings. The authorized Victory Loan salesman, your employer, or any bank or trust company, can arrange it for you.

SILLSVILLE

Sillsville Oct. 26. — Mrs. D. R. Wise spent the week end with her son Mr. Hunter, at Tilbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford entertained Sillsville and Conway Y. P. S. Friday evening.

Pte. Kent, Queen's University, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith on Anniversary Sunday.

Miss Mary Creighton has accepted a position in Kingston, and has left to take up her new duties.

Jimmie Prise and "Bill" Sparrow, of Toronto, who spent the last week duck hunting at Young's Island, have returned home.

Prior to her departure for Kingston as nurse-in-training at the General Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Elliott entertained Miss Margaret McLean to a dinner party. Afterwards as a gift from the Asselstines, Gilberts and Elliotts, they presented her with a travelling bag.

How much VICTORY will $100 buy?

- When peace comes everyone in Canada will share in it.

Yet more than two million gainfully employed Canadians who could buy a Victory bond, have not done so, yet.

You, perhaps, belong to the other three million or so who have bought a bond. And you will buy again and again.

You consider these bonds your share in victory.

But have you stopped to ask yourself how much victory $100 will buy?

Have you seen the latest figures on what Canada must spend if we are to shoulder our full share as a free and prosperous nation in the cost of the war?

- Do you know that up to June of this year Canada has spent 4½ billions on war munitions?

Do you know that since the war began Canada has built and launched 230 frigates, corvettes and minesweepers, over 100 patrol ships, and 176 freighters?

Do you know that over half the military vehicles which carried General Montgomery's army to victory in North Africa were made in Canada?

Do you know that the Air Training Plan for the next two years will cost $1,500,000,000, of which Canada will pay half?

Do you know that so far we have spent on industrial expansion and defence construction — in Canada itself — more than a billion dollars?

- These billions add up to Canada's share in victory.

Do you think $100 is your share of the total?

You are paying taxes, yes.

And perhaps you have some bonds already.

But have you bought your share?

Only you, yourself, after you have thought everything over and determined to save every dollar you can—only you can answer that.

LEASIDE MINISTER,
REV. HARRY E. MELLOW
PREACHES AT GRETNA

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Gretna Church was observed in a special service Sunday evening, when a large congregation greeted one of their own sons in the person of the Rev. Harry E. Mellow, pastor of Leaside United Church, Toronto, and listened to a very effective and challenging sermon.

Basing his message upon the vision of the Prophet Isaiah, as he stood in the presence of God, the speaker stressed the necessity of placing more emphasis upon spiritual values. He pleaded for a greater loyalty to the Church and her mission in the world. The sermon was replete with homely illustrations drawn from everyday experience and personal contacts.

Mrs. H. A. Mellow presided at the organ. The choir sang an anthem and Miss Mildred Parks rendered a solo.

The pastor, the Rev. A. C. McCallum, conducted the opening exercises and welcomed Mr. Mellow.

The Rev. H. A. Mellow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mellow of Gretna who were both in attendance at the service.

ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOPS CONDEMN COMMUNISM

Quebec City, (B.U.P.) — Communism was condemned as a "system degrading they face the crucial year ahead with the same courage and faith in us, our hearts and our hands will answer," a letter from Nelson, Chairman, this week, says, "We are pleaded for by our sweethearts, Rev. PLEAD FOR THEM." What will your response be? Surely the need of our boys in Newfoundland and other Eastern ports for protection against the biting cold of this coming winter is an appeal to touch the hearts of us all.

Yours faithfully,

Tamworth United Ch. News Items

Tamworth. — The Young People's Union of The United Church commenced the Fall and Winter activities on Tuesday evening with very good attendance. The meeting was in charge of the president, Miss M. Gilmore. Others taking part in the programme were Miss Valerie Allison, Betty Tucker, and Rev. A. W. Beacon. It was decided that the next meeting be in charge of Valerie Allison. It was also decided to invite the Belby Y.P.U. to be the guests of the Union, at a very near date. Miss M. Gilmore and Wray MacLauchlan are to be the delegates to the Conference Young People's Convention, at Cannanoque. The social period was in charge of Mrs. Beacon, and at the close, refreshments were served.

The Rev. and Mrs. Beaton and Miss Gilmore represented the Sunday school at the County Convention held at Bethel.

The anniversary services of The United Church are to be held on Sunday, October 31. In the morning at 11:00 o'clock ,the minister will preach and in the evening at 8 p.m. the Rev. Basil Thompson of Queen St. Church, Kingston, will preach. Special music will be given by the choir at both services. On Monday, the Church Family Party will be held, with a program contributed by the various organizations of the church.

Interesting Letter Received By Mrs. Walker, Newburgh

Mrs. Walker of Newburgh is one of the greatest knitters of the Red Cross Society here, and recently, while packing her 97th turtle neck sweater, she enclosed a note in the sleeve and, last week, the following letter was received from England:

Well Strand House, Rothlung.
Northumberland, England,
September 21st. 1943.

Dear Mrs. Walker:—

You will not know me and I do not know you, but I am writing to you for my son's sake. About the beginning of August he was home on leave and he had with him a hand knitted pullover which he had had given to him by the kindness of the Canadian Red Cross ,and which had your note in the sleeve. He was a gunner in the R.A.F. but he was attached to a Canadian Squadron and was, I believe, the only English lad in the crew. However, he is now missing; he did not return on the night of August 31st from a raid. It has been a heavy blow to us, as he is our only child and he was only nineteen. But we do hope and pray that may be he has been taken a prisoner. I do know that he will be wearing your pullover as he said he always wore it when flying, as it was a good big one and kept him very warm.

Some day, when things are better I will send you a photo of him. I don't know whether they can be sent just now or not. You must do a great deal of knitting for the Red Cross; we do also, here in our village and throughout the whole country. I notice you say it is the 97th you have done. We in England are very grateful to you in Canada for all you have done and are doing for us. but the news is certainly improving and I hope that it may not be so very long now before all the boys are back to their homes.

I hope you receive this letter safely and with it my thanks for your help to the boys. I know they take a good deal of time to knit, but I assure you this one at least was appreciated. I will close now, wishing you all the best.

Yours truly,
A. SOULSBY.

Letter To Ontario Women's War Work Conveners

For the first time we find ourselves unable to simply fulfy the requirements of the National Committee. Supplies in the bins of Ontario Warehouse are almost depleted. the calls on them are stupendous.

KNIT - KNIT - KNIT — AND SEW -SEW - SEW

In the past four years the men and women of the Air Force. the Army and the Navy, the civilian women and children of Great Britain have learned to count on you. THEY STILL DO. — The need is not only as great as it was, It is GREATER.

Surely we shall not fail them. as Chairman, this week, says, "We are pleaded for by our sweethearts, Rev. PLEAD FOR THEM." What will your response be? Surely the need of our boys in Newfoundland and other Eastern ports for protection against the biting cold of this coming winter is an appeal to touch the hearts of us all.

Generous Contribution To Charities By Napanee Lions Club

At the regular meeting of the Napanee Lions Club, on Monday night, the Club voted to send $200 to the British Child War Victims Fund. The fund is sponsored by the Lions Club in Canada and an amount of $116.-000 has now been given to the cause.

The Canadian Lions Clubs are keeping at present, nearly 700 children, who have been bombed from their homes, or who have lost their parents, from bombings.

Also an amount of $150.00 was voted to the Norwegian Red Cross Society.

These amounts are part "of the money raised at their last Jamboree.

Magistrate's Court

A charge of careless driving against Ross McCumber was dismissed by Magistrate Cullins last Thursday. The charge was laid following an accident in which McCumber's car struck a cow on No. 2 Highway, several miles east of Napanee.

Ralph Dafoe pled guilty in Napanee Police Court, to failing to stop at a stop street, and paid $5.00 fine and three dollars costs.

The October meeting of the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter of I. O. D. E., was held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Aikenbrack, on Friday October 22, with the Regent, Mrs. Mervyn Owen, presiding. The meeting opened with the prayer of the Order. A letter of thanks was read from the Navy League acknowledging receipt of $133.84, proceeds of the Tag Day held on September 25th. The social committee reported that final arrangements had been made for a "Sadie Hawkins" dance, the proceeds to be used for war work. Mrs. R. LeMaistre, Mrs. William Templeton and Mrs. Bruce Aikenbrack were appointed to buy the articles to fill three ditty bags, the money being donated by members. Four new members were heceived into the Chapter, and there were twenty-three members present.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem. After a short work period, light refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mervyn Owen, where ditty bags will be packed.

LEADER BRACKEN OUTLINES TEN-POINT PLAN

John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader outlined a ten-point post-war creed for Canada in an address at Neepawa, Manitoba, last week, which, he said, "is simple, understandable and accomplishable." The creed called for post-war jobs for every returned soldier, sailor and airman.

Mr. Bracken said the post - war creed call'ed for:

1. A job for every soldier, sailor and airman.
2. Work for every man.
3. Responsibility for every citizen.
4. Fair play for all.
5. Equity for agriculture.
6. Stability for enterprise.
7. Opportunity for youth.
8. Equal pay for women for equal work and just recognition of the "noble character of their higher calling as mothers of the race."
9. Security for the aged, the sick, the injured and the unemployed.
10. An expanding economy for all.

Mr. Bracken said that "responsibility for every citizen" means that all persons in every community should take a greater interest in both community and national affairs so that they will better appreciate the problems of Canada, and be more entitled to expect a greater share of contentment and prosperity.

He warned that a "psychology of fear of the future is being nursed and fostered. if not propagated" in the Dominion.

"It is time this attitude was reversed. A measure of confidence in the future is more justified now than ever before in our history."

His address was the first of, three he will deliver this week in the Federal constituencies of Neepawa and Marquette.

EXCHANGE SHIPS SAIL FROM SWEDEN WITH REPATRIATES

Goteborg, Sweden. (B.U.P.)— The first Allied-German exchange of interned prisoners of war was completed last Thursday when three big liners sailed for the United Kingdom with 1340 sick and wounded captives from Britain, Canada and other parts of the British Empire together with few from the United States.

Simultaneously, the German hospital ship Gradisca and Ragen left for Germany with 835 Axis prisoners recently brought here from the United Kingdom.

Count Folke Bernadotte, vice-chairman of the Swedish Red Cross in charge of the Goteborg transfer authorized the departure of the vessels after word was received that a supplemental exchange of British and German prisoners in the Mediterranean was proceeding according to plan.

"About 9,000 Allied and German prisoners are involved in the exchange through Sweden and the Mediterranean, according to a Swedish broadcast, which said 82 women and one baby were among the Allied captives leaving Goteborg.)

The exchange was worked out between the Allies and Germany through the Swedish Government, and was expected to be followed by a number of similar transfers under which sick and permanently disabled prisoners would be repatriated.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing fuel wood and other necessary forest products; in base metal mines, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

Please answer this vital call NOW.

In Loving Memory

SUTTON — In loving memory of a dear mother Mrs. Thomas Sutton who died on October 27th, 1940.

A star shines on a lonely grave
Of one we loved, but could not save.
Our home was sudden, the shock severe—
To part with one we loved so dear
God took her home, it was His will.
But in our hearts she liveth still.

Ever remembered by husband, SON AND TWO BOYS.

43ap MOTHER, DAD and FAMILY

PRINGLE — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mark Pringle who passed away October 30th, 1942.

A door swings briefly open
And a loved one slips away—
Slips from life's dark shadows
Into bright, eternal day.
No earthly strife he hears,
No cruel war's alarm—
The world is sad and full of grief
But you dear mother, are safe in peace
And free from all trouble and care.
Honor and love we hold for you
And will, our whole life through.

Sadly missed by
43ap THE FAMILY.

COOK — In loving memory of Thomas James Cook, who departed this life October 23rd, 1942.

Night visits come softly, why sky, nor storm nor sadness;
Day fills up all its hours,
Unfailing beauty, and unfaltering gladness.
And love for ever new.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by 43ap Neice, MARION.

WEDDING BELLS

RUSSELL — HOGEBOOM

St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Napanee was the scene of a quiet but pretty autumn wedding Saturday, October 16, at high noon, when Ven. Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille officiated at the marriage of Mary E. Jeane Hogeboom, Reg. N., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hogeboom and granddaughter of the late Peter Chalmers of Adolphustown, to L.A.C. Robert A. Russell, R. C. A. F., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Prof. Eppes. She was becomingly attired in a two-piece gold velvet dress with brown accessories, and wore a shoulder bouquet of Talisman roses. The bride's only attendant was her friend, Miss Margaret Ham, of Kingston, who wore a blue tailored suit with blue accessories and a shoulder bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

The groom was attended by Douglas Carruthers of Queen's University, Wallace Hogeboom and Lorne Woodcock acted as ushers.

The church was prettily decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, during the signing of the register, Miss Phyllis Richardson, Napanee, sang: "I Love You Truly."

After the wedding ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the bridal party at the LaSalle Hotel, Kingston.

WEDDING BELLS

BRICK - WAGAR

At the Basilica of Christ the King, Hamilton, a lovely wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 9th, at 10:00 a.m., when Freda Matilda, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wagar, of Tamworth, was united in marriage to John Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Brick of Hamilton. Father J. A. O'Brien officiated, and the organist, Mrs. Gordon Burjau, played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white sheer dirndl gown. Her veil was held in place by a heart shaped headdress of net, and she carried an American Beauty roses with fern. The matron of honour was her only sister, Mrs. John Hannah of Tamworth, who wore a pale pink sheer floor-length gown with a shoulder length veil caught with a headdress similar to that worn by the bride. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses and fern.

Mr. Edward Tracey acted as best man, while Mr. V. Wagar, uncle of the bride and Mr. Frank Brick, a brother of the groom acted as ushers. Standards of pink gladioli decked the altar.

A reception was held at the Cecil Rodeo Cabaret, for thirty-five guests, among whom were honoured guests in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Wagar of Hamilton, grandparents of the bride. The bride's mother received in a leaf green two-piece dress with brown accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and fern, and was assisted by the mother of the groom who wore a soldier blue dress with accessories to match and a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Father J. A. O'Brien proposed the toast to the bride and groom. The groom very ably responded.

The happy couple left among showers of confetti and good wishes for Conway, 8:00 p.m., at home of Mr and Mrs Fred Wright.

Upon their return, the newly-weds will reside in Hamilton.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Edmund Hannah, Tamworth, entertained about twenty young ladies at her home in honour of Mrs. Jack Brick (nee Freda Wagar) who was married recently. The evening was spent in playing bridge and bingo. Several prizes were won. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and a few friends.

OBITUARIES

THE LATE FREDERICK VILLNIFF

Frederick Villniff aged 72 years died in the Hotel Dieu Hospital at Kingston, on Friday, October 15, after an illness of twelve months. He was born at Dunbigh and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Villniff.

In 1893 Mr. Villniff was married to Harriett Baldwin of Pernleigh, who survives. He is also leaves two children, Walter in Kingston, and Mabel Mrs. Oscar Perry, Pernleigh; besides three brothers, David and John, of West Tree, New Ontario and Edward of Denbigh.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and a Liberal in politics.

His funeral was conducted at the Fire Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon, by Rev. William Mac Millan, of the Pentecostal Church and interment followed at Hartman cemetery.

THE LATE JOHN J. FITZMARTIN
(Contributed)

It is with profound sorrow, that we record the sudden and rather unexpected death of Mr. John J. Fitzmartin. The whole community was chocked when it was reported that he had passed away in the early hours of Tuesday morning. Less than two weeks before he was admitted to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. Everything humanly possible was done, the best brains of the city were in consultation, blood transfusions were given, specialists were on constant duty and in a last desperate effort to save his life, the new and powerful drug penicillin, was tried in the hospital on Sunday morning and was administered at once. But it was of no avail and, fortified by the last holy rites of his church, he passed calmly to rest.

His last and only illness was borne with patience and accomplishing fortitude, typical of his quiet and his thoughtful disposition. Although he wished to recover when told of the proximity of death, he calmly adjusted his affairs.

The deceased was a successful farmer in the Napanee district and with the exception of a few years, spent in the Canadian West, he has always resided in the same farm. He will long be remembered for his genial, manly qualities, coupled with a genial personality, that won for him many friends.

The funeral was held Friday morning from the residence of his sister, Mrs. W. V. Dowling, Enterprise, to St. Patrick's Church at Napanee. The many friends who attended the service testified to the high esteem in which he was held.

RED CROSS NEWS

The regular Saturday afternoon tea at the Red Cross rooms will be attended with Mrs. M. Chidley and Mrs. G. Miller acting as hostesses.

Work is being rushed on the shipment for Greek relief and there is work for many more if they will offer their services.

On Thursday afternoon, Miss Ellen Kelly, Porter Supervisor of Nutrition and Visiting Housekepers' Service of The Canadian Red Cross Society, Ontario division, spoke in the rooms. Her subject was "Why should we be interested in Nutrition?" Following are some of her remarks: Nutrition is a science—the study of the relationship of food to health. The increasing difficulty we have in obtaining the foods we like and need, focuses our attention on this subject. Many books, even those we produce ourselves, are becoming scarce or totally unavailable for several reasons, we are feeding a large armed force, we are sending much food to Britain and to our allies, workers in our own country have greater buying power and they demand more food, we are sending large amounts of food in the Red Cross parcels to our prisoners in Germany and other Axis countries. We are trying to relieve some of the starvation in the conquered nations, imports are cut off because of lack of transportation and because we must conserve our money for buying war materials. Scientists have proven that we must have, various food elements — proteins, minerals, vitamins, etc. — in certain amounts every day, if we are to be as healthy as we should; yet we know a great many Canadians are not eating the foods they should and we are tired of this in the large number of rejections from the Armed Forces; in the surveys of food being consumed by people in many parts of the country and in the fact that many of us are often tired without reason, or have too much of such ills as dental decay, sore eyes which do not adapt well to dim light, chronic indigestion, mental depression, etc.

We must all remember that better nutrition and therefore better health of a community or a nation will result when every individual improves his own diet and helps his neighbor to do likewise.

TYENDINAGA EAST W. I.

The Tyendinaga East Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. H. Waddingham on October 8th, for the monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. C. J. Akey presided and opened the meeting with the ode followed by the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was answered by My Favourite Proverb. Minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary. The W. I. convention is to be held in Belleville on October 28th and 29th. Miss Geraldine Mowers was appointed to form a group of girls if possible for club group work. Miss J. B. Malcolmson will conduct a health education lecture on November 18th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the home of Mrs. C. J. Akey. All ladies are cordially invited.

Mrs. J. Craig kindly donated $1.00 towards boxes for the boys overseas. Mrs. M. P. Husband gave interesting current events. Mrs. R. Waddingham had charge of the program. "A trick of fate" was read by Miss Kay Waddingham. Miss Geraldine Mowers gave a reading and a poem was given by Miss Bernice Akey. Mrs. R. Waddingham conducted a contest. Miss Kay Akey winning the prize.

The meeting was brought to a close with the National Anthem after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and committee. Mrs. R. Tucker moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her kind hospitality.

SELBY W. M. S.

The October meeting of Selby W. M. S. was held on Thursday afternoon, October 7th. Mrs. Albert Sexsmith presided assisted by the president, Miss Alma Wood. Mrs. Merrick opened the meeting with prayer. Then followed the usual routine of business. It was decided that Mrs. Jim Rose be the delegate to the Joint W. M. S. rally to be held in Selby Church, Napanee, Thursday, October 14. All subscribers to the Missionary Monthly were requested to hand in their subscriptions before the first of December. Short talks were given by the secretaries of Christian Stewardship and Temperance. Mrs. Alma Wood and Mrs. M. Windover.

A very interesting feature of the program followed when two little girls, Olive Irwin and June Telford, on behalf of the Mission Band, presented the W. M. S. with a five dollar War Savings Certificate. The W. M. S. president, Miss Wood, expressed her appreciation and that of the W.M.S. to the members of the Mission Band for their generous gift. The watch tower was responded to by Mrs. Merrick and Mrs. Frisken.

Mrs. Lila Millar, Miss L. Hudgin and Mrs. S. Sexsmith very ably portrayed the first chapter of the new study book. Short prayers were offered by Mrs. J. Tate and Mrs. B. F. Denison. Mrs. Percy Hudgin gave a reading.

The offering was taken by Mrs. J. McFarlane and was dedicated by the president. A solo by Mrs. E. Robinson was much enjoyed. Mrs. A. Wood gave the scripture lesson, assisted by Mrs. L. McCutcheon, Mrs. J. Rose and Miss A. Wood.

Mrs. McConnell closed the meeting with prayer.

SILLSVILLE W. A.

On October 19th, Sillsville Women's Auxiliary met at the hall with eight in attendance. After a most delectable amount of work done, cutting out blocks and sewing them together, the meeting opened by singing a hymn and repeating the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted. The treasurer gave a report of money on hand. There will be a speaker in Sillsville United Church on November 28. Grace was sung and lunch was served. Lunch fees, $1.23.

Belleville Presbyterial Joint Rally

Napanee North Section Napanee South Section

Mrs. C. D. McLellan and Mrs. Geo. Findlay presided at the joint rally of Napanee North and South Sections of the Belleville Presbyterial, held in Trinity United Church, Napanee, on Thursday, October 14th, 1943.

The morning session opened with the National Anthem, fol'owed by a hymn and prayer, led by Mrs. D. B. Wilson.

Mrs. G. M. Chidley welcomed the auxiliaries to Trinity Church and hoped the members would feel the time well spent.

Miss Magee, of Adolphustown, replied, stating it was a good opportunity for the two sections to become better acquainted.

Miss Blanche Haw'ey in introducing the literature, told the members it was just as important to keep up to date with missionary literature as any other literature.

The following auxiliaries reported on their year's work: North Section—Camden East, Desmond, Enterprise, Sillsville, Stanleyham, Tamworth, Napanee Trinity, Mountain View, Yarker, and Newburgh. South Section — Adolphustown, Bay East, Bay West, Deseronto, Emery Hill, Napanee (Grace), Selby, Wilton and Odessa.

The offering was received by members of Trinity Auxiliary and dedicated by Deseronto Auxiliary.

Mrs. Hutchinson took charge of the business. Mrs. Duff, Field Secretary of the W. C. T. U. Miss Duff visits over 50,000 children each year and her talk centred around "Delinquent Children." In speaking of the conditions W. M. S. women have, she advised them to build that castle in the air and then put the foundation under it. She reported delinquency among children is increasing all over Ontario and the cause could be ascribed to the facts that only 33 out of 100, children attend Sunday school; reading sex-called funny papers, crime pictures in movies that are produced for adult minds and not suitable for the tinsons of children who see them, and the seeds of gambling that are sown in young minds when they are encouraged to sell lottery and raffle tickets. Mrs. George Findlay reported only two C. G. I. T. groups in each section: South, Odessa and Napanee (Grace); North, Tamworth and Strathcona.

Mrs. W. A. Ashley in her report on Mission Circles, regretted the fact that so few circles were organized in these sections and urged each community to organize a mission circle.

Miss Mae Hawley, supply secretary, said there was not the need for clothing for adults as much as children's clothing.

Memorial Service

A very impressive memorial service for deceased members was conducted by Mrs. H. B. Reynolds, assisted by Mrs. Jos. Paul, Mrs. W. B. Bell, Mrs. W. Merrick, Mrs. Bruce Findlay and Mrs. Jas. Ashley.

Trinity Auxiliary provided a comfortable lunch room and served tea for delegates who brought their lunch.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The afternoon session opened with a worship service conducted by Mrs. Hollingworth, Mrs. A. Snider and Mrs. Jenkins, of Odessa Auxiliary.

Mrs. F. L. Hooper introduced the speaker, Miss Marjorie Gregg, M.A., Missionary-at-Large Superior Presbytery, and Principal of her experience in the Lake Superior district, Sudbury and Kirkland Lake. Miss Gregg is interested in the Finnish movement, speaks Finnish and has visited Finland.

Miss Gregg expressed her personal pleasure at coming to this district where her grandfather, when he came to America, had been missionary to the Finnish people in Bel'eville. Reading from a diary of her grandfather, written in Finland in 1846, she gave many interesting pictures of his travels as a missionary to Belleville, Wilton, Deseronville, Adolphustown and Napanee, mentioning many names which were familiar to all. Miss Gregg spoke of her trip to Finland and of the children learning to sing our National Anthem in English, in her honor. She also told of many experiences among the Finnish peoples in Lake Superior district. The Finnish women are very industrious, doing most of the work among the cattle at the barns, as well as tending to household duties. The speaker urged all, as part of our advancement, to study about other countries, that we may be more understanding when peace comes.

Mrs. Mata Mellow introduced the study book, "For All of Life," by Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wiser.

"The Grace of Living Together" was the theme of the chapter from the study book, demonstrated by the Tamworth Auxiliary. It exemplified the importance of the grace of living together in peace in the home, in the church, in the village and in world fellowship.

Napanee, Grace, Auxiliary produced a sketch, "What would You do If," demonstrating a Christian attitude toward Japanese, Jews, Negroes and other nationalities, instead of condemning the rising tide of hostility and racial intolerance toward peoples of other countries and religions. Our personalities would be enriched and we would be better prepared, when we have peace, for international relationships and understanding.

Mrs. O. S. Reddick reported a larger attendance and a profitable time spent at School for Leaders, at Whitby. The offering, which was taken by members of Grace Auxiliary, was dedicated by Mrs. Fletcher, Yarker.

A solo by Mrs. Hugh Ramsay was enjoyed.

Miss Mata Mellow reported for the Courtesy Committee consisting of Miss M. Mellow, Mrs. Vernon Paul, and Mrs. Arnold Empey.

The report of the Resolutions Committee, Mrs. Geo. Switzer, Mrs. F. L. Hooper and Mrs. W. H. Bell, was given by Mrs. Switzer. The following resolutions were adopted:

It has been suggested that, if conditions remain as they are, that a joint rally be held next Autumn, in Napanee, and so disclosed and voted upon this year.

The United Rally of North and South Napanee, wishes to place itself on record in approval of the step that the Dominion Government has taken with regard to the liquor traffic, and trust that in the near future, it may see the need of further restrictions with regard to the liquor traffic.

We wish to place ourselves on record in agreement with information provided through the Press and the Radio, with regagrd to post-war plans for world peace.

Whereas beverage alcohol is a major menace to the welfare of our citizens and whereas the traffic makes use of films to spread its advertising propaganda. Be it resolved that the Dominion Government be requested to enact legislation similar to taht now in effect in Chile, requiring every movie picture to feature five minutes of anti-alcohol education in every movie show; and of Russia where special films appeal against the use of liquor.

Rev. G. M. Chidley pronounced the benediction.

SELBY

Selby, Oct. 25. — There was a splendid attendance at the anniversary service of the United Church, held on Sunday, Oct. 17. The Rev. E. B. Cook, of Unionville, a former pastor, occupied the pulpit for both services. The subject for the morning, "The significance of the Past in the Light of To-day," was especially appropriate and gave much food for thought. In the evening Mr. Cook brought a real challenge as he spoke on the subject, "God's To-morrow." Anthems rendered by the choir were greatly appreciated, also the four numbers contributed by the quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wilde, Mrs. Hugh Ramsay and Mr. Garnet Brooks. The closing number, "God's To-Morrow" will long be remembered by those present. A most gratifying feature was the generous thankoffering received.

DORLAND

Dorland, Oct. 23. — Plowing has been going along at a faster pace since the heavy rain of last week end. A few farmers are nearly done, but most are hoping fine weather will continue for some time.

A number of instructors, inspectors and cheesemakers from the surrounding district, and the executive of the U. S. L. Cheese Co., were guests of Mr. M. Remington, in the factory, on Thursday evening. After fifty were present and enjoyed an interesting evening.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Deborah Hawley who will celebrate her ninety-second birthday on October 31st. It is not often that there is more than one person past ninety in a house, but Miss Hawley resides in the same house as her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. H. Hawley, who passed her ninety-fourth milestone on September 12th.

"At a Negro wedding, when the clergyman read the words, "love, honor and obey," the bridegroom interrupted, and said: "Read that again sah! Read it once mo' so's de lady kin ketch de full solemnity of de meanin'. I've been married befo'."

"Mr. Buzzard has the greatest hobby," said Mr. Smith to a friend. "and I never knew anything about it until yesterday. I found in his desk a query looking ticket inscribed 'Mudhouse in to 1.' I asked him what it was, and he told me it was a relic of a lost race. Isn't it interesting."

"I want him home"

"WHEN I read the war news my heart keeps saying: 'Hurry! Hurry!' They can't finish it up fast enough for me.

"Some of our boys have been over there nearly four years, I know, and Jim has been gone only eighteen months. But I want him home—soon, soon!

"I just can't sit still and wait. So I've got myself a war job. And when I'm not working, I'm planning, and that keeps my mind busy all the time.

"When the war loans come along I buy all I can, and every month I figure out how much we have cashed away between us, and I write to Jim and tell him how much it is, and how we'll start out all over again after the war.

"I tell him about the little house we'll have—the shiny kitchen—the living room with a great big cosy chair—and the garden—I want hollyhocks all along the back fence—oh, I dream up the whole thing—

"I live on as little as I can, now, to help hurry things up, and so we'll have more money than we ever thought of having when he comes home. The way I feel these days I believe I could sell a lot of Victory Bonds. All I would say would be, 'I've got a husband overseas, and I want him home . . . soon.' Surely people would understand that."

PROMINENT CITIZEN LESTER BOYES DIED SUDDENLY

Had Been in Business in Napanee More than 70 Years

L. Boyes, a man who might well been called the "Dean" of busi- men in the Town of Napanee, assed away after a very short ill- s, at his home, Bridge St., on day evening, October 29th. Al- ough Mr. Boyes was nearly 86 years age, he had been actively engaged business which he established over 70 years ago, until a few days re his death. There is no one in Napanee who can claim so many years of activity in business Mr. Boyes. As a result of his connection with the business of the town and his interest in munity of other community enter- s, Mr. Boyes was well known and highly respected by countless ens and former residents of panee.

e was born at Bath and was the child of the late Robert Boyes Mary Richards. His father was aged in the carriage building ss at Bath until the Grand Trunk lway was built through Napanee. Mr. Boyes, Sr., moved to Napa- e, where he established a carriage lding business on the site of the ent south of Dundas St. East. At time Lester Boyes was a young and, after he had attended the panee Schools for a few years, he s a position with the G. N. W. egraph Company, at the age of teen. He learned telegraphy and e many years became the G. N. ent in the town. Later the G. W. business was taken over by Canadian National Telegraph pany and Mr. Boyes continued be the agent until the time of his th. Together with the telegraph ess he had the ticket agency the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadian National Railways, also conducted a tobacco business their same office, and many years he established a men's clothing furnishing business, in which his the late Patrick S. Berry, was also ociated until his death about ten rs ago. In the clothing and tail- business Mr. Boyes at one time loyed a number of tailors, and business became one of the most cessful in Eastern Ontario. For ny years Mr. Boyes made regular ips to the Canadian West, re he took orders for clothing many former residents of Nap- nee.

As well as looking after his own ness business, Mr. Boyes found e to interest himself in several munity organizations. For a many years he was a member the Napanee Board of Education, ich he took a very vital interest devoted much time and thought the development of educational ilities in the town. He was one the organizers and stockholders of the Napanee Driving Park Associa- n, of which he was the secretary- asurer until the time of his death, was an enthusiastic promoter of sport of horse racing. For many s he owned fast horses, which frequently drove in races at Nap- nee and other nearby racing centres. a few years he was secretary- asurer of the Lennox County Ag- ultural Society.

For several years Mr. Boyes was a mber of the Napanee Rotary Club was one of its most faithful at- ndants and active members. He also a member of Napanee Lodge o. 86, I.O.O.F., and was a generous porter and regular attendant of Trinity United Church all his life- me.

Mr. Boyes was twice married. His t wife, Emma Shirley, daughter the late Dr. Shirley, of Napanee, died many years ago, leaving one son, rank S. Boyes, who died about ten rs ago. Mr. Boyes is survived by second wife, formerly Grace mith, and by one brother, Charles Boyes, Kingston. He also leaves granddaughters, Mrs. Beverly dder, Belleville; Lieut. Lester Boyes, the West Britain, and Mrs. Lorry Mountney, Napanee. He predeceased by five brothers and one sister, Mrs. Jessie Fraser, of Vancouver, Mrs. Et. Montreal; all infant bro- Geo. Walter, Napanee, and Mrs. Berry, wife of Jagers A. Wil- , Napanee.

he funeral, which was attended by large number of friends, was con- ted at his late residence Monday afternoon by Rev. G. M. Childley, nister of Trinity United Church, was assisted by Rev. Dr. A. J. Tremeer, Toronto. Interment was made Riverside cemetery. The honor- pallbearers were Messrs. A. L. e, W. K. Huston, W. S. Herring, John S. Ham, J. G. Daly, V. A. Allinson, Dr. Geo. J. Tustin, M.P. of Napanee read the second lesson and during the offertory a quartette from St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, sang a number. Dr. Gutzeit, presided at the organ for the evening service.

Rev. Dr. Langhorn ,the first Church of England clergyman to reside in Lennox and Addington County, and the second to be stationed in this part of Upper Canada, went to the Village of Bath in 1790. In 1791, Dr. Langhorn built St. Paul's Church at Sandhurst, the first church erected in the county, and in 1993 he built St. John's Church in Bath.

The original church, with some alterations and changes, stood for over a century, but several years ago was burned down. It was replaced by a modern building, constructed on the same lines as the original church. For several years, Rev. L. G. Osborne-Walker has been the rector of the church and many of the descendants of the original members still worship in the church.

Guest Speaker At Victory Loan Rally Centreville - Newburgh

MR. A. F. TOMLINS,
Chairman of County Sales.
National War Finance Committee

The scheduled meeting of the Fifth Victory Loan at Centreville on Monday, October 18th, despite the inclemency of the weather, was well attended, and the film "Battle of Britain" was shown and left the audience with a feeling of awe at the punishment meted out by the Nazi hordes during the Blitz in Britain, in 1940.

Major Ketcheson introduced Mr. A. F. Tomlins, Chairman of County Sales, National War Finance Committee, who made an impressive and inspiring address.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

When we don't talk for effect we are more effective.

Commissioned as Pilot - Officer, R.C.A.F.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, R.R. 3, Napanee, received word last week that their son, W.O. 2 Jack Chapman had been commissioned as a Pilot-Officer in the R.C.A.F. He received his wings two years ago at St. Hubert, Quebec, and has been stationed in Alaska for the past seventeen months.

He has now been transferred to Patricia Bay. British Columbia.

Word From Son in Italy Received by W. Markle

Mr. and Mrs. William Markle received word recently of the birth of a son to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Markle, at Gravesend, England. Their son is now in base hospital in Africa for treatment on one of his ears after taking part in the campaign in Sicily and Italy.

In letters received from Gunner Markle he told of his experiences with his unit and also described some of the activities of the Canadians in the Mediterranean campaign. Like all the boys in the army he was enjoying the abundance of delicious fruit found growing in Sicily and Italy. He expressed the belief that the war would soon be over and the boys would all be home, reunited with their families.

'PHONE PIONEERS HOLD MEETING AT NAPANEE

The Kingston Region Telephone Pioneers of the J. E. MacPherson Council held a dinner at the Superior Restaurant, Napanee, Thursday evening. A large number of pioneers attended from Kingston, Stirling, Belleville Ottawa and Montreal.

The guests were received by Miss Mary Nolan, Mrs. at Murphy and Mrs. M. B. Luffman.

Mr. C. E. Hall, chairman, and Mr. W. E. Purcell, past chairman of the J. E. MacAlerson Council, Ottawa, addressed the pioneers on the aims and objects of the Council. After the dinner a social evening was held which was enjoyed by all the guests.

ROTARIANS PLEASED WITH SUPPORT GIVEN AT ANNUAL FROLIC

Prizes Well Distributed Over Whole District

The Napanee Rotary Club annual Hallowe'en Frolic, which for several years in the past had always been a successful event, was this year even more successful than usual. Attendance on Friday and Saturday evenings was very large, but on Thursday evening was small because of the heavy downpour of rain. The large number who attended the Frolic appeared to be in the mood to spend money and as a result the Club will benefit extensively and be able to carry on its crippled children's work and other philanthropic projects.

The general chairman of the frolic was Mr. P. A. Correll. The committee in charge of the main prizes was composed of W. J. Wiggins and P. K. Ketcheson. Publicity was looked after by Harry L. VanLaven.

Those in charge of the various booths were:

Bingo— H. M. Scott and E. C. Hogarth.
Chickens— Geo. H. Switzer.
Ring Game— J. D. Mayhew.
Bouncing Ball — Tony Holmes, and Wilfred S. Wilson.
Rotary Doll — Harry Vine.
Groceries — Frank Mills.
Dart Game — E. B. Weiss.
Candy — R. B. Sinclair.
Apples — Wallace Rey.
Refreshments — Peter Galias.
$10.00 Grocery Draw — A. MacGregor.

C. A. Walters was in charge of the Children's Parade held on Saturday evening.

Valuable assistance was given the club by a number of the members of the Napanee Lions Club and by Rotarians from Kingston and Picton.

On Thursday evening the $10.00 cash attendance prize was won by R. J. Fraser, and the $5.00 prize went to Walter Blakely. On Friday evening the $10.00 and $5.00 cash attendance prizes were won by Bert Seymour and P. C. Killorin.

The lucky ticket was drawn for by Russell Hunter on Thursday evening and on Friday evening by Ryerson Humphrey, President of the Lions Club, who also did the drawing for the main prizes on Saturday night.

There were twelve main prizes on which tickets had been sold, and these were won as follows:

First Prize, Walnut Bedroom Suite — W. McCaugherty, R.R. 1 Napanee, (Ticket No. 7558.)

Second Prize — Rudio — Donald Johnson. Tamworth. (Ticket No. 8475.)

Victorian Nurse Addresses Meeting Home and School Asso.

Forty-five members of the Napanee Home and School Association attended a regular meeting held at the West Ward school on Wednesday afternoon October 27th.

Miss Mary Morrison, the Victorian Order Nurse, was the speaker of the afternoon and gave an address on "Nutrition." Miss Morrison stressed the need of proper nutrition to maintain good health and stated that nutrition may best be taught as a part of a training in the rules of health, which also include proper rest, fresh air, exercise and contentment of mind.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Morrison by Mrs. K. S. Ham.

The president, Mrs. T. J. Hunt, presided at the meeting which was opened by the members repeating the patriotism pledge. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $17.57.

Mr. W. F. Barrett, superintendent of the Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society sent an appeal to the Association for used clothing for a family of eleven whose home had recently been burned.

Mr. Hill, the acting Principal of the Public Schools, asked for suitable books for the school library.

Corpl. Gerald Bedore Married in England

Mr. E. L. Bedore received word recently of the marriage of his young son Corporal Gerald L. Bedore, to Elizabeth McInnes, on September 18th, at the Church of Our Lady in Leyton, London, Eng. Rev. Father Walsh conducted the marriage ceremony and the attendants were Miss Betty Hamilton and Q. M. S. Wes. Mansell.

Later the bridal party and guests were served a wedding breakfast.

The bride and groom will reside at 22 Church Hill, Walthamstone, London E. 17, England.

An Oversight

Through a regrettable oversight the name of Wing-Commander Bill Dona'd was inadvertently left out of the report on the Victory Loan Parade. Wing-Commander McDonald was in attendance to Group Captain LePoer Trench on the reviewing stand, on Sunday, October 17th.

The present strength of the Canadian Army is more than 460,000 men. Pre-war strength was 4,500.

ST. JOHN'S CH., BATH CELEBRATES 150TH ANNIVERSARY

The 150th anniversary of the founding of St. John's Anglican Ch. at, Bath, was observed last Sunday, October 31st. at special services both morning and evening. In the morning the Lord Bishop of Ontario, Rt. Rev. J. J. Lyons, Kingston, was present and preached the sermon and conducted the sacrament of Confirmation. The service was in charge of the rector, Rev. L. G. Osborne-Walker and during the offertory, Miss Beatrice Walker sang a solo. The choir also rendered special music.

In the evening, Rev. Dr. R. S. K. Seeley, Dean of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, was the guest preacher. Mr. Geo. J. Tustin M.P. of Napanee read the second lesson and during the offertory a quartette from St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, sang a number. Dr. Gutzeit, presided at the organ for the evening service.

Rev. Dr. Langhorn ,the first Church of England clergyman to reside in Lennox and Addington County, and the second to be stationed in this part of Upper Canada, went to the Village of Bath in 1790. ## NAZI PERIL GROWS AS RUSSIANS CONTINUE GREAT ADVANCES

Situation in Italy Remains Satisfactory for Allies

WEDNESDAY —

Wednesday German forces were reported in disorderly retreat, from the Dnieper Bend toward the River Bug with the Russians taking heavy toll.

• • •

Allied armies advanced from two to six miles all the way across Italy. The Germans were said to be dropping back to a new line which has many defence advantages and Allied progress may be slower for a time.

• • •

Chinese troops were still holding fast on the west bank of the Salween River in Western Yunnan.

• • •

Yugoslav forces drove the Nazis from the last centre of heavy industry in Bosnia, central Yugo-lavia.

• • •

Vienna was bombed by Allied planes based at Foggia in Italy.

• • •

THURSDAY —

The Germans were reported in full retreat in the Southern Ukraine and the Russians widened their breakthrough at Melitopol and advanced up to eighteen miles. Several villages were taken in the Krivoi Rog area as the Russians pressed close to that iron ore centre and German defence hinge.

• • •

The British Eighth Army in Italy made a slight advance and made more secure a bridgehead across the Upper Biferno. The Allied Fifth Army was said to be in actual standstill, while the Germans were strengthening their new defense line.

• • •

The Germans are charged with the massacre of at least 3,000 Yugoslavs, mostly non-combatants.

• • •

Rabaul in New Britain has been made useless as an enemy base, because of the continuous bombing by the Allied Air Forces.

• • •

FRIDAY —

Some gains were reported in both the Fifth and Eighth Armies in Italy. The Germans have massed great concentrations of artillery and mortars along the whole line across Italy and apparently seemed prepared to put up still resistance.

• • •

The Russians continued their gains against the Germans and made gains up to twelve miles between the Lower Dnieper and the Crimea.

• • •

Chinese troops aided by United States airmen launched a counter-offensive in some sectors of the Salween River front near the Burma border, in Yunnan Province.

• • •

SATURDAY —

The Allied Armies made slight gains against the enemy in Italy. On Wednesday the 48th Highlanders and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment took two towns on the left flank of the British Army, after bitter fighting.

The Allies have practically surrounded Bougainville, the Japs' last base in the Solomons.

NAPANEE COUNCIL CONSIDERS HOLDING ANNUAL POULTRY FAIR

Council Refuses to Endorse Resolution About Liquor from Kitchener

The Napanee Town Council in its regular monthly session held Monday evening, November 1st, considered a resolution received by letter from the Kitchener City Council protesting against the present method of distribution of beer, wine, and liquor, which it claimed contributes to drunkenness, lowers morale, increases illegal purchasing and is a "constant source of annoyance to factory workers in particular" because beer parlors, warehouses and liquor stores are closed in workers' off-hours. Members of the Napanee Council expressed the opinion that the matter was of no concern to the Council and was entirely in the hands of the Ontario and Provincial Governments.

The question of holding Poultry Days in Napanee was discussed and Councillor Vanalstine was given power to act with regard to making final arrangements. The Clerk, W. A. Grange, reported that letters had been written to 22 poultry buyers, and so far, only one firm, Canada Packers of Montreal, had signified intention to be present to buy poultry in Napanee if the fairs are held. The proposed dates for the Fair are Wednesday and Thursday, December 1 and 2 and Thursday ? December 16.

Mr. Vanalstine expressed the opinion that definite decision to hold the fairs should be withheld until at least three of the larger buyers had decided to attend. Efforts will be made by the Clerk and Mr. Vanalstine to secure replies from other buyers before the end of this week, so that definite announcements may be made next week.

Councillor Kimmerly reported that a check-up had been made of the amount of fines and fees which should be payable to the town of Napanee so far this year, and the total from this source should be $633, of which $250 is still owing. Reeve Daly, chairman of the Finance Committee, stated that the Finance Committee would go over the matter and report at the next meeting.

A motion was passed by the Council thanking Press Pond release from the position of Street Foreman, if he desires to seek another job, subject to Selective Service Regulations.

Permission was granted for the Bewaver Santa Claus Fund to hold a tag day on Saturday, November 6th, and for the Legion to hold the Poppy Day Tag Day on Saturday, November 13th.

The Ontario Government advised the Council that a wreath would be sent to be placed on the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day, November 11, and suggested that a war widow be secured to place the wreath. The matter was left with the Relief Committee to make the necessary arrangements.

According to the report of the Chief of Police, presented by Councillor Kimmerly, six complaints were received and investigated during October, by the police. Five accidents were investigated, 8 doors were found unfastened, 2 gas pumps were found unlocked. There were no summonses served and ten arrests were made.

During the month of October the following convictions were obtained in court for the town: Seven under the Liquor Control Act and three under the Highway Traffic Act.

Social Welfare Committee chairman Robson gave the report concerning relief for the month of October which showed that there were four heads of families with 14 dependents, and seven single persons receiving relief during the month. The total amount to be paid by the Council was $190.88 and the amount to be paid by the Government, $20.16.

Officers Installed Rebekah Lodge

After a very interesting regular lodge meeting, on October 18th, the following officers of the lodge were installed by Sister Ethel McCullough, of Kingston District Deputy President, in her usual capable manner:

Noble Grand, Sister Ruth Babcock; Vice Grand, Sister Kay Huffman; Recording Secretary, Sister Agnes McGregor; Financial Secretary, Sister Vivian Benn; Treasurer, Sister Nellie Hudson; Warden, Sister Edna Glenn; Conductress, Sister Ida Huffman; Chaplain, Sister Claire Rodgers; Inside Guardian, Sister Margaret Russell; Outside Guardian, Sister Ida Bill; Supporters of Noble Grand, Sisters Gladys Sharp, Minnie Seymour; Supporters of Vice Grand, Sisters Irene Wager, Mildred Pringle; Pianist, Sister Bertha Black.

The Lodge was honored by a visit from Sister Edith Hall, Vice-President of Rebekah Assembly, who gave a very helpful address.

This very pleasant evening was followed by a suitable banquet.

THE LATE J. L. BOYES

In the death, on Friday, of Mr. J. L. Boyes, another well known business man was removed from our town. Mr. Boyes has been in business for many years. His whole life was spent in Napanee, where he conducted the clothing business which bore his name, and where he was, as well, the telegraph operator and ticket agent for the Canadian National Railways. Either of these would have brought him into close contact with a wide public. Together they made him well known far outside the confines of his office and town. When the west was opening up and migration to the Prairie Provinces took many of Mr. Boyes' customers, he followed them. Every year, for many years, he made annual trips to the West to meet his customers and secure orders, until changing business conditions made this unnecessary. Only recently, the writer, on a trip through Sasktachewan, met several of Mr. Boyes' friends and was commissioned to bring greetings to him.

Mr. Boyes never cultivated a wide range of interests. His concern was almost wholly with his business. His main interests outside his immediate business were the Fall fairs and the School Board. He gave a great deal of time to the Fall fairs and did much to keep a public interest in them through the years. For many years he was a member of the School Board and devoted to this public service the same diligence he gave to his own business. Mr. Boyes was frank in his opinion, often embarrassingly so to people who did not know or understand him. He was endowed with a quick mind and a ready wit. He had an unusual ability to coin pointed and colorful phrases. They will be quoted around the town for many years to come.

Mr. Boyes was almost a legendary figure in the community. For former residents to think of Napanee, was to think instinctively of J. L. Boyes, and none of them ever visited the town without calling at the ticket office. His passing leaves a gap in the business fraternity that will never quite be filled.

INSIDE EUROPE

There are many factors which must be giving German leaders anxious moments, these days. There is the bombing of the cities by the United Nations Air Forces. The dislocation of trade and commerce within the Reich, which these entail is hardly imaginable by us in Canada. We live in a country where our factories seem undisturbed, where our trains are able to make their runs regularly and without having to be stopped for hours because of bombed railroad tracks. Then the devastation caused to the manufacturing plants, as city after German city is wiped off the map, is something we cannot appreciate. The effect of these two factors alone must be wrecking the whole German will to war. But that is not all, the bombing of German cities not only wipes out their factories but it terrorizes the whole population, and, as people move from one devastated city to another, carrying the stories of what has happened, the whole nation must live under a fearful dread of what may befall them, at any time.

Then there is the phenomenal success of the Russian Armies. These have been superbly led, magnificently equipped, and vigorously trained. On every count, they have outmatched the supposedly invincible German Army. Millions of the elite of German forces have been killed in the Russian campaign, and there seems to be no let-up on the pressure which the Russians are bringing to bear on the Germans. Stories tell of their retreat degenerating into a near rout, in which stores and munitions are abandoned with precipitous haste.

If that is not enough to worry the Germans there is the failure of the U-boat campaign to give them pause. This was to have been Hitler's chief weapon. How nearly it succeeded we may never know. The danger to the United Nations, from this cause, is not over by any means, but the menace has been mastered. No longer can it be conceived of as an unbeatable problem.

Then, too, there is the dismissal of Mussolini and the loss of Italy as an ally. This is a great blow to the German people's aspirations. The Germans, now in the heart of Europe, fighting on foreign soil, hated by all peoples, must be persuaded in their own minds, that they are in a losing game. If they were not quite sure, the Three Nations Conference, just held in Moscow, will remove all doubt. The Germans always hoped to be able to drive a wedge between Russia and the two great Democracies. Day and night, for weeks, their political propanda has been directed to that end. Now, that too, has failed. Alone in Europe, with the hands of every man against them, the Germans, both leaders and the people, must be coming gradually to the conclusion that war does not pay.

COME ON !

Up until the present time the number of subscriptions to the Fifth Victory Loan from Lennox and Addington, have been disappointing. In the number of subscribers and percent of allocations bought, Lennox and Addington is far down the list of Canadian municipalities. This ought not to be. Lennox and Addington is a good farming community. We have all prospered by the wartime prices, and by the increased money in circulation. There is plenty of money in the banks. Saving accounts have increased materially bearing testimony to the way in which we are all benefitting by the present wartime boom.

Why has Lennox and Addington lagged behind? Probably there are two reasons. One is a general disposition on the part of all of us to put off until the last minute. We all intend to buy bonds. But we just have not got around to it as yet. Well, the campaign is half over, and those who are charged with its direction are having some anxious days. They need to know now that the bonds are going to be bought.

Then there is a certain psychological reason. Some people think that if they tie their money up in bonds, they will not be able to get at it if they should need cash, as easily as they can if it is left in the bank. As a matter of fact, the bond is just as negotiable as currency. In case of emergency, money can be secured on a bond in a matter of minutes from the bank.

Lennox and Addington is not less loyal than any other part of Canada. Indeed, it is a Loyalist centre. The long list of names which we publish from time to time, of the boys and girls serving in the Active Forces is a moving tribute to the willingness of the youth of our community to give everything they have in defense of the things we all hold more precious than life itself. Not many homes in Napanee and in the whole County but have sons and daughters, or near relatives, in the Forces.

We are loyal — of course we are — in every way we have demonstrated that. We believe, too, that before the books close, that loyalty will be further attested to by a generous oversubscription to this Fifth Loan. But just now, at the half-way mark of the campaign we are far behind expectation. Don't wait for a canvasser, 'phone your banker and, DO IT NOW !

HARD TO MAINTAIN

Donald Gordon, head of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said some time ago that it was increasingly difficult to maintain the prices control structure. The warning which he issued at that time ,would seem to be justified by recent events. The coal miners are demanding an increase in wages, the railwaymen are restless and moving towards a strike veto on the question of wage increases, the Toronto City Council has voted a ten per cent. increase in the wages of civic employees. In the face of these trends, what becomes of the regulation which froze wages ? The whole success of the effort which the Government is making to prevent inflation, with all its dire and tragic consequences, is contingent on stabilized wages and prices.

The effort has been remarkably successful up to the present time. But, in spite of all efforts, there has been a mounting living cost. The weak spot in the regulations seems to have been the failure of the Board to peg food prices particularly those of farm produce. At the beginning, it is true, there was a great disparity between the prices of farm products and manufactured goods. The price which was paid for vegetables and other food products was much too low, in comparison to the price paid for other goods. The omission of a ceiling for those prices was, undoubtedly, justified up to a point. But, as the days and weeks passed these prices, left to themselves, soared until they reached new highs. The effort to control the cost of living was thereby somewhat nullified. This had a direct effect on the cost of living. So the spiral begins — increased cost of living followed by increased wages, and increased wages followed by increased cost of living.

The Board has recently announced a ceiling on some farm products. It is to be hoped that before the movement towards inflation gets completely out of hand, ceilings will be established on all commodities. Unless the cost of living is pegged the demand of labor for increased wages will continue. Labor may demand increases anyway, but if the cost of living remains stabilized, their argument for the necessity of an increase is considerably weakened.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has done a most excellent job in spite of almost impossible conditions. A strong inflationary movement was checked at a critical period. For the success of this great adventure, the cooperation of all—consumer, producer, investor, management, is essential. To a large extent, particularly of the consumer and the producer, has this been forthcoming. Now, the whole process seems to have arrived at a crucial point. It is to be hoped that it may still be possible to take sufficiently drastic steps to prevent the present structure from falling apart.

LETTER FROM SICILY

The following is an airgraph letter received by Miss Annie Clark, Enterprise, from her cousin, Grant Gibney, R 75942, 417 Sqd. R.C.A.F., Central Mediterranean Forces. Grant is a grandson of the late John Clark and Nancy Shier, of Cavillier, N.D., formerly of Enterprise, Ontario.

September 11, 1943

Dear Cousin Annie,

As you have probably guessed, I am in Sicily, where they grow all the fruit, and I'm really eating my share of it. I've a large box of lemons, oranges and grapes beside me and every once in awhile I make myself a cup of lemonade. "What a life," compared to the Aircrew.

Parcels are coming through quite well now and I've got a good supply of smokes and candies.

I met a lot of Canadian sailors and soldiers in Sicily whom I knew at home. It is the first time that we have fought on the same front as Canadian soldiers and sailors. All through the desert we were with British, Indian, Australian, South African, New Zealand and American troops, but never with Canadian soldiers.

I believe I wrote you a letter when I was in Malta but could not tell you I was there. Anyway we saw our first show in six months and had real nice showers, but we were glad to leave because things were so expensive.

It's starting to get cold at night now and I have even put my only two blankets up to make a sleeping bag and it's real warm at night in that. I also made myself a kit bag.

This is all for now. Hope everyone is well.

Sincerely,
GRANT.

New Orders Issued By W. P. and T. Board

An order similar to that put into force last spring in order to control the price of oranges, is now applicable to sales of grapefruit and pineapple. Taken in the base for the ceilings than established is the price paid by the United States O.P.A. in the producing areas in that country. To this the Canadian importer may add brokerage, transportation and other legitimate charges. The latter are required to display cards showing their sale and price of the lemons and grapefruit, offered for sale.

* * *

Sales of all used passenger cars, whether by dealers or private individuals, are now subject to the ceiling of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and the regulations of the Controller of Motor Vehicles. This new order applies to all sales of such cars and includes sales at auction.

* * *

An order of the Prices Board now in effect provides the basic formulae for the packing of meat sandwich spreads and potted meats which should reach the market in the course of a few weeks. Metal containers are also to be made available for syrups, honey and edible oils and metal pails for lard and shortening.

THE DEPARTMENT OF MUNITIONS AND SUPPLY
HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, Minister

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

A WORD OF CAUTION

TO MEN OF MILITARY AGE AND TO THEIR EMPLOYERS

National Selective Service Civilian Regulations authorize the Minister of Labour to require that male employees furnish their employers with evidence that they have not failed to comply with National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations (i.e., the Military Call-Up).

It is intended that an order will be issued shortly, requiring employers to carry out the necessary check on their male employees, and to report any men who do not produce the required evidence of compliance.

The check up will cover every male employee who has reached the age of 18 years and six months and has not reached his 38th birthday. The man will have to show evidence in one of the following forms:—

(a) A man discharged from the Armed Forces following service during the present war should have his discharge certificate. A discharged man who has not a certificate should apply for one in the following manner:—

Navy—Secretary of Naval Board, Ottawa, Ont.

(b) A man who has responded to a direction from a Registrar of a Divisional Mobilization Board, to report for medical examination under Mobilization Regulations, should have either a certificate of unfitness or an order for postponement of military training from the Divisional Registrar. (A man entitled to either document who has lost his copies should immediately apply to the Divisional Registrar who issued the original, for a duplicate.)

(c) A man who has been rejected on application for voluntary enlistment in the Army since the beginning of the war, should have a certificate showing that he was rejected through medical unfitness. (If a man entitled to such a certificate does not possess it, he should apply to the District Military Headquarters of the District in which he applied for enlistment, in order to procure the necessary form.)

(d) A man in the designated classes who has not reached his 38th birthday, who was married as at July 15th, 1940, or who, having been married before that date, is a widower with children, must be prepared to furnish evidence, such as marriage certificate or birth certificate of a child, to show that he was married before July 15th, 1940, and that he is now either married or is a widower with children.

(e) A man who has reported for enrolment in the Army under an Older Militia Training issued under the Mobilization Regulations and who has been rejected should have a certificate showing he was rejected through medical unfitness. If a man entitled to such certificate does not possess it, he should apply to the District Officer Commanding the Military District in which he was rejected.

(f) (i) A man who is not subject to the Mobilization Regulations because he is an enemy alien who has not made application for naturalization may obtain a certificate from a registrar of his Divisional Mobilization Board indicating that the Mobilization Regulations do not apply to him and such certificates must be obtained by all such enemy aliens:

(ii) A man who is an alien and neither a national of Belgium, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, the United States nor Yugoslavia and has not applied for naturalization may be relieved of his duty under Mobilization Regulations, but he gives up his right to future Canadian citizenship after the war, where such men have applied for such relief and been granted such status, certificates will be issued by registrars in appropriate cases.

This caution is issued to facilitate compliance with the order which is proposed. A reasonable interval will be allowed to permit men to provide themselves with whatever document, as referred to above, they may be entitled to hold.

Employers are requested to give notice of this proposal to their male employees, to facilitate the operation of the order when issued.

TAMWORTH

Tamworth, Nov. 1. — Mr. and Mrs. Adams of Riverton, Quebec, were recent visitors at the parsonage with Rev. A. W. and Mrs. Seaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huffman, of Grandview, Man., visited for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Huffman. Mr. Arthur Huffman left this district when he was a boy of seventeen years of age, with his parents, and this is the first visit he has paid to the place of his birth for 52 years. Mr. and Mrs. Huffman have a son in the Armed Forces, stationed at Camp Borden, whom they visited since coming from the west.

Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw was hostess to the members of the Women's Institute on Tuesday evening. Fourteen members and two visitors were present. After the usual opening, the roll call was answered by "What is most important to good housekeeping?" The following business items were dealt with: Moved by Mrs. Fred Bradshaw and Mrs. Nelson Martin, that Miss Marjorie Gilmore be Leader of Girls' Work, and Mrs. Fred Milligan be assistant. It was decided that we apply for the Government grant. It was moved by Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw and Mrs. P. Milligan, that the Sick Committee take a box of fruit to a sick member. The Home Economics Convener took charge of the program, which was as follows: A reading by Mrs. Bowkett, "The Spirit of the Home". This was followed by some practical ideas in housekeeping by the Leader, who also spoke of the need of more encouragement for the girls in Club work, and suggested that good materials be used in the girls' work. Mrs. W. G. Richmond then gave a report on the convention held in Kingston on October 21st and 22nd. A contest, "Name the Tools", was then enjoyed. Mrs. Harry Amey and Mrs. W. G. Richmond winning the prizes. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which lunch was served by the hostess and her committee.

A Canadian Girls in Training Group was organized recently, with the following officers elected for the year: Leader, Mrs. A. W. Seaton; President, Miss Marguerite Gilmore; Secretary, Winnifred Steele; Treasurer, Louise Kinmont. The meetings will be held the third Thursday in each month.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Milligan and family spent Thursday in Belleville.

Miss Marguerite Gilmore and Mrs. W. G. Richmond attended the Leaders' Training School for the Homemaking Club in Girls' Work, in connection with the Women's Institute. The project this year is "Sleeping Garments". The school was held in the Agricultural Board Room in Napanee, with Miss Jean M. Scott, Home Economics Coach, in charge of the class.

Miss Marguerite Gilmore and Mrs. W. G. Laughlin were delegates to the Young People's Convention held in Gananoque over the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Richmond spent the week end at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. W. Stratton, at Belleville.

MOSCOW

Moscow, Oct. 23. — The anniversary services of the Moscow United Church were held on Sunday, October 10th, both morning and evening, with Rev. William J. Fidler, of Princess St. United Church, at Kingston, presiding. Forceful and inspiring sermons were given at both services.

At the morning service, Mr. Elgin Vannest, of Enterprise, sang two solos accompanied by his daughter, Miss Vivian Varnest. At the evening service Mrs. Geo. McFarland and Mrs. Harold Stover gave a duet. The Moscow choir also gave one number, accompanied by Mrs. Lampkins.

The thankoffering for the day was well over two hundred dollars.

A pleasant event was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Drew, on October 18th, when about thirty members of Mrs. George Drew's family gave a surprise party on the occasion of her 70th birthday. The event was a complete surprise to her climaxed by the presence of her daughter, Ida Drew, of Toronto, who came specially for the celebration. The dining table was decorated with streamers of pink and white and centred with a huge birthday cake. During the evening, two little grandchildren, Garry and Mary Drew, brought in the gifts from the family. Following the serving of delicious refreshments, the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mrs. Drew many more years of happy usefulness. Included among the guests were her two sisters-in-law from Long Lake, Mrs. Nellie Crenk and Mrs. Fannie Crenk. Mrs. E. L. VanLaiven, Kingston, was also present.

A gloom was cast over the neighborhood on Wednesday, Oct. 20th, when over the local telephone wires came the sad news that Mr. Harry W. Reid had passed away. The late Mr. Reid was one of Moscow's finest citizens.

Mr. Frank McLaren has returned from the Kingston General Hospital, much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Huffman and Marjorie, spent the week end with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Armstrong spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Armstrong's mother at Yarn.

Mrs. A. Lennox of Ottawa has returned home following a two week's visit at Maplehurst Farm.

DORLAND

Dorland, Oct. 30. — The heavy rain of the past week has held up fall work, but it should ensure a supply of water for the winter.

Everyone is hoping the mild weather will continue for some time longer. Many trees are bare of foliage, but dahlias, clematis, and other flowers continue to bloom out in the lawns.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Miller and family, of Milford, were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. W. J. Mayes last Sunday.

A number from here attended the anniversary services conducted in Hayburn Church last Sunday by Rev. W. R. Merrick, of Selby.

Mrs. G. L. Minaker and daughter, Phyllis, of Milford, were guests of Mrs. J. J. Bird on Sunday last.

The members of the Y. P. S. were guests of the Sillsville-Conway Society at a Hallowe'en party in Sillsville Hall on Friday evening. The local society hope to get their winter's program arranged in the near future. Meetings were suspended during the summer months.

SILLSVILLE

Sillsville, Nov. 1. — The closing exercises of Sillsville Sunday School were held on Sunday morning. This Sunday School opened for the summer on Easter Sunday, with Mrs. Harold Hough as Superintendent and Leader of the Young People. Mrs. Leslie Mollow, teacher of the Juniors, and Mrs. Sharpe and Mrs. Windover in charge of the Primary Department. Rev. Mr. Crawford was present and gave the children a story taken from the Song of Solomon on "The little foxes that spoil the vine". In the absence of the Treasurer, Miss Mary Creighton, Mrs. Windover gave a detailed report of the attendance and finances. She stated that every first Sunday in the month had been devoted to Missions, under the leadership of Miss Dorothy Cuthill, and the collection kept for that purpose, and that every second Sunday in the month they had had a temperance program. There were four who had been there every Sunday (26), two from the Primary, Clara Lloyd and John Wright, and two from the Juniors, Frances Sharpe and John Creighton. To these were presented special prizes. The Primary teachers also gave each scholar their attendance cards and a little book of Bible stories. Mr. Crawford gave each Junior their attendance card and a book. Then Mrs. Windover showed the Cradle Roll certificates for the year and read out the names. There were several who paid birthday dues, and then John Creighton gave a reading entitled "The First Armistice", followed by a reading given by Hugh Sharpe on "Thanksgivings". Just before the closing, Miss Moira McLean, on behalf of the Sunday School, spoke a few words of appreciation to all the teachers and officers, and especially to Mrs. Hough, for her work with the Young People's Class. Mrs. Hough responded suitably, and then Mr. Crawford pronounced the Mizpah benediction.

The Young People's Union of Sillsville and Conway held a masquerade party in the hall last Friday evening. They had as their guests the Young People from Adolphustown. So good were the costumes that the prizes, Mrs. J. P. Cuthill, Mrs. McLean, and Mr. Roy Smith, had a hard time deciding, but finally they gave the prize for the best costume to Mrs. Helen Smith, dressed as a nun, and to Mr. James Smith, as an old grandfather, won the prize for the most amusing costume. Many different Hallowe'en games were played, and Mrs. Rod Sharpe, as a gypsy, had a special corner, where she told fortunes. Doughnuts and cider brought this successful affair to a close.

CANADA'S OLDEST FURNITURE SHOP GOES OVER THE TOP

Gibbard Employees Oversubscribe Quota to Gain 41st 3-Star Pennant Against all Ontario.

At a colorful ceremony, attended by all executives and employees, at noon on Tuesday, October 26th, the three Star War Finance V Award Pennant was presented to Mr. Jack McPherson, President of the Gibbard Furniture Shops, Limited, by Mr. Gordon Thorley, Victory Loan Organizer for Lennox and Addington, together with the Certificate of Honour signed by the Minister of Finance, Hon. J. L. Ilsley.

Mr. McPherson thanked Mr. Thorley on behalf of the employees, and thanked the employees for their co-operation and assistance in making this event possible by their purchase of bonds.

Of particular interest to all the staff was the announcement that the Gibbard Furniture Shops Limited was the 41st institution in all Ontario to receive this award. The pennant, which now proudly flies over the Oldest Furniture Plant in Canada, is given only to those establishments 90 per cent or more of whose employees invest 15 per cent. or more of their monthly payroll.

All credit should be given the employees, who, by whatever means they use, save part of their earnings each week to invest in Victory Bonds.

In this instance, over the 90 per cent. participation of the employees and 125 per cent. of the dollar volume necessary to win the award was secured.

Naturally enough, the Gibbard employees are anxious to "Speed the Victory" to bring home safely again the men and women of their plant, their fellow craftsmen, their fathers and older brothers. 25 per cent. of their total number who now are on active service with the Armed Forces of Canada who look with interest at the doings of the Old Company back home.

This ceremony, together with the inspiring array of four Certificates of Honour hanging in the Main Office of the Company for all to see, is indeed the fitting end to their efforts in giving, loans, is visible proof of their efforts.

"Battle of Britain" Picture Shown Two Capacity Audiences

The seating capacity of The Granada Theatre in Napanee was taxed to its capacity Wednesday night for the showing of the film "Battle of Britain". Through the courtesy of the management, the facilities of this theatre were given without charge to the National War Finance Committee for the special showing, a courtesy for which the Committee is deeply grateful.

The picture is 100 per cent. authentic. The shots of Britain, of the work of the Royal Air Force, the civilians, the armed forces of Britain naturally need no building up, as is manifest as the reels unfold. The shots of the German sequence were from captured German films which placed together by Major Frank Capra make a powerful and truly inspiring picture.

To the writer, it brought home with ghastly forcefulness, the part that we in Canada must play. How much harder we must work and save and lend, if the finger of history should not point to us and say that we, by failing in our efforts to buy bonds and equip our soldiers, should be the cause of letting the people of Britain undergo a repetition of the Air War carried to them by the Nazis.

If we have not hated the overlords of the Nazi party sufficiently, the showing of this picture will certainly cause an increase in the hate we must all feel if we are to do our best.

An added feature of the program was the appearance on the platform of D. R. Hall, M.D., Mayor of Napanee and County Chairman of the National War Finance Committee, who spoke strongly of the results so far obtained in Lennox and Addington, and introduced Lt. Marshall Close as guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Close saw service in the last war and since then has spent considerable time in Germany. Mr. Close gave a remarkable speech which presented some splendid thoughts to the large audience, and cast a new light on the part Canada must play in the war. Telling of the heroism of our troops, Mr. Close introduced a man who could give first hand information on the subject, Sergt. Frank Wheaton, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, who participated in the first movement of the Canadian forces in France, which, because of the calls for aid from the French Republic, had to be withdrawn. Sergt. Wheaton took part in the memorable attack on Dieppe where he was severely wounded and since has been returned to Canada for treatment in Christie Street Hospital. Sergt. Wheaton spoke briefly of his experiences and thrilled as well as inspired his listeners, and left a challenge to all to get behind their troops. We are classing behind them in our efforts to "Speed The Victory."

RED CROSS NEWS

Mrs. George Switzer, and Miss E. Robertson were hostesses at the regular Saturday afternoon tea. There was a good attendance, with work being done on the Greek relief shipment which leaves the rooms in a few days.

The Finance Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. W. J. Wiggins is planning an afternoon sale to be held in the Armouries the 20th of November. Donations for this sale will be gratefully received. Proceeds will go to the provision of Prisoner of War boxes.

Five special detachments of the Canadian Forestry Corps have been detailed to cut cordwood to keep the Canadian Army supplied with fuel.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM RUFUS BABCOCK

Death entered the Wilton district again, when it suddenly called Mr. William Rufus Babcock to rest. Mr. Babcock had been in failing health but was about as usual, doing light chores, and assisting in harvesting the garden vegetables during the day. He was taken suddenly ill during Wednesday night, and passed away. He had spent a good deal of his life as a farmer near Wilton. He and Mrs. Babcock celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary a couple of years ago. Mrs. Babcock was formerly Miss Christina Patterson.

He leaves to mourn, besides his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Archie Card, and three sons, Coleman of Whitetown, N.Y., and Harold and Kenneth at Wilton. Another son died in childhood.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Friday afternoon, Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth officiating. The floral tributes were beautiful and the flower - bearers were Messrs. Heslip Babcock, Johnson Stuart, George Wymers and Milford Love. The pallbearers were Messrs. Robt. Asselstine, H. B. Mills, J. E. Miller, Kenneth Martin, Guy Simmons and Tom McCrudden. A quartette consisting of J. E. Miller, Robert Asselstine, Mrs. G. Redden and Mrs. M. Lee, sang "When My Soul Reaches Home."

Interment took place in the family plot at Wilton Cemetery.

OBITUARY

HARRY W. REID

The death of Harry W. Reid occurred as his residence, Moscow, on Wednesday, October 20th.

The late Mr. Reid suffered a stroke five years ago, from which he never wholly recovered.

He was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reid, and was 65 years old at the time of his death.

He was married ten years ago to Daisy Victoria, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Salsbury, of Camden East.

There are left to mourn his passing, besides his sorrowing widow, two young children, also two sisters, Mrs. William Asselstine, of Trenton, and Mrs. Allan Huffman, of Moscow. There are also two brothers, Reid and Cecil, of Moscow. A brother, Charles Reid, was drowned while hunting, two years ago.

The late Mr. Reid was a successful farmer and specialized in purebred cattle. He was a gentleman in every sense of the term and ever solicitous for the well-being of the neighborhood.

He was a member of the United Church and a staunch Conservative in politics, and took a keen interest in the work of the Loyal Orange Association, was a charter member of Prince of Wales Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 299, Centreville.

A telegram announcing the death of the late Mr. Reid reached Right Worshipful, the Grand Lodge of Ontario East, then in annual session at Perth, Ontario, and on receipt of this message, the Grand Master, Mr. C. W. Hodgson, of Hallburton, Ont., requested a three minutes silence out of respect for the departed brother.

The funeral services were held from his late residence on Friday, October 22nd, under the auspices of the L.O.L. Association. Rev. William Fletcher, of Yarker, had charge of the services, and spoke comforting words to the bereaved.

Mrs. Charles Reid, widow of the late Charles Reid, journeyed from Waubaushene, Ont., to be present at the obsequies.

The pallbearers were Johnston Cousins, Harry Robinson, Edward Purcell, Fraser Bell, William Jackson, Wilmer Fraser.

Interment took place in the family plot in the Moscow cemetery.

The Late Fred H. Armstrong

The sudden death of Fred Henry Armstrong occurred at his home near Forest Mills, on Monday, October 25th. Mr. Armstrong who was in his fiftieth year, was a patient in the Kingston General Hospital last spring, following a heart attack, but had been home for some months and apparently in good health up to the time of his death. He was found dead in the barnyard at his home by his wife and son, shortly after he had been talking to his wife.

The late Mr. Armstrong was born on the farm where he died and had lived there all his life. He was a son of the late John and Augusta Armstrong. He was very well and very favorably known to a large circle of friends, who heard with great regret of his sudden death.

He was married twice and is survived by his second wife, formerly Mildred Bertram. His first wife, Marguerite Asselstine, died twelve years ago. He also leaves eight children: Harold Sharps Corners; Muriel and Vera, at Trenton; Helen, Sharps Corners; children of the first wife; and Shirley, Lyle, Glenn and Allan at home. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. William Anderson of Deseronto, and Mrs. Olive Campbell, Toronto; and one brother, Perry, at Sharps Corners.

His funeral was conducted at Forest Mills United Church by Rev. Mr. Bonnell. Rev. J. T. Caswell and Mr. Hancock. Burial followed at Riverview Cemetery in Napanee.

The bearers were Messrs. John Donovan, Charles Kimmett, Robert Cook, Clare Davison, Archie Richmond and Fred McFarlane. The flower bearers were Lyle Cook, Reid Cronk, Grant Kimmerly, Stanley Detlor, Ray and Fred Cook, Francis Donovan, Earl and Carl Richmond.

PRESENTATION TO REV. C. C. AND MRS. BRAZILL AND FAMILY

On Wednesday evening, October 20, the congregation of St. St. Alban's Anglican Church, Adolphustown and St. Paul's Anglican Church, Sandhurst, met at a joint gathering in Sandhurst Parish Hall, to honor Rev. C. C. and Mrs. Brazill and family.

Rev. Mr. Brazill has been the popular rector of this parish for the past four years, and has resigned to accept the parish of Stirling.

The evening was expressed by all as Mr. Brazill has been an outstanding and efficient minister. Under his capable leadership the Church has made unprecedented advancements. His magnificent contribution of talent to the parish has been one that will uplift it to a lasting place of high esteem among the three parishes.

Mr. Roy Johnston, Adolphustown, acted as chairman. The early part of the evening was spent playing euchre and Chinese checkers. Later the chairman requested Rev. and Mrs. Brazill to come to the platform and, on behalf of St. Alban's, Adolphustown, Mr. Frank Mallory presented them with a substantial cheque. Mr. Johnston reading the presentation address.

On behalf of St. Paul's, Sandhurst, Mrs. F. Ham and Mrs. C. Hines, presented Rev. and Mrs. Brazill with a purse of money. Mrs. Claringbold reading the address.

Mr. Brazill speaking on behalf of his wife and family, voiced his appreciation and thanks. He recalled his past seven years of ministry in the parish, closing with an impressive farewell. The hymn "Blest be the Tie that Binds" was then sung.

Refreshments were served and all expressed best wishes for happiness and success to Mr. and Mrs. Brazill and family in their new home, at Stirling.

The Late Mrs. Corinne Burt

Corinne Myra Burt, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Cummings, passed away very suddenly Friday morning, October 29th, 1943 in the General Hospital, Kingston Ont. She was born on October 2nd, 1898, at Big Creek and attended the Napanee Collegiate. In 1920 she married Chas. E. Burt, and with him lived in Kingston, Cornwall and Ottawa. To this union was born two children William Frederick and Barbara Joan, who survive the late Mrs. Burt. Besides her husband and children William Frederick and Barbara Joan, who survive the late Mrs. Burt. Besides her husband and children William Frederick and Barbara Joan, who survive the late Mrs. Burt. Besides her husband and five years she has lived in Kingston, where she owned and operated the Corinne Cummings Beauty Centre.

Funeral services and interment were in the White Church, Morven, on Sunday, where the many friends present, and floral offerings, attested to the esteem in which she was held.

Both parents survive, as well as three sisters, Mrs. James Mills, Miss Jennie, formerly of New York, and Mrs. P. E. Cook, of Dearborn, Mich.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and, Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines producing fuel wood and other necessary forest products; in base metal mines, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. This those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

Tamworth Continuation School News

On Thursday, October 28th, Mr. Doody, Assistant Field Secretary of the St. John's Ambulance Association, Toronto, visited the Tamworth Continuation School and gave a short address to the students on the importance of First Aid in connection with the course in National Defence. He spoke of the history of the organization and its eight points represented in the beatitudes. Many examples of life-saving can be traced to training in First Aid. Wherever first aid stations are necessary sometimes the equipment is installed free. The work has the recommendation of the local doctors. The speaker referred to a recent case of apparent drowning in the City of Belleville, where the pattern responded to treatment after an hour and a quarter. He also referred to the excellent work of the St. John's Ambulance Corps at the Toronto Exhibition, where it is on record that 600 cases have been ministered to. Quite apart from this, the speaker said that happiness is a by-product that comes only when we do something for the other fellow. He quoted David Brewster, who said that he at first studied to develop reason and judgment, but he had come to do it because of the joy that filled his heart, in referring to his remarks, Mr. H. J. Miller, the Principal, complimented Mr. Doody on his fine appeal to good citizenship. He said, also, that knowledge which would give one the supreme joy of saving a life, was both worthy and commendable.

The Commencement Exercises of the Tamworth Continuation School will be held on the evenings of November 11th and 12th. The program will be given on both nights, but the dance will be on Friday night only.

Mrs. Scott Gilmour represented the Staff of the Tamworth Continuation School at the annual District meeting of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation on Saturday in Kingston, at the LaSalle Hotel.

"Teachers and pupils are grateful for the improvements in the condition of the roadway and approach to the school. The gravel was hauled last week and the grading is not yet completed.

WEDDING BELLS

GILBERT – ROSE

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Cathedral on Thursday, October 21, 1943, by the Rev. R. M. Seymour, when Nora Nathella, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rose, Napanee became the bride of Harold Wilmot, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert, Newburgh.

The bride was becomingly attired in an airline blue crepe suit with navy accessories and wore a corsage of roses cornflowers and bouvardia.

The bride was attended by Miss Amanda Raybould of Toronto, who wore a frock of light blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mr. Vernon Rose, brother of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony the wedding party motored to Kingston where dinner was served to the immediate relatives at the Roy York Cafe. Later the bride and groom left for Montreal and upon their return a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by over fifty relatives. Suitable gifts were presented to the bridesmaid and the groomsman.

The bride, before her marriage, was presented with a beautiful chenille bedspread by friends, where she was employed. She also received a number of lovely gifts from girl friends at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. E. Cole, Earl Street, on the Friday evening prior to her marriage.

OBITUARIES

JAMES DANIEL McCARTEN, V.S.

At Lonsdale, on Monday, October 25th, 1943, at the home of his brother-in-law, D. J. McHenry James D. McCarten, V.S., passed away, after an illness of one week. Deceased had been in poor health for some time, but his demise was unexpected. He was born in Prince Edward County, on March 2nd, 1876, a son of the late James McCarten and Ellen McDonald. He was a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, class 1905, and practiced in South Bend, Bremen and Plymouth, Indiana, U.S.A., and also in Napanee, Perth and Bath, Ontario. On October 26th, 1926, he married Florence Channon, who predeceased him. He is survived by his two sisters, Mrs. William R. Gregg, Elgin, Illinois, U.S.A., and Mrs. D. J. McHenry, Lonsdale, Ontario.

The funeral on October 27th was conducted from Lonsdale to Northville, where Rev. C. F. O'Gorman sang requiem high mass, and Dean Leary was present in the sanctuary and also conducted the committal services at the family plot in St. Patrick's cemetery, Auguste.

The pallbearers were John P. McCulloch, Frank McAuliffe, Joseph McGuinness, Joseph Coffey, Harold McCullough, and Joseph McCullough.

MRS. WM. KING

The funeral of the late Edith Dunwoody, wife of Wm. King, Shannonville, was held from her late residence, on the 2nd Concession of Tyendinaga, Sunday afternoon, October 31st. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Langford of the United Church, Shannonville, assisted by Rev. H. B. Herrington of Newburgh. Mrs. Herrington and daughter, Mrs. Washman, contributed greatly to the service by singing a beautiful duet, "God's Way". The high esteem in which she was held by friends and the community was shown by the many floral tributes and the large numbers who were present at the service.

The late Mrs. King, who passed away at the home of her son at Newburgh, had been in failing health for the past few months. She was only in her 62nd year and was born on the 6th of Tyendinaga, a daughter of the late James Dunwoody and late Elizabeth McKinney. She took an active part in church work at Ebenezer before her marriage, and since her marriage had been prominent at Shannonville as long as her health permitted.

Surviving are her husband, one daughter, Pearle, of Strathcona; two sons, Harold, of Tyendinaga, and Walter, at home, and one brother, Thomas William Dunwoody of Ebenezer; her only sister, Hattie Jones, of Thomasburg, also two grandchildren, Mrs. Edith and Gerald Maude King. Her only sister, Belle Dunwoody, predeceased her a few years ago.

The pallbearers were the deceased's nephews, Messrs Burton Kimmett, Reginald Kimmett, Morley Kimmett, Arthur King Malcolm Little, and Floyd Goodfellow.

The flowers were carried by other nephews.

Interment was made in Melrose cemetery.

DUTIES OUTLINED MAJOR E. WATTS PROVOST M.D. 3

Major Edwin Watts, Deputy Assistant Provost Marshal of Military District No. 3, is the man in charge of the Canadian Provost Corps in this district.

Former Chief Constable of Napanee, Ontario, Major Watts wields the "Tree hand in the Kid Glove" in keeping good order and military discipline with the men of the Canadian Army who are on leave or furlough in Military District No. 3.

No. 33 Company Canadian Provost Corps, under the command of Major P. Gray with headquarters in Kingston, is under the supervision of Major Watts as well as Military Detention Barracks at Barriefield.

The duties of Provost personnel are many and are a 24-hour-a-day job. Among the varied duties which members of No. 33 Company C.Pro. C. are called upon to do are the patrolling of streets and railway trains throughout the district; station patrols, apprehension of absentees. They are also called upon from time to time to for escort duty of prisoners of war on arrival in Canada, until they are placed in the destination Internment Camp.

The Duty of a Provost is not, as many people believe, to stop service personnel from enjoying themselves but to see that all service personnel conduct themselves in a soldierly manner at all time. Every assistance is afforded the service man in seeing that he gets and accurate information with regard to train times and where lodgings are to be found for those who are away from their stations.

Provost Personnel are required to take two months basic training before they are sent forward to the Canadian Provost Corps Training Centre for a three months course in Provost training. Every phase of Military Training is taught at the Centre, which covers the use of rifle, revolver, Sten gun Bren gun Tommy gun, map reading, unarmed duty and the art of Judo. After the completion of this course, they are ready to proceed as a reinforcement for overseas. Provosts must have a better than average education, due to the fact that they are called upon to make many investigations in all matters concerning military affairs.

Major Watts points out that this district the finest co-operation is given by the R.C.M.P., Ontario Provincial Police and Municipal authorities.

Moscow Crowds Hall To Hear Victory Loan Message

Organized to the last detail by the popular Victory Loan Salesman Fred Bell, and ably assisted by Edgar Drew, Reeve of the Township, a meeting of the citizens of the village and surrounding neighborhood crowded the Orange Hall in Moscow to witness the Victory Loan entertainment. Mr. Drew capably filled the office of chairman of the meeting and in a few brief words welcomed the gathering there. Moving pictures of the Canadian troops in Sicily were shown, as well as the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor.

Mr. Drew introduced the speaker of the evening, Major Ketchesont of the Public Relations Section of the National War Finance Committee. Major Ketchesont, who gave a forceful and instructive speech, prefacing his remarks with an outline of the differences in cost of this mechanized war against the manpower loss of the last war. Speaking of the sacrifice of the people of the country compared to that of England during the blitz, ours were nothing. Major Ketchesont concluded his remarks by asking each member of the audience to go "all out" in his efforts for the Fifth Victory Loan to support the Victory.

SAVING FOR BONDS

Hello Homemakers! Do you sometimes feel that you are handicapped in buying a Victory Bond at the time of issue out of your savings. Canning and preserving have probably depleted your budget but you too are convinced of the great investment your country needs to take care of your girl or boy in the services.

A suggestion is to plan plain Nutrithrift menus and have a bank box on the table labelled 'Meat Fees.' From these donations you will make the special pie or cake. From your savings you will put away a monthly contribution towards a Victory Bond.

A few saving suggestions:

1 Use oven for complete meals.
2 Use a colander for a steamer when certain products are being scalloped.
3 Cook sufficient staple products for a meal during the next day. Old fashioned stews and skillet meals also save fuel.
4 Serve combination luncheon dishes for example: cooked corn and stewed tomatoes and cheese.
5 Measure carefully.
6 Reduce electricity when product is boiling; turn switches off a few minutes before end of cooking period to save fuel.
8

Nutri-thrift supper suggestions:

1 Hamburger with gravy, fried potatoes, steamed tomatoes, rice dessert.
2 Savory spaghetti with vegetables, brown bread. applesauce, doughnuts.
3 Pumpkin soup, cottage cheese, sliced tomatoes, toast, stewed pears.
4 Meat loaf, browned potatoes oven-steamed onions, shortcake.
5 Braised short ribs, cornflake potatoes, oven - cooked turnips, baked pears in maple syrup.
6 Baked fish, potato and tomato scallop, baked squash, cottage pudding.

RECIPES

Potato and Tomato Scallop

Four cups cubed potatoes, half-cup tomatoes, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper two teaspoons onion, two tablespoons parsley.

Combine ingredients and pour into greased casserole. Cover and bake for 45 minutes in electric oven at 350 degrees.

Pumpkin Soup

Two cups cleved pumpkin, four tablespoons grated onion, three egg yolks, five cups milk, salt and pepper, one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg.

Simmer pumpkin, onion and flavourings together for five minutes. Beat egg yolks, add milk and cook in a double boiler until slightly thickened, then add pumpkin gradually. Heat to boiling. Serve with slices of cucumber.

Dutch Plum Cake

One and one-quarter cups flour, one and one-quarter teaspoons baking powder, half-teaspoon of salt, four tablespoons sugar, one-quarter cup shortening, one egg, three tablespoons milk, one and one-half cups canned plums (or plums), half-teaspoon cinnamon. Sift and measure flour. Sift again with baking powder, salt and two tablespoons sugar. Cream shortening and gradually add flour mixture. Add beaten egg and milk and stir until well combined. Spread in greased shallow pan. Arrange halves of plums in rows. Sprinkle the remaining two tablespoons sugar and cinnamon over plums. Bake 35 minutes in electric oven at 350 degrees.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. C.M. asks: Recipe for quince jelly and why did my mixture not jel last year ?

Answer:

Quince Preserves

Three quarts sugar, three cups water, four quarts prepared fruit. Never cook quinces in syrup before steaming or boiling them in water until tender as sugar hardens it on uncooked fruit. Scrub the quince, with a stiff brush, wash, pare, core and quarter, dropping the pieces into cold water to prevent discoloration. Save all the good parings and cores for jelly. Measure the prepared fruit, put it into a preserving kettle, cover with cold water and cook until the fruit is soft then skim out and drain. Save the water to be used with parings, cores and gnarly fruit for jelly. Make a syrup of three-quarters cup of sugar to one cup water and boil for five minutes. Add the prepared quince quarters and cook rapidly until the fruit is clear. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal. Many persons prefer quince preserves made with an equal measure of sauces or plums or pears. The method of making is the same as for quinces alone.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her care of The Napanee Beaver. Send in your suggestion on homemaking problems and watch the column for replies.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

My chattered heroes ! What will you think of next ? I find it easy now to believe all those fancy stories you used to tell about your pioneer ancestor and her matchless courage ! Frankly, at the time I thought they were heavily embroidered but now that I can see her coming out in you, I take it all back. By the way, I never heard of anyone being lent a trailer before. What is this strange power of yours? Incidentally, you have some extraordinarily useful friends! Oh well, it makes parasites like myself a luxury.

What is going to happen to your pampered apartment? I expect you will keep it, will you not, so that you will have some place to roost when it gets too cold for trailer life? Is there really no accommodation available in the vicinity of Dave's new station? Not that it surprises me! House hunters in Kingston give a hollow laugh when you ask what luck they are having. Well, my little darling, the best of luck to you. I hope you have a wonderful jaunt and satisfy your thirst for gypsying.

I can see where I am going to have to watch my step. Last night at a Mess Meeting, the rules governing the Sergeants' Mess were altered, and the fines fixed for any infrec-

The halcyon days when one could lean one's elbows on the table or light a cigarette at will are a thing of the past. Now we have to behave like sergeants, and ladies. It may irk me at times but I feel that it is a good thing. Living away from home tends to make one grow careless of the little niceties. In this connection, a friend of mine tells an almost incredible story about having lunch with her mother at a swanky restaurant when her Mess habits proved too strong for her. As I think I have told you, other ranks, with the exception of sergeants, serve themselves cafeteria style. At the end of the first course, my friend (that is not her name) automatically stood up, briskly removed her plate and headed for the kitchen. Recalled by a startled exclamation from her mother, she sheepishly returned, wishing that the floor would swallow her up. You see what I mean ?

I am afraid I am showing unmistakable signs of what I used to call "temperament" in the good old days and what you have been known to call "just plain temper." The truth is that my contribution to the war effort is so trivial compared to what I would like it to be, that it gets me down. I suppose the unvarnished truth is that I thirst to be spectacular; but give me credit for curbing my leanings. Naturally there is a glamorous angle to the women in khaki story but there is another side of the picture which is not given o much publicity — a steadfast devotion to jobs that must be done . . . long hours . . . unquestioning obedience. This is where my duty lies and I would be a rank hypocrite if I made myself out to be a martyr for taken as a whole, life in the C.W.A.C. is good and most enjoyable. In fact, I am afraid that there are going to be a large number of restless little "quacks" (objectionable term) when this blinking war is over." Without a doubt it is going to take some time for our girls to "find" themselves when they return to civilian life, but I doubt if it will be any harder for them than it will be for employees in war industries to return to normal wages and post-war conditions.

If I continue in this vein you will accuse me of ranting and with a little encouragement, that is exactly what I would do. I am in the right frame of mind for soap-box vaporings, but what is the good ? I am no match for you in a controversy and I need my energy. I have to beard my officer in her den and convince her that it would be a grave miscarriage of justice to refuse to grin the weekend pass which I am requesting. No easy matter as I have used my passes for this month but as a pastmaster of skulduggery, I think I can wangle it.

Bon voyage, my intrepid pioneer. I will be thinking of you when the west wind rattles the windows. However, the weathermen promises a glorious autumn so actually I feel easy in my mind about you. Besides with your happy faculty for falling on your feet, I should be a fool to worry about you. Finally if there is any worrying to be done that omnipotent husband of yours will probably want to take care of it. So have a wonderful time and remember I like florid postcards.

Lots of love,

NICKEY.

"Battle of Britain" Shown at Newburgh

At a well attended meeting held in the Town Hall, Newburgh, on Wednesday, October 20th, pictures of the Canadian forces in action in Sicily were shown, also the stirring film "Battle of Britain." Mr. Henry Ward, the chairman of the meeting, welcomed the audience and introduced Major P. K. Ketchenson Master of Ceremonies. An outstanding event of the evening was the presentation by Mr. Thurley to Reeve Ward of the Township Pledge Flag to be hung on the flag staff signifying the determination of the residents of Newburgh to go over their quota in sales in the Fifth Victory Loan.

Mr. Alf. Tomlins of Napanee, made a very forceful and appealing speech in which he outlined the desirability of owning Victory Bonds.

With the singing of "God Save the King" the meeting was closed, leaving in the minds of all who saw the pictures and heard the address a complete picture of what is necessary for every Canadian to do to Speed The Victory.

Exchange of Rationed Commodities Made Legal by Prices Board

Ottawa (C.P.) — The Prices Board announced last week, an amendment to its consolidated ration order to permit neighborly exchanges of rationed goods that have been lawfully acquired. The amendment is effective now.

Under the rationing order, gifts, loans or exchanges of rationed commodities have been prohibited as a "necessary provision" to minimize opportunity for "deliberate abuses and evasions" of regulations.

There's never been any intention, says the board to restrict normal neighborly exchanges in small quantities and no steps have been taken to stop them, although—on paper—they have been prohibited since rationing began.

The clarifying order is similar to a recent amendment to the British ration regulations.

LOCAL HOLSTEIN NOMINATED FOR ALL - CANADIAN

Orm-by Echo Fobes, who was first prize four-year-old heifer for W. G. Cowle, Napanee, at the recent Holstein Championship Show at Orono, has been nominated for the All-Canadian Contest.

Altogether 85 animals owned by 74 breeders in seven provinces of the Dominion have been nominated for the All-Canadian Contest which is being conducted by the Holstein-Friesian Journal. Of these nominees 60 are from Ontario. A committee composed of the judges at the major Canadian shows will select from the nominated animals an All-Canadian and a Reserve All-Canadian Awards in each class. Results will be announced early in December.

What are we going to do about Victory Bonds?

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF WAR THE GERMANS STILL OCCUPY ALL THE COUNTRIES THEY HAVE INVADED. THE JAPS STILL HOLD MOST OF THE TERRITORY THEY TOOK. THE RUSSIANS ARE FIGHTING TO REGAIN THEIR OWN COUNTRY. THE CHINESE ARE FIGHTING TO REGAIN THEIR LOST TERRITORY. THE BATTLE FRONT WERE JUST GETTING GOING. ON THE HOME FRONT WE MUST KEEP ON GOING. WE MUST BUY MORE VICTORY BONDS.

It should not be necessary to call attention to the fact that the Victory Loan in Lennox and Addington is not getting the support it should get..

Every Citizen of Lennox and Addington must be a bond buyer. If you have not bought yet do not wait for a bond salesman to call on you. Look up your salesman — or call at the local National War Finance Committee Headquarters. Do your part to help to end the war quickly. Help to bring our boys and girls home from the fighting front.

If you have bought bonds with cash you had on hand — buy more bonds on the convenient savings plan, which spreads your payments over a six months' period.

You will help to speed the victory—

And you will be saving money which you will have for the things you will need and the things you will want when the war ends.

Annual Convention ox and Addington Education Council

...ty-First Annual Convention ...ennox and Addington Reli... ...ation Council was held on ...day, October 20, in Camden ...ed Church.

...pening worship service was ...d by Rev. G. M. Chidley, of ...Church, Napanee.

...me for the Convention was ...n Action Through Neighbor...hood," and the first theme ...Christian Education Ad... was given by Rev. W. G. ...He traced the course of the ...Christian Advance" during ...t two years. The advance ...ins being because of the ...strength of the forces of evil and the ...relaxation of church attendance and ...church work.

...The first year of the advance was ...given largely to the co-ordination of ...the work in the various denomina...tions. Fifty-three county conventions ...were planned for across Ontario and, ...as a result, 2,000 Sunday schools were ...definitely contacted.

...The second year has been given to ...a more intensive programme of week-...day religious instruction, with empha...sis on summer camps, and religious ...instruction in day school's.

...Now, the time has come for action ...rather than words, and a program ...of more intensive work through town...ship units has been planned.

...Rev. C. D. McLellan followed up ...this thought under the theme, "What ...Can We do About it?" He said that ...there are endless possibilities in the ...things which we can do in a church. ...We must, however, be sure that the ...project is necessary and worthy, be...fore launching it.

...Four definite projects were outlin...ed. 1. Home Religion. A church ...school might well attempt a campaign ...to interest parents in a more religious ...home attitude. This might take the ...form of an effort to relate home and ...school, a series of mothers' meetings ...to help in the rearing of children, ...or a young adults' group where home ...life and child training can be dis...cussed. The use of devotional book...lets, such as The Upper Room, was ...stressed.

...2. Census of Homes and Home Visi...tation. This is a very worth-while ...project. A census, if nothing else, stirs ...things up. The matter of home visit...ing by elders was widely discussed. ...It was argued that this was a good ...project but opinion was divided as ...to whether prayer should be offered ...under all circumstances. It was ...agreed, however, that it is a Christi...an's duty to bear witness to his faith ...at all times whether there are vis...ible results or not.

...3. Young People's activities. Young ...people can undertake many projects ...of value to themselves and to the ...church. A program of Missionary Ed...ucation with a monetary goal of ...$25,000 for missions, and $1,000 for ...orphaned missions, has been plan...ned. Leadership training, though ...difficult, due to war conditions, can ...still be done. It is being carried on ...in camps, winter schools, and by cor...respondence.

...4. A programme of Religious Educa...tion Day schools is a field with wide ...scope and full reward open to min...ister and lay people.

...The Nominating Committee, con...sisting of Mrs. F. B. Elliott, Mrs. ...(Rev.) Herrington, Mr. Sam Baird ...and Mr. Maitland Jackson, was ap...pointed. The Resolutions Committee, ...headed by Rev. Crawford, assisted by ...Rev. A. C. McCallum, Miss Duff, Mrs. ...Findlay and Mr. Earl Craig, was also ...named.

...The morning session was dismissed by Rev. McCallum.

...AFTERNOON SESSION

...The afternoon session opened with worship led by Rev. A. W. Seaton. The roll call revealed that there were 62 delegates present.

...The report of the Nominating Com...mittee, read by Mr. Sam Baird was as follows: Past President, Mr. Elgin Vannest; President, Mr. Russell Craig; 1st Vice-President, Mr. Karl Sexsmith; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Fred Bell; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Maurice McLeod. Departmental Superintendents: Children, Mrs. H. B. Herrington; Boys, Mr. Don. Paul; Girls, Miss Marguerite Gilmore; Young People, Mr. Don. Hough Adults, Mr. Clare Sexsmith. They all agreed that the real problem is the lack of in-born religion, and that this problem can best be attacked through youth. They suggested that the young people who have joined should be given some sort of employment that the church introduce a mid-week activity for young people, and that home influence be bettered.

BATH

...Bath, Nov. 1. — On Sunday, October 24th, the members of St. John's congregation were privileged to have as the guest speaker at the evening service the Rev. Canon Wilkinson of St. James' Church, Montreal. Everyone enjoyed his address.

...On Thursday afternoon several ladies met in the Town Hall to pack the boxes for the Bath boys overseas. Rev. L. G. O. Walker and Rev. James Robinson were present also. About 21 boxes were made ready for mailing.

...On Sunday morning, October 31st, a special feature of the service was the christening of two small girls, the daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Holden, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Tompkins. Rev. James Robinson conducted the service in the United Church.

...Mrs. W. Tompkins has left for London to join her husband, who is taking a special course, which will require several months to complete.

...The Lord Bishop of the Diocese visited St. John's Church on Sunday morning, October 31st, for the purpose of Confirmation and to extend greetings from the Diocese to the congregation of St. John's Church on the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Anglican Church in these parts. There were five candidates presented by the Rector, Rev. L. G. O. Walker. The church was full of friends from other places. The choir rendered splendid music. During the taking of the collection, Miss Beatrice Walker sang a solo. In the evening a very large congregation assembled; some were unable to be seated. The service was choral. Rev. Dr. Seeley, the Dean of Ontario and Rector of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, was the speaker for the evening. His address was much appreciated. Dr. Seeley read the first lesson, and Mr. G. J. Tustin, M.P., of Napanee, read the second lesson. During the taking of the collection a splendid reader's digest was given by a quartette made up of Dr. Guizot's class in Kingston. Dr. Guizot presided at the organ for the evening service. Mrs. W. Thurlow is in the meantime. The Rector expressed appreciation to all who had helped to make the services so enjoyable. During the morning services a pair of purple leather mats were dedicated by the Bishop. These were the gifts of friends and some members of the congregation. Beautiful flowers adorned the altar for both services. The music was provided by some of the congregation in memory of loved ones.

I. O. D. E. MEETING

...At the regular meeting of the I. O. D. E. L. Chapter of the I. O. D. E. a letter was read by the Regent, Mrs. D. R. Hall, from Mrs. B. Beaubien, asking the Chapter if they would take charge of Poppy Day for the Legion. A committee consisting of Mrs. F. Robbins, Mrs. S. Grenville, Mrs. B. Medd, Mrs. G. Fisher, Mrs. M. Goodwin and Mrs. Huston will be in charge. It was decided to provide a wreath for the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day.

...Mrs. Egan was asked to write a letter to Mr. J. McPherson, thanking him for the use of the recreation room on Sunday, October 17, when tea was served to members of the C. W. A. C. taking part in the Victory Loan Parade.

...The Public School Commandos sent in to the Chapter this month, 136 magazines and several coat hangers. Amount raised from salvage during September $15.81.

...It was voted that the chapter send Christmas treats to H.M.C.S. Napanee, Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Weese, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Hall to be in charge.

...The Regent—Mrs. Hall, then gave her report on the semi-annual meeting held in Niagara Falls. At this meeting it was stressed how we all must aid in the Victory Loan and do our best to reduce coal consumption this winter. A campaign to raise $150,000 for camp libraries is to be started in January. Mrs. Hall stated that the speaker emphasized the wonderful examples shown by the British women, who are willing to do any type of work whenever called upon.

...Mrs. Reddick moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Hall for her splendid report.

...Mrs. Ashley reported that twenty-five Ditty Bags had been filled and sent.

...Mrs. Lewis, head of the War Work Committee, presented the following report: Sent to Provincial Headquarters, I. O. D. E. Hamilton, 120 pairs socks, 11 scarves, 3 turtle - neck scarves, 25 Ditty Bags, filled. Sent to British Clothing: 22 quilts, 5 afghans, 3 pair soakers, 2 baby sets. Sent to Polish Relief: 3 boxes containing 49 garments.

...A letter was read from Mrs. MacDonald, wife of Commanding Officer MacDonald, No. 1 I.F.S., R.C.A.F. at Deseronto, stating that the Officers' wives would continue making articles for Bombed Civilians in Britain. A parcel containing five layette sets was received from this group, a short

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, NOVEMBER 7TH, 1943

Lesson Text: Exodus 20: 13. Matthew 5: 21-26, 38-45

THE SACREDNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

Already in Ancient Israel there were laws against murder. At the time of the text there was none of the machinery for enforcing justice such as we have, police, judges, and court. The duty of punishing a murderer devolved upon the nearest relative. Naturally there would be miscarriages of justice under that arrangement. So certain "cities of refuge" were established, to which a man might flee, and find protection until his case came before a group of elders. If he was found guilty by these elders, he was handed over to the next of kin, who took the necessary revenge. If he were judged guilty only of an accident or of justifiable homicide he was allowed to take-up residence in the city of refuge and could not be harmed by the avenger. This was a sort of rough and ready method of getting justice done. It worked well in a rather primitive form of society. Even at this early date of dignity the worth of human life was already established.

This phrase, "the sacredness of human life" has, however to be understood to mean not only that physical life is sacred, but that sacredness is a term which applies to the whole human personality. For there are some things more valuable than physical life, as we have learned from the thousands of martyrs, and from the millions who, to-day, count their physical life of less value than some forms of bondage which would cramp or even destroy human personality.

Looked at from this point of view, the law against taking human life applies to unhealthy slum conditions, to an unjust economic order which crushes tens of thousands of men and women by denying them the right to work and to the development of all their faculties capacities and possibilities. And what shall we say of the liquor traffic and organized vice, and almost universal gambling?

In the New Testament we enter another field. Our Lord makes it clear that the sin of murder lies in the spirit. "Everyone who is angry with his brother shall be in danger of judgment; everyone who shall say to his brother Raca, shall be in danger of the council; and whosoever shall say "Thou fool, shall be in danger of the hell of fire." The word "Raca" and Fool" are synonymous. "Raca" is simply the Aramaic word for "fool."

The spiritual violations of the law are the most important in the eyes of our Lord. Jesus draws attention to two of these, the first is "anger", the second is "contempt" or scorn, "thou fool. Of course, what Jesus here, in the first count condemns, is unrighteous anger. So far as a man gives way to temper of that sort he is guilty of murder before God, even though he may have committed no breach of the outward law. The New Testament does not condemn the emotions, but it enjoins that they should be controlled and guided aright, "be angry and sin not," says Paul.

Anger is always based on some prior emotion: hate, envy, covetousness, pride. At the present time, hatred is perhaps the most prevalent of these. In all the world there is a great hatred. Seated in the smoking car of a Trans-Canada train recently, the writer listened to about a half-dozen men expound their racial hatreds—the Jews, the Japanese, the Germans, the French - Canadians. What about these hatreds? They are playing havoc with our whole national life. An ex-moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Scotland recently protested in a letter to the military authorities against teaching our soldiers to hate. He maintained it was unnecessary for the conduct of the war, that soldiers should be taught to hate. As a result, some of the worst features of this form of training were discontinued.

The other emotion, which Jesus specifically singles out is scorn and contempt. Any man, Jesus says in effect, who holds a fellowman in contempt or who scorns him, has the spirit of murder in his heart. There has been much ill-will, much resentments, much bitterness engendered by this spirit. The unfortunate phrase from Kipling: "The lesser breeds without the law" which we still sing with great gusto, has had a disastrous effect among the non-Anglo-Saxon people. We have had a good deal of contempt for the "heathen Chinese" and have held others in scorn with results which have been none too happy. But, apart from this, revenge which we have bred in others, we have in ourselves developed thereby the spiritual counterpart to murder.

That is a serious indictment, but that is what Jesus says. We have to get rid of these emotions in ourselves before we can hope ever to erect that new brave world we dream about, and we can get rid of them only by cultivating and cherishing their opposites.

WELL-KNOWN COUPLE MR. & MRS. JOS. TATE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Large Number Friends Offer Congratulations on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tate, Selby, observed their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary on Monday, November 1st, and during the afternoon and evening many friends had neighbours called to extend congratulations.

The house was decorated for the occasion with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. Tate was dressed in navy crepe and wore a corsage of yellow roses and maiden hair fern as also did her sister, Mrs. Percy Pousland who was her bridesmaid. Mr. Fraser Bell, Desmond ably fulfilled the duties of best man as he and Mrs. Tate were 50 years ago. In the dining-room the tea-table, with lace cloth and gold doilies was attractively centred with carnations, numbers of his family were called to his bedside during the week-end.

The guests were received by Mrs. Charles Tull, Toronto, eldest daughter and Mrs. Tate, while the refreshment was in charge of Mrs. Hugh Langdon, Toronto, Mrs. Ross Powell invited the guests to the dining-room. Those pouring tea were Mrs. Beckwith, Mrs. Arthur Wood, Mrs. George Wager, and Mrs. E. McFadden. Barrie Aisling of the house were Mrs. George Wilson, Ottawa, and Misses Grace and Betty Tull, Oshawa, also Lois O'Connell, Helen Collins and Peggy Beckwith.

There was an informal programme consisting of an address of thanksgiving by Rev. Mr. Merrick; solos by Miss Hazel Tull; duet by Lois and Peggy Church; piano duet by Mrs. Ward, Bell and Miss Mary Purdon; vocal duet, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wilkinson; solo by Mr. Fred Bell and songs by Yvonne and Roy Smith. An address was then read by Rev. Mr. Merrick and a beautiful tribute electric floor lamp and case were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Tate by their neighbours, and a purse of gold from friends. A telephone message of congratulations came from Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Galbraith, Vernon, B.C. and a toast to the bride was proposed, as suggested, by Mr. Galbraith.

Short speeches were made by Mr. C. Hudgins, a former neighbor, now a resident of Kingsville, also the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate were married by Fred Mills, by Rev. Mr. Stratton and have been worthy citizens of Camden and Richmond all their lives.

ENTERPRISE MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN NAPANEE

Struck by a motor car driven by Mrs. Herkimer Bens, late Saturday evening, Mr. Nathan Wagar, aged about 68 years, of Enterprise, was late taken to Kingston General Hospital in an unconscious condition. The accident occurred on the Newburgh Road in Napanee just north of Dairy Ave. when Mr. Wagar and another man were walking.

Mr. Wagar had not regained consciousness on Monday and his condition was considered serious.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVES MEET IN TORONTO

Cecil G. Frost, President of the Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario has announced a general meeting of the Association to convene at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on Friday, November 12th, for the election of officers and the consideration of general business. The meeting is scheduled to commence at 2:00 p.m. and arrangements are now well advanced for the appointment and registration of delegates.

At the evening session Prime Minister the Honourable George Drew and his Ministers will be dinner guests of the provincial association and if possible, the Prime Minister's address will be broadcast. Honourable John Bracken, Dominion Progressive Conservative Leader is expected to attend both afternoon and evening sessions.

In calling a general meeting of the association, Mr. Frost declared that he would not seek re-election to the presidency, post he has occupied since his election at the last general meeting in July, 1938. "This does not mean," said Mr. Frost, "that I have lost enthusiasm or confidence in the party or its leaders, for few will be my continued support. My only motive for not seeking re-election is to encourage others to seek positions of importance and responsibility within our party."

It logs mentioned Mr. Frost, "that the rural and the northern areas of the province, as well as the urban centres, will be well represented at the general meeting."

Mr. Frost played a leading part in the Port Hope conference and later acted as Chairman of the resolutions committee at the Winnipeg convention.

ROY 'WINK' WILSON COACHES JUVENILE HOCKEY CLUB

In a recent issue of "The Daily Press" published at Timmins, we read an article on the forming of a Juvenile Hockey Association for the Porcupine District. Among the names mentioned who were going to coach the various teams, was Roy Wilson, "Wink", as he was probably better known is slated to handle the Schumacher Lions Club entry.

Following is the article in part:

"The other coaching nominee is Roy "Wink" Wilson, who will handle the reins of the Schumacher Lions Club entry. A high-scoring right-winger with the Hollinger Greenshirts for a number of years and an outstanding amateur star with the McIntyre, last season. Wilson just can't stay away from the ice game. With no senior hockey being played this year, a lot of fellows would be glad to call it a career, but not so with Wilson. His decision to turn to coaching will probably prove a good break for the Schumacher entry. If he can impart some of his hockey knowledge to the youngsters under him, the Lions will have a real contender."

Roy has been in the North Country for over five years. Four of which were spent at Timmins and the remainder at Schumacher, where he is employed by McIntyre Mines.

"Wink" has played considerable hockey and baseball in this district and his many friends and former teammates wish him well in his new endeavour.

Saturday's Market

Apples were plentiful on the market in Napanee last Saturday, and were selling quite freely. First and Mc McIntosh were $2.25 per hamper. Wealthys, $1.75; Snows, $2. Tetman Sweets were $2.50; Spys $2.50; and inferior grades were: Spys $2.00; Starks, $1.75 per hamper.

Pears were 45c. Mc and 45c per dozen.

Onions sold at 65c per 6 - quart basket. Chickens were 35c per lb. Little pigs, $5.00 per pair.

The railings which were round Belle Park, in London, England, have been made into sixteen anti-aircraft guns.

REGULAR SESSION BOARD OF EDUCATION HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Secretary-Treasurer Presents Comparative Statement on Finances

At the meeting of the Napanee Board of Education on Monday evening of this week, the secretary-treasurer, R. F. Hunter, presented a statement of expenditure to November 1st, this year, and similar figures for the same period in 1942.

For the N.C.V.I. the total amount expended to November 1st 1943 was $22,787.14 and for the same period in 1942, the total was $19,943.84, an increase in 1943 of about $4,000.00.

For the Public Schools the expenditures to November 1st, 1943 were $13,451.75 and at November 1st, 1942 the amount was $11,928.36, an increase of about $1,500.00 so far this year over 1942.

The disbursements for November and December 1942 for the N.C.V.I. were $7,720.06 and the estimated disbursements for the same time in 1943 are $5,483.69. The Vocational grant for 1943 was nearly $500.00 more than in 1942, so that total requisition for the year for the N. C. V. I. should not be greatly in excess of that in 1942.

For the Public Schools the disbursements in November and December, 1942, were $4,119.26, and in 1943 they are estimated at $3,245.46. The legislative grant for the Public schools this year was nearly $600 more than in 1942, so the requisition for public schools in 1943 may possibly be a little less than in 1942.

Two applications were received by the board for positions on the public school staff in case of vacancies. Miss Jean E. Burns, East Street, Napanee, offered her services as a supply teacher, and Mrs. Hazel Hennessey, whose present address is Belleville, and who expects to be living in the vicinity of Napanee in the near future, applied for a position on the staff in case of vacancy at Christmas. Both applications were referred to the management committee.

W. G. Paul expressed disapproval of the action of the chairman of the management committee in engaging supply teachers for the schools. Other members of the Board expressed the opinion that the matter was one which should be deal't with by the committee as a whole. G. F. Smith suggested that the management committee ascertain if there are teachers available for supply work, and give the Principals of the schools a list from which they might choose a supply teacher when needed.

After further discussion a motion moved by G. F. Smith and W. G. Paul, was passed, that the matter of supply teachers be left with the management committee to report at the next meeting.

G. W. Morden gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the board he would bring in a motion to amend the section in the rules and regulations of the board, with respect to the election of the chairman and the chairman of the Board.

Mr. H. L. VanLieven, chairman of the Supply Committee reported that Mr. Clare Hinch had been appointed as caretaker of the N.C.V.I. and was giving satisfactory service.

The Truant Officer, Matthew Taylor, stated that in the month of October he had received one complaint, which he had investigated. He had also received two requests for work permits, which had been granted.

C. B. Jamieson, principal of the N. men had gone into a nearby house and when they came out he learned they had obtained the liquor at a local blind pig. Hanes admitted having a bottle of rye for which he had no permit.

The Magistrate registered a conviction against Hanes under the charge of having liquor in a place other than a private residence, rather than under the original charge which carried with it a gaol sentence. The magistrate stated he made the change because of the shortage of labor and considered the ends of justice would be served by collecting a fine rather than sendin ga man to gaol.

Early in the Campaign of this Fifth Victory Loan, it was feared that the objective in Lennox and Addington was going to be a hurdle too great to make. Each succeeding day brought little encouragement until the final week.

Hope, then, began to overcome fear of failure. As the volume of each day's sales grew larger, and, inspired by the appeals to the loyalty of the Citizens of this County — the Cradle of Loyalists — each member of the Victory Loan Organization re-doubled his efforts with the result that, at the closing of the Loan on Saturday night last, the figures reported to Provincial Headquarters showed the objective of $1,225,600, had been reached with a little to spare.

To you, the Citizens of Lennox and Addington, we, of the National War Finance Committee, extend our thanks for upholding the previous fine showings of this Old County, in this Loan. Our "Home Front" morale will be improved, and most important, our loved ones in the Armed Forces, at home or on the fighting fronts in foreign fields, will be strengthened in the knowledge that we, on the "Home Front", are doing our share to "Speed The Victory."

W. A. GRANGE, Honorary-Chairman.

Magistrate's Court

In Napanee Police Court on Monday afternoon, Magistrate Garvin granted a remand until November 22 in the case of Ross Shetler, charged with assaulting a police officer. Shetler is at present a patient in a Kingston Hospital, which was the reason for the postponement of the hearing of the charge. Bail was renewed by consent of the crown and the bondsmen, Fred Shetler and Matthew Shetler.

Harry Barrett, who some weeks ago pled guilty to selling liquor illegally and selling liquor to a minor, appeared before Magistrate Garvin on Monday and fines and costs totalling $70.00 were imposed on him. J. M. Simpson, K.C., who represented Mr. Barrett stated that his client had enlisted in the R. C. A. F. and expected to report for duty on December 1st. Mr. Simpson asked for a lenient sentence in view of the fact that Mr. Barrett has a previous good record, and was not a regular illegal purveyor of liquor. Mr. Barrett, Mr. Simpson said, had sold the liquor to a group of young men as an accommodation to them. Two of the purchasers were said to be minors.

Crown Attorney, K. S. Ham pointed out that the law called for a gaol term in each case and a fine was not optional. But Magistrate Garvin in giving his judgment said that a Magistrate had discretionary powers which he considered he could exercise in this case, especially when the accused had joined the active forces.

Levis F. Reid, Belleville, pled guilty to being intoxicated in a public place and paid a fine of $10 plus costs.

Percy Hanes, also of Belleville, pled guilty to being in possession of liquor not acquired by him under his own permit and paid a fine and costs totalling $25.50.

Chief Moore, in giving a statement in connection with Hanes case said he had been called to Thomas Street about 9:30 p.m., on Sunday, where it was reported three men were intoxicated in a car. He found the three

MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT TUESDAY NIGHT

A very bad accident occurred about 10:00 o'clock on Tuesday evening at the C. N. R. bridge at the east end of Dundas St., Napanee, resulting in the death of Harold Baker and serious injuries to Elmer Smith.

According to an eye witness, the two men, who were in a 1937 Chevrolet coach, driven by Elmer Smith, were proceeding east and crashed into one of the centre piers. Their car was practically demolished.

Both men were unconscious when help reached them and Baker died in the Kingston General Hospital shortly after being admitted. Smith was reported to be still unconscious on Wednesday morning.

Napanee police were unable to ascertain for sure the home addresses of the two men, but they were reported to live around Camden East.

Mrs. Flint: I shan't do that young man. My lodgers have to pay in advance.

Magistrate: So you and your wife have had another fight. Liquor as usual, I suppose?

Alf: No, your Worship, she licked me.

Thanks For Support Beaver Santa Claus Fund Tag - Day

The results of The Beaver Santa Claus Fund Tag-Day, held last Saturday far exceeded the expectation of those who sponsored the fund. A total of $112.36 was received, a sum much greater than on the Tag-day in 1942.

The taggers were mostly pupils from the public schools, and considering their extreme youth and inexperience the results they obtained were indeed remarkable.

Miss Josephine Leamy, who is again administering The Beaver Santa Claus Fund, wishes through the columns of The Beaver, to thank the taggers and all who helped collect the money.

Even though economic conditions in the town are better than usual, Miss Leamy reports there are still many children who will be needing special care at Christmas time and so all the money that can be collected will be well used.

In addition to the money received on the Tag Day, the sum of $1.00 was subscribed to the fund by Dr. G. W. Morden.

Any other citizens of the community who wish to make contributions, may send or bring the cash to The Beaver Office or make cheques payable to The Beaver Santa Claus Fund.

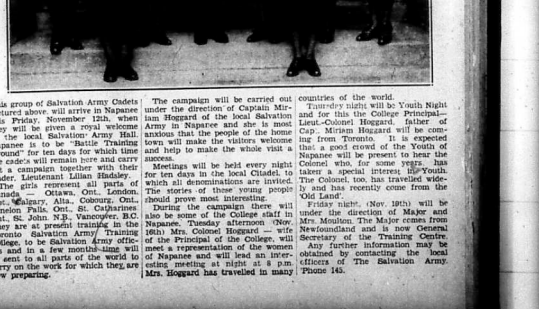
SALVATION ARMY TRAINING SCHOOL CADETS VISIT NAPANEE



This group of Salvation Army Cadets pictured above will arrive in Napanee this Friday, November 12th, when they will be guests at a social evening at the local Salvation Army Hall. Napanee is to be "Battle Training Ground" for ten days for which time the cadets will remain here and carry out a campaign together with their leader, Lieutenant Lillian Hadsley.

The girls represent all parts of Canada — Ottawa, Ont., London, Ont., Calgary, Alta., Cobourg, Ont., Pension Falls, Ont., St. Catharines Ont., St. John, N.B., Vancouver, B.C. They are at present training in the Toronto Salvation Army Training College, to be Salvation Army officers and in a few months time will be sent to all parts of the world to carry on the work for which they are now preparing.

The campaign will be carried out under the direction of Captain Miriam Haggard of the local Salvation Army in Napanee and a most cordial and anxious that the people of the home town will make the visitors welcome and help to make the whole visit a success.

Meetings will be held every night for ten days in the local Citadel, to which all denominations are invited. The stories of these young people should prove most interesting.

During the campaign there will also be some of the College staff in Napanee, Tuesday afternoon (Nov. 16th) Mrs. Colonel Hoggard — wife of the Principal of the College, will meet a representation of the women of Napanee and will lead an interesting meeting at night at 8 p.m. Mrs. Hoggard has travelled in many countries of the world.

Thursday night will be Youth Night and for this the College Principal—Lieut.-Colonel Hoggard, father of Cap. Miriam Hoggard will be comfrom Toronto. It is expected that a good crowd of the Youth of Napanee will be present to hear the Colonel who, for some years, has taken a special interest in Youth. The Colonel, too, has travelled widely and has recently come from the 'Old Land'.

Friday night, (Nov. 19th) will be under the direction of Major and Mrs. Moulton. The Major comes from Newfoundland and is now General Secretary of the Training Centre.

Any further information may be obtained by contacting the local officers of The Salvation Army. Phone 145.

GOOD NEWS FOR LABOR

Bit by bit the laboring people are getting a hearing in this country. For a time, those who pressed for justice for Labor were branded as Radicals and Bolsheviks. But the war has changed a great many things. In Great Britain when the war broke out, the labor people were ready. They were organized. They had come through a long period of struggle and adjustment to the point where a collective bargaining was the accepted practice. So when the crisis came, Labor had those who could speak authoritatively for them. Consequently, these leaders were called upon to assume responsibility in government planning. The result was that in an incredibly short time, Labor in Great Britain was at work a hundred per cent. for war production. The absence of any large scale stoppage of work, save for one or two brief periods, has been worthy of note.

In Canada we were not so far advanced as in Great Britain. We were in a position similar to that in which Great Britain stood at the beginning of the First World War. The struggle for collective bargaining between Management and Labor Unions of the laborers' own choice was not decided. The Government went part way in framing labor legislation, but there were no teeth in the regulations. There were no penalties for non-compliance. This has been the main cause of much of the labor unrest in this country since the outbreak of the war.

Now, the Government proposes, not only to insist on compulsory collective bargaining, but to provide penalties. A dispatch from Ottawa says: "Penalties for both employers and employees, carrying fines and imprisonment, will be set out in the code." It sets forth elaborate provisions as to what constitutes unfair practices on the part of management and employees. Provision is made for closed shops, but agreements may be made without a closed shop clause.

If this becomes law, we may look forward to a more happy condition as between Labor and Management. Much of the unrest, and many of the difficulties which have marked the labor-management relations in Canada, in recent years, will be eliminated. In the course of the years, if the history of Great Britain is any guide, this forecast action of the Government will be looked back to, not only as a victory for Labor, but for Management, as well.

KIEV ! !

The capture of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, by the Russian Army, last week, is a matter of more than military significance. The city has a great historic background and touches deeply the emotions of every Russian. It is the third largest city in Russia, and is one of the most beautiful. It was an important city a thousand years ago, but fell into the hands of the Tartars in the Thirteenth Century and was razed to the ground. From this it did not recover for a hundred years. For years the head of the old Ukrainian State, it passed into the hands of Russia in 1654. From then it has continued to grow in wealth and population and economic importance. During the Civil War, the city was taken and retaken by the contending Russian parties, thirty times.

Kiev is a city of great loveliness. It is situated on the high banks of the Dnieper River. The climate is moderate. Streets and parks are lined with poplars, chesnut trees and the white acacia. Pears, apricots and peaches grow in surrounding orchards. After the Revolution of 1917, the city was restored. It developed rapidly. Its public utilities have a budget of thirty million ruples; the street cars carried over sixty million passengers a year. Its industries include sugar refining, tanning, brick, glass, chemical works, cement, ceramic and wood working plants.

At the time of the capture of Kiev by the Germans, the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences was housed there — about twenty technical schools with various laboratories, and other institutions of learning. Twenty-five thousand students were pursuing their studies in these institutions. It had a population of over 500,000. Now, after being in the hands of the German Army for two years, the city has been put to flames. Reports tell of hardened Russian soldiers, veterans of many battles who, when driving through the blackened ruins of their once beautiful and beloved city, did so with tears streaming down their faces. . . .

So great was the hold which this Mother City as they loved to call it, had on their affections and loyalties.

EDUCATION WEEK

"Education for Victory—in War and Peace" is the slogan which has been chosen for this Annual Education Week, now being observed throughout Canada. Like every other group, the educationalists have been forced, by the war conditions, to examine the basis of their profession, the ideals of education and its methods. This becomes more imperative in view of the modern development of mass propaganda agencies — the newspaper, the radio and the screen. The days when the three 'R's' were thought a sufficient basis for education, are gone. The method, likewise, of forcing all types and all temperaments through the one mill, is likewise outdated. Modern education must take into account special aptitudes of pupils and their special capacity to absorb ideas. Changes already in effect in the Ontario school curriculum and further changes which are to be made, must keep this constantly in mind.

If the war has taught us any one thing more than another, it is that under modern conditions it is possible to change the whole point of view of a nation in a comparatively short time, to mould the national will and to fire the national emotions. Germany is the prime example of this use of modern propaganda.

If the education of our youth in the days of peace that lie ahead is to get them to take their place in a new world, it must not only develop the peculiar aptitudes of each but it must direct the will and the emotions— those qualities which are common to all — to one end. It therefore becomes essential that educationalists and those entrusted with the training of youth, should discover what is the end of modern education. What is the object to be aimed at ? What is the supreme purpose of all our teaching and all our training ? In general it may be answered that such an end is the development of character. But to what purpose is that character developed: is it that each person shall get all he can out of life for himself ? Is it that he shall fit as a cog into a well-organized machine, state-controlled and state directed ? We have seen the one tried out in this country with rather sad results for a great many people; and we have seen the other tried out in Germany with tragic results for the whole world.

Somewhere between the two—extreme individualism on the one hand, and complete regimentation on the other—lies the end to which education must direct its efforts in our Democracy.

This will place a heavy responsibility on the teachers and educational leaders in the country. They must be adequately supported. Salaries now in many cases unfitfully low, must be raised. We have discovered in war that we can get money for anything we believe in, anything we are enthusiastic about. In the day ahead, education must not be scrimped nor must those who give their lives to the training of youth be penalized by inadequate salaries, and lack of public support.

DIFFERENT THIS TIME

It is quite within the realm of probability that had the Senate of the United States ratified the League Covenant at the close of the First Great War, the present catastrophe might well have been avoided. But there were those in the Senate who, for one reason or another, fought ratification. They were able by their strength to keep the United States out of The League of Nations, with dire results, not only to the rest of the world but to the United States itself.

This time there will be no such isolationism as marked the close of the First Great War, if the action of the Senate in passing the Connoly Bill is any criterion. On taking this step while the war is still on, the Senate has protected itself against any possible reactionary swing at the close of hostilities.

By a vote of 85 to 5 the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, That the war against all our enemies be waged until complete victory is achieved.

"That the United States co-operate with its comrades-in-arms in securing a just and honorable peace.

"That the United States, acting through its constitutional processes, join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world.

"The Senate recognizes the necessity of there being established at the earliest practicable date a general international organization, based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states, and open to membership by all such states, large and small, for the maintenance of international peace and security. (This paragraph is almost identical with Article 4 of the Moscow Declaration.)

"That, pursuant to the Constitution of the United States, any treaty made to effect the purposes of this resolution, on behalf of the Government of the United States with any other nation or any association of nations, shall be made only by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur."

INTERESTING LETTER FROM SICILY

The following letter was received recently by Mrs. D. A. McCabe, R.R. 3, Napanee, from her grandson, Pte. Jack D. Rennie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rennie, Deroit, formerly of Napanee.

Somewhere in Italy,
Sunday, October 17, 1943.

Dear Grandma:

I promised I would write you a letter yesterday and, as is a habit the day passed, with me doing other things so today I am going to carry out that promise. I told you I'd give you a little idea about what I have seen in Italy, this far.

Most of the surrounding country is given over to vineyards and fine olive groves. The vineyards take up most of the acreage and are well kept. In some of my travels I have seen acres of grape vines all tied-up and forming almost a solid roof of vines and leaves above the ground, about six feet. The whole of the land, devoted to growing grapes, is as free of weeds as a paved road, and the ground is well watered. The olive groves are much the same as some large orchards over home, and beautifully kept. What trees I have seen are really loaded with olives. Unlike the hundred-year-old trees of Africa these trees are large and spread out in much the same way as a large oak would. Just when olives are supposed to be picked I don't know but I soon hope to find out.

One creature, or insect better known as a pest, that these people have still of us since leaving home, is still keeping us company. The common fly! Honestly, they almost drive us mad. Flies over home never seemed to relish crawling around your eyes and mouth the way these flies do. I wish I could find a way to rid the world of the cursed things!

Grandma, I wish you people could see the towns over here. The streets are about as wide as the roadbed in the road outside your place — just room enough for one car. When one of the army trucks goes through, there isn't even room for one person on either side. The pavement is huge blocks of stone, cut square, and fitted together rather cleverly. It makes a good street. There are no sidewalks on the majority of the streets, so that may give you an idea of what narrow things they are. The houses are all built right out to the street and in ore solid mass. From what little I have seen of the two towns I have visited these people never have known what a lawn is. As a result, the towns are unusually dirty and appear to be crammed into as small a place as possible. No one can tell me that the health of these people isn't affected by such crowded conditions. I don't care how small or clean a town-or-city-in-the-land of our towns back home may be, they are still a paradise compared to any I have seen, either here or in North Africa.

One thing I have noticed, that adds a lot of homey beauty to this part of the country, is the miles and miles of stone wall's that divide the fields into fields. Just how many years it took to clear the land, and pile up and build so much wall, is beyond me, but they do look awfully nice. The countryside because of these walls, looks as if a people who loved life and all the good out things of life, lived here. Just how "Mussolini ever was able to lead these people into one war after another, is beyond me.

Love and good luck,
Your grandson,
JACK.

ALLIES LISTING WAR CRMINALS

BY EDWARD W. BEATTIE

London, (B.U.P.) — Quarter-million German war criminals, the hatchet-men of Hitler's new order, stand open to indictment by the world with formation of the Allied War Criminals Commission, which one day will prosecute the case of humanity against them.

Retribution for the crimes of these men and thousands of equally-guilty Italians and Japanese, was foreshadowed when representatives of seventeen of the United Nations met under the chairmanship of Lord Simon the Lord Chancellor, to draw up the legal framework for dealing with Axis atrocities.

In any civil court they would face the death penalty, and the organization of the Allied Commission promises that in one way or another, they will not be permitted to escape.

Whether they ever will be brought to the bar of justice is an open question. Certainly more than 250,000 men never will be executed by any due process of law in a post-war world weary of killing.

But observers are convinced that many thousands of Germans never will survive the eventual collapse of the Nazi regime. The Quislings will be left to their own countrymen and except for those who run the asylums in Germany, few of them are likely to find refuge.

Men who have had access to the long and growing records of German torturers and spies compiled by a dozen European undergrounds believe the estimate of 250,000 Nazi war criminals is a conservative one, as the Gestapo and its spies alone probably exceed, 500,000.

30-POINT PROGRAM FOR AGRICULTURE Sponsored By Bracken

Lethbridge, Alta. — A 30-point program for Canadian agriculture— "to correct Canada's present social inequity" — was set forth last week by John Bracken Progressive Conservative national leader in a public address.

Giving a sweeping review of Canadian agricultural problems and his party's suggestions for dealing with them, Mr. Bracken said in a prepared address the first objective was to "secure the inferior position now which agriculture has been allowed to fall, and for all too long, exercised for a few years of the last war, to remain."

"At the moment," he said, "after many years of unnecessary delay and procrastination by the Government, a measure of improvement has been promised in one section of agriculture. It is a timely recognition in grain growers of inequities too long perpetuated; and in its application is creating still other inequities to producers of livestock and dairy products. Be that as it may, what agriculture needs is a recognition of its fundamental right to live — not occasional hand-outs having the character of charity.

"Unless present attitudes toward that industry are radically changed, the future promises to bring only a repetition of the prewar ups and downs and distress and stresses and injustices, so deeply etched on the minds of many farmers who went through the trying times of the thirties. These steps toward recovery for agriculture are meant to be a rational approach toward placing those engaged in that industry in a position of equity with other Canadians who make comparable contributions to the national welfare."

Under Mr. Bracken's programme the prices would be related "to always with the risk of the all too frequent ruinously low prices . . . and the producer reach higher living standards for all."

HIGHLIGHTS OF PROGRAMME

The programme included:

1 Federal - provincial farm organized farmers and other representatives to study problems until agriculture could achieve something like full organization, the state must be the guide and director.

2 A co-ordinated production and distribution plan, with steps to increase exports of surplus grains on the basis of international collaboration.

3 increased farm prices, brought about by increasing the demand for farm products. Floor prices would be established for major export products.

4 Federal legislation providing for orderly marketing.

5 Better land utilization, and a national soil conservation policy.

6 Establishment of food reserves.

7 Study of existing credit institutions and the possible extension of them to meet farmers' needs, an adjustment of debts that cannot be met by competent farmers.

8 An integrated transportation system adapted to furnish the cheapest and best service while maintaining the independent identity of the two major railway systems.

Decentralization Wanted

9 Assistance to farmers in obtaining the use of mechanized equipment, with state or municipal ownership of power equipment being considered.

10 Assistance in the development of educational and health services in association with rural electrification, better roads and improvement of rural homes.

11 Steps to remove the fear that purchasing power will not increase sufficiently low. The state must do the giving of food to other countries after the war not the farmer.

12 Decentralization would be sought in the administrative functions wherever possible, with local governments considering local problems. Federal legislation, if necessary, would provide equate financing of effective agricultural organization possible.

PRODUCTION OF BUTTER IS BEING WELL MAINTAINED

SOME SECTIONS OF ONTARIO SHOW MARKED INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Production of butter is being well maintained throughout the Provinces of Ontario and in some sections is showing a marked increase over last year, according to the report for September of the Creamery Instructors of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. There has also been a marked improvement in the quality of cream received by the creameries.

In some sections of the Provinces the demand for fluid milk is cutting into the amount being shipped to creameries. In the London area lack of rain has affected the pastures and shortage of grain for feeding has also affected the milk production. In the Chatham Windsor and Sarnia area, in Eastern Ontario and in the Barrie-Owen Sound area production is holding up very well for this time of year.

The R.C.A.F. is quite disturbed about some farms. hunters and gun - toting youngsters taking pot shot at racing pigeons in flight. Please think twice before doing it again. They are either on the fly over long messages photographic, etc., for the armed services or being trained by civilian pigeon fanciers for a war job. Right now the R.C.A.F. Sizn-als (Pigeon Division) is out to recruit 1,000 new birds. Incidentally since April it is against the law to keep or fly pigeons without authority.

Bet many employers wonder where all that Unemployment Insurance money paid in has wound up at. Well, the report for the commission shows they have a balance in the coffers of $143,857,000. Benefits paid during October, 1942, when they first became payable, total $1,150,714.

V

Cash income from the sale of farm products in Canada for the first six months of 1943 rocketed up to over $538 millions as against $248 millions in the same period of 1942 and $356 millions in 1941. This increase was common in all provinces except Ontario, with the Prairie Provinces top because of the sa'e of 1942 grains. Greatest percentage was shown in the marketings of oats and barley. Here hit $106 millions dairy products $110 millions. In the same period, however, the domestic consumption of fluid milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, etc., showed quite a decrease, most of it resulting from butter rationing.

V

Here's another interesting item for folks in agricultural spots. Stocks of creamery butter in storage in nine of the principal Canadian cities on October 1st totalled 30 934 2 lbs. an increase of 17½ million lbs. over the previous month showing a rise in the C. of L. index. Unless there is a decline in the index figure next month, the bonus will have to be adjusted upward. Maximum bonus payable is 25 cents per hour with 5 cents for each point rise in the index.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, NOVEMBER 14TH, 1943

THE SANCTITY OF THE HOME

Lesson Text: Exodus 20: 14; Matthew 5: 27-30; Mark 10: 7-12

Moses was trying to establish an ideal state, or a state that would be as near the ideal as possible. He insisted that one of the things we must have its roots deep down in religion. The specific precepts and regulations which he drew up for the conduct of personal and communal life were based on religion. They stemmed from faith in God, and belief in God's holy requirements. This we have seen in our study of the Ten Words in the decalogue which have been studied during the past few weeks.

In an early state of society, women are looked upon as property, the property of men. Early injunctions against adultery had this in mind. It was a sin for any man to interfere with another man's property. Therefore, the prohibitions against adultery were applicable only to men. There were no rights for women as such.

The religious leaders of Israel, particularly the prophets, soon discovered, however, that prohibitions against adultery must be based on other than property considerations. They must be rooted and grounded in the sanctity of human personality, which is one of the fundamental aspects of religions — or at least of that brand of religion to which we owe our spiritual ancestry. This is something that needs to be dinned into the ears of modern men and women. One fault, even in the decalogue which have been studied during the past few weeks. has some obliterate. The HEART of HYDRO

● Hydro is a living thing. It takes people . . . their hands and brains and hearts . . . to keep Ontario supplied with power in uninterrupted flow.

Producing power for Ontario's needs is Hydro's number one job. A veritable army of men is required to keep this power flowing at peak efficiency. For Hydro is much more than mighty power plants . . . much more than the transmission lines you see striding through the countryside.

Hydro is the employees who keep the power plants producing, who guide and co-ordinate the constant flow of energy through the transformer stations. It is the employees who patrol the lines that carry power to far-off mills and mines, to roaring industrial plants, busy stores and offices, comfortable homes, peaceful farms.

Hydro is the families of those employees who have set up their homes in city and town and country . . . and, perchance, deep in the isolation of wilderness and forest.

It is these . . . and all the other co-operative men and women employees . . . who have put life into Hydro, made it a living organization devoted to the benefit and service of Ontario.

Just now their efforts are directed mainly to producing power for victory and essential uses, but, after the war, they will be ready again to provide the full peace-time service so essential to the development and progress of this province.

Yes! The heart of Hydro is people . . . employees and consumers alike . . . both necessary . . . both partners in a great public enterprise. For today . . . as in the past, and in the future . . . the success of Hydro is dependent on both the faithful service of the employee and the wholehearted support of the consumer.

General Sir Bernard Montgomery has paid Canadian troops one of the highest compliments. Speaking of the Sicilian campaign, he said, "You handled yourselves according to the best and highest standards of any army in this war short, model little 39-day campaign. It has been said that it was a great honor for the Canadians to be in the Eighth Army, but I say that it is a great fillisor for the Eighth Army to have the Canadians."

MURRAY MILLER, TAMWORTH, WINS QUIZ SEMI-FINALS

For the second successive year Lennox and Addington has produced the Eastern Ontario Finalist in the Victory Loan School Quiz.

At an extremely well - attended gathering in the Town Hall, Napanee, on Tuesday night, November 2nd, the County Finals for the three Grades of the School Quiz were held to decide the winners:

GROUP "A"
MURRAY MILLER, TAMWORTH
GROUP "B"
WAYNE JACKSON, MOSCOW
GROUP "C"
BERNICE COLLIS, NAPANEE

Murray Miller, as winner of Group "A", went to the Eastern Ontario Semi-Finals held at Kingston Collegiate Institute on Wednesday, November 3rd, and was declared winner there.

As the various groups of children took their places on the platform each was questioned by Mr. Harry Vine, who acted as Master of Ceremonies. The children were, naturally, not at all "Mike" shy and the little 4 and 5-year-olds really astonished the audience with their answers. The judges, Mr. Russell Mercer, Napanee, Mr. Crook of the N.C.V.I. and Mr. Young of Bath, eventually decided a winner in little Miss Bernice Collis of West Ward School in Napanee.

The "B" Group incuded children up to 10 and 11 years and the questions were a little harder. One particularly lengthy answer was met with a ringing round of applause from the audience. The judges declared Wayne Jackson the winner of this group.

Between the finals of the "B" and "A" Groups, Major Ketcheson of the Public Relations Section of the National War Finance Committee, Napanee, thanked the teachers and parents for coaching the children and outlined the reason for holding the Quiz Contests, explaining that the idea originated in Napanee and has been adopted to carry the Victory Loan message to the homes throughout Ontario.

The older boys and girls were in Group "A" and it was here that the audience had an example of the real value of the School Quiz and general education taught in our schools. The questions asked these children were taken mainly from general school work and would have stumped many in the audience. After exhaustive questioning Murray Miller of Tamworth was declared the winner.

Murray and his parents left on Friday for Toronto where he will take part in the Ontario Championships, as guests of the Robert Simpson Company Limited. The Finals were held in the Arcadian Court and were broadcast on Saturday at 10:15 to 11:15 a.m. over a Province-wide hook-up through CFRB, CKWS and CBO.

We are all cheering for Murray and wishing him every success in the Finals.

Mr. Albert Hill, Principal of the West Ward School, acted as chairman and organized the County Finals. Mr. Goldwin Smith was the timekeeper.

MEAT SUPPLY IS IMPROVED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The 1942 book of meat statistics was closed, last week, with its strange story of more beef than ever before but still insufficient to go around.

Only an echo of the weeks when complaints of beef shortages came from many Canadian cities, the Agriculture Department has issued a review of the livestock market and meat trade in 1942. It reveals:

1. While complaints of beef shortages were being heard, more tons of meat were produced in 1942 than in any other year in Canadian history.

2. Although cattle marketings were about 56,000 head less than in 1941, the average carcass weight was much heavier — 500 pounds compared with 497 — and the total beef yield was sufficient to create a record.

3. Enlarged consumer demand was chiefly responsible for temporary shortages. Another factor was the reduction in pork supplies available for home use because of heavy shipments to the United Kingdom. Unable to buy pork, consumers turned to purchase of beef.

More cattle and heavier are being marketed in 1943, and with meat rationing in effect Ottawa authorities said they believe 1942 difficulties will not recur.

Some of the 1942 drains on meat supply were described in the report. These demands have increased in 1943.

In the effort to supply Britain with bacon last year, about 75 per cent of total inspected slaughterings of hogs was processed for export.

In addition to increased home demands for meat, new and outside requirements had to be met. These included large purchases by the armed forces in Canada and shipments by the Red Cross for prisoners of war, by essential Canadian industries to supply British possessions where normal sources of meat were reduced, and for wartime development projects like the Alaska Highway.

Assisting in meeting the demand for meat, the average weight of hogs marketed in 1942, also was higher. In 1942 with 6,232,000 head marketed the average carcass weight was affected by about ten pounds. Although calves marketed were fewer in numbers, the dressed carcass weight was up an average of 4.5 pounds over 1941.

WAR NEWS

Russians, said that a real second front would be opened up soon, and that Finland, Hungary and Roumania were seeking to get out of the war before the Allied victory which he predicted was not far off. He praised the campaigns in Africa and Italy and the air attacks on Germany.

• • •

TUESDAY—

On Monday the Russian Army continued its advance, gaining ten miles more and reaching a point only 140 miles from the Roumanian border. In another sector the Russians made gains which brought them within twenty miles of the old Polish border.

• • •

Allied troops advanced all across Italy. The Eighth Army pushed to within seven miles of Sangro River, the next Nazi defence line. Gains also were made by the Fifth in the central mountain district. On the Adriatic coast the British Fifth Army approached Ortona, which was being bombarded by the Germans before they give it up.

SIR ROBERT FALCONER DIES

NOTED EDUCATIONALIST WAS EX-VARSITY HEAD

Toronto (C.P.) — One of Toronto's well-known educationists and a distinguished author and international affairs religion and classics, Sir Robert Falconer, died at his home in Toronto, last Thursday.

The 79-year-old former president of the University of Toronto and one-time principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, was sick only a few days although he had been in poor health for a couple of years.

A president of Toronto U. from 1907 when he was appointed president at the early age of 43, Falconer was widely-known as a speaker, and his talents were much in demand both in the Dominion as well as in Great Britain and the United States.

Since his retirement in 1932, he had kept in close touch with educational affairs, and social matters, mainly in an advisory capacity.

In 1925 while still president of Toronto University he became Lieutenant where he delivered the Sir George Watson series of lectures on American history in universities there.

Born at Charlottetown, P. E. I., Sir Robert received his early education at Pictou Academy, Nova Scotia, where his father, Rev. Alexander Falconer, a Presbyterian minister held a clerical appointment.

In 1885, Sir Robert went to Europe as Gilchrist scholar for the West Indies and studied at the University of Edinburgh and at Leipzig Berlin and Marburg subsequently entering the Ministry of the Presbyterian Church.

He was appointed lecturer in New Testament, classics at Pine Hill College, in 1892, and became professor in 1895 and principal in 1904. Then, in 1907, he was made president of the University of Toronto.

Wrote Many Articles

During his life, he wrote many articles on New Testament and educational and legal topics in English and American reviews and encyclopaedias. Among his books are: "The German Tragedy and Its Meaning for Canada," and "Citizenship in an Enlarging World."

Besides being a successful administrator, Sir Robert was known as a great scholar. His learning, based on the classics, had an ever-widening range which enabled him to deal effectively with newer and more practical branches of knowledge which new facilities and courses brought to the university.

His wife and two sons Dr. J. Gilbert Falconer, and Robert D., live in Toronto, A brother, Rev. J. W. Falconer, of Pine Hill College, Halifax, and a sister, Jean, in Nova Scotia also survive.

NEWBURGH

Newburgh, Nov. 8. — Miss G. M. Hill, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Robt. Leslie, of Derby, N.Y., spent last week with their mother, Mrs. Geo. F. Hill.

Mrs. Edith Moffatt has returned, after visiting friends in Montreal, Que., and Halifax, N.S., for the summer months.

Mr. Frank Lockwood and friends, of Baldwinsville, N.Y., called on his aunt, Mrs. J. Clarke, last Saturday, when on his way to hunt in the north country.

Mrs. E. Hounslow spent the week end in Kingston.

The November thankoffering meeting of the W. M. S. of the United Church met at the parsonage on Wednesday, November 3rd, at 2:30 p.m. There was a large attendance from Napanee, Strathcona and Newburgh. The President, Mrs. S. Moore, was in charge. Scripture reading was given by Mrs. J. Johnston, Miss E. Yeomans, Mrs. L. Casada and Mrs. W. Metzler. Prayers by Mrs. Loehhead, Mrs. J. Paul, and Mrs. Herrington, and the President. A chorus, by nine members of the Junior Mission Band. The guest speaker Mrs. Chidley, of Trinity Church, Napanee, gave a splendid synopsis of the Chinese and Foreign Mission work. Mrs. S. Moore thanked Mrs. Chidley, on behalf of the Society. A duet by Mrs. G. Finlay and Mrs. D. Wilson, Strathcona. The offering was gathered by Mrs. Johnston. The members answered the roll call by a verse of scripture containing "Thanks". Afterward a dainty lunch was served by the ladies and a social time was spent.

NUMBER OF BLIND CANADIANS SHOWS A SLIGHT INCREASE

"Last year our records informed us that there were 12,668 blind people of all ages registered in the Dominion. At the end of March, 1943, the figure was 12,693. Now it is not a big rise, or just a little less than one per cent. I do not think the decrease is sufficiently large to form the basis of the conclusion that we have reached the stage where the maximum number of blind people which can ever be looked for in proportion to our general population, and it would be too optimistic to presume that this year marks the beginning of a period of progressive diminution, but the fact is that there is a falling off in our registration and I am inclined to accept it with thankfulness and satisfaction. I would prefer to wait for another year before I attempted any explanation of the phenomenon. All I can say is that I hope its obvious meaning is the right one, and that not only have we at last succeeded in listing practically every blind person in the Dominion, but that our prevention of blindness programme is beginning to show results. Time will give us the proper interpretation."

—From Colonel E. A. Baker's report as Managing Director of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Danish Saboteurs Active

German troops and Danish saboteurs battled almost nightly along the railroads in Northern Jutland province, advices from Denmark said recently.

The troops have been assigned to guard rail lines used to supply garrisons in Denmark and ship men and materials to ports for Nazis units to carry them to Norway. Saboteurs have been blasting the tracks unceasingly.

Among the stories of mounting resistance in Denmark was the report that masked Danish patriots, arming themselves in the hope of an Allied invasion raided a Copenhagen police station and looted the arsenal.

A big explosion in a factory manufacturing electric motors and batteries for the German army damaged by a bomb blast for the second time in two weeks.

Danish patriots also blew up three electric power transformers in the south Jutland province of Denmark, leaving whole districts without electricity. Reports from Copenhagen indicated time bombs were used.

A big convalescent home at Hareskov, six miles northwest of Copenhagen, which the Germans intended to take over, was burned to the ground.

The explosion in Copenhagen's Tocs restaurant, frequented by German soldiers heavily damaged the interior. A few persons were injured.

Cert'e: I wonder why so may wi- dows succeed in marrying a second time.

Bertie: ' Miy I suggest that the answer is- 'Because dead men tell no tales'.

OBITUARY

THE LATE GARNET P. CAIRD

After an illness of about eighteen months, Garnet Percival Caird aged 59 years, died at his home at Vine's Corners in Napanee, on Saturday, October 30th, after which months he was a patient at the Mount'ain Sanitarium, Hamilton, but about two months ago he returned to his home in Napanee, where his death occurred.

He was born at Seeley's Bay and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Caird. Some years ago he moved to Napanee, where he was engaged for several years in the wood business. After coming to Napanee he married Mary Conger, who survives. He also leaves two young children, Donna and Dennis, and three brothers Harold and Penrose, overseas, and Arnold (at Cheyne).

His funeral was conducted at his late residence by Rev. Mr. Slater and Rev. Mr. Burtch of the Standard Church. Interment followed at Riverside Cemetery.

I.O.D.E. Mending Group Has Busy Time At No. 1, I. F. S.

The I. O. D. E. of Napanee has formed a Mending Club to look after the needs of the Airmen at No. 1 I. F. S. at Deseronto. This group is being convened by Mrs. Geo. Fisher, who along with four other ladies started the Club in action, on Wednesday night, October 20th.

A corner was set up where the Airmen could bring their mending and sewing in the Recreation Building and there were several 'Customers' awaiting the ladies when they arrived. What with stripes being sewn on here and a button there, with a few pair of socks thrown in for mending the ladies were kept busy the whole evening.

Again this week, on Wednesday night, four other ladies accompanied Mrs. Fisher to the Station. What work they found waiting for them! It really impressed the ladies as to how necessary this Mending Club is and from the sincere remarks and heartfelt appreciation shown by the Airmen they know what a grand job they are doing and how they are helping lads who may be away from home for the first time and are missing the little things mother used to do for them.

If any Napanee women would like to help in this worthy effort they are asked to call Mrs. Fisher at 649 and offer their services. They will enjoy meeting and talking with the lads while they are mending, and also will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are doing something to help make an Airman's life a little happier.

WILEY - MACGREGOR

In Westminster Central Chapel, Toronto, on Saturday, November 6th at 4 o'clock, Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson united in marriage Enid Alexandra MacGregor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacGregor, of Napanee, Ont., and Flight-Lieutenant John Hovie Wiley, son of Mr. John M. Wiley and the late Mrs. Wiley of Winnipeg, Manitoba. The wedding music was played by the church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a smart period dress-maker suit, with mink trim. Her hat was fashioned in the accessories were black and she carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. Alexander MacGregor, also of Napanee, wore an attractive frock of turquoise blue with sequin and nail head trim. Her small hat and accessories were black and she carried an arm bouquet of joanna hill roses.

The groom was attended by Flight-Lieutenant Lloyd George, of Toronto.

The reception was held at the University Club St. George Street, and afterwards the couple left on a short wedding trip.

Flight-Lieutenant and Mrs. Wiley will reside at the Bettgrove Guest House, De eronto Ont.

WEDDING BELLS

KINMETT - WHITTON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Rectory of the Presbyterian Church, Bridge Street, on Saturday October 27 at 3:00 p.m. when Muriel Audrey Whitton became bride of Mr. and the late Mrs. William Whitton, Deseronto, Ont., became the bride of Donald Kinmett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Kinmett, also of Deseronto.

The bride looked charming in a street-length wedding powder blue sheer with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses and fern. Miss Hazel Maguire, the bride's attendant was gowned in a suit of rose crepe with the accessories to match and carrying a bouquet of white roses and fern.

The groom was Douglas Kinmett, Deseronto, brother of the groom.

A wedding dinner was served at the Belmont Hotel, Belleville for the bridal party. A smal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kinmett, Chatham St., Belleville for the happy couple. Later, the bride and groom left by motor for Toronto and points west.

They will take up residence in De eronto, where the groom is employed.

SWITZER - WAGER

Mrs. L. Edith Wager 407 Grand Avenue, Watertown, and Frank Switzer of Moscow, were married in Grace United Church, Watertown, on Saturday afternoon, October 23 at 1:30 p.m., Rev. H. D. Craig, pastor officiating. Attendants were Miss E. Elizabeth Wager daughter of the bride and Mr. Harold H. Wallace, both of Watertown. The bride wore a wine velvet street-length dress with black accessories, and a corsage of talisman roses and pompoms. The bride of the honor wore a brown crepe street-length dress with London Tan accessories. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The couple will reside at the home of Mr. Switzer, Moscow R.R. No. 3

OBITUARIES

THE LATE MISS L. ANDERSON

There passed away at the family home in Campbellford, on October 27th, Miss Libbie Anderson in her 89th year. Miss Anderson was born near Ebeneezr, where she spent most of her life. She is the last of a family of eleven.

On October 29th, the remains were brought to Wartman's Undertaking Parlors where the service was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. A. Cooper, of St. Paul's United Church. Warkworth. Interment was in the family plot at Riverview Cemetery.

UNITED CHURCH LENDS SUPPORT TO REFUGE PROJECT

In support of the petition now circulated by the Canadian National Committee on Refugees, urging the Government to temporarily waive immigration restrictions so as to allow entry into Canada of refugees from occupied Europe, the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada has sent a letter to ministers asking them to co-operate in circulating the petition among the church congregations.

The letter reads in part, "We are told now by the Canadian National Committee on Refugees that the time has come for Canada to offer a more 'open door' policy in regard to immigration and that we can help into our land of refugees from Europe. There are many thousands of the latter in countries like Portugal. The good old land of Britain has taken far more than her share, so far less.

"Many arguments in support of the petition could be suggested. We mention only one: in this evil hour when human suffering particularly in Europe, has reached tragic dimensions, Canada must do her part. We may accept our share of the prayers for 'better, for worse, for richer, for poorer.' We must remember them to throw in their lot with us. This is our Christian duty. Let us do it now."

The Moderator of The United Church has signed the petition and the Women's Missionary Society has mailed copies of it to every W.M.S. Auxiliary in Canada.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

THE VALUE OF AN APPLE

Hello Homemakers! "An Apple a day keeps the doctor away" is an adage. But apples contain amounts of minerals needed for good bones and teeth and red blood. One apple doesn't provide the total amount that we need daily, but when it's cooked and combined with such foods as milk, meat dishes, cheese or eggs, we may be assured of eating the-ta-properly dishes.

Spiced Apple Pudding

Three cups bread crumbs, one cup sugar, one-quarter pound raisins, two tablespoons fruit juice, half-teaspoon ground cloves, three cups chopped apples, two cups of milk one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon mace, three eggs (beaten separately).

Soak the milk, stir in the crumbs and scald for two minutes. Remove from fire, mix together all the ingredients, adding lastly the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Butter pudding dish, fill with batter and bake for about 40 minutes in a moderate electric oven. Serve with custard sauce.

CUSTARD SAUCE

Three-quarters cup milk yolk of one egg, one and one-half tablespoons sugar, salt, few drops of vanilla.

Heat yolk of egg slightly, add sugar, salt; mix well, then gradually add hot milk. Cook over hot water stirring constantly, until it thickens. Strain and when cold add flavoring.

Apple and Cheese Salad

Mix browned soya beans with twice their bulk of cream cheese, adding a little cream to blend the mixture. Season with pepper and salt and make into tiny balls. Pare mellow tart apples core and slice across the centre into rings about half - inch thick. Arrange rings on lettuce leaves and place several cheese balls in the centre. Serve potato salad and dressing.

TAKE A TIP :

Listen to Mrs. Kate Aitken over CFRB next Friday evening at 8 p.m. Your questions sent to The Mixing Bowl may be discussed during this programme.

Apples and vegetables from the small gardens must be carefully stored this year, since imported vegetables are expensive and processed vegetables are not available at present.

1 The storage space is most important. A separate room in the basement of your home with a window in it is advisable.

2 The best temperature, upside-down, unless the temperature is close to freezing. Cream cheese usually collects in the leaves, causing growth.

3 Store pumpkin and squash by wrapping well in two folds of paper. Only dry and well matured ones will keep.

4 Dry onions should be stored in a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees above freezing.

5 Carrots, beets and turnips should not be washed. Dry and pack in leaves or sand in a dark but ventilated room; keep at 32 deg. The a thermometer to check temperature of lower part of storage room.

6 Store apples and winter pears in slatted crates in a cool, dry place.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY
THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:—

You old trail blazer! I am so glad that your jaunt in the trailer is proving a success that I can even forgive you for sounding like a canary swallowing a cat. When one is confronted with nature in the raw and survives, I suppose it is natural to do a little crowing. I can see you lick me at my word and I love the wierd and wonderful postcards which I have been gleefully exhibiting to my friends. They are speechless, too, never long seen such gaudy sunsets before. I am thinking serious's of making them the foundation of a collection. After all I feel sure that every one of them is a museum piece. My guess is that they have been gathering dust undisturbed on the shelf of a country store for the last fifty years. Trust you to unearth them!

Your story about starting your little kerosene with numb fingers in the morning would have touched me more but you so obviously enjoyed it, you proud pioneer! You know very well that you would be ashamed to live in comfort when you go a gypsying, so don't come to me looking for sympathy. We have often said that it is the minor discomforts that make an adventure of an excursion, remember? However, I am very glad that your dad made you take the heater in addition to your kerosene cooker. It should keep you thawed out unless an arctic 'cold wave sweeps the country. Cheerful thought but it is my nature. What would you do without me? All right, don't tell me!

I continue to watch the ramparts of the C.W.A.C. There have been a rash of promotions in our company recently and every second person seems to be wearing hooks. It is nice to see so many contented people and it makes a better feeling in the company . . . esprit-de-corps or what have you? Some of the girls have been in the army a long time and promotions were overdue. Besides, there are concrete advantages—more pay, late passes, and in the case of sergeants, the priceless boon of not waiting in line at meal parades. Recent additions to the "hook" sergeants of No. 39 Company, C.W.A.C., include Sergt. Jean Wallace of Prescott, Sergt. "Pat" Morrow, also of Prescott, Sergt. Barbara Beckton of Victoria, B.C., and Sergt. Nadine Leonard, Ottawa.

In accordance with a recent change of policy, members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps are now carried on the strength of the units which employ them. For instance, Sergt. Beckton is employed by the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps and covers off a vacancy on that establishment. Aimed at eliminating duplication of work it means that C.W.A.C. orderly rooms will be able to operate with fewer clerks. All sergeants will be quartered in the unit orderly rooms and passed to the C.W.A.C. company orderly room to be lumped. This move represents one more step towards closer co-operation between the Canadian Women's Army Corps and the Canadian Army, of which it forms a part. I suppose you are looking for my knuckles now for getting technical, but can I help it if you do not know your army establishments?

So friend Dave wants me to keep an eye on his young cousin? Of course I will. This is an assignment to which I can do full justice. Eighteen did you say? "Either they're too gray or grass green . . ." Nevertheless I will be very g'ad to take care of your fledgling flyer and be a sister to him. If you like, I can introduce him to a young imp in the C.W.A.C. who likes her swing music and can play a handful but the lads hang around her like bees over a honey pot. I think I will have to "manage" a meeting if it meets with your approval.

Let me know how you are getting on in your retreat in the sticks and if you have read and like those improving books which you were so bent upon tackling. So think of all that book larnin' stored inside one small head, . . . and you have no room for me!

Take care of yourself, my little prairie flower, and turn your caravan towards home before the snows are blocked.

Ever your friend,
NICKEY.

Dear Babs:

Of course you are joking! Nobody could resist a turkey on that two-burner contraption you call a stove even if it was Thanksgiving but I forgive you. I am a pioneer at Citnm, I take it all back. So you had a turkey and all the trimmings in your cute little wagon on wheels and Dave thinks you are the ninth wonder. That is no new title. Tell me something that I don't know.

I was awfully pleased to learn that you have been helping at the local school. There is such an acute shortage of teachers these days that it is up to anyone with a diploma to lend a hand. I hear that the newly married women have rallied round in really remarkable and if it were not for their efforts, many would be schools which would not be able to open. It's going to be a big fill to know everyone is pulling together for the same thing — in the factories, in the schools and in the services.

"Jack' of all trades" they call me, but the joke was on me a few nights ago when one of the privates came tripping into my room and asked me to cut her hair. I was "just about to go to bed" and was dead tired, so I was really in no frame of mind to be 'a girl scout especially with my comrades. S/Sergt. Susan Florending of Edmonton, Alta., lying snugly in her bunk, chuckling to herself at my plight. However, I gallantly agreed and took a firm grip on the scissors. Half an hour later I had freyed enough off of her hair and my nerves to satisfy her. When she left "Sue"—uncovered a face secret from suppressed giggles and said with a wicked twinkle in her eyes, "By the way, o'd girl, did you know that I was a hairdresser for a year and a half before I joined up?" I should have strangled her!

I hate to bring this to a close but I have a class in conversational French in a few minutes and it's going to be a good idea for me to study my notes. Surprised? I have to keep up with you, my intellectual friend and this seems a good way. The courses are offered free to army girls and I would be a nitwit not to take advantage of them. The scheme has been arranged by the government in co-operation with educational institutes and these night classes afford girls with ambition and unusual opportunity to fit themselves for a career after the war. At Kingston, the Kingston Collegiate Vocational Institute supplies the teachers and a good number of C. W. A. C. signed for at least one of the courses which cover a number of subjects designed to raise the educational standard.

I was at Barrisfield visiting my trusty friend Barton-Smythe, the night the courses were announced. Of course, she fairly jumped at the opportunity and dashed off to sign up for every course offered. I don't suppose that I will ever know now what she is talking about.

Incidentally, my little cabbage, as the French say, let that be a lesson to you. The Barrisfield Belle girl" you if you don't watch out. Now to my French verbs. I may be a linguist yet.

ROOT VEGETABLES ARE NOW UNDER CEILIGS

Ceiling prices at which cabbages, beets, carrots, parsnips, turnips and rutabagas may be sold by growers, shippers, wholesa'e distributors and retailers have been fixed by the Foods Administration Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and became effective on November 1st.

Under this order the following maximum prices per pound have been fixed for the vegetables in question when delivered by a grower or shipper to a wholesaler at any di tributing centre:

| | |
|---|---|
| Beets, unwashed | 2½c |
| Beets, washed and scoured | 2½c |
| Cabbage | 2½c |
| Red Cabbage | 3½c |
| Carrots, unwashed | 2c |
| Carrots washed and scoured | 2½c |
| Parsnips, unwashed | 2½c |
| Parsnips, washed and scoured | 3½c |
| Turnips, Rutabagas unwashed | 1½c |
| Turnips and Rutabagas washed and scoured | 2½c |

Vegetables waxed for sale have the same ceilings as washed and scoured vegetables and only beets and carrots may be weighed and sold with the tops on. Provision is made for who grade and retail maximum markups and also for graduated storage charges during the winter, spring and early summer months.

When the growers or shippers are selling these vegetables direct to retailers their ceiling will be their original selling price, a maximum markup of 15 per cent. of their total selling price to the retailers.

When growers or shippers are selling direct to consumers on public markets or otherwise, their ceilings will be their original ceiling prices plus a maximum markup of 30 per cent. of their total selling price to the consumers.

Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances Increased in Ontario

Toronto, (C.P.) — An increase in the maximum old-age pension from $20 to $23 monthly and expans ion provision of mothers' allowances were announced last week, by Dr. R. E. Vivian, Public Welfare Minister of Ontario.

Cost of the increase in old-age pensions effective last Monday, will be borne by the Dominion and provincial governments on a 75-25 basis, Mr. Vivian said. Details of increases in mothers' allowance will be announced shortly.

Dr. Vivian also disclosed negotiations are under way with the Dominion Government in an effort to nodify existing regulations governing the method of calculating income allowable pensions. He termed these regulations unjust since some pensioners would not be entitled to the maximum increase.

"The province must, for example, consider five per cent. of the assessed value of property owned by a pensioner as income. "This is a

Movies Are Here

By HYE BOSSIN

Alan Dwan, the director who is a native of Toronto, is filming "Up in Mabel's Room," which stars Joan Bennett and Dana Andrews. . . . Another Canadian-born director is Edward Dmytryk (pronounced "Dimitrick") and he's busy guiding Lee Rogers through "Tender Comrade." Dmytryck's hobby is Chinese language, which he uses to write marginal notes on the script. . . . Mary Pickford's famed estate, "Pickfair," favorite scene of events for worthy causes, entertained more than 5,000 people last week, among them a group of soldiers who fought Dunkirk. Miss Pickford will soon start production on "Girls in Uniform." . . . Mickey Rooney just got a cheque for $23.78, royalties on "Oceans Apart," a song he wrote in collaboration with a friend and it made him as happy as though he had received a million dollars. . . . The not-so-lowly potato will get a Hollywood whirl. The War Activities Committee is having stills made to show the stars eating, buying and hauling home.

Colleen Townsend, a very pretty 15-year-old girl, is being tested by several major studios right now and that leads to an interesting story. Last summer she went to work in the office of an actors' agent. After seeing a year on the job the boss woke up and decided to try her out on several casting calls. Now she is one of his most important clients. . . . The casting scripts of one studio have these words on the cover: "This is a shooting here—the more shooting over there!" Film students are also used for explosives. . . . Errol Flynn, he of the handsome soul, may lecture on acting at a California university. . . . Clara Bow, "It" girl of other years, may return to the screen as "Rhythm Ranch." She's the wife of Rex Bell, former cowboy star. . . . This is Hollywood!: Fred Brack used to write such entertaining ads for an open air market in Los Angeles that a film company hired him to prepare a series for them that would cost $5,000 to present. Then executives held a meeting, cancelled the idea and paid Beck off for his contract. Now the newspaper circulates are after him to work for them.

The Hays Office, which rules over film decency, has forbidden any reference to Marlene Dietrich in "Kismet" as "The Queen of the Harem." The word "harem" is banned and "women's quarters" has been substituted. . . . Each new Hepsy Aldrich keeps growing the role. Jimmy Lydon is the latest. He'll play opposite Jane Withers in "Rhythm Revelry". . . . The Dutch use posters for anti-NAZI demonstrations. Recently the Nazis showed films about Rembrandt, the famous painter who is a national hero in what he was portrayed as a swaggering German with a Kaiser Bill moustache. So the Dutch burned the posters to the ground. . . . David Wark Griffith, the first great film director who originated many of the present-day methods, is the subject of a film for which Lillian Gish, one of his discoveries, wrote the story called "Silver Glory". . . . A flying picture named "Little Caesar" in honor of Ed G. Robinson, which stars his picture, shot down five Nazi planes.

HIGH HUMIDITY SAFEGUARDS HEALTH SAVES COAL

Despite summer complaints, it's not the heat, but the humidity in the winter, however, they say. Words of wisdom. By maintaining high humidity in the home, colders will be more comfortable though temperatures are on top of that, they will save a shovelful of coal.

If it were not necessary to keep bit of fuel possib'e, health would indicate plenty of moisture in the air. In winter the air is dry. It must obtain moisture somewhere and this somewhere often from an individual's natural passages. Doctors and others would be fewer colds and infections if humidity were maintained properly.

There are several simple things that can be done to maintain humidity. Here are a few of them: Put the pan in the hot air furnace is one, well-fitted with water. If this is not sufficient place cans of water just inside the registers, not where they'll show, but where they will do their work effectively.

After taking a bath, leave the hot water standing in the tub until it is cold. At the same time leave the bathroom door open so that the moisture can penetrate into the other rooms.

Potted plants make good humidifiers if they're kept well - watered. Their porous pots literally ooze moisture.

A pan of water underneath the radiator is a good substitute for the regular humidifying fans that fit on the back of the radiator. A good idea is to place one end of a small piece of absorbent cloth in the water, letting the other end hang over the side.

Homes heated by stoves need have no humidifying problems. Just keep a kettle of water standing on the back of the stove.

NEWBURGH W. C. T. U.

An interesting meeting of Newburgh W.C. T. U. was held at the parsonage, on October 21st. Mrs. Wilson conducted a responsive worship service. An inspiring paper on "Social Welfare" was given by Miss Cameron in which she stated that education was only an aid to development of character and that only when the will of God became the will of the people, their strength would be as the eternal hills.

Miss Duff, Field Secretary of W. C. T. U. was present and gave interesting items from her year's work. Gifts from the W. C. T. U. of months canteen, now serving in England, and one in Newfoundland, were much appreciated, and "Fellowship Lodge" at Petawawa brings much comfort and pleasure to the boys in the service.

Miss Duff appealed to the members for a renewed interest in temperance work and stressed the importance of temperance education for our young people.

Mrs. Herrington served tea at the close of the meeting and a social hour was enjoyed.

MOSCOW W. I.

The regular meeting of the Moscow Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. K. Huffman. There were twelve members present. Mrs. A. E. Huffman presided. Mrs. C. King and Mrs. Donald Huffman were chosen to attend the Leaders' Training School at Napanee. The project is Sewing Garments. The leaders reported the results of the Girls' Garden Club. Reports were given by the quilt, knitting and health conveners.

Following is the Knitters' report for the month of October: Seamen's stockings, 14 pairs; children's gloves, 12 pairs; helmets, 2 pairs; sox, 1 pair; Ladies' gloves, 1 pair; Men's sweaters, 3 pairs; aviator's cap, one.

It was decided to postpone sending the candy to the boys overseas until December.

Miss Cameron, Health Convener, gave a splendid paper on "Control of Cancer." Cancer ranks second to Heart Disease. In 1929 more than 120,000 died of cancer in the United States, and 1,700 in Canada. Diagnosis often delayed by failure of a patient to consult a physician. Every case of cancer is an emergency and procrastination means a fatality. Early application of proper treatment is necessary. A periodical examination, after the age of forty, by a reliable physician, will do much to protect an individual against this disease. Cancer is now recognized as a major health problem.

As the Victory Bond Drive was on, Mrs. Hugh Ramsay sang "Buy a Bond" for the first selection and "The Lilac Tree" as her second.

A social hour of the Kingston Convention was given by president, Mrs. Ethier and vice-president, Mrs. McLeod.

Up-to-date current events were prepared by Mrs. Dean Vandervoort and read by Mrs. Baldwin. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which a delicious lunch was served by the social committee, Mrs. Nugent Mrs. Ethier and the hostess, Mrs. Moore. The November meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Cameron. Roll call will be One way in which the Provincial Government collects revenue. A vote of thanks was given to all actating.

SILLSVILLE RED CROSS

On November 2nd Sillsville Red Cross members met in the hall. There were five present and the afternoon was spent cutting out blocks. Several strips were also sewn together.

Some plans were made concerning the coming entertainment which will take place in the church. Lunch money amounted to 35 cents.

NAPANEE W. C. T. U.

One piece of work done by Napanee W.C.T.U. is that of carrying on a booth at the County Fair, where lunch is served and literature distributed. Preparation for this is made in September and this year the work was carried on very successfully. The members of W. C. T. U. appreciate much the kindly co-operation of the public in this matter.

Preparations were made also for the annual visit of the Provincial Field Secretary, Miss Duff, who came to us in October and spent two very busy weeks in the district. Twelve places were visited and in most of these Miss Duff spoke, thus reaching hundreds of children and young people. In some places, films were shown and contacts were also made through the Sunday schools as well as women's organizations and conventions. In our own town Miss Duff visited and spoke to the pupils in both the Public School and the Collegiate.

At the October meeting of W. C. T. U. Miss Duff was guest speaker and gave us a programme of work done in our midst. She spoke of the encouragement she felt in finding that many of the children remembered her teaching of former years. She gave also a report of the Provincial Convention at Kitchener and said that the Mayor, on behalf of the people of the town, presented them with $25.00 for their work.

Miss Duff mentioned that Toronto district had sent an ambulance overseas and the Provincial W. C. T. U. had sent a mobile canteen to England and also built and furnished Fellowship Lodge, at the gate of Military Camp at Petawawa, where our boys might find a taste of home.

The work undertaken this year is the making and filling of ditty bags. Miss Duff said that in Utah five minutes anti-alcohol education was being given in the moving picture shows, and that Russia also is using anti-alcohol education. She spoke of the responsibility of the local church regarding the liquor problem and recommended study groups.

At this meeting Mrs. McLellan gave a most helpful address. She spoke of there being much talk about a new world order and how it was to be brought about. One of the from Isaiah, giving us God's plan for a new world order. We must have a part in carrying out His plan. To be good citizens of Heaven, we must be good citizens of earth.

At the close of the meeting films were shown.

GRACE CHURCH W. M. S.

The November meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held on Thursday last in the school room of Trinity United Church with a good attendance.

Miss Mala Mellow presided for the opening and business period and was assisted in the operation by Mrs. Stalker.

Miss treasurer, Mrs. P. Vine, gave her report which showed a balance on hand.

Mrs. C'arence Denison, corresponding secretary, read letters in reply to letters of sympathy.

Mrs. F. B. Elliott gave a very concise report of the sectional rally held recently in Trinity Church. Mrs. H. Dupree and Mrs. H. Thompson had charge of the devotional and were assisted by Mrs. Delbert Winter. The topic was "The Bible."

A sketch entitled "What would you do if", was given by the following ladies, Mrs. C. G. Mellow, Mrs. B. Seymour, Mrs. F. Correll, Mrs. F. Elliott, Mrs. F. Clarke, Mrs. A. Rodgers, Mrs. W. Smith, Miss H. VanAlstyne. A vocal duet was sung by Mrs. F. Tompkins and Mrs. C. Unger.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

MOUNT PLEASANT PIONEER W. I.

The Mount Pleasant Pioneer W. I. branch met at the home of Mrs. P. Stafford, on Thursday afternoon, November 4, for the regular month-ly meeting, with the president, Mrs. A. Sexsmith, in charge, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. G. Reed. There was a good attendance of members and several visitors present. The roll call was answered by the members handing in material suitable for making quilt tops. One finished top was received which had been made by Mrs. Cassidy and Mrs. T. Murphy.

Several items of business were discussed and plans made to help raise funds to carry on the war work. It was decided to send gifts to the boys of the neighborhood, who are serving overseas.

Mrs. Sexsmith gave a splendid report of the Women's Institute Convention held in Queen's University, Kingston, in October. Sunshine bags were distributed to the members to be used during the month of November. For every day the sun shines a penny is to be dropped into the little sack. These are to be handed in at the December meeting.

During the afternoon a quilt was quilted by some of the members. Mrs. Murphy kindly extended an invitation to the ladies to meet at her home for the December meeting. The roll call for the next meeting is to be responded to by a donation for the Christmas Cheer for British Children Fund.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which lunch was served.

SWITZERVILLE MISSION BAND

The Autumn Thankoffering meeting of the Busy Bee Mission Band was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon, November 3rd, with a number of visitors present.

The vice-president Paul Craig was in charge of the meeting, which was opened by singing a Thanksgiving hymn, followed by a prayer for November, by Beulah Craig, and all repeating the Members' Purpose. Geneva Robinson read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved, and the roll call was answered with one of the Beatitudes. Those taking part in the worship service, besides the vice - president, were Mary Vanalstyne, who read a prayer, Nelson Brandon the scripture lesson, Miss Attenbrock, the worship story, and Gerald Benn and George Vanalstyne receiving the offering, which was dedicated in song. The subject of stewardship was given in the form of a dialogue; Temperance by a song and Bible study above the Rosemary Moore's recitation was very pleasing, and several girls and boys sang a Halloween song.

The story from the Study Book was told by Mrs. Wales, and copies of World Friends were distributed by Barbara Robinson.

The meeting was closed by singing the National Anthem and repeating the Children's Benediction. A Halloween party was then held, when the leaders and older pupils served a lunch and Halloween treats.

ADOLPHUSTOWN Y. P. S.

The first meeting of the Adolphustown Young People's Society was held on Monday evening, October 18, in the basement of the church. The meeting opened with a hymn, and Miss Ruth Hudson led in prayer and read the scripture. After another hymn Mr. Crawford gave a short discussion on "What is the Chief Purpose of my Life."

Mr. Crawford acted as chairman for the election of officers, who are as follows: President, Miss Powers; Vice-President, Miss Mary Hudson; Secretary, Leslie Reynolds; Treasurer, Leo. Mack. Conveners are :— Christian Fellowship, Jim Gallagher; Christian Culture, Morris John; Christian Missions, Hattie Allison; Christian Citizenship, Helen Smith; Social Committee, Mrs. Clarence Davis and Mrs. George Smith; Recreation convener, Miss Ruth Hudson; Press Reporter, Mrs. Gordon Mack; Representative to the Official Board, Mrs. Clarence Davis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. I do such work as repairing, remodelling, and pressing clothes in my home. Do I need a permit from the Board to do this work?

A. You do not need a permit.

❖ ❖ ❖

Q. I have asked my dressmaker to make me a cape for fall wear. She tells me this is against regulations. Is this correct ?

A. Yes. Manufacturers are not allowed to make capes any more. These can be considered as luxury garments and the regulation is designed to conserve material for more essential garments.

❖ ❖ ❖

Q. I have some unused coupons in my book. Has my grocer the right to tear them out and keep them?

A. Definitely not. Unused coupons should be returned by the owner of the ration book.

Q. I am a housewife and would like to help the war effort. I haven't much time to spare since we have two small children. Have you any suggestions ?

A. Yes. Although you are busy with your children and your house, you can still find time to help the fight against inflation by joining the Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. If you get in touch with a liaison officer in your community, she will tell you how to keep track of prices when you do your shopping.

❖ ❖ ❖

Q. How many coupons do I need to surrender for a three and one-half pound bottle of corn syrup ?

A. If the bottle contains less than 42 fluid ounces, three coupons only need be collected. Each coupon is worth 14 fluid ounces.

Q. Are chocolate bars rationed ?

A. No, they are not rationed. There are fewer chocolate bars on the merchants' shelves these days because of the increased demands of the armed forces. The fact that much precious sugar is needed in the manufacture of chocolate bars also has a great deal to do with the short supply.

RED CROSS NEWS

The November monthly meeting was held in the work room on Saturday at 2:15. Mr. Wilfred S. Wilson, a member of the Provincial Executive, was present and gave the report of a recent meeting he attended in Toronto. He mentioned that the annual Red Cross campaign would be held in March, to coincide with the United States campaign, and that copies of the Red Cross Manual, showing the work of the Society, would soon be distributed.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, Mrs. E. I. Boyle and Mrs. Geo. Thompson.

Next Saturday there will be a special tea for Remembrance Day, and we are to have the pleasure of hearing an address by Wing Commander McDonald, at 2:30. All members and friends of the Red Cross are invited to attend.

CROYDON

Croydon, Nov. 6. — The Red Cross packed our Christmas boxes and mailed them to our boys overseas, and also quilted a quilt, and plans were arranged to hold a dance in the near future.

Quite a few from here attended the funeral at Tamworth on Thursday of the late Mrs. Hugh Haggerty.

Mrs. Geo. Close and Dorothea have gone to Kingston to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. James Young, of Toronto, motored down on Thursday. Mrs. Young will spend a while with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb. and Mr. Young journeyed on to the north country for deer hunting.

A large crowd was in attendance for the United Church sociable evening at the home of Mrs. Murney Marlin. The program was much enjoyed. It was prepared by Mrs. Oscar Fenwick and Miss Ester McClaren, and, at the close, refreshments were served by the hostess and committee.

Mrs. Earle Kimmett has moved to Napanee.

Mrs. B. Yeomans spent Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Warrach, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Close and Mrs. Jack Jeffs were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Fannie Close, Big Creek.

Mr. Harold Hughes, of the Aluminum Plant, Kingston, spent Thursday with his wife and daughter.

Mr. Arnold Kirkpatrick was doing some cement work for W. B. Close, and Mr. Alex. Wright was doing cement work for Dennis Nolan.

DORLAND

Dorland, Nov. 6. — In spite of frequent showers fall work is progressing, and quite a number have finished their plowing. The mild weather continues and flowers still bloom in the open.

This has been a rather busy week. The Y. P. S. held their weekly meeting on Monday evening. On Tuesday evening the Women's Association sponsored a pot luck supper, which drew a full house. After the bountiful supper, the pupils and teachers of School Sections 2 and 3 assisted by their music teacher, Mrs. Whiteman, presented an interesting program of music. Two numbers were given in fancy costumes, and were heartily applauded. On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. P. E. Foster entertained the monthly meeting of the W. M. S., which was also well attended.

Mrs. Reid, of Picton, spent a few days this week with her daughter, Mrs. Sanford Simmons.

Canadian troops on Kiska Island are building roads, installations and living quarters.

ROBLIN

Roblin, Nov. 8. — Rev. J. T. Caswell, of Inverary, former pastor here, occupied the pulpit in the United Church on Sunday evening. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to a large congregation, and the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hart was baptized.

A number from here attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Melville Dafoe in Westplain on Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. R. Merrick, of Selby, conducted the funeral service. The remains were interred in Roblin cemetery.

Mrs. Geo. Barrager has returned home from visiting her son, Mr. Blake Barrager, and family, and daughter, Mrs. Ross, in Toronto. Mrs. Phoebe Delinc, who accompanied her to Toronto, remained for a few weeks.

Mrs. John Kimmett spent Monday in Kingston and visited her aunt, Mrs. R. W. Asselstine, who is a patient in the hospital there.

Born, to Lieut. and Mrs. William T. Cook (nee Isobel Paul), a daughter, at Ottawa, on November 5th.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Kimmett visited his mother, Mrs. Annie Kimmett, who is ill, at Melrose, on Sunday. Mr. Wm. Kimmett and Mrs. Rufus Beigin, of Denver, Colorado, arrived on Friday last to visit their mother.

Mrs. Don Richmond had the misfortune to fall recently, breaking a bone in her ankle.

Mr. Thos. Wicklam left on Friday for the north, for the hunting season.

FOREST MILLS

Forest Mills, Nov. 8. — The local cheese factory has ceased operations for 1943. Mr. D. M. Sandford has been re-engaged as cheesemaker.

Several attended the worship service at Roblin on Sunday evening, when Rev. J. T. Caswell of Inverary, a former pastor, conducted the service.

We regret the serious illness of Mrs. John Donovan, who is a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston.

Mrs. John Bean, is also on the list, but we hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. C. Moore and Mrs. Whitelaw, of Belleville, spent a past week at Mr. Adam Sills'.

Rev. Lorne F. Fox and family, of Selby, and Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, Mr. Herbert Fox and daughter, Mr. M. E. Sills, of Belleville; Mrs. M. E. Sills, of Napanee, were supper guests Wednesday last of Mr. and Mrs. Fox.

Misses Muriel and Vera Allen, who have spent the past month at their home, have returned to Frankford.

WORKERS FROM FARMS NEEDED IN INDUSTRIES DURING WINTER MONTHS

Selective Service Manager at Napanee Office Makes Appeal

The manager of the local office of National Selective Service, Mr. J. W. Wilson, today stated that many more men from the farms who can be spared for the winter months are needed for jobs in other essential industries. A minimum of 150,000 men are needed, and while the response has been encouraging, requirements are not by any means, been met. Instructions have now been received here, issued by Arthur McNamara, Director of National Selective Service at Ottawa, that each local office redouble its efforts to induce more men to accept work off the farm, for the winter.

The Director's instructions emphasize the following points :—

While men from the farm are urgently needed elsewhere, no man should leave agriculture if he is needed as a farm worker for the winter.

Men will of course, return to the farm once again, when their services are required there.

Men will be paid the regular wages for whatever job they accept, and transportation will be provided free if a distance has to be travelled.

Workers from the farm, already given postponement under the Military call-up by reason of being farmers, will continue on postponement if they leave the farm to take other approved essential employment for the winter.

In communicating with Selective service offices Mr. MacNamara said: This appeal to workers is needed in farms for the winter, it both public and practical. If jobs in the woods to cut fuel, logs, mine and railway timber and pulpwood, are not filled the war effort and as well our national welfare will suffer seriously. The same may be said of employment vacancies in parking plants, railway maintenance, in base metal and fluorspar mines in the province. Men not needed on the farms in the winter are the only sizeable group of workers we have left to call on in Canada to get these jobs done this winter. Certainly, it is a patriotic duty for farmers who can do so, to respond. Then, of course, the wages earned will add to the year's earnings of men who take these jobs. The extra money will help at home." Mr. McNamara points out that young farm workers on military postponement where they can take winter jobs in the mines will really be carrying out the intention with which postponement was granted, so that they may engage at essential work for as much of the year as possible.

Mr. J. W. Wilson, the Selective Service manager, said that where men would not be placed in this locality, they will be given work in another district. In any event, there is no question of conscription.

As the Provincial Governments are prepared to assist Selective Service to secure men from the farms, any assistance it has of feeding as well as rehabilitating millions in the devastated and subjugated areas.

Already the food stocks in the world today admit of no other conclusion than that the nations contributing to these reserves will have to continue rationing in many lines. In fact it is believed the actual need for rationing in some food supplies may be greater when hostilities cease than at the moment.

SPONSOR AUCTION SALE FOR PRISONER OF WAR BOX FUND

RED CROSS ASKS FOR CO-OPERATION IN THIS ABSOLUTE NECESSITY

ARMOURIES, NOV. 20TH. 2:00 P.M.

As more and more Canadian boys become involved in active warfare, the list of prisoners grows, and the need for Prisoner of War Boxes grows with it.

Mrs. McLellan, Prisoner of War Liaison Officer, gave an enlightening talk at the opening meeting of the Napanee Red Cross Executive when called on for a report of her work. Fortunately to date there are no prisoners of war from this district, but Mrs. McLellan is kept supplied with very interesting literature, covering every phase of this work. To the Prisoners of War the Red Cross food box is not a luxury, but a life necessity. Without which, many of them simply could not exist.

To those who are not familiar with the Prisoner of War Box routine, the following will be interesting: The Canadian Red Cross packs and sends a five-pound food box each week to every Prisoner of War. In addition to this food box, next of kin are allowed to send an eleven pound box each quarter. In many climates they can send in a position to send this much each time, also there are forbidden articles sometimes packed which would be detrimental to the entire shipment, therefore the boxes are clothered in Ottawa opened and examined. If anything has to be removed, or if there is not the full amount allowed, the Canadian Red Cross makes up the amount with necessary articles.

To further this work the Napanee Branch is organizing an Auction Sale at which Mr. Courneyea of Tamworth has kindly consented to preside. The sale will be held in the Armouries on Saturday, November 20th, at 2:00 p.m.

THIS IS A COUNTY EFFORT AND EVERYONE'S HELP IS NEEDED !

$2.50 will send one Five-pound Food Box. How many can you contribute? Many things you have discarded are still saleable, bring them to the Armouries on Friday afternoon next week. The caretaker will look after them till Saturday.

YOUR CO-OPERATION IS ASKED.

SEVERAL CASES AT FALL ASSIZES, NOW IN SESSION

Mr. Justice Plaxton is presiding at the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court being held at the Court House, Napanee, this week. All the cases being heard by His Lordship are civil actions.

Two cases are being retried in the Napanee Court after a retrial was ordered some time ago, by a Supreme Court judge in Belleville after one of the jurors on the case had been found taking to one of the parties interested in the action. One of the cases being retried is an action for $958 damages brought by Harold Holmes, Brockville, against Arthur Knight of Shannonville and Gladys Aubin. The action was brought as a result of a motor car accident two miles west of Napanee, on October 11th, 1941. The other case is an action by Gladys Aubin Smith, for damages of $5,000 against Holmes Transport also the result of the accident west of Napanee on October 11th, 1941.

Walter J. Pook, formerly of Odessa, on behalf of his young son, James Pook, is bringing an action against the trustees of the Odessa School for unstated damages. It is alleged by the defendants that James Pook, of J. Pook's son, sustained a compound fracture of the leg in the Odessa school yard.

J. V. Topping, Napanee, is bringing an action against Johnston & Shafer Toronto, for recovery of $1,000. Mr. Topping alleges that he bought a car from Johnston & Shafer, which was later repossessed, on the grounds that it was a stolen car.

Elizabeth Milsap, Centreville, is bringing an action for divorce against Lyall Milsap. The co-respondent in the case is Mary Pringle, Kingston.

SGT.-GNR. M. LOYST REPORTED MISSING, BELIEVED KILLED

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loyst, Sillsville, received word last week, that their son, Sergt.-Gunner Morley Loyst aged 25 years, had been reported missing and believed killed. He had been overseas with the R. C. A. F. since May of this year. He joined the Air Force in August, 1942, and received his training at St. Thomas, Fingal and Mont Joli, Que.

Dorothy Dumbrille Issues Book of Poems

Mrs. Smith, Alexandria, Ont., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson R. J. Dumbrille, Rector of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Napanee, is the author of a book of poems entitled "Watch The Sun Rise." Issued under the pen name of Dorothy Dumbrille, which was advertised for sale by a Toronto store, late week.

ENEMY PUSHED BACK ON ALL FRONTS BY ALLIED ARMIES

Nearly All Russia Back in Control of Soviet

WEDNESDAY —

Russian troops captured another important railway station after pushing forward 27 miles northwest from Kiev. The Red Army was also headed for the railroad junction at Oroster, which controls the last railway short of Poland that connects the German armies in the north with those south and west of Kiev.

• • •

The Germans were reported to be building a new winter line in Italy, but the Allies were already hammering the line. The British Eighth Army advanced another five miles in the eastern sector and more gains were recorded on the central front.

• • •

During the past three months the Allies have sunk nearly five U-boats per week. More than 150 subs were destroyed in the past six months.

• • •

United States airmen and ground troops were reported to be battling with Japanese who put to shore from 21 barges, north of the marine beachhead at Bougainville.

• • •

THURSDAY —

The Russian Army was reported advancing at the rate of ten miles per day against another bases of the once-mighty German defenses before Poland and Roumania. Southeastward 500 miles, other Russian forces stamped a pincers against Kerch, from bridgeheads on either side of the town, which is at the tip of the Eastern Crimea.

• • •

In Italy, furious German counter-attacks were repulsed by the Allied Armies. The British Eighth Army consolidated its positions and had an important main lateral road completely under its control.

• • •

More than 500 British-based planes raided Europe on Wednesday, in one of the largest daylight aerial offensives in weeks. Only one plane was lost.

• • •

The battle for Bougainville, last big Jap Island in the Solomons, was reported to be growing in intensity.

• • •

FRIDAY —

The victorious Russian Army continued its steady advance in the Ukraine, with the result that they threaten to split the Germans into two disorganized groups, easily annihilated.

• • •

Allied armies in Italy advanced up to five miles, smashing new German defences in the western sector. The Nazis were reported wrecking the harbors of Leghorn and Pesaro, north of the present line, in evident fear of being unable to halt the drive to Rome.

• • •

The United States beachhead at Empress Augusta Bay at Bougainville was firmly established. A heavy air raid was made on the former Dutch naval base at Surabaya.

• • •

British and United States bombers on Wednesday, plugged the Brenner Pass and the Mont Cenis tunnel, used extensively by the Germans to transport troops and supplies to Italy.

SATURDAY —

The Russians advanced to within ten miles of Zhitomir, an important rail centre in the Western Ukraine, on Friday. A number of strong points were also captured by the Russians in the Kerch Peninsula of the Eastern Crimea.

• • •

Because of rain and snow, the Allies made only slight gains in Italy, on Friday.

• • •

A furious battle was reported in progress on the island of Leros, with British and Pro-Ally Italians fighting to dislodge Germans who had effected a landing on the Aegean Island.

• • •

For the past 48 hours there was no let up of bombing of Western Europe by the Allied Air Forces.

• • •

Chinese troops broke into the Jap defence ring around Ichang, furthest point of Japanese penetration in Central China.

• • •

Anti-German revolts were reported to have broken out in Hungary.

• • •

MONDAY —

During the week end the Russians widened and deepened the wedge they have driven between the German Ukraine armies. Zhitomir fell on Saturday and on Sunday the Russians crossed the vital railway between Korosten and Berdichev, within 60 miles of the Polish border.

• • •

In spite of increased resistance from the Germans, the Allied armies improved their position in Italy during the week end.

• • •

On Saturday the R.A.F. made a heavy attack on Bremen, which resulted in the loss of 24 R.A.F. planes and 48 German fighters.

The Germans have outnumbered the Allied fighters on the island of Leros in the Dodecanese, but the island was reported to be still in the hands of the defenders.

• • •

TUESDAY—

The last garrison in Gomel has been isolated by the Russians, who cut the last railway escape line but one. In the Northern Ukraine, the Russian Army swept within 35 miles of the Polish border, capturing 40 towns.

• • •

There was little change reported on Monday in the situation in Italy. Some German counter-attacks were beaten back and in the centre the Eighth Army made a slight gain.

• • •

Allied medium bombers smashed the railway yards at Bolbi on Sunday, in a two-wave attack.

• • •

General Catroux went to Lebanon on Monday, empowered to make peace in the name of the French Committee of National Liberation.

• • •

MONTHLY MEETING CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

At the end of October, according to the report of W. F. Barrett, superintendent of the Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society, at the regular monthly meeting held last Thursday evening, there were 55 cases open at the end of the month, still under investigation, and there were 54 children in care. Cases under investigation and children in care involving 33 visits on the part of the superintendent, and 48 office interviews.

The superintendent reported that two more young boys, who are wards of the Society had run away from the homes where they were placed, for no other apparent reason than restlessness. After a great deal of travelling about the county for several days the boys were located and were returned to their foster homes.

Cases under the heading "Unmarried Parent Work" remained the same in number — 34 — as in the previous month.

Work for the Dependents' Allowance Board involved 18 cases and for the Dependents' Board of Trustees 4 cases. There were two investigations for the Department of Pensions and National Health.

Mrs. R. S. Williams, one of the Membership Committee reported several members of the Society had paid their annual fees of 50c each and the committee was proceeding with its campaign for membership.

Ward Wartman, chairman of the Finance Committee, stated the committee was making a survey of expenditures and receipts for the year and would present a report, together with some recommendations at the December meeting.

Arrangements were made to send Christmas gifts to the wards of the society and to three former wards now serving with the Canadian Army Overseas.

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION WEEK, NOV. 14 - 20

OTTAWA— In a National Immunization Week message to the people of Canada, the Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone, has called attention to the importance of protection of children against communicable diseases and has commended the present effort to arouse the parents of this country to their responsibility to safeguard health. Immunization Week is being held from November 14th to 20th.

Here is the statement by His Excellency:

"I desire to call the attention of the people of Canada to National Immunization Week, the object of which is to impress on everyone the importance of protecting children from the four menaces which threaten them—diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and scarlet fever. These diseases are all avoidable. They can all be prevented and they can all be eliminated. Science can, however, make little progress without popular support and popular support will not be forthcoming without popular understanding.

"I warmly commend the Health League of Canada in its praiseworthy efforts to provide this understanding whereby thousands of young Canadian boys and girls may be saved from becoming the victims of wholly preventable maladies."

BEAVER SANTA CLAUS FUND

Christmas is about five weeks away and preparations are now under way to those in charge of The Beaver Santa Claus Fund to supply necessary clothing, food and gifts for needy families in the town. The fund got a good start with the money collected on the recent tag-day, but still more cash will be needed if everyone is to be looked after, who needs help.

Contributions may be left at The Beaver Office, or cheques may be made out to The Beaver Santa Claus Fund.

UNITED STATES LIMITS RATIONS FOR CANADIAN AUTOISTS

Washington (U.P.) — The United States Office of Price Administration has limited gasoline rations for Canadian residents driving their cars in this country to a maximum of 15 gallons per year. Motorcycle rations were set at six gallons a year.

Heretofore, Canadian motorists travelling in this country were allowed a basic "A" book for non-occupational purposes. The O.P.A. said the new rations are the same as the ration is used by Canada for residents of the United States travelling in that country.

For occupational purposes Canadians will be allowed up to 480 miles per month in the area outside the eastern shortage zone and up to 320 miles within the shortage zone.

CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL AT TRINITY CHURCH

A well-arranged and largely attended social evening for the congregation of Trinity United Church was held last Monday evening, in the recreation room of the church.

The programme was arranged by Bread Helpers Class members who were responsible for the refreshments served at the close of the programme by Mrs. J. J. Cordill, teacher of the Ready Helpers' Class was chairman. The programme consisted of community singing led by Mr. R. F. Hunter with Miss Beatrice Baxter, Mrs. Frank Mills and Miss Ruth Graham, a stunt in which a number of the members of the audience took part; a quiz arranged by Miss Blanche Hawley and conducted by Rev. G. M. Chidley.

At the close of the programme W. G. Cowle and D. B. Wilson moved a vote of thanks to the Bread Helpers' Class who were responsible for the evening's entertainment.

Good Attendance at C. W. L. Social Evening

There was a good attendance at the social evening held last Monday evening at the Napanee Town Hall, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church.

During the early part of the evening euchre and bridge were played by a large number of the guests. The euchre prizes were won by Mrs. Marlin and Clarence McNeely and the bridge prizes went to Mrs. Bert Beech and Harold Young. Miss Helen Lewis was the winner of the door prize.

Nolan's orchestra provided music for the dancing which followed the serving of refreshments. The spot prize was won by Mrs. Hugh Moody.

NEWS ITEMS ABOUT MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Mrs. Luther Sweet received word recently that her grandson, Albert Temple, who has been overseas with the R.C.A.F. for about three years, has been promoted to the rank of Flight Officer. And recently received his commission. He has been mentioned in dispatches also, for bravery and good work over enemy territory.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR ANNOUNCES INCREASE IN COST-OF-LIVING BONUS

Thirty-five Cents Per Week Added to Most Workers Pay Checks

Following the increase as of October 1st, 1943 of 14 points in the adjusted cost of living index announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics the Wartime Labour Board issued a General Order last week that cost of living bonuses be increased accordingly commencing with the first payroll period beginning on or after November 15, 1943.

In the case of adult male employees, and of other employees receiving weekly wage rates of $25.00 or more per week the amount of the weekly increase will be 35 cents. For male employees less than 21 years of age and female employees, whose weekly wage rates are less than $25.00 per week, the increase will be 14 per cent of their weekly wage rates.

This increase is compulsory for all employers, who are subject to the provisions of Wartime Wages Control Order P.C. 9963, and the 35 cent or 14 per cent. award adjustment must be added to all cost of living bonuses presently being paid to employees who are not above the rank of "Foreman."

The maximum weekly bonus will now be $4.90 or 14.4 per cent of the weekly wage rates, as the case may be.

The Board's General Order does not affect the provisions of its general direction made last June for manual workers in the construction industry following representations from the National Joint Conference Board of that industry.

Selections Played by Mrs. W. K Huston At Kingston Concert

Mrs. W. K. Huston played several marimba solos at the regular monthly concert given on Wednesday evening, November 10 in Kingston under the auspices of the Kingston Music Club in the Kingston Wesley-Stanislaus Institute. Speaking of the concert said: "Mrs. Huston's playing was the highlight of a good concert and it is hoped that on some future occasion she will be asked to give a recital here."

The Late Miss Ella Kimmerly

The death of Miss Ella Kimmerly, who had been in failing health for some months, occurred last Saturday morning, December 13th, at her home.

Miss Kimmerly was the last surviving members of the family of five of Ira Kimmerly and Deborah Dunigan in the earlier days. Miss Kimmerly's father was a prospector in the California gold fields, but returned to his farm in Richmond when still a young man. After his marriage he and his wife came to Napanee in the pioneer days. He purchased lots on what is now called Piety Hill and built the houses now occupied by Mrs. T. B. Wallace, Dr. W. A. Ashley, and the home lately occupied by Miss Kimmerly, from which all members of the Kimmerly family have been decreased.

Mr. Kimmerly opened a small grocery on the corner of the lot now occupied by Dr. Ashley's home and later moved his store to the business section on Dundas Street, where he and his son Amos S. Kimmerly, and his grandson, Arthur S. Kimmerly, have continued to operate the business.

The Kimmerly grocery business is probably the oldest grocery store in Napanee.

After receiving her education in the Napanee Public School and Collegiate Institute Miss Ella Kimmerly, second daughter of Mr. Ira Kimmerly, most courteously and efficiently helped carry on the Kimmerly grocery business and was favorably known to a great many of the residents of the town and district to whom she always took a kindly interest.

Miss Kimmerly was a member of Trinity United Church and for many years was a liberal supporter of the W. M. S. of the church.

After the death of her sister, Miss Edith, in 1930, Miss Kimmerly suffered a stroke, from which she never fully recovered. About three weeks ago she had another slight stroke, from which she failed to rally.

Miss Kimmerly was predeceased by her brother, Amos S. Kimmerly, and three sisters Emma, Mary and Edith. She is survived by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Amos S. Kimmerly, and nephew Arthur S. Kimmerly, two grandnieces, Mrs. Robert Graham and Mrs. Robert Phillips, and a grandnephew, Arthur Kimmerly, Jr.

A private funeral service was conducted on Monday afternoon, by Rev. G. M. Chidley, at her late home, after which interment was made in Riverview Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Mark Graham, Ray Smith, Charles Hawley, Hoy Grooms, Robert Phillips, and Bruce Allenbrack.

$12128 COLLECTED FOR POPPY FUND ON TAG - DAY

The annual Poppy Day Tag-Day was held in Napanee last Saturday and the sum of $121.28 was collected. The arrangements for the Tag-Day were made by a committee of members of the I. O. D. E., composed of Mrs. S. D. Geodaire, Mrs. W. H. Bath, Mr. A. E. Lewis, Mrs. J. F. Hooey and Mrs. Merrill Goodwin.

The taggers were boys and girls from the Collegiate and from the Public Schools.

Hay Bay United Church Observes Anniversary

The 31st anniversary of the opening of Hay Bay United Church on the Hay Bay Church was observed by a special anniversary service on November 14, when Rev. Stanley Osborne, B.A., of Bath, Ont., occupied the pulpit at both services. Rev. Osborne is a son of Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Osborne, formerly of the Hay Circuit, was the guest speaker. Taking as his theme His Supply and Wealth," Mr. Osborne delivered an earnest and thought-provoking message. His illustrations and application were extremely fitting. The choir rendered appropriate selections at both services. Mrs. W. McCune rendered a solo at the evening service. Mr. Osborne's father, Rev. Frederick Osborne, was pastor of the Hay Circuit, when the present church was built. He lived in Napanee for a number of years and was a member of the Napanee Lodge, A.F. & A.M. Mr. Osborne's mother was a member of the Napanee Chapter, O.E.S. Rev. Osborne's grandfather was Rev. Stanley Osborne, after whom he was named, who was a well-known Methodist minister in the early days of Methodism in Canada.

Selections Played by Mrs. W. K Huston At Kingston Concert

Mrs. W. K. Huston played several marimba solos at the regular monthly concert given on Wednesday evening, November 10 in Kingston under the auspices of the Kingston Music Club in the Kingston Wesley-Stanislaus Institute. Speaking of the concert said: "Mrs. Huston's playing was the highlight of a good concert and it is hoped that on some future occasion she will be asked to give a recital here."

RED CROSS NEWS

The work done this week in the Red Cross rooms has been chiefly for the special programme and tea to commemorate Remembrance Day. Mrs. Ben Clark and Mrs. Ed Chard are in charge of the programme and opened the meeting with a short address. A prayer followed by a short silence and appreciative prayers. Wing-Commander McDonald then addressed and in speaking of the work he said that it was nearly over and the realization so far, had been very little. He mentioned that there would doubtless be much misunderstanding and the work of the Red Cross would be misjudged at times as then in the last war. He thanked the Women's Institutes of Ontario for the splendid co-operation made during the Red Cross. His closing words were that he knew the members of the Red Cross were doing their self part and he expressed gratitude for all they had done, and wished them success in their future efforts.

A vote of thanks was extended to Wing Commander McDonald by Mr. Burwell Hunter.

Miss Herrington briefly appealed for more workers.

The business, were Mrs. W. J. Wiggins and Mrs. P. U. Lasslev.

V. O. N. NEWS

Mrs. T. J. Hunt presided at the November meeting of the V. O. N. It was decided at this meeting to have a special open meeting in December to give the members and others who are interested the opportunity to meet the new V. O. Nurse, Miss Mary Morrison. There will be a guest speaker, and afternoon tea will be served. A notice of this meeting will be in the local papers.

In her report for October, Miss Morrison said she had 23 new patients. She made 152 visits during the month.

There were four Well-Baby conferences held with a total attendance of sixty-one babies.

Twenty-six bones were spent in the schools during the month.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. HARRISON HONORED BY FRIENDS AT NEWBURGH

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Harrison and Marion, Napanee, were honored by their friends in Newburgh, Thursday night, at the Town Hall. The evening was spent in playing cards and dancing. Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and Marion were called to the platform, where an address was read by Reeve W. H. Ward and Mr. F. C. Sherris made the presentation of a nest of tables in walnut, and an occasional chair to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison moved to Napanee, some time ago, after residing in Newburgh nearly 30 years.

CHIMNEY FIRE

About 8:00 a.m., on Tuesday, the firemen were called to a chimney fire in the frame dwelling next to Seymour's Shoe Repair Shop on Dundas Street. No damage was done to the building.

FOOD RATIONING AFTER THE WAR PREDICTED

Ottawa. — One of the illuminations shed upon the deliberations attained at Atlantic City, last week, of the United Nations relief administration is the fact that rationing in Canada will not end with the war.

Those who may dream that when peace is restored in next year, as Mr. Churchill hopes, or later, the roof tools will be torn up, with the roof of boards for food orders, are due for a rude and disillusioned awakening.

That is indicated in Mr. Lehman's description of the conference and the great objective it has of feeding as well as rehabilitating millions in the devastated and subjugated areas.

DAVID SCHRYVER KILLED IN WEST WITH R. C. A. F.

Word was received early this week, by Mrs. Harvey Deverell, of Belleville, of the death, somewhere along the British Coast, of her son, David Schryver, a member of the R.C.A.F. His death was reported to have occurred in a motor car crash, although few details were given. His body will be sent East, for burial.

The deceased young man was well known in Napanee, as he was employed, previous to enlistment, at the Francis Bakery.

HYDRO COMMISSION ANNOUNCES REDUCTION IN RURAL POWER RATES

New Rates Become Effective January 1st

Simplification of the rural rate structure of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission coupled with reductions in power costs for 129 000 of the 133,000 rural consumers in the province were announced Monday by the Commission.

The Commission issued a statement saying that the 120 present rural power districts would be combined into one district with a uniform rate, effective next January 1st, and that the present service charge in primary producers would be eliminated while the service charge to other rural consumers would be reduced.

The uniform kilowatt - hour rate was announced as follows: Four cents per kilowatt hour for the first block of kilowatt hours; 2½ per kilowatt hour for the second block of kilowatt hours and .75 cents per kilowatt hour for all remaining monthly consumption.

The announcement said that for the standard farm, 60 kilowatt hours would be charged at the four-cent rate, 180 kilowatt hours at the 1.6 cent rate and all remaining monthly consumption at .75 cents. A minimum monthly bill of $2.25 gross, would be adopted for the standard farm. For larger farms, suitable block and minimum bills have been devised."

The rate structure for small non-farming rural consumers was defined in this way: Service charge of $1.75 a month; 40 kilowatt hours to be charged at four cents per kilowatt hour, and the remaining monthly consumption at .75 cents. Minimum monthly bill was fixed at $1.50 gross with different kilowatt - hour blocks and minimum bills for larger consumers.

Prompt payment discount for all rural consumers was fixed at 10 per cent.

"The effect on the monthly bills of the farmer shows a substantial decrease to all except approximately three per cent. of all farmers served by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission," said the statement.

Non-farming, or hamlet, rural consumers "will receive a reduction in their bills with the exception of about 2.5 per cent of this class of consumer receiving service."

WREATHS PLACED AT CENOTAPH

Wreaths were placed at the Lennox and Addington County Cenotaph on Remembrance Day and the following Sunday, by the Province of Ontario, the U. E. L. Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and the Public Benefit Addington Districts Women's Institute.

Mrs. Annie Davern, whose son Frank Davern lost his life in the Great War, placed the wreath on the Province of Ontario, on Remembrance Day.

On Sunday afternoon a short service was held at the Cenotaph, attended by members of the I.O.D.E., the Women's Institute and a few other citizens. Rev. C. D. McLellan, a veteran of the Great War, offered a prayer and the wreath for the I. O. D. E. was placed by Mrs. D. R. Hall, the Regent, and for the Women's Institute by Mrs. Katherine Powell.

GETTING THE TRUTH

For the first time since the formation of the U.S.S.R. twenty-five years ago, an honest attempt is being made to let the people in Canada know the truth about the Russian experiment. Mr. Brockington, speaking at the great Service of Thanksgiving, at the Maple Leaf Gardens, on Sunday night, said: "We have all much to repent of because of our years of misrepresentation." That is true. It was reassuring to hear it from the lips of so eloquent a speaker. There can be no doubt but that for the past twenty-five years, we in the Democracies, have received our impression of Russia through sources which, to say the least, could hardly be called impartial. To be sure an occasional traveller from that country would tell of great social and economic changes in the life of the country, but they were largely voices in the wilderness.

Now, however, the tables are turned. An honest and forthright effort is being made to tell the truth about Russia, and to let the people know the truth. It will take a long time to get the people used to this change of attitude on the part of influential elements in society, and by the newspapers and distributors of news. The misrepresentation, studiously and carefully done over a period of years, has created rather deep-seated prejudices and grave fears in the hearts of great numbers of people. These will not be easy to overcome. But in time, truth will prevail, and people will come to realize that the U.S.S.R. is one of the most progressive and most humanitarian governments in the world, and its system, one of great promise.

For three days — Friday, Saturday Sunday — a great Congress of The Friendship for Russia organization, was held in Toronto. Forums were held, at which experts in various fields of human interest, such as education, labor, scientific research, acted as leaders. Nothing was kept back. The Russian system was examined; questions were asked, and answers given.

In the present wave of enthusiasm for Russia, based naturally on the amazing triumphs of the Red Army there is needed a word of caution. We need not assume that everything in Russia is perfect, nor that the Russian system will produce a millenium. Undoubtedly, the Russian experiment is the greatest experiment in social management ever attempted. We must try to understand it. We must let the searchlight of truth shine upon it so that we, in this country and in other countries will be able, properly, to appraise state socialism as it operates in a nation of 186,000,-000 people. Because the new Friendship For Russia organization seeks to do just that, it is one of the most hopeful signs of the times.

IMPLEMENTING ELECTION PLEDGES

Premier Drew is showing real zeal in his endeavour to implement his election pledges. Perhaps the most important announcement so far made by the Premier, was that made on Monday, to the effect that sweeping changes are to be made in Hydro-Electric charges. The unfair treatment which the rural power user has been subject to, in the matter of Hydro rates, has been a source of bitter complaint on the part of the farmers, for years. They, who more than any other sections of the country, should be given preferential treatment because of their isolation and the drudgery of their toil have certainly been discriminated against up till the present time. Hydro has been a luxury rather than a necessary commodity, on the farm.

Now, all this is to be changed. The report of the new arrangement appearing in the daily Press, says that there is to be a uniform power rate for all rural consumers in the Province. The service charge is to be removed from all farmers who are primary producers, and there will be a reduction in the service charge to all other rural users of Hydro.

It is estimated that the new rates which are to come into effect on January 1st, next year, will save the farmers, annually, $527,000. An example of the saving has been worked out by the Department, which shows that a farmer now paying $4.31 a month for electricity, will under the new rate structure, pay $2.92.

This is good news for the farmer. It will probably be good business for the Hydro, too. There is a tremendous amount of electricity being used in war industries. This will certainly not be maintained in the day of readjustment, following the declaration of peace. But the surplus electricity which will be on the hands of the Commission, when war industries cease, may, to a very large extent, be absorbed by the rural dwellers. This is a great potential market. The Government has done well to cultivate this market, and in doing so the Government has gone a long way towards creating confidence in their determination to fulfill the pledges given the electorate in the recent election.

U. N. R. R. A.

We are getting used to initials to designate groups, boards, parties, and a hundred and one other organizations. new combination which we will have to learn stands at the head of this article. It is unpronounceable, but it is easily recognizable. Once seen it will not easily be forgotten. It has eye appeal. We may be well assured that it will appear often enough in the days that lie ahead, for it represents one of the most important organizations that has been set up since the war began. Indeed, it is almost in a class by itself, for it stands for an organization which has to do, not with the prosecution of the war, but with healing its ravages. To give this new organization its proper name, it is called the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The first meeting of this U.N.R.R.A. was held last week, at which representatives of forty-four nations met, in Washington, to plan the rehabilitation of the devastated areas of Europe and other wartorn and ravished countries. During the past three years, great areas of Europe and Asia have been brought under the Nazi heel. The people of these countries have been robbed of almost everything they possessed. Food, particularly, has been taken from them in order to meet the needs of the German population and the German army.

The first great problem which must be tackled by this new organization—of which Canada is a member—is to plan to feed the peoples of Europe when they are liberated. President Roosevelt, in a broadcast speech on opening the sessions of the UNNRA said: "No one country could or should attempt to bear the vast relief needs, either in money or in supplies." This is a job for all. The first report on hunger conditions from the Inter-Allied Committee on Post-war Requirements, was submitted to the UNNRA and estimated that 8,000,000 metric tons of food would be needed as a minimum, to meet the necessity of the occasion which would be created at the end of hostilities. That is a big order. First, the food must be grown, processed and stored. Then ships must be found to transport it. Then there must be well-thought out, capable committees, to do the actual distribution. It is a task requiring vision, courage, organizing ability and determination. But the war has proved to us that if we want to do a thing, it can be done. If we are determined to feed Europe, the ways and means will be discovered.

There is one factor, however, which cannot be overlooked. We cannot manufacture food. It must be grown. The primary producer must produce the foods needed. That cannot be done in a hurry. The farmer cannot produce on a moment's notice. The tragedy of this phase of the situation is that just when maximum production is needed, our farmers are short of labor and, consequently, are unable to achieve maximum production. In this area, alone, over a hundred sales of farms and farm stock and implements have been held during the past year. In some cases these farms have been kept in production by new owners. In other cases, they have largely reverted to pasture. This is little short of tragic. There never was such a demand for food, and the demand will grow, after the war. Farms should be producing at the limit. They cannot do so until some relief from the present shortage of labor is forthcoming.

One thing seems inevitable. If we are unable to maintain production at a high level on the farms, there will be a reduction in our standard of living, for we dare not let Europe starve while we have food to share with her ravished and starving peoples.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENTS

HOT STUFF

I suppose we have a'l read some of the propaganda being circulated on how to save fuel. Some of it is truly amazing. In a recent issue of the Globe and Mail, I found an article telling me that if I keep my daytime temperature down to 68 I shall save 24 per cent. of my fuel. If I remove the 1/16th-inch deposit of soot in furnace pipes, a further 34 per cent saving will result. By using storm windows I can save a further 20 per cent. and 10 per cent. is lopped off by keeping shades and drapes drawn at night.

By doing these simple things I can now run my house on 12 per cent. of the fuel I previously used. I suppose. The total of the aforementioned saving is 88 per cent., but that is not all. The concluding sentences tell me that the proper use of cinders will save as high as 15 per cent. At this rate I do not need to light the furnace, but simply fill it up with cinders, clean out the soot, keep the temperature down to 68, put storm windows up, pull the blinds down, and we shall all be snug as a bug in a rug for the winter.

This is the first time in my engineering career that I have found a way to get something for nothing and I am naturally quite delirious over the prospect. Anybody who can use the 3 per cent. of heat that I shall have left over, is welcome to bring a truck and take it away any time they want it.

T. S. GLOVER, Hamilton.

Burma Hill Tribesmen Await Their Day

BY WALTER I. BRIGGS
United Press Staff Correspondent

Simla, India. 5 When the Allies stage their smash against the Japanese in Burma, any forces striking overland from India will receive vital assistance from hill tribesmen inhabiting the Indo-Burma border areas.

These hillmen, whose regions the Japanese have not been able to occupy, have remained firmly loyal to the British.

Brig - General Charles Orde Wingate, leader of the British commando unit which last spring filtered through Burma's jungles and disrupted the enemy's communications to the Irrawaddy and beyond, repeatedly praised these tribesmen for their co-operation which, he said, was important in the success of the expedition.

W. I. J. Wallace, chief of the Burma government's civil defence department, here with other former British and Burmese administrators of Burma to plan its reconstruction, told me it was because British civil officers remained in these areas, sometimes within a mile or two of Japanese outposts, that the tribesmen's loyalty was so strong.

"It is self-evident that any land attack must go through their land and we know they will help us," Wallace said.

Wallace declared that they always had been "amazingly loyal" because the British had given them "a reasonable deal" and through the years had protected their minority rights.

These tribesmen have never been brought under British administration.

The Nagas especially have been helpful to United States Army forces on the Burma border. They have worked hard for the Americans, rescued airmen who had parachuted from their planes, built camps, supplied food, portered supplies, sometimes acted as spies, even manned tommy guns. The Nagas admire the Americans and their "funny birds." The Americans like them. "I am an American" is a password in their hilly domain.

A major problem now in these areas is the acquisition of even the primitive necessities of the people, especially rice, salt, cloth and dahs (long jungle knives). These goods they formerly received in trading centres on the Burma plain. They are too far from India and the routes are too torturous to bring much in overland.

Another important body of men which should be especially important in the Burma campaign is the remnants of the Burma Regiment. "Think how useful such a large body of men who know the country will be to an invading force," Wallace said.

This regiment is a conglomerate organization, composed of Burma's frontier forces' military police and Burma Rifles, racially of Kachins, Chins, Karens, Gurkhas, Punjabi Sikhs and Punjabi Musulmans. One of their units accompanied the Wingate expedition.

Hitler Can Withdraw Nothing From Russia

BY LOUIS F. KEEMLE
British United Press War Analyst

The prospect of knocking Germany out of the war by this winter, hope of which was held out by a few optimists, has been greatly diminished by the autumn advances.

That is true despite the tremendous success of the Russian summer drive and the favorable development of the Allied campaign in Italy. Militarily, there is every reason to believe that Berlin is in shape to withstand, on the defensive a strenuous campaign during the next six months. What his position will be as spring approaches, is an entirely different matter.

The Wehrmacht in Russia has taken a terrific pounding but has not been defeated decisively and has pulled out of a bad spot in good order. It will be able to hold the Dnieper line after the autumn mud gives way to hard weather, but it can fall back, if necessary, to deep defences in Poland.

In Italy the Germans are entrenching themselves strongly south of the Po valley "Hitler wall" defence along the Etruscan mountain line across the peninsula from around Spezia in the north of Rimini on the Adriatic.

However, it is not to be supposed that Hitler has gotten himself off the hook of Russia now has any prospect of a stabilized or static front. No matter what his defence line, there is every prospect that it will take everything he has to withstand a Russian winter offensive.

That means he can withdraw nothing from Russia. At the same time he is short of southeastern and western Europe should make it impossible for him to develop any reserves to bolster his strength in Russia if things start going disastrously there.

At the same time, Germany's ally Italy is far from being unassailable. He evidently has resigned himself to the loss of southern and central Italy and the more compact defence of the good strategic positions of the north.

But the offensive strength of the Allies will grow as they consolidate their hold on the lower part of Italy, particularly in the matter of airpower. Allied possession of Sardinia and Corsica also will be an important factor.

If Italy were knocked out entirely, Hitler would have a better chance. But Italy, from the potentiality as even a larger field of conflict and threat always is the possibility of an invasion of southern Europe.

Finally, there is the smashing Allied air offensive on Germany itself which is fully as important as an exploit or potential land front—in the long run, perhaps more important.

CANADIAN AIRMEN WINNING SHARE OF HONORS

BY ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

All through Canadian bomber group and through Canadian squadrons of Fighter Command and in Coastal Command and elsewhere Canadians fly for that matter, the ribbons of valor and devotion to duty are becoming a familiar sight.

Since the war and to the end of September, 3,000 Canadian flying officers, Canada, Newfoundland and Alaska, have won 1,307 medals and decorations. Some of them flying in Canadian squadrons some in formations of the R.A.F.

Most common among various medals and honors for Canadian officers have earned the D.F.C. and bar.

The distinguished Flying Medal, a similar award granted to non-commissioned officers and airmen, has been won by 285 Canadians.

The Conspicuous Gallantry Medal, an award which is superior to the D.F.M., was entirely a naval award until this year although it has always been available for Army and Air Force officers and men of the R.C.A.F. and R.C.A.F. men serving with the Fleet. Now it has been made available as a flying award for R.C.A.F. men and Canadians in the Air Force have won the D.S.O.

Six Canadians in the Air Force hold the George Medal, which, although primarily intended for civilians, can also be won by all ranks in the R. C. A. F. It is usually awarded for actions for which the military honors are not normally granted.

The British Empire Medal awarded to those who have rendered important services other than in action, has been won by 47 Canadian airmen and two other key heroes from the Dominion earned the Military Cross which is awarded to Air Force personnel only as a recognition for gallantry in action on the ground.

Other decorations include the awarding of 63 Air Force Crosses, 21 Air Force Medals, 81 M.B.E.'s, 12 O. B.E.'s four C.B.'s and two C.B.E.'s.

Foreign governments recognizing the work of the Canadians overseas, have awarded five United States Air Medals, two United States D.F.C.'s, two Czechoslovak M.C.'s, one Czechoslovakian Medal for Valor, one Belgian Croix de Guerre, one Polish Virtuti Militari and one Polish Polonia Restituta.

German Massacres In Greece

Germans in occupied Greece threatened by the vast Allied pincers movement from east and west, are so jittery they don't know whether to use ruthlessness or leniency in handling the unbending Greeks, according to a report issued by members of the Greek colony.

Massacres go on. Late this summer refugees from Greece report the Nazis wreaked their revenge on a tiny village because Greek guerrillas had scored a triumph in the Grevena area. A number of children were reported to have been ordered to assemble in the village street. Then they were mown down with machine guns and revolvers. In a nearby valley civilians were shot; some old women were burned to death in their homes; and in the village of Vlasic, one man was actually stoned to death. The Germans, refugees say, have been waiting for revenge on the Grevena area, which was liberated by guerrillas during the summer.

Lately, however, there have been reports of a German "change of heart." From the Athens district come reports that the Nazis, apparently desiring to appease Greek wrath to some extent, released 300 hostages whom they had arrested after the Gestapo had learned that militant Greek patriots were forcing the Italians to surrender their arms.

Nazi appeasement, it would seem, does not work with the Greeks. Reports from Athens gathered by a Bulgarian correspondent in Greece, state that orders have been issued to increase vigilance around German establishments.

Guards at Nazi headquarters, barracks depots and other military buildings have says the Bulgar, been ordered to shoot civilians without warning if they approach; that order has long been in effect for the night curfew period. Now it applies 24 hours a day.

At the beginning of August it is learned, the Nazis extended what they call their security measures in the Athens district. Tension among the Greeks was so great that guards were increased and German soldiers forbidden to move about the capital in small duty, were confined to barracks. Machine guns and barbed wire were set up at strategic street intersections.

MAKING PROGRESS ON NEW EDIBLE OIL

In the work of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in relation to increasing the output of vegetable oils, progress has been reported in the testing of safflower, in conjunction with the great advance there is to be in the growing of flax soybeans, sunflowers, and rape. Safflower is an annual thistle-like herb which has been widely distributed in India as an oil-producing plant. The oil is used for edible purposes and also in the manufacture of soap. Because of its seeding properties, it is considered especially useful as a paint and varnish oil for waterproofing purposes. A particular property of safflower oil is its ability to prevent yellowing when white or pale-tinted.

Safflower was introduced into Canada in 1941 and was grown in the hope that it might take the place in the drier areas of several lines from the Canadian Dominion Experimental Farms carried on several plots of Canada, with a yield of 20 to 21 per cent. oil content. Most satisfactory results also obtained in 1941-42 and there still more encouraging reports from the Central Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, where a higher oil content has been obtained under test.

REVAMP IDEAS ON RUSSIA U. S. WARNED

Boston, (U.P.) Assistant Secretary of State Berle advised American businessmen to refrain from "customized ideas" about Russia and Communism and to help in the work of the future.

"Russia as we know it today is a big way to go," Berle told someone else in the process of creation in the broad sense of the word. Whether our children will find Russia a democracy, Berle spoke to the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, depends largely on the attitude of the business men of the United States and Labor.

He combined advice to business men with a warning that they must deal with sharp worry between management and labor to forestall "a real crisis before they know it."

He emphasized that unless cooperation with Russia is established in international, labor and business in the United States, the most important single problem is certain to be the management co-operation problem to insure a prosperous and happy life for citizens.

"The course of the Russian revolution during the last 25 years has generated a massive organization of collective minds and mass behaviour," he said. "Russia is a big country but a ready stock with which we can progressive ideas. We must not fear was the stuff of which tomorrow's ment was made and it was that philosophy of materialism established Hitler.

FUTURE PEACE AT STAKE

"It is my personal opinion that the future peace of the world lies in the relations that can be established between the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China. The world will not be safe for peace if Communist programme of no war and a denial of the use of force in the world peace programme seems the years ahead of us.

"In my opinion Russia's long prospects compete with our own at the beginning of the end of the material growth will be rapid over the next thirty years, and as in other countries and cities it will be divided its population, the Russian people will react as have other peoples at the beginning of time.

"Russia as our ally make available in a big way to us as ours else's ally makes concentration in the breasts of the Russian people interested in the world our children to have to live. Russia's concentration is directed to the use of others. what happens to our children for a boy perish of peace for this war?

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, NOVEMBER 21ST, 1943

"HONESTY IN ALL THINGS"

Lesson Text: Exodus 20: 15. Leviticus 19: 11, 13. Luke 19: 1-10, 45-48

Early in human history men discovered that if orderly life was to be maintained strict honesty in all dealings, one with another, would have to be observed. In the decalogue this principle was condensed into a very brief injunction, or prohibition. "Thou shalt not steal." It was just as widespread and general as that. It was perhaps a step higher than in the first place where the prohibition occurs little attention should have been given to the application of such a principle — Thou shalt not steal.

There are many ways of breaking that commandment. As our civilization changes the implication of this prohibition necessarily changes, too. It is not difficult to imagine that in a simple nomadic form of society, stealing would apply to a very few things sheep goats, and perhaps a few pieces of rude furniture from the tent. But in our highly organized society there are thousands of ways in which men may steal, besides going into a neighbor's backyard and walking off with a chicken, or filling some easily concealed article from a friend's home. Probably few of those who read these lines would ever be tempted in that way.

There is the man who "mines" the land. He takes all he can get out of it and puts nothing back, sells it for what it will bring and gets out. Of course, that man steals. Or there is the man who pads his expense account who sells short, who gambles, taking something for which no return is given. There is the man who juggles stock, unloads when the market is strong. All these men who are representative of groups who would enrich quickly, come under condemnation of this prohibition. Stealing is not confined to thuggery. There are those who neglect ways of getting what does not rightfully belong to us—of getting something for nothing.

I cross the border into the United States frequently. On one occasion, when a special customs drive was being put on I saw a woman customs officer on duty there, and a dozen women who were trying to beat the government by bringing into Canada goods that were dutiable. We all have an idea that it is up to beat the government. Nevertheless, there is the prohibition.

We must not overlook the fact, that in the Christian life there are temptations to steal, emphasis is now properly considerations. There are in the eyes of God many things than some others. Property is not the most sacred thing in the world, even though most of us proceed on the assumption that it is. Human personality is much more important. "Thou shalt not steal" applies even more strongly to the Any economic system which children of their right to a decent living to play, leisure and a good education, is a moral thief. Of course a system is an impersonal thing corporations, cartels large scale organizations who rob men and women of the just returns for their labor are likewise impersonal. Yet we must remember that behind every economic system, no corporation is divorced from those charged with the responsibility of managing it. In the final analysis, the abuse of man personality which many of us condone or at any such organization must be laid on the doorstep of those in control of it.

Perhaps our conditions put a premium on dishonesty. Certainly there are severe strain on men's honesty as they do the best they can for their families. There is reported to be a widespread use of loose gasoline coupons. Should these be presented to the court of law. There are lots of people who will conduct black markets and many who will patronize them. Even in the nature of self-interest with no regard to the morals of the transaction.

In a complex society it is not an easy matter to be "absolutely honest". Each must weigh the matter carefully and in the light of Christian teaching so conduct himself as to be worthy of God's approval.

CAMDEN EAST

Camden East, Nov. 15. — The surrounding community was greatly shocked when word was received that Harold Baker had passed away in the Kingston General Hospital after being fatally injured in an automobile accident at the east entrance to Napanee on Tuesday evening about 10.00 o'clock. Harold was the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, Bethel Street, and was born 18 years and 3 months ago in the village, and had been his entire life in this district. His funeral was held from his parents' home, Bethel Street, to the United Church, on Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, where Rev. W. Fletcher had charge of the service. Mr. Ward Wartman, of Napanee, sang very feelingly, "God's Way". The bearers were mostly school chums, namely Laverne Histed, Hubert Youman, Lucien Jeffrey, Fred Galbraith, Curtis Allen and Bernie Borr. Several beautiful wreaths covered the casket. Left to mourn his loss beside his sorrowing parents, are four brothers, Eddie, of Toronto; Archie, Alex. and Dennis, at home, and one sister, Ada, also at home. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shane and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Histed spent Tuesday evening in Deseronto with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shane and Mr. and Mrs. H. Histed.

Mr. Bert Scott and mother spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. A. Alkenbrack.

MILK FOR SCHOOLS IS ELIGIBLE FOR SUBSIDY

The Deputy Administrator of Dairy Products, J. Peter Nadeau, has ruled that milk sold to schools in half-pint containers is eligible for payment of the consumer subsidy provided the subsidy of one-half cent per half-pint is passed on to the school consumers. If, however, this subsidy cannot be passed on to them, due to the condition of sale or purchase or the method of payment, then the subsidy does not apply to sales of such milk. Sales of milk at retail in half-pint containers are not normally eligible for payment of the consumer subsidy because it was impossible to give the consumer the benefit of that subsidy due to the fact that in most cases the maximum half-pint price included a fraction of a cent.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Has any date been set for the expiration of canning sugar coupons?

A. Yes. They will expire in the hands of consumers on December 31, along with any tea or coffee and sugar coupons which remain in the No. 2 ration books.

Q. Have any steps been taken to increase the supply of children's knitted underwear in the stores?

A. Yes. Arrangements have been made whereby it will be available continuously during the winter months and buying may thus be spread over that period instead of being confined, as usual to the fall and early winter period.

Q. What is the legal ceiling for fisherood sales in this community?

A. As the ceiling varies between section and section and sometimes between town and town, this information is being sent to you independently. Should you desire additional information, please enquire at the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q. How can I secure information in regard to making over used adult underwear for children's wear?

A. If you will write to the Consumer Branch, Arcade Building 196 Sparks Street, Ottawa, it will be glad to provide such information.

Q. I bought a rebuilt sewing machine recently which broke down in a week's time. Have I any recourse?

A. Under an order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the seller of a rebuilt sewing machine must give a 90-day written guarantee that the machine is in good order and will be repaired free of charge within that time limit, except in the case of disrepair caused by improper handling by the purchaser.

Q. My grocer wanter to collect 'D' coupons for black-strap molasses. Has he a right to do so?

A. No. Black-strap molasses is unrationed.

Q. A friend and I had an argument the other day about whether or not cheese was rationed in the United Kingdom. Can you tell me about this?

A. Cheese is rationed there at three ounces a week for ordinary consumers, with special rations of 12 ounces a week being allowed vegetarians and certain heavy workers who do not have canteen facilities. Seamen are permitted four ounces a week.

Q. Is it necessary to follow the W. P. T. B. restrictions on clothing in remake operations?

A. No. These restrictions do not apply in such cases.

RATION COUPON CALENDAR

BUTTER — Coupons 34 to 37 (inclusive) are now valid, and will expire November 30. Coupons 38 and 39 fall due November 23rd.

MEAT — Coupons 22 to 25 (inclusive in pairs are now valid and will expire November 30. Coupons (pairs) 26 will fall due November 16th.

SUGAR — Coupons 1 to 20 (inclusive) are now valid. All sugar coupons in No. 2 coil ration books will expire December 31st.

TEA OR COFFEE — Coupons 1 to 21 (inclusive) are now valid. All tea or coffee coupons in No. 2 coil ration books will expire December 31st.

CANNING SUGAR — All canning sugar coupons will expire December 31st.

PRESERVES — Preserves coupons D1 to D7 (inclusive) are now valid, and remain so until they are declared invalid.

EVAPORATED MILK — Applications for special "G" coupons for supplies of evaporated milk for children's feeding or medical purposes may be made to Local Ration Boards. Medical certificates are required for all applicants over two years of age.

Consumers are reminded by the Local Ration Board that certain butter and meat coupons will expire on November 30th. There are butter coupons 34, 35, 36 and 37, and meat coupons (pairs) 22, 23, 24 and 25.

They are further reminded that all sugar and tea or coffee coupons remaining in the No. 2 (old) ration books will expire on December 31st in the hands of consumers.

The Board recommends that wherever the supplies of rationed goods covered by these December coupons are not really required, the coupons should be destroyed.

Mothers worried over inability to procure sufficient corn syrup for baby feeding under the preserves rationing now in force are reminded by the Local Ration Board that they are entitled to exchange their babies' sugar ration coupons for preserves coupons to buy corn syrup for that purpose. The exchange may be made at a Local Ration Board to which the infant's ration book should be presented. The exchange is made at the rate of one sugar coupon for two "D" preserves coupons for corn syrup.

ENTERPRISE W. M. S.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Enterprise United Church met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Kennedy, on Wednesday afternoon, November 10, with fifteen members and one visitor present. Mrs. H. E. Vannest, president, opened the meeting with a short devotional period. Mrs. Roy Harkness, Mrs. H. E. Frair, Mrs. Amos Storey and Mrs. H. E. Vannest led in prayer. Reports of the W. M. S. Joint Rally were given by Mrs. M. E. Jackson and Mrs. H. E. Vannest.

The study book chapter on "Literacy and Literature" was prepared by Mrs. M. M. Jackson and Mrs. Roy Harkness. Mrs. Dunbar Walker, Mrs. Amos Storey, Mrs. H. A. Carscallen, Mrs. C. B. Jackson and Mrs. George Lockwood, assisted in presenting it.

Mrs. M. Randell, Toronto, gave a short talk to the Society. Miss Winona Kennedy received the offering. The hostess served apples at the close of the meeting.

NAPANEE W. I.

The monthly meeting of the Napanee Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon of last week with Mrs. E. I. Boyle, first vice-president presiding in the place of the president, Mrs. James Haggerty. The meeting opened with the singing of the ode, the prayer for peace and the Salute to the Flag. The treasurer, Mrs. Katherine Powell, presented her report, which showed a substantial balance on hand.

For her kindness, Miss Christobel Taylor, for many years secretary to W. Buchanan, agricultural representative, and now a member of the W. A. C. had been given a gift of a pen and pencil set, and a letter was read from her by Mrs. Katherine Powell, expressing her deep appreciation. It was decided to ask for the presentation grant of $3.00 The short course on "Foods for Wartime" which was to have been held in November has been postponed until a later date. The department is furnishing this and will make arrangements for the date.

A splendid report of the area convention recently held in Kingston, was given by Mrs. Alma Allenbrack and Mrs. Arthur Rattan. The Institutes for Lennox and Addington deposited a wreath on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day. Mrs. Katherine Powell was convener of the program, which included brief historical sketches of Ontario cities, by several of the members. A one minute's silence was observed for those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the First World War and also in this war.

An afternoon euchre was held on Tuesday, November 16, and was convened by Mrs. M. B. Luffman and Mrs. Marshall Hudson. The prizes were given by Mrs. Luffman, Mrs. Edward Vine and Mrs. Earl Loucks. The roll call "An Important Event in Empire History," met with a good response.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

MRS. W. BELL, ENTERPRISE, ENTERTAINS IN HONOUR OF GRANDDAUGHTER'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Wilson Bell entertained at a Hallowe'en party in honour of the twelfth birthday of her granddaughter, Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bell. The dining room was decorated with black cats. The table was decorated with black and yellow streamers and centred with a large jack-o'lantern. A full course dinner, including a beautifully decorated birthday cake was served to the guests who wore colored paper caps. "Happy Birthday" was sung for the guest of honour. Betty received many gifts from her girl friends.

The early evening was spent in games, also Chinese checkers. Later the girls dressed in costumes and serenaded the villagers. Those present were: Betty Bell, Mildred Jackson, Marjorie Jackson, Mary Holland, Phyllis Covert, Katharine Breault, Helma Wenk, Irene Empire, Mary Murphy, Jean Bayeratt, Jean Jackson, Pearl Snider, Nina Walker, Lois Helm, June Jackson, Betty Barrett, Louise Partiman, Shirley Bell.

REASONABLE SUPPLY OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

A programme aimed at assuring Canadians a "reasonable" supply of winter fruits and vegetables during the winter months has been adopted by the Prices Board. To assist in this programme the Wartime Food Corporation a Crown company, has been reorganized especially for the purpose of dealing with problems of imported fruits and vegetables and as the Board's centre-incentive has been passed placing all such imports in this agency. Present indications are that there will be at least a normal supply of winter and early spring fruits and vegetables for distribution in this country.

WILSON'S CROSSING

Wilson's Crossing, Nov. 15. — Mr. Nathan Wagar, who was so seriously injured on November 8th at Napanee, is on the road to recovery. Our sympathies go out to Mrs. Wagar and children in their anxiety.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Switzer, Mr. and Mrs. R. Potter, Miss Roselyn Breen, Mrs. Bernard Dillon, Mr. Wm. Potter and Mr. George Allport, were in Kingston during the week.

Mr. Ross Wagar had the misfortune to lose a colt recently. While grazing away, he threw a stick, which unfortunately went over the colt's head and stuck in the mud. The colt fell on the stick, which pierced its heart.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Fenwick spent a day recently at Mr. J. Cousins'.

Messrs. Oscar Fenwick, Earl Dorey and Gerald Dorey have secured their quota of deer, as also have Messrs. Amos Bibby and Ward Wagar.

Messrs. Bruce Wesse and William Potter have finished stuccoing Mr. Lemuel Wagar's house; and, at present, are busy at Mr. J. Scanlin's home, at Tamworth.

WEDDING BELLS

VANLUVEN - MACPHERSON

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy VanLuven, Oshawa on Friday, November 12th, 1943, at 4:00 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Ruth Marie, became the bride of Murray Allen MacPherson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy MacPherson of Mattawatchen, Ont. The bride was dressed in white satin. An archway of cedar boughs and white wedding bells formed the setting for the ceremony performed by Rev. R. A. Bombay.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white brocaded satin and her floor-length veil of white silk fell from a halo of silvered lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and calla lilies.

The bride was attended by her sister, Thelma VanLuven, dressed in a floor-length gown of pink sheer with a finger-tip veil of pink net falling from a halo of shirred net. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow mums and calla lilies.

The bridegroom was attended by Pte. Frederick VanLuven, brother of the bride.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti for Ottawa and Northern and Eastern points. On their return they will reside in Oshawa.

CHAMBERS - SMITH

Anderson United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, November 13, when Jean Marie, daughter Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, of the Camden Township, became the bride of Donald Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Chambers of North Fredericksburgh in the presence of a large number of relatives and immediate friends.

The bride was becomingly attired in an Air Force Blue two-piece travelling suit, with brown hat and accessories to match. She was attended by her sister. Miss Mary Evelyn Smith, who was dressed in a grey suit with hat to match.

Mr. W. A. Dowdle of Newburgh, was best man. The Wedding March was played by Mrs. Kenneth Hambly, who also sang during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony the newly-married couple left for a short honeymoon in Ottawa and district. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. C. McCallum. Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Arthur Daigle, Belleville, and Mrs. Gordon, and Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers will reside in the Anderson district.

Mrs. James Blute Died In Toronto

After several weeks of illness, Mrs. Charles Asselstine passed away at the home of her brother-in-law, Herbert Asselstine, Napanee, on Sunday, November 7th 1943 at the age of 74 years. Mrs. Asselstine was formerly Annie Creighton, daughter of the late Thomas and Priscilla Creighton, South Fredericksburgh. She is survived by one son, Arthur Asselstine, who resides on the homestead, and one daughter, Mrs. Stewart Weese, near Bath; also a brother, Arthur of Oshawa.

Her husband predeceased her some years ago, also three brothers, Fred John and Henry, and two sisters, Elizabeth and Mary.

The funeral was held at the home of her daughter, on Tuesday, November 9th, Rev. Mr. Robinson officiating. Interment at Morven Cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Will Hill, Archie Simmons, Harold Tyner, Elliott, Herb Balch, Fred Colville and Arthur Forbes.

THE LATE MRS. MELVILLE DAFOE

On Thursday evening, November 4 1943, at Bethany, Alice Nettie Pruner, beloved wife of Melville Dafoe, entered into rest after a short illness. Deceased who was in her 68th year, was the youngest daughter of the late Hiram Tyner and Dalpey Tyner, of Lime Lake. In 1904 she was married to Melville Dafoe of Roblin, where she spent the remaining part of her life. Besides her loving husband she leaves to mourn two sons and one daughter, Carleton and Nellis at home and Beulah, Mrs. Walter Rankin of Napanee. Two grandchildren, Maurice Rankin and Gail Dafoe, Napanee, and two brothers, George and Willie John of Marlbank, one sister, Mrs. Margaret Burley of Toronto, and several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by one brother and four sisters.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from her late residence, to Westplain United Church. The service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Mervin, assisted by Rev. R. Boston and her former pastor, Rev. J. T. Goodfellow. During the service the Forest Mills choir sang an appropriate number and a request number by the family was sung by Mr. Ward Wartman.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Bell-drum Dafoe, Ward Small, wood Reginald Thompson, Robert Pringle, James Thompson, Ray Dennison. Interment was made in Robin Cemetery, near Marguerite.

THE LATE NORMAN MADDEN

The funeral of the late Norman Madden, aged 69 years, was held from the Wilson Funeral Home Odessa, on Friday afternoon, November 12th, at 2:30 p.m. to the Dunn Cemetery. Mr. Madden passed away at the Kingston General Hospital. He had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shillington for the last five years. He was formerly of Napanee.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. G. Pills of Hamilton and one brother, Percy, of Scotland, two sisters, Mrs. George Baurderook of Collins Bay, and Mrs. John Schermerhorn, of Napanee, predeceased him several years ago. Rev. G. W. Hollingsworth of the Bath United Church, conducted the service.

DEATHS

KIMMERLY — At her late residence, Napanee, on Saturday November 13th, 1943 Ella Frances Kimmerly, beloved daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kimmerly.

McLEOD — At Kingsville, Ont. on Sunday November 14th, 1943, Mrs. Andrew McLeod.

WILLIAM H. TOPPINGS, FORMERLY OF MARYSVILLE DIED IN SASKATCHEWAN

The funeral service of the late William H. Toppings, whose death occurred on Thursday evening, October 26th, at Bender, Saskatchewan, was held from the home of his son, Herbert, to Lansdowne cemetery, Thursday, October 28. Services were conducted by Rev. C. O. Richmond of Kennedy.

Mr. Toppings was born at Napanee, Ontario, 85 years ago and came west in 1883, homesteading the land now occupied by his son Herb. In 1927 Mr. and Mrs. Toppings moved to Broadview, returning seven years ago to live on a farm a mile west of the original homestead. Mr. Toppings was a member of the first school board of the Golden Ridge school district, and served for several years as trustee. He was also councillor for Division 1 of Kinistey municipality for a number of years.

During the Rebellion of 1885 he served as a transport driver between Swift Current and Clark's Crossing. Mr. and Mrs. Toppings celebrated their golden wedding in March, 1942. Mrs. Toppings, who was born Miss Jane Orans of Ormstown, Que., and their wedding took place at Whitewood.

In the immediate family are one daughter, Mrs. Truman Simular, of Broadview, and four sons, John and Herb of Indianola, Thomas of Kipling, and Leonard of Vancouver, and fifteen grandchildren, one being F/O Irving Toppings, R.C.A.F., overseas.

He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Alexander, Marysville, Mrs. Rachel Young and Mrs. Bert Smith of Toronto and four brothers, John, Napanee, and Edward, James and Ryerson, of Marysville.

CONSERVATION CLIPS

SOFT COAL TECHNIQUE

Many people are burning soft coal in their furnaces for the first time this winter. If you have never used soft coal before, better ask the coal dealer for a copy of the free government booklet, "Thirty-three Ways to Save One Ton in Five." Soft coal requires a special firing technique. When a mixture of soft and hard coal is being used, it should be treated as soft coal.

SWEATER SALVAGE

Did you ever think of turning an old sweater—especially the machine-knit—into a scarf, cap and mittens set for a youngster? Sweaters in bright or pastel shades make the gayest sets; but the more sombre colours are just as warm and they can be enlivened with gay flowers embroidered in wool or bits of applique cut from woollen felt. Applique does a grand job of masking tiny moth hole darns.

STOVE CARE

The porcelain or enamel parts of a stove should never be washed while they are hot, for the water may cause them to crack or chip. A gritty cleanser should never be used as this scratches the surface and will eventually lead to stains which cannot be removed. Warm soapy water will do the job and the surface should be wiped dry after washing.

HINTS ISSUED ON SOFT COAL

PRECAUTIONS NECESSARY TO REDUCE FIRE RISKS

In the interests of Fire Prevention, the Canadian Underwriters' Association in a statement, warned that the use of soft coal for heating would increase fire risk, unless extra precautions were taken when firing the furnace.

Under government rulings a stated percentage of soft coal must be used this winter by all who depend on coal for heating purposes, the C.U.A. statement said, and as mit coal contains five times as much gas as anthracite, it is important to control the fire using soft coal so that the gas is burned without risk of explosion. Technical advisers of prominent coal companies also confirm that:

"Most of the gases are released from soft coal during the first twenty minutes after firing. Therefore the fire-door dampers should be opened widely during this period.

Five Hints Given

"Observance of these five hints in burning soft coal will reduce the possibilities of fire and explosion:

"(1) The key in the smoke pipe should never be fully closed. Keep this damper open at all times.

"(2) A sizeable red patch of fire—well ignited coal — should always be in the fire box to assure the burning of the gases.

"(3) The fire door slide damper in the front of the furnace should always be kept open to supply the air necessary for proper combustion.

"(4) Coal should be fed into furnaces in small quantities and often. The fire should not be built too deeply, a thick fire causes poor combustion, heavy smoke and gives less heat.

"(5) Furnace and smoke pipes should be kept clean. Soot deposits should be removed more frequently."

SAVOURY STOCK POTS

Hello Homemakers! Thrifty grandmothers, whose wonderful soups we have heard so much about, had an ever-burning kitchen fire to work with. They could keep their stock pots on top of the stove because the constant heat was too high for the growth of dangerous bacteria.

Now, it is necessary to conserve every kind of fuel, but we need not worry about the soup pot — use low heat, or draw out the flavour without boiling the liquor away and then place it in the refrigerator to prevent spoilage and waste.

Meat flavour is the soul of a stock pot, so begin by collecting leftover bones from roasts steaks, chops or poultry. (Buy a raw soup bone occasionally, but always have the butcher crack it for you). Cover the bones with cold water, add drippings from roasts, steaks, sliced raw onion, raw carrots, celery and celery tops, parsley, a bay leaf, salt and pepper. Cover; bring to boiling point simmer one to one and one-half hours. Then strain; cool. Skim off fat that rises to top and use it for other cooking. Pour stock into a fruit jar, seal and store in the refrigerator.

RECIPES

Basic Supper Chowder

Two large potatoes, chopped or grated; two large onions chopped or sliced; one pound hamburger, one quart milk, salt and pepper. Quick to make, delicious and inexpensive.

Cover the potatoes, onions, and the hamburger with hot water, and simmer slowly until the potatoes are well cooked, about twenty minutes. Salt and pepper to taste, add milk, and heat thoroughly. (Add a little flour and water thickening if desired).

Quick Split Pea Soup

Two cups green dried peas, two quarts water, two small onions, chopped; one grated carrot salt and pepper to taste, one bay leaf, one-quarter teaspoon thyme, two cups chopped celery or half-cup chopped celery tops.

Mix the ingredients and boil for 20-25 minutes. Strain through sieve or colander; reheat and serve.

Thrifty Change

Use leftover ham or chicken stock in place of water. Chopped bacon will give a delicious flavour for a change. A dash of cayenne pepper or pepper sauce if you like it. Garlic minced fine and added while cooking will be a good change, served with thinly sliced wieners and no more. After straining, one cup thick tomato juice may be added. Hot milk or cream (about 1 c.) may be added.

Creamed Vegetable Soups

Delicious cream soups may be made from leftover or freshly cooked vegetables, such as peas cabbage, spinach, beet tops, onions, or cauliflower. Press the vegetables through a sieve, and to each cupful of vegetable pulp add two cups milk. Heat to the boiling point season with salt and pepper to taste, and thicken with a little flour — about one tablespoon flour and milk mixed to a smooth paste. Simmer for two minutes, stirring constantly. Add one tablespoon butter just before serving. This makes two large servings or three small servings.

Corn, cooked or fresh, may be used in the same way without pressing through a sieve.

TAKE A TIP

1 Meat broth is the perfect medium for the growth of bacteria, and once bacteria starts, spoilage can quickly result.

2 To keep your refrigerator stock pot safe, make sure that the broth is brought to the boiling point and put back in the refrigerator after cooling about every two days, unless, of course it is to be served.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. L. B. asks: Why do scalloped potatoes curdle?

Answer: When the oven temperature is above 325 deg. the fat and flour do not cook slowly enough to make the sauce and will separate from the milk, if it boils.

Mrs. J. M. asks: How to mould cranberries without using much sugar.

Answer:

Cranberry Salad

Three-quarters cup sugar, one tablespoon gelatine, two cups of cranberries, one and one-quarter cups water, one cup diced celery. Cook cranberries in one cup of water until they are soft. Press through a sieve, add sugar, cook five minutes. Add gelatine softened in one-quarter cup water.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

You can pack a lifetime into a ninety-six hour pass spent in New York. As perhaps you remember, my cousin, Kathy, married an American and has been living in New York for several years. She has been urging me for some time to pay her a visit and take a gander at little old New York. Naturally, I was not unwilling and when she sent me the money, I started making plans at once. First I tended to my knitting in Regina and saved my forty-eight hour passes for two months which if your arithmetic is as good as mine, added up to the above mentioned ninety-six hours. Meanwhile, I started corresponding with several ships from the Canadian Pacific Line, and finally booked passage on the Empress of Scotland, sailing from Vancouver on October 16th. Then I got down to the serious business of packing. I packed all the essentials in my schedule — one black Strike Radio Broadcast tickets obtained from the Women's Service Club, Madison Avenue, the Rockies, the Radio City Music Hall and dropped in a few of my favourite U.S. O. Club where one of the hostesses took me in charge. One of the services provided by the club is dropping a card to any given relative saying, so-and-so arrived and "is having a wonderful time" etc. So I asked to have one sent to my mother. I packed all the events possible in my schedule — one black Strike Radio Broadcast tickets obtained from the Women's Service Club, Madison Avenue, the Rockies, the Radio City Music Hall and dropped in a few of my favourite U. S. O. Club where one of the hostesses took me in charge. One of the services provided by the club is dropping a card to any given relative saying, so-and-so arrived and "is having a wonderful time" etc. So I asked to have one sent to my mother as a souvenir. American soldiers from all parts of the States were stationed there even in the recreation rooms. I danced with a tall stranger with a Texas drawl who actually hailed from Texas, and stopped to chat with several chaps from Hawaii who had never seen a C.W.A.C. before. Everywhere the "Canadian" badges on my sleeves served as an introduction.

Of course I was not going to spend a leave in New York without taking a whirl at the night life, so in a party arranged by my cousin and her husband, I toured the gay spots from country, convinced her that I would be spending money obtained from a source in the States, which as you probably know, is one of the conditions, and last Thursday noon I left for Montreal. Waiting for connections I managed to sandwich in a couple of hours with the family before I took the night train to New York.

The train was crowded and I found myself sitting beside an American W.A.A.C. who was returning to the States after visiting relatives in Montreal. She was very friendly and helpful, tipping off about the places that are a "must" in New York. Through meeting her I found myself talking to several American soldiers and I was impressed, as I have been before, with the amazing, easy friendliness of Americans. No formal introductions but with typical bonhomie, they were calling me "Canada" and asking a thousand questions about the C.W.A.C.

Union Station! I felt like an atom in that enormous terminal and was thrilled to see Kathy on the platform. I had a feeling that I could be swallowed up and never heard of again when I came the skyscrapers, and, of course I gawked like a typical small Canadian. Yes, I have spent most of my life in Montreal, but New York . . . I could not help it; the buildings are one of the most wonderful spectacles that I have ever seen.

We had breakfast and a chat at Child's where I distinguished myself by my habit being strong, by trying to buy Canadian cigarettes. Needless to say I settled for an American brand. After freshening up at Kathy's apartment, we "did" the stores and I had a few pangs over the fascinating clothes and accessories. The fact that I was in uniform did not keep me from trying on a few "wacky" hats. By the way, I picked up your purse in a little shop on 34th Street, I remember you saying that you like any colour as long as it is green, so I got it in.

It was an amazing day, strangers repeatedly stopped to shake hands and ask what part of Canada I was from. I could not sit down in a restaurant without some friendly stranger sending me over a package of cigarettes and once it was tickets to a musical. Then there was the old lady who stopped me on Fifth Avenue to say that if I was sent to England I must be sure to look up her sister who lived in Sussex. Without a doubt, Americans treat personnel in the services, royally.

Production of Children's Underwear Stepped Up

Ottawa (CP) — The 1943 production of children's knitted underwear is expected to exceed previous records with output of more than 10,-000,000 garments, the Prices Board estimated in a press release yesterday the industry.

The Board said that, in peacetime such manufacture was confined to the summer and early autumn months. Demands of the armed services, however, taxed production facilities and the Board arranged with manufacturers not only to step up their production but also to operate manufacture during the winter. The result has been a continuing flow of children's underwear to retail stores, whereas in other years most supplies were in the hands of retailers by the time winter set in.

The Board estimated fall and winter production of woollen knitted underwear at 6,675,000 garments for the 1943 manufacture to 10,032,000. Production in 1942 was 8,992,700 garments against 9,540,000 in 1941. Average production from 1933 to 1939 was approximately 884,000.

Knitted Wear

The board said the figures referred chiefly to cotton and woollen knitted wear and did not include diapers, production of which is up more than 30 per cent. over 1941, and flannelette garments, being produced in quantities "far in excess" of pre-war years.

To ensure increased production, arrangements were made for sufficient supplies of yarns and other raw materials and special allocations of materials were obtained from foreign markets.

Doctor Develops Penicillin at Five Cents a Plateful

Pittsburgh (A.P.) — How precious, life-giving penicillin is being produced in the kitchen of his home "at five cents a plateful" was explained by Dr. Julius A. Vogel, plant physician for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Although a comparatively crude type, he said his penicillin has proved effective in treating external infections and that any properly equipped physician can "grow" his own supply.

Dr. Vogel cited more than a score of cases where he said complete cures were effected with his "kitchen penicillin" as he spoke before 500 executives and medical directors of leading American industries at the eighth annual meeting of the Industrial Hygiene Foundation at Mellon Institute.

"All surface pyogenic infections can be treated by the green mold culture," he declared, "and it does not require the services of an experienced bacteriologist."

Dr. Vogel's penicillin is grown in covered glass dishes about the size of saucers, the medium being ordinary corn-starch cooked for a half-hour at 400 degrees. The greenish mold for fruit flavors and cold sent by the Institute. A discussion followed on the Government grant, and plans were made for a nutrition rat Mrs. R. Tucker's on November 19. Mrs. C. J. Airey and Mrs. P. Kimmerley gave a publicity of Women's Institute Conwomen held in Belleville. Mrs. C. J. Airey led a discussion on the interesting health lecture by Miss J. B. continues after pause is placed on Midwifemen of the Department held recent

Where
ARE NEILSON'S CHOCOLATE BARS GOING THESE DAYS?

● We are not surprised that people ask that question when they go into a store and find no "Neilson's" chocolate bars . . . and here is the reason—There are so many more people buying chocolate today than ever before, that soon even the popular Neilson's high-quality favourites placed on sale then they are sold. So, in spite of the fact that Neilson's Chocolate Bars are being produced in the maximum quantity, in accordance with wartime restrictions on the use of raw materials, they are naturally in short supply. We feel sure you will understand this.

Neilson's Quality remains as always —the highest!

TAMWORTH

Tamworth, Nov. 15. — Each year the people of this village and community look forward to the annual commencement of the Tamworth Continuation School, and the entertainment of this year has capped the climax of anyone's anticipation.

The staff and pupils of the school deserve great credit for the high standard of the entertainment, also for the high standard of awards won by the pupils. On Thursday night the Town Hall was a capacity house when the Literary Society, of which Don Way is President, and who acted as chairman for the evening, opened the program with all singing "O Canada" and "The Maple Leaf Forever".

The Principal of the School, Mr. H. J. Miller, gave a most interesting talk in regard to the school, after which he paid tribute to three of his past pupils, who have paid the price in the Armed Forces overseas. He spoke very feelingly of each of the following: P.O. Lorne Kirk, P.O. Lorne York, and Sgt. Reggie Richmond, all of the R.C.A.F. Mr. Miller asked all to rise in a two-minute silence to their memory, after which he quoted the poem, "The Spires of Oxford".

Mr. Millar introduced the members of the Literary Society Executive who are as follows: President, Don Way; Vice President, Wesley Millar; Secretary, Jean Courneya; Treasurer, Donald Beckett.

The following members represent the Grades from 9 to 13: Betty Tyner 9, Gladys Renaud 10, Mary Adair 11, Cora Gray 12, Valerie Allison 13. Staff representatives, Mrs. Scott Gilmour and Miss Margaret Mitchell. The play, "Cavalcade of Canada", sponsored by the Department of Education in connection with the Second Victory Loan. This play was under the direction of Miss Mitchell, and each pupil taking part was perfectly suited to his or her part and did justice to it. Perhaps special mention should be made of the girl who acted as Queen, Miss Lois Kimmett, of Roblin. Miss Mitchell acted as pianist throughout the evening.

Mr. Millar then presented the Crests to the following boys:

Senior Boys—Vernard Detlor, Joseph Murphy, Joseph Garrett.

Intermediates — Peter McDonald, Michael Cassidy, Gerald Marshall.

Junior Boys — Joseph Clair, Jas. McCutcheon, Eldon Reynolds, Jack Carney.

The Certificates were presented by the Chairman of the Board, Mr. Stewart Sedore:

Intermediate, completion of two years' work — Jean York, James Young, Reta Tyner, Mae Thompson, Rowena Milligan, Rita McDonald, Mary Adair, Frances Neville.

Secondary Graduation Diploma, granted for four years' work completed — Valorie Allison, Lillian Burd, Jean Courneya, Wesley Millar, Fern Wagar, Vernard Detlor, Dreda Ware, Donald Way, Rose Way.

Honor Graduation Diploma, five years' work completed—Donald Huffman,

Each of the following students was awarded a $5.00 War Savings Certificate by the C. T. S. Literary Society. These awards were made for interest with Mrs. Bentham's grandfather, leadership, dramatic ability, and school spirit. One hundred dollars worth of certificates were granted, and 20 awards were made: Mae Thompson, Frances Neville, Jean York, Mary Adair, Reta Tyner, Rowena Milligan. The above six girls are in Grade 9, and all made Prize Class Honors last year.

Cora Gray, Fern Wagar, Lillian Burd, Donald Huffman, Douglas Brown, Jean Courneya, Wesley Millar, Valorie Allison, Lillian Burd (second award), Hugh Carroll, Graham Brown, Gladys Renaud, Herman Ackerman. Also Mr. Jacob Wagar, who has resigned the position of caretaker of the school after several years of satisfactory service.

Mrs. Scott Gilmour presented the winning team, "The Commandos", with Crests. Captain Valorie Allison, Dougal Ryan, Betty Tucker, Betty Mitchell, Rose Way, Monica McZullen, Laura York, Sheila Way, Mae Thompson Helen Brown, Rosabeen Hannah, Reta McDonald, Reta Tyner, Izobel Carroll, Winnifred Steele. Valorie Allison has been on the winning team for the past four years and has been captain of the winning team for the past three years.

The one-act play that followed, "Little Dorrit", was most amusing. Each character portrayed his or her part very admirably and brought forth hearty applause from the audience.

"God Save the King" brought a most pleasant evening to a close.

The second night of the commencement was Friday, November 12th.

The two plays of the previous evening were repeated and several other items were on the program. These were well rendered by the students, after which the hall was cleared for dancing. The Aces orchestra was in attendance and again there was a capacity house. Lunch was served at midnight, and dancing proceeded for some time.

This is the first time that the Literary Society have found it necessary to divide the commencement activities into two nights, but found it most satisfactory. The proceeds amounted to well over $200.00.

Miss Verna Bambrick, of the Department of Agriculture, will speak and show coloured slides in the Town Hall on Friday night. This address will be on "The Family Co-Operates for Good Nutrition". This illustrated address promises to be of much interest to men, women and young people. It is sponsored by the Women's Institute and is free of charge.

The annual Armistice Service was held as usual on Thursday morning at the Town Hall. Mr. W. G. Richmond was in charge. Rev. P. O. Wood, of Christ Church, gave the address, and Rev. A. Seaton pronounced the benediction. A good choir was in attendance, and Miss Mitchell presided at the piano. The Provincial wreath was placed on the Cenotaph by Mrs. James Wood, who lost a son in the Great War. Rev. Mr. Were read all the names of those who gave their lives in the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nicholson opened their home in Erinsville for an Armistice Red Cross euchre. Fourteen tables were in play. The prize winners were: Ladies, Mrs. James O'Neil, who won every game; 2nd, Mrs. Bernard Hopkins; consolation, Mrs. Ida Hannah. Gents, Mr. Jas. O'Neil and Mr. Michael Barrett; consolation, Mr. Hebert Gee.

Lunch was served, after which the National Anthem, with Mrs. Beckett at the piano, closed a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. Mary Belgin and her brother, Mr. William Kimmett, of Denver, Col., visited at the home of their sister, Mrs. Dan Gilmore, and Mr. Gilmore, for a few days last week.

Miss Millie Hannah had the misfortune to sprain her ankle one day recently. Miss Hannah is resting as comfortably as can be expected at the home of her nephew, Mr. Alex. Kennedy.

Little Donnie Prue was taken to the Western Hospital, Toronto, last week for an operation on his throat.

Miss Madonna Dowling, who is an employee at the Ontario Hospital, Kingston, spent the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dowling.

Miss Gladys Harrod, of Kingston, and Miss Alexandra Gilmore, of Belleville, were week end guests at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gilmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley Marshall and son, Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Cran Deshane, also Mr. and Mrs. Arsten Robinson and daughter, Miss Mary Elisabeth Robinson, of Camden East, were guests of Miss Helen Marshall, who was one of the graduating class of nurses at the Ontario Hospital, Kingston, on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reynolds, of Madoc, also Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reynolds, of West Huntingdon, spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Marshall.

MR. GEORGE WITHERS, SELBY, GUEST OF HONOR. AT BIRTHDAY DINNER

About thirty-five members of the family and near relatives of Mr. Geo. Withers, Selby, were entertained at a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hudson, Mount Pleasant, on October 17th, in honour of the 75th birthday of Mr. Withers, who is Mrs. Hudson's father. Members of the family and the guests presented Mr. Withers with numerous gifts, and congratulations were received by him from many friends and relatives, including his son, Russell of Windsor.

YOUR BANKS are more extensively regulated than any other Canadian business.

Canada's ten Chartered Banks are subject, under the Bank Act, to the most thorough-going regulation. For instance:

The annual audit—conducted by Chartered Accountants appointed by the banks' shareholders—is submitted to the Department of Finance. The Department may call for further special audits, and in addition maintains regular inspections of the banks' affairs through the Inspector-General of Banks, who is obliged by law to examine the banks' books at least once each year.

Then there are monthly returns to both the Department of Finance and to the Bank of Canada. The Minister may also call for special returns at any time.

All this in addition to the Bank Act's extensive regulations covering such phases of banking operation as reserve requirements, types of transactions permitted, interest rates and note issue.

OVER 150 DONORS AT LAST BLOOD CLINIC HELD IN NAPANEE

Large Number Come from Camden Twp.

Another record was made last Tuesday when 153 volunteers gave blood at the Napanee Blood Donors Clinic sponsored by the Napanee Red Cross Society. Seven operating tables were used, and four medical doctors and a technician were busy from 1 p.m. until one p.m. A special drive for donors brought out sixty-seven on the first time.

The staff of more than forty volunteers was busy during that time and some delay was necessary because of the registration of new donors. The first group of Air Force men from Camp Mowat, Deseronto, registered. It is expected the number from the Air Force will increase, as many volunteers would not be transported that day.

Every donation will be used to help some of our fighting men alive. This can be considered a Golden Day by those who gave blood. The slogan for the next clinic on November 16th, is "What you won't they die without."

The donors are as follows:

There were sixty-seven who donated for the first time.

AMENITIES FOR FARM HOMES

Toronto, (C.P.) — Col. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, told the Ontario Federation of Agriculture today in a statement that Government financing of refrigerator lockers and home freezing units and supplied farmers at actual cost is being studied by the Province. He spoke of similar financing in providing bathroom equipment at cost to homes.

"It is my idea that the Government should finance the manufacture of these and sell them to the farmers at actual cost price, so as to bring them within the reach of every farm home," he said.

CLINIC FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS TO BE HELD TO-MORROW

Much interest has been aroused by the announcement that a Clinic for the benefit of retail merchants in this community and the surrounding district will be held in the Council Chamber (to-morrow) Thursday, November 25th.

A series of these Clinics is being held throughout Eastern Ontario centres, by the Management Service Division of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, with the object of explaining Wartime Orders and Regulations, and assisting the retail merchants, to overcome their problems and difficulties.

The Consultant of Management Service attending this meeting will be J. P. Bowman and General Manager of the Board will also be in attendance. An Open discussion period is a feature of these meetings which retailers have found to be of marked assistance and benefit to them.

A hearty invitation is extended to all retail merchants in this district to attend the Clinic in question.

Army Base Post Office Clears Yuletide Mails

Ottawa. (CP.)—Lieut. W. E. Allen of the Canadian Postal Corps looked after one of the heaped bags of parcel's the racks of letters at the army's busy post office and said: "Another week or so and the rush will be over."

It's been a "rush" for shirt-sleeved members of the Canadian Postal Corps for the last six weeks—they now are handling a greater volume of mail addressed to troops overseas than in any year since the war began, with some fifty members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps assisting them.

The volume of mail, Lieut. Allen said, indicates the public in general has responded well to a request that Christmas mail for soldiers overseas be in the boxes by November 1. The base post office in Ottawa has approximately 200,000 air letters each week, with another 600,000 letters going out via ordinary mail.

The figures in pounds:

| | October | October |
|---|---|---|
| | 1943 | 1942 |
| Letters | 14,176 | 14,269 |

MEETING LIKELY BETWEEN LEADERS OF ALLIED NATIONS

May Possibly Get Together by Christmas

A Daily Telegraph dispatch from Washington said recently, that President Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin were expected to meet even sooner than was thought before the time of the Moscow Conference.

The tripartite conference at Moscow October 19 to November 1, was presumed to have laid the groundwork for a meeting among the "Big Three" sometime before the New Year.

Reporting in a similar vein, the Washington correspondent of the London News-Chronicle reported that there was talk in the American capital again of "big events in the offing". But "vague and carefully phrased, but urgent" he said.

The need for an early conference of the three heads of states, military circles said, was underlined by the likelihood that the German grip on South Russia will be reduced in the next few weeks to a hard-pressed bridgehead across the Dniester River, which itself probably will be liquidated in the Soviet winter campaign.

The liberation of the Ukraine inevitably would produce a first-class qasam inside Rumania and Bulgaria, observers said, and the three leaders should meet in the near future to formulate a flexible policy to meet quick changes in both the military and political situation in the Eastern Balkans.

HITLER EXPECTED TO DEFEND RUMANIA

London circles believed Adolf Hitler would defend Rumania to the limit to protect the Ploesti oil fields, whose loss might collapse German resistance in other areas. But, a sudden, within six months, but, a sudden Anglo - American thrust across the Adriatic in conjunction with the Russian assault across the Dniester probably would doom the Balkans to early capture.

Another argument for an early meeting of the three heads of states was seen in signs that Turkey might be defeated by next summer instead of Christmas, 1944, if a properly co-ordinated military and political programme is followed.

P.O. BILLY COONS, SON MRS. EPPLETT, KILLED OVERSEAS

Mrs. M. A. Eppiett Morrisburg, received word last week, that her youngest son, Pilot - Officer Willis Wiley Billy Coons was killed in action while on active service with the R. C. A. F. overseas. No further details were given with the exception that Pilot-Officer Coons was buried in R.C.A.F. cemetery in England.

Mrs. Eppiett's two older sons are also in the R.C.A.F. and are overseas.

The family was well known in Napanee where they resided for several years when Mr. Eppiett was on the staff of the Napanee Collegiate and Vocational Institute.

Memorial Service At Westplain Church For Sergt. Vernon Davis

A memorial service will be held at Westplain United Church, next Sunday, November 28th, at 2:00 p.m. for Sergt. Vernon Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, who was killed in Italy on October 4th. The service will be conducted by Mr. E. R. Hancock, student minister on the Roblin charge, and all friends are invited to attend.

DR. E. S. HOPKINS GUEST SPEAKER ANNUAL BANQUET

The Napanee Lions Club entertained about seventy-five guests at the annual Farmers' Night, held at the Superior Restaurant Banquet Hall, last Monday evening, at which Dr. E. S. Hopkins, Assistant Director of Dominion Experimental Farms, Ottawa, was guest speaker.

During the serving of the meal the regular routine of entertainment was featured by a duet by Jack Caldwell and Lion Tamer Walter Blakely.

The guests were welcomed by the president of the club, Ryerson Humphrey and each member introduced his guests. Dr. D. R. Hall, the Mayor of Napanee, George Switzer, President of Napanee Rotary and C. W. Buchanan were at the head table with Dr. Hopkins and the president of the Lions Club, and Lloyd Cowle chairman of the committee responsible for the evening's entertainment.

In introducing the speaker of the evening, C. W. Buchanan, Agricultural Representative of the county, referred to the days when he and Dr. Hopkins were at college together.

Dr. E. S. Hopkins chose as his subject the Relation Between Farm and Town. He spoke from a full knowledge of both and covered many interesting points with advice to farmers regarding practical farming and finance. He pointed out the change which is taking place in the methods of farming, due these last few years to wartime conditions and said it was the duty of the Department to supply the useful information necessary to obtain beneficial results. In conclusion he emphasized the need for meetings such as these to bring the farmer and the urban dweller to a better understanding for the benefit of all.

Lion Lloyd Cowle thanked the speaker for his interesting and very helpful address.

C. W. Buchanan took the opportunity to thank the Lions Club, sponsors of the County Boys' Potato Club, for co-operation received in furthering this necessary project.

Successful Bazaar Conducted by Grace Ch. Girls' Club

The Girls' Club of Grace Church held a very successful bazaar in the school room of Trinity Church, last Wednesday afternoon. The sum of $150 was raised, which will be used as a donation to the building fund of the church.

Arrangements for the bazaar were made under the direction of the leader of the class, Miss Myrtle Russell and the president, Miss Mildred Richmond.

Mrs. Milton Martin was in charge of the apron table. Miss Lois Knapp was responsible for the babies' wear table. The candy table, where sonny scarves and other knitted goods were on sale, was conducted by Mrs. Gordon Gilpin. The miscellaneous table was in charge of Mrs. Carl Wright.

SLIGHT SETBACKS SUFFERED BY ALLIES IN SEVERAL AREAS

Situation Remains Most Favorable for Allies

WEDNESDAY —

United States heavy bombers smashed at German targets in Norway on Tuesday. Mediterranean-based United States and Yugoslav bombers raided German air bases outside Athens, Greece, and a night attack was made on Western Germany by R. A. F. mosquito bombers. Air aid was also rendered the British and Italians on the Dodecanese Island of Leros, where the Allies were reported gaining the upper hand.

• • •

In the Pacific the Allies bombed a Jap cruiser at Rabaul.

• • •

In Italy, German counter-attacks made some gains in the Venafro sector he'd by the Fifth Army. The British Eighth Army made some gains toward the upper reaches of the Sangro River.

• • •

Russian armies advanced westward on a 200-mile front, laying siege to Gomel and Rechista, in White Russia. The fal ho! Gomel was considered imminent.

• • •

R. A. F. bombers carried out the heaviest attack on Burma since the war in the East began.

THURSDAY —

The British abandoned the Dodecanese Island Kercestro, in the face of a powerful German air, land and sea assault.

• • •

The Russians announced the Germans had forced them to abandon a few populated places in the Zhitomir region of the Northern Ukraine. But in the Dnieper Bend and Gomel areas steady gains continued to be made by the Russians.

• • •

The battle in Italy was reported to be at a stalemate. In the air, however, heavy and medium bombers were able to renew their offensive with attacks on enemy air bases in Southern France, and Greece.

• • •

United States Flying Fortresses in the Mid-East are operating in North African area, destroyed or damaged 1,348 enemy planes, and dropped 26,101 tons of bombs, 87 of the Flying Fortresses were lost from enemy.

FRIDAY —

After the minor setback in the Zhitomir area on Wednesday, the Russians assisted Kiverstsy and Rebitsa, which narrowed the escape corridor from Gomel and split the German armies in the Ukraine.

• • •

German preparations for a counter-attack along the middle section of the Sangro River in the Italian area smashed by the British Eighth Army.

• • •

On Wednesday night, the R. A. F. smashed the world's largest chemical works, at Ludwighaven.

• • •

Turkey was believed to be moving steadily toward a declaration of war against the Axis. Secret aid on a large scale is said to be given to the Allies.

• • •

Heavy United States bombers struck at Jap bases in the Gilbert and Marshall Islands, earlier in the week.

SATURDAY —

The largest bomber force ever despatched by the R. A. F. and the R.C. A.F.—nearly 1,000 planes — bombed Berlin and Ludwighaven on Friday. 2,500 tons of bombs were dropped and the invaders lost 32 planes, seven of them Canadian.

• • •

The Russians were forced to fall back at Zhitomir by a furious Nazi counter-attack. Zhitomir, 85 miles west of Kiev, was the farthest point west the Russians had reached. On the southern flank and in White Russia, the Reds made some gains.

• • •

Bad weather in Italy hampered the action of the Allied Armies, but slight gains were made.

• • •

The Germans claimed the occupation of three small Dodecanese Islands and were attacking British forces on Samos.

• • •

In China the Japanese forced a crossing of the Salween River.

• • •

New gains were made by Australian forces in New Guinea.

MONDAY —

United States forces invaded the Gilbert Islands, midway between New Guinea and Hawaii. Marines and troops were landed on two islands and a battle was in progress on Tarawa Island, one of the two where landings were made.

• • •

Russian troops, for the second successive day, fought successfully against a German counter-attack at the vital Kiev bulge, inflicting losses on the Nazi force of 150,000 men. North and south of the Kiev area other Russian units advanced toward the Polish and Roumanian borders.

After capturing four key points, Allied armies in Italy strengthened and shortened their line by twenty miles.

• • •

The Japanese have launched their fourth battle for Changsha in the rice bowl country of China.

• • •

TUESDAY —

A large contingent of Canadian soldiers recently arrived in Italy bringing Canada's fighting force on Italian soil up to a Corps.

• • •

The British Eighth Army made a further slight gain near the centre of the Italian line and was within two miles of the enemy's main defense line along the Upper Sangro River.

• • •

United States Marines landed on the third Gilbert Island and improved their position on both the other islands taken this week.

• • •

Australian troops gained more ground in their advance from Finschaven in New Guinea.

• • •

The Japanese appeared to be starting a new two-way drive in China against Changsha, the capital of Huan, but had not made much progress.

• • •

The Nazi drive in the Zhitomir area was reported to have been fought to a standstill by the Russians. Further north the Red Army advanced on a 100-mile front.

Medical Association Hails New Finding Re Penicillin Drug

Cincinnati (A.P.) — The "biggest step forward" toward the synthesis of the scarce and precious drug penicillin was announced last week at the meeting of the Southern Medical Association.

Dr. William A. Altemeier, University of Cincinnati surgeon, said researchers finally have produced a pure, crystalline form of the natural drug instead of the unconcentrated product which has hitherto been available, and high officials of the United States army surgeon general's office, who heard him, declared in a joint authorized statement:

"This finding marks the biggest step forward toward the long-hopedfor synthesis of the drug that would make it freely available for all needs — military and civilian.

"Up to now, the penicillin product that has been made was a crude brew—a concentrate only about 10 per bent. of the active drug. Now we have available a concentrated product whose organic, structural formula should be accessible — thus paving the way for artificial production of the drug."

They added that studies toward synthesis of the drug already had produced "encouraging results" in experiments with animals.

The officers, who declined to be quoted by name, said that even with present facilities for producing the natural drug, which is derived from mold, "there is reason to hope that by some time in 1944 we'll have enough penicillin to meet all essential demands."

HEAVY FINE PAID BY NAPANEE WOMAN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Mrs. Mildred Lockridge, Dundas Street, Napanee, in the Magistrate's Court on Monday afternoon, pleaded guilty to a charge of being unlawfully in possession of liquor not acquired under her individual permit. The magistrate ordered her to pay a fine of $100.00 and costs or $50.0. or to serve three months in jail, and Mrs. Lockridge paid the fine and costs. In addition a number of bottles of liquor which were displayed in court, were confiscated. The Magistrate also issued an order declaring Mrs. Lockridge a common public place which allows the police to enter them and inspect them at any time without a search warrant.

STATEMENT SOON ON COFFEE, TEA

Ottawa. — The War Prices and Trade Board, after correspondence with the administrator of tea and coffee is considering a statement in regard to the situation in these commodities.

Since rationing of coffee ceased in the United States, the impression is widely prevalent that the restriction on it will be lifted in Canada as well.

The promised statement, it is reported may be more to c'arify the situation than to announce much variation in the rationing p'an. The coffee situation is bettering but tea is not much improved because of the remoteness from the countries of production and difficulties of transportation.

BEAVER SANTA CLAUS FUND

A few more contributions have been made during the past week to The Beaver Santa Claus Fund. Arrangements have been made for the reconditioning of used toys and anyone who has discarded toys which are still in good condition may leave the toys at The Beaver Office. Knitted wear and good articles of clothing are also gratefully accepted.

Women's Institutes Increase Fund For War Work

Toronto, (CP.) — Reports submitted to the Federation of Women's Institutes of Ontario meeting in Toronto showed an increase of $16,034 in last year's war work fund by the 1,250 Institutes over the previous year's figure. In all $140,410 was raised for war work and 82,971 knitted articles and 130,751 pieces of sewing were made by busy farm women.

Magistrate's Court

On Thur day, in the Magistrate's Court in Napanee, J. J. Moore paid $15.50 fine and costs, after pleading guilty to intoxication in a public place.

Harry Tucker, Tamworth, paid $10 fine and $12.10 costs for being intoxicated in a public place.

Ernest Wayne Richmond pled guilty to careless driving and paid $10 fine and $3.00 costs.

Charles A. Cox, driver of a public commercial vehicle, pled guilty to driving intoxicating liquor while on duty and paid $23.00 fine and costs.

Richard McCracken, Ernestown, for allowing cattle to run on the highway, paid a fine of $6.00 and costs, $2.00.

Clinton Martin pled guilty to a charge of careless driving in Bath village, and paid $10.00 fine and $2.00 costs.

Hearing of a charge against Stuart Simmons, was adjourned for one week.

In Police Court on Monoday afternoon Charles F. Leween, Deseronto was fined a total of $18.50 for being intoxicated in a public place.

In the case of Ross Shetler, charged with assaulting P. C. Bruce Chief of Police of Napanee, and with breaking the terms of a recognizance not to keep the peace, an adjournment was granted for one week to allow the defence to have a medical witness from Kingston present, to give evidence. Mr. Simpson appeared for the defendant and entered a plea on his behalf or not guilty, in his case.

Two juveniles of the town of Napanee appeared before Magistrate Gartin, charged with breaking and entering the garage of Miss Hattie Fox and theft of a tire, wheel and tire jack from a car belonging to Jeff Bradshaw stored in the garage. Both boys pled guilty to the charges. Mrs. Fox had previously been convicted of theft of a sum of money, was sent to Bowmanville Industrial School for an indefinite period. The other boy was sentenced to serve a week in gaol on each charge, sentences to run concurrently. The latter boy, after he had been arrested, had threatened the Chief of Police and gave warning that he would be back in court when released from gaol.

ASSAULT CHARGE LEADS TO FINE

In the Magistrate's Court last Thursday, Sam Hambly pled guilty to a charge of assaulting Mrs. Lucinda Smith, Newburgh, and was fined $10.00 plus costs or 14 days. He was bound over to keep the peace and be of good behavior for the next two years.

Constable Taylor, in giving evidence in the case, stated that he was called by Mrs. Smith about 1 p.m. on Sunday, November 21, and when he went to the home in Newburgh Mrs. Smith told him that during an argument Hambly had thrown a dish at her, tore her dress and struck her on the back. Mr. Taylor said that the police had been called several times before but that Mrs. Smith had not previously wished to lay a charge. Mrs. Smith corroborated the evidence given by Constable Taylor, but when asked by the Magistrate, said that she did not wish Hambly to be bound over to keep away from her residence where he had been living for the past two years. Mr. Hambly consented to the Magistrate's suggestion that he be bound to keep away from Mrs. Smith's for two years.

FALL ASSIZES SUPREME COURT LAST FULL WEEK

No Criminal Cases on the Docket

A lengthy session of the Supreme Court was held in Napanee during the past week, with His Lordship Mr Justice Plaxton presiding. Court opened on Monday, November 15th, and continued in session until Monday noon, November 22nd.

Five days were required for the taking of evidence and the jury's deliberation in the cases of Holmes vs. Knight et. al., and Smith vs. Reese, et al. These two cases had previously been tried in Belleville and came up here after Mr. Justice Chevrier, and the decision was appealed. The Court of Appeal allowed a retrial in Belleville before His Lordship Mr. Justice Plaxton at the Fall Assizes this year. Justice Plaxton dismissed the Belleville jury because of interference with one of the jurors, and ordered another retrial at Napanee.

The cases were the result of a motor accident two miles east of Napanee on November 11th, 1941 in which a car driven by Gladys Ashton, now Mrs Gladys Smith, and belonging to Arthur Knight, Bluevale, was in collision with a transport belonging to the Holmes Transport Co., Brockville, driven by Clifford Place. Action was brought by Mrs. Smith for damages of $5,000, and a counter action was brought by Harold Holmes against Mrs. Smith for $960 damages. The jury, composed of E. L. Bedore, foreman; Patrick Manion, John Dickson, Clifford Vrooman, J. A. Stinson, Elgin McAllister, W. W. Boyd, Vincent Earl, Lawrence Baird, Clarence Di-Witt and Robert Dowling, heard the evidence on 20 witnesses during the five days the case was in progress. After deliberating three and a half hours the jury returned a verdict that Mrs. Smith was 100 - responsible for the accident because of excessive speed, not attending carefully to traffic and driving over the white line. As a result of the jury's verdict the judge dismissed the action, allowing the Transport Company the costs of the action. In the counter-claim of Holmes against Mrs. Smith the judge allowed Holmes $782 and costs.

Mr. J. Simpson, K.C., appeared for Holmes, and Porter, Payne & Arnott were counsel for Mrs. Smith.

In the action brought by Edward Topping against Johnson & Shetler, wherein the former recovered $1,000 in an car which was bought by Mr. Topping and later repossessed by Johnson & Shetler the latter firm was ordered to return the car to Mr. Topping and pay the costs of the action.

W. S. Herrington, K.C., appeared for Mr. Topping, and J. A. Regan, K.C., represented the defendants. Mr. R. Proudlove, Toronto, solicitor for Johnson & Shetler.

In the case of Walter J. Pooks, an action to recover undated damages for personal injuries and loss of services sustained by his son, James Pooks, who suffered a compound fracture of the leg while playing on the school grounds, hearing of the evidence was adjourned until the Spring Assizes.

Hearing of the evidence in the undefended action for diverse brought by Elizabeth Mudge, Centreville against Lyall Milsap, was also deferred until the Spring Assizes. J. A. Regan is acting for the plaintiff in this case.

Ottawa Announces More Syrup on Coupons

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Prices Board announced Monday that beginning next March 2nd the value of "D" coupons for purchase of maple syrup will be increased from 12 to 20 ounces and that the last "D" coupon in the present ration books will become valid on that date instead of March 30 as originally scheduled.

The move was taken to permit consumers to buy maple syrup in larger quantities when the season opens. Eight coupons under the new ration allotment will buy one gallon of syrup.

"Any coupon holder who saves these coupons (all "D" coupons) from December 1 until March 2 will be able to buy at least a gallon of maple syrup in one purchase when the season opens," said the board.

"A family of two would be able to buy two gallons, with two "D" coupons to spare, and so forth."

The board also announced arrangements would be made to facilitate mail - order business in the maple syrup industry. It has long been the practice for many westerners to purchase maple syrup from eastern producers and dealers by mail. A system for handling the necessary coupons will be announced later.

Camden Township Goes Over The Top in Patriotic Effort

Through the co-untirue ability of Reeve Elmer Dees, Thos. Perrault Councillors Wilmot Brought, Victor Drew, Ed Purcell, Ross Hamford, Dr E. M Horton of Enterprise, and the co-operation of The Canadian Red Cross units of Moscow and Enterprise, more than fifty volunteers from Camden Township came to the Blood Donors' Clinic in Napanee last Tuesday. With a staff of more than forty volunteer workers, it took from nine until one p.m. to handle all the recording which is necessary when donors come for first time.

The National Committee of Canada for Blood Donor Clinics is asking for fifteen thousand donations each week as a minimum requirement. This effort is hoping to reach that goal. No amount is enough before it definitely known our fighting forces will not have enough blood at the present rate of supply. At this possibly can we be asked to stop in this humane work.

The last war memorial erected to the "Unknown Soldier." There are of our lives can now erect a memorial to the "Unknown Donor" who brought them back to Canada. Any organization which would like to help such a worthy cause at the next clinic Thursday, December 16th, should contact the chairman. It is under that arrangements may be made to take care of new groups.

A Correction

The Leader regrets that in the account in last week's issue of the dance coming up at the Fall Assizes, of the Supreme Court, it incorrectly stated that Mr. J. V. Topping, Napanee, was bringing an action against Johnson & Shetler, Toronto, to recover $1,000. Instead of Mr. J. V. Topping, the appellant should have read Mr. Ed. Topping, Marysville, who is a brother of Mr. J. V. Topping.

RUGGED INDIVIDUALISM

At a small group of rural people in Oxford County, we heard recently a rather disturbing observation. It came from a farmer, a hard-working, successful dairy farmer. He said that his opinion, some sort of co-operative farming would soon be necessary in the parts of Ontario he knew. He said that in his community, practically none of the farmers had children to carry on the farm work, which was now being done almost exclusively by men who ought to have retired some years ago. He said he disliked the thought of Ontario farmers having to change their way of carrying on their activities, but he saw no way out. He even expressed the view that the present generation of farmers might well be the last which could manage to conduct their own farms on an individual ownership basis.

We know, of course, that it is unwise to base a general conclusion on the experience of one or two, or even half a dozen men. But the number of sales which have taken place in our own county during the past year cannot but fill us with apprehension as to the future of farming in this community, as in other parts of Ontario.

It is hardly to be expected, however, that such a change from individual ownership and operation, to co-operative enterprise is quite so near as the speaker referred to, believed, even if it is to come at all. But there can be little doubt but that changes will have to be made if the land is to produce all the food which it is capable of producing. We are not sure that the farmers in this Province or for that matter, in Canada as a whole, are ready for a co-operative effort. And yet it is quite within the range of possibility that instead of going into a complete co-operative enterprise, that thede might be found areas in which farmers might co-operate. We can understand the Canadian's aversion to living in communal homes and eating in communal dining rooms, but there seems no good reason why living in their own homes and utilizing their own barns, there might not still be ways in which the farmer might co-operate to work the land, to buy and market his produce. If the present trend in rural depopulation continues, either some such co-operative effort will have to be made, or a whole new generation of farmers established on the land.

MOSLEY IS OUT

Sir Oswald Mosley is out of jail. He is England's Number One Fascist. He was a friend of Hitler, and had visions of establishing a Fascist government in England. During the days before the war, when the Government's appeasement policy was having a field day, Sir Oswald had collected around him a considerable following. He addressed huge mass meetings and adopted the methods of spectacular propaganda which Mussolini and Hitler had made familiar. To be sure he never made a real bid for power, but he was building up an organization and getting his views before the public.

On the outbreak of war, Mosley was imprisoned. It is reliably reported in the British Press that the titled prisoner was in clover. He had rooms that were well furnished and well carpeted, was allowed to have his wife take care of the cooking and house work, and even — so it is reported — was permitted to entertain his friends, on occasion.

Now he is out of jail. Why was he let out? That question is bothering the people, not only in Britain, but in other United Countries. The Government's explanation is that Sir Oswald is sick. He has phylibitis and for health reasons should be out of jail. This reason seems a rather flimsy excuse, for certainly if Sir Oswald lived as he is reported to have been living, there would be no reason why he could not have a doctor attend him in his prison home. Anyway, the British people are not taking the relase of Mosley without protest. From one end of England to the other, war workers, trade unionists and organized labor groups are protesting most vigorously. Parades of protest, too, have been made. The British maintain that there is more to the release than appears on the surface. It is a straw that shows how the wind is blowing. It is indicative of a change in government policy which is swinging more to the right, becoming more reactionary, more fascist, as the possibility of victory draws near. So argue the British labor groups.

It all seems so uncalled for. Certainly the Government should have known that its action would draw fire; that there would be a great protest, and yet, in spite of that, this leader of the fascists has been released. We do not know any more of the reasons behind the release than have appeared in the press. But it would seem from this distance, that the action was ill-advised. There are many of our boys in Italy and Africa who are suffering and dying as they believe, and as they have been told, to destroy the very ideas for which Mosley and Hitler and Mussolini, stand. They are bound to feel much as the workers in England feel, when they hear about it. Perhaps much more importance is being attached to the incident than the event warrants, but surely the Government would have been well advised to keep this man locked up for the duration. If, however the incident succeeds in arousing public feeling in the matter thus letting the Government know that public opinion is opposed to further fascist encroachments on their liberties, it may have served a very useful purpose.

THE UPROOTED PEOPLE

Few realize the extent to which our population has shifted during the past three or four years. Approximately 700,000 people are in the Armed Forces, of whom 30,000 are women. The number employed in war industry is over a million, one quarter of whom are women. Many of these, it is true, come from centres near the war industries, and yet many others have come from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and Alberta, to work in the war industries. 110,000 people live in government wartime homes. There can be no doubt but that we are witnessing a mass shift of population that is staggering in its social and economic implications. There is little wonder that, under these conditions, juvenile delinquency has reached alarming proportions. The best brains in the country should now be at work on the problem of demobilizing these workers and rehabilitating them in their homes or, in places of their own choosing, when hostilities cease. This may yet constitute one of the major problems of the post-war Canada. It is not too early to begin tackling it now.

SPANISH REPUBLICANS

When Franco, by the use of the most approved Fascist methods, put down the Republicans in Spain and seized power in the face of an overwhelming Republican vote, he imprisoned as many of the leaders of the Republican Party as he felt necessary for his own safety. This he did with the approval of Mussolini and Hitler, to whom he still pays deference. But owing to vagaries of war a large number of these Republicans have come over, by one way or another, to the side of the United Nations, and are rendering excellent service to the Allied cause. Darius Milhaud called attention to this in a brief statement which was released to-day by the world-over Press.

Mr. Skomorowsky says that:—

"When journalistic honours are passed around to the various national groups fighting with the United Nations, one of them is generally overlooked. This group is the Spaniards, first to feel the weight of Fascist violence. Thousands of Republican Spain's fighting men rgndin in the battle today, many of them after long months spent in prisons and concentration camps.

"When the Spanish prisoners in North Africa were released after the Allied successes there, two thousand of them joined the British Army as engineers. They have fought in North Africa, Sicily and in Italy. Many more serve in the spectacular roles as merchant seamen, as workers in British factories, on farms. Spanish technicians, exiled by the Franco-Government, are working in British laboratories and drafting rooms.

"Those who found themselves in France at the time of the invasion were drafted into labor battalions in the French Army. At Dunkirk many of these men dropped their picks and shovels to assist in the holding actions that made the great evacuation possible.

"Spaniards fought at Narvik in the Spring of 1940 where they formed the largest part of the detachments of the Foreign Legion. There too, they carried out brilliant rear-guard actions that enabled the British troops to get away safely.

"In Russia, on the day of the German attack, 46 young Spanish workers, sons of Republicans who had taken refuge in Russia, joined the Russian Army and fought at Leningrad.

"At the moment when Franco had passed over from a state of pro-Fascist "non-belligerence" to one of "strict neutrality," equally pro-Fascist, it is worthwhile underlining the role being played by these Spanish Republicans in the camp of the United Nations."

POULTRY PRICES RESCHEDULED

ORDER SAYS CONSUMER COSTS NOT INCREASED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Prices Board last week issued an order effective October 4th, revising regulations dealing with the maximum prices at which live and dressed poultry may be sold by producers, wholesalers and retailers in any part of Canada.

The order also, where applicable, and amends previous ones, will mean no increase in the maximum price paid by consumers, board officials said. However, it will permit better returns to producers by effecting an increase in the wholesale dressed poultry prices of two cents per pound.

The order provides that the mark-up permitted a retailer is reduced from nine cents a pound to 20 per cent. of his selling price, provided this in no case exceeds seven cents a pound.

As in previous orders four price areas are listed, each having uniform prices, but the zone structure has been changed somewhat, to include remote and isolated districts which had previously been included, and the northern boundaries of provincial areas have been defined.

The order prohibits the sale of drawn poultry, but a retailer, at a customer's request, may "draw" a bird and make a charge of not more than 10 cents for this service, providing the drawn poultry has been weighed and sold at the specified retail price.

Box - packed and loose - packed dressed poultry may now be sold at wholesale in either form at the same maximum price during the deficiency period; and during the interval December 15 to 31 of the packing period fryers, roasters, capons, pulards, turkeys, ducks and geese may be sold box-packed or loose-packed at the same maximum price.

The weight ranges for live birds are revised in the new order. For the Ontario - Quebec - British Columbia area, for example, the following maximum prices are established for sales at wholesale: Roasters and fryers, over three pounds, 28 cents a pound; capons and pulards, over five pounds, 30 cents; broilers three pounds or less, 28 cents; hens, all weights, 23 cents; old roosters, all weights, 17 cents.

A producer who sells birds, either live or dressed, direct to consumers is permitted to add to the prices the mark-up to which a retailer is entitled.

Russia Charges U. S. Papers With Anti-Soviet Campaign

Moscow, (BUP.) — The trade union magazine, War and the Working Class, charged that a large section of the American Press was carrying on an anti-Soviet campaign which fully corresponds to the interests of Adolf Hitler's agents."

It specifically named the Hearst, Scripps-Howard and McCormick-Cormick newspapers.

In an article apparently timed to appear on the eve of the forthcoming British-American-Soviet conference of Foreign Ministers, the magazine said the New York Herald Tribune and the Chicago Tribune, among those "trying to offset the poison generated by the anti-Soviet press."

The offending newspapers boast a combined circulation of more than 16 000,000 but "they are at sharp variance with the views of the masses of the American people and contradict the general line of American foreign policy which stands for strengthening of collaboration with the Soviet Union, the magazine said.

It named the New York World Telegram, Chicago Tribune, New York Daily News and New York Journal-American — "representing reactionary, defeatist and isolationist circles whose anti-Soviet campaign is designed to throw suspicion on Soviet policy, and serve as the leaders of the anti-Soviet press in America.

These newspapers "circulate false and fabricated conflicts between the Soviet Union and the Allies—a line which fully corresponds to the interests of Adolf Hitler's agents who are counting on disruption of the unity of the anti-Hitler coalition," the magazine said.

Claiming that the alleged anti-Soviet campaign had stirred up wide public debate in the United States, the magazine said part of the press had recognized the need for Soviet-American rapprochement and taken violent exception to the newspapers.

It quoted Walter Lippmann, syndicated Herald Tribune writer, as saying: "The establishment of Soviet-American relations on a firm, friendly and intelligent basis constitutes President Roosevelt's and the State Department's most important duty."

It added that such sentiment "is fully shared by Soviet public opinion which keenly follows the discussion in the American Press on Soviet-American relations."

Challenge For Bombers

All signs and the latest news from the men who fly bombers deep into Germany and meet whatever resistance the Germans can put up, point to the fact that aerial bombing is entering a new phase, a phase where every type of armament begin to have increasing importance.

For instance, German fear of the night bomber is increasing is evident in the enormous size of the night fighters that have risen 50 meet the attacks. During assaults on Berlin, reports on the size of the night fighters have varied from 300 to 1,000. But the bombers, the R.A.F.'s heavy bombers can be beaten by methods — use of fighters—which have failed to defeat the American heavy bombers, provided good conditions of visibility can be established.

Thus as the authoritative magazine "Aeroplane" puts it, bomber command is faced now with a challenge to "shoot it down."

Up to now, darkness has been considered the best defence and indeed the Germans formerly put their faith in anti-aircraft barrages of tremendous strength.

The heavy assault on Peenemunde in mid-August found German fighters up in increasing numbers and attacks on Berlin which followed uncovered a new trick or device in the lighting-up of the bomber's target by the dropping of flares. But it worked two ways. It exposed the bombers to the night fighters and it also exposed the fighters to the bombers' guns.

More fighters were knocked down at night in the last half of August than during the whole of July.

Bombers found the fighters had taken our defence from the ground barrage for the most part. Further they would use flares and airborne searchlights as aids and few very light signals when about to engage a bomber so that support of other fighters would be summoned.

German fighter armament is cannon against the 303 machine-gun of British bomber turrets. Thus the call now for increasing the armour and armament of bombers, but if it is decided this is the full solution to the night fighter operations.

EDUCATION FOR A NEW WORLD

"Corrupt the young. Get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial. Destroy their ruggedness." This sounds like fantastic nightmare ravings from a cheap thriller. It would be nice to think that. But it is true. It happens to be one of the planks in a subversive revolutionary programme discovered in one of the Nazi European headquarters after the last war.

Whether this has anything to do with us in Canada, or Jus it? What about the material that is displayed on so many of our news stands, in the magazine, the juvenile delinquency, the general moral breakdown of which is evident for those who have eyes to see? When you see a nice garden, a beautiful building or a sound home, the equipping of children to earn their living. Another says that it should lay more stress on the cultural side of life, on the finer, excellent things in themselves. But they all beg the basic question. "Can we in Canada bring up a new generation that can really make Democracy work and secure the peace and build a new world?"

This is the question that is crying to be answered. Twelve thousand fourteen thousand teachers in Norway, have chosen a concentration camp rather than agree to teach Nazi doctrines in their classrooms. In subterranean cellars and behind locked doors, the teachers of Greece, Poland and the other occupied countries plan. Are they concerned with whether their children should have more mathematics than carpentry? Or has the awakening that these men and women endured burned into them a passion to produce, when— and if — another chance comes, in a generation that will make Democracy work.

While we in Canada may not face any threat in our land nor the same threats as these people in Europe to our way of life, there are forces at work here planning for the moral and spiritual breakdown of youth. Education fit to build a new world must first lay plans for equipping children with those basic moral standards which must become the heart of any sound democracy.

WAR YEARS BRING ALARMING INCREASE IN CANADIAN CRIME

Ottawa — (C.P.) — Convictions for lawbreaking increased sharply during the first three years, setting 632 431 convictions in 1942 against 420 975 in 1936, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said, last week. Juvenile crime has increased largely during the war years.

During the three pre-war years the increase in convictions was 15 per cent, while in the three war years the increase was 30.6 per cent.

"Convictions of both adult and juvenile offenders increased at an alarming rate during the war" the Bureau said.

Marked Acceleration

"Convictions of juveniles were far in excess of those of the adult population. Further, fewer adults were convicted of the most serious breaches of the law during the war period, whereas among the juveniles the reverse was the case."

The Bureau said that at no time since statistics of juvenile crime were first compiled reparately in the early 20's have any records shown such marked acceleration in the juvenile crime rate as the three war years.

"The number of adults convicted of indictable offences decreased 18.3 per cent. during the war period, while for non-indictable offences the increase was 35.6 per cent., or an increase in total adult convictions of 20.2 per cent," the Bureau said. "Amongst juveniles, major convictions increased 37.9 per cent., and minor convictions 86.4 per cent., or an increase during the war years of 64.5 per cent.

"The pre-war increase in juvenile convictions was 5.6 per cent. and that of adults 15.2."

Juvenile convictions in 1942 were 11,758, an increase over 1939 of 54.4 per cent. Convictions of juveniles for major offences were 5,018 in 1939 and 7,920 in 1942, an increase of 57.8 per cent.

Many Theft Cases

"The increase in convictions of juveniles for major offences was largely brought by by growth in theft created increase in theft, burglary and breaking and entering," said the Bureau. Convictions for theft which had decreased 9.1 per cent. from 1936 to 1939 increased 54.3 per cent. during the war years. Thefts of bicycles and automobiles showed a much faster rate of increase during the war years than was recorded in the earlier period.

Burglary by juveniles, which had increased 17 per cent. in the earlier period, increased faster after the start of the war and convictions were up 23.5 per cent. in 1942. Convictions for common assault, which had declined 15.3 per cent. for the 1936-1939 period showed an increase of 62.1 per cent.

Adult convictions, which increased from 412 265 in 1936 to 476 [illegible] 1939, or by 15.4 per cent., showed a rapid increase during the war years, however, the increase being 32.3 per cent. from 1939 to 1942. Convictions for theft showed a similar rise at an accelerated rate after the start of the war, increasing 39.6 per cent. from 1939 to 1942, while convictions for breaking and entering increased 23.1 per cent. from 1939 to 1942.

Convictions for offences against the person increased 30.1 per cent. from 1939 to 1942, while convictions for offences against property increased 32.6 per cent. during the same period.

WAR WOUNDED SURVEY MADE

Washington, (A.P.) — Modern weapons are twice as deadly as the guns of 1917-18, but the 1943 casualty who isn't killed outright has about twice as much chance to survive as the wounded man of the Great War.

The United States Office of War Information reported, last week, in its first comprehensive survey of care of the war wounded that the service man who "stops one" has better than 96 chances in 100 to survive his wounds in this conflict.

Shock and infection were the great killers of the wounded in 1917-18. In the present war, blood plasma transfusions greatly reduce the shock danger, and the sulfa family drugs have minimized the possibility of infection, both the army and navy reported.

Better and faster treatment of the wounded also play a major part in reducing deaths from wounds, the O.W.I. said. Both the army and navy have revised their procedures for attending wounded men, having moved dressing stations almost up to the front lines.

"In the last war, wounded men were brought to the hohspital," the O.W.I. reported. "In this war, the hospital goes to the wounded men."

Army records show that only 35 out of every 1,000 men wounded now succumb to their battle injuries, compared to a death rate of 60 per 1,000 in the last war. The United States Navy now loses only 31.6 men in each 1,000 wounded, less than half the 72.5 who died of wounds in 1917-18. The Marine Corps reports 31.5 deaths per 1,000 wounded down from the 120 deaths per 1,000 recorded a quarter century ago.

One soldier was killed by 1918 weapon; for every six wounded. The deadly power of today's weapons is shown by the fact that one soldier is killed for every three wounded. Navy records show a ratio of one killed to one-plus wounded (6 076 dead and 7,610 wounded at the time of the survey), which is twice the rate of Great War days.

Between 50 and 60 per cent. of men who suffered head wounds died in 1917 and 1918. Deaths from head wounds have been cut to nine per cent. in the current war, due to plasma and sulfa treatments.

The survey also noted that the percentage of necessary amputations has been reduced in this war, because of reduced infection and debridgement.

The pain of wounds is also greatly minimized now, through the more widespread use of morphine ayrettes, which even an inexperienced man can use.

Hospital admissions for mental ailments averaged between 20 and 30 per 1 000 per year 25 years ago, but the rate is up to between 50 and 60 per 1,000 in this war. In some particularly rugged theatres of war, 20 to 25 per cent. of all hospital admissions are mental cases.

The survey reported that men are kept in action for longer periods without relief in this war, which con, tributes to nervous ailments.

"TRUTHFULNESS AT ALL TIMES"

In these days of mass propaganda, the message from the Old Testament calling for truthfulness in all things, sounds unique indeed. It has been well said that one of the first casualties of war is truth. Anyone who tries to understand the present world situation knows full well that it is well nigh impossible to get the truth about any given situation. For twenty-five years the people in the Democracies were subject to a continuous bombardment of propaganda about Russia. The effects of this were so successful that when one attempted to tell the truth he was ridiculed and labelled "Bolshevik". "Red" or somesother supposedly evil name. So great is the power of press and radio to mould public opinion that when these modern methods of mass propaganda. The fashion in lies bearing false witness is undoubtedly directed towards the individual. For no matter what we may say about mass lying, not to overlook this modern method of producing magrel lies.

The Sheet Anchor Of The Nation

One of the real casualties of this war has been the steady drift away from the farms and the gradual swing away from a national economy largely centred around agriculture will certainly be felt in the years to come.

Here in Canada the farms have always been the blood bank of our democratic way of life. They have provided the new blood for industry, the professions and government, preventing them, from becoming anaemic. The farmer's family has had first hand knowledge and experience of those fundamental moral laws which must govern all phases of our national life. While the remains true to that experience he is the sheet anchor of the nation.

In connection with this it is worth quoting an item from an English paper, which gives evidence of the way farmers there are giving this kind of leadership to the nation. Using the occasion of the Harvest Festival a farmer in the south of England got his neighbors, friends and relatives together for the English equivalent of a good old-fashioned "Bee". After finishing up in the fields and doing the chores they all sat down to a meal of home cured ham and home grown fruit.

Supper finished, they sat around as the farmer told how three years ago his farm had been graded "C" by the Agricultural Committee. This year it was "A". Three years ago there hadn't been one cow; last year the farm produced 14,000 Gallons of milk. This year they had 19 stacks of corn as against 9 two years ago.

"The secret of this farm," said the farmer to his friends sitting around him, "is that we try to grow something besides food. France was probably the best food country in Europe. But France fell. They never learned how to produce character for the nation. And a nation starved of character will come to grief in peace as well as war.

"Character is like corn. It will not grow by itself. Growing corn may be the farmer's business, but growing character is everybody's business, finishing the farmer's. We need to sow and cultivate a crop of new men and women, if we are to reap the harvest of the new world.' This is the philosophy and programme for Britain which we are working out on this farm."

With this kind of thinking and living alive in our farming communities there will be no question about the farm assuming its rightful place in the nation's life. It will just take it automatically.

We might stop explaining what kind of people we are and begin thinking of the kind we really could be.

LETTER RECEIVED A.Y.P.A. Knitting Club FROM H. BUTCHER

R 69235 Sergt. H. H. Butcher,
15 Squadron, S.A.A.F., M.E.F.
20-8-43.

St. Mary Magdalene
A.Y.P.A. Knitting Club,
Napanee, Ontario.

Dear Members:

I wish to express my very sincere thanks for the socks which your organization so very kindly sent to me. They arrived yesterday (19th of August) after chasing me all over East Africa and Egypt and Libya. Although one could never in any way accuse the army post office of being speedy, we must own up to their persistent efforts to locate one.

I am attached to a light bomber squadron (South African) and we move very frequently as the fronts change, as our range is naturally rather limited. We depend on small bomb loads and that combined with very frequent visits to the same target, we make ourselves very annoying to the enemy at times.

For a long time I was chasing tsetse flies, a very dull occupation until you sighted one and then business began with a bang.

As you have already seen by the papers the Sicilian Campaign is over so now we are saying "What next little one."

Egypt is not nearly as exotic as travel folders would lead one to believe but, of course, there are some points of interest. I expect to go to Jerusalem on leave some time next month. I did a few operations from parts of Palestine and it seems a very nice country.

I am sorry this letter is not very interesting but censorship is so strict and so vitally important that I dare not tell you about the more interesting things I have seen and done.

In closing may I wish your organization every success and once again my heartfelt thanks for your kindness.

I remain,
Yours gratefully,
HERB. BUTCHER.

RUSSIA AND THE ITALIAN FRONT

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Capture of Foggia in southern Italy — great communications centre and focal point of a baker's dozen big-to-dizzy airdromes — marks one of the major triumphs of the Mediterranean war, for it's the key to vast new fields of Allied endeavor.

Possession of Foggia will permit us to unleash a fresh tornado of bombing and fighting planes. First off, it should greatly expedite the conquest of the Italian Peninsula, for it will no far towards breaking the back of German resistance there. An early development should be Nazi evacuation of the hotly - contested Naples region.

But our sun-lights can be raised to much more distant horizons. From Foggia we can reach into Germany to vital centres which heretofore have been difficult to bomb. We've destroyed a huge portion of Hitler's industrial structure and now much of the balance is within our range. The Balkans lie open to the flying fields of Foggia — a matter of the utmost importance at this moment when the cockpit of Southeastern Europe is squirming to escape Hitler's clutch.

Italy isn't the only theatre to produce sensations, however for the Russians have broached a new operation which may be a block-buster. That's up on the Leningrad end of their flaming front. Do you remember that ninety a couple of years ago when Hitler in one of his bombastic speeches defied the United States, dared Britain to invade France and, as a special mark of his prowess, proclaimed that Leningrad "is surrounded and no one will free it again and it will fall into our hands"?

That was the time when this birthplace of the Russian revolution was being defended not only by Russian soldiery but by its citizens — men and women, young and old. It was a winter of horror of violent death and the slow torture of starvation as the Nazis encircled but still they clung to their city. Somehow the Hitlerian ring was pushed back until Leningrad no longer was isolated, though the invaders have continued to hold the line not far from the southern side of the city.

Well, the Russians now as part of their great offensive against the Nazis, are beginning an operation which, it strikes me, is calculated to be the pay-off for Hitler's crime against the city of the Russian revolution. I refer to the capture of the strategic city of Smolensk and the continuing drive westward. It's a fascinating a display of tactics as we are likely to encounter.

One Russian force is headed northwestward along the Smolensk - Vitsyebsk rail railway towards the Latvia Baltic state of Latvia, which is only 200 miles away. Other Russian contingents are pushing southwest, in a turning movement against the German line. Now if the Muscovites have the reserve strength to develop this movement, it will cut off the Hitlerites in that whole northern zone which has its apex in Leningrad. It also will place Finland in a most uncomfortable position of refrigerated isolation.

Of course this drive is in its infancy, and questions therefore are out of order. It may or may not come off. However, its danger has been recognized by Berlin, for a little one-line news dispatch from London reports that "Himmler (the Hangman," Hitler's Gestapo chief, has arrived in Latvia. Himmler pushes where trouble threatens, and a black cloud of it is moving towards Latvia from the east.

And what of Finland? She's feeling the pressure for herself, and is out to get out of the mess she is in as the virtual ally of Hitler. Her premier, Edwin Linkomies, said the other day that she wants to withdraw. She would like peace with Russia on her pre-1939 independence and territorial status. Well, if the present Russian drive is carried through to its finality, Finland will take what Moscow wants to hand her—and "like it."

The Late Mrs. Maud Parks

Mrs. Maud A. Parks died at Kingston General Hospital Thursday November 18th, after a short illness. Mrs. Parks, who, before her marriage was Maud Nolan, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nolan, Hay Bay, where she was born.

The late Mrs. Parks returned to Napanee about four years ago, following the death of her husband, John A. Parks, which occurred at Kitchener, Ont., where they had lived for some time following their marriage.

She is survived by one brother William B. Nolan, Hay Bay, and one sister, Mrs. J. H. Stillman, Peterborough. She was a member of Grace United Church and was active in the work of the Woman's Association, the W. M. S. and W. C. T. U.

The funeral service was held at the Tierney Funeral Home, Sunday afternoon, with her minister, Rev. C. D. McLellan, Grace Church, in charge, assisted by Rev. A. C. McMillan.

There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends. Mr. and Mrs. George Pralick, of Morven, sang a duet, with Mrs. B. M. Black at the piano. Favourite hymns of the deceased were also sung. The many beautiful flowers attested to the high esteem in which Mrs. Parks was held.

The pall-bearers were chosen from her friends of earlier days and were: Messrs. George Hawley, Taylor Spencer, Edward Bartley, James Robertson, Karl Sexsmith and Edward Hambly.

OBITUARIES

THE LATE MRS. A. B. MacLEOD

Mary Emily MacLeod passed away on Sunday, November 14th, at the home of her daughter Mrs. W. R. Kinch, Kingsville, Ont. Mrs. MacLeod and her husband, Andrew Bruce MacLeod, who died several years ago, were formerly well-known residents of Richmond Township. She was born in Camden Township in 1880, her parents being Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilder. She was a school teacher before her marriage and through all her years she was active in mind and body, interested in everything that went on and had a particularly cheerful and optimistic disposition, which she retained to the end, which came after a short illness. Her loss is keenly felt by her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Kinch of Kingsville; her son, William B. MacLeod of Windsor, her surviving sisters, Mrs. Eliza MacLeod and Mrs. Agnes Doidge, of Kingston and Mrs. Leah Purnell, of Napanee, and her grandchildren, L.A.C. Douglas Kinch in the R.C.A.F., in British Columbia, and Ruth Marion and Lawrence Kinch of Kingsville. One sister, Rebecca Wilder and one brother, William J. Wilde, predeceased her.

A funeral service was held in Kingsville on Monday evening, and another service was held on Tuesday November 16, at the home of her sister Mrs. Leah Russell, in Napanee. Interment was at Riverview Cemetery, Napanee.

Mr., Mrs. Chas. York Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Charles York, who reside in Clarkesville, on the outskirts of Napanee, celebrated the Fiftieth Anniversary of their marriage, Sunday, November 14th. Members of their family were with them on their anniversary day, which was spent quietly at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. York, who have resided in Napanee since 1910, were married at the home of Mr. York's mother, near Marlbank, and shortly after their marriage went to live at Tamworth, where Mr. York was employed as a tinsmith. Since coming to Napanee Mr. York has continued to follow the same vocation with Spencer Davis and The Maple's Hardware Company.

Before her marriage Mrs. York was Ellen Martin, daughter of Frank and Nancy Martin. For some years past Mrs. York has been a member of the Free Methodist Church and Mr. York has belonged to The Salvation Army, which they have attended regularly and to which they have given active support. They are both highly esteemed by all their associates, who join with The Beaver in wishing them many more anniversaries.

They have one son, Arthur, who with his wife also lives in Napanee.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Mother Russia — Hindus

A vivid and enlightening account of the Russian people and the people who again and again have amazed the world by turning back the ruthless and powerful German army. The success of the United Nations' cause depends ultimately on the mutual understanding which is necessary for joint action. Mother Russia is an important contribution to our knowledge of one of our most important allies.

Glorious Chapter — Reyburn

Here is the "plain, unvarnished" tale of Dieppe and the men who fought there — the only eye-witness account of that famous expedition. The courage, discipline and chivalry of the Canadians has made another glorious chapter in the making of Canadian history.

Poems I Remember—Kieran

An anthology of the favorite poems of John Kieran of "Information Please" and sports writer of The New York Times. It is the gathering of verse of many authors, remaining in the memory of one reader, and many well-loved.

Maria Spiffle—Benning

The story of the gallant Spitfire Squadron, told by Flying-Officer Geo. F. Beurling, sitting at the controls of his plane. It is modern war without sentiment, told in terms of human courage, skill and heroism, by a modern warrior.

Atlantic Meeting — Morton

An account of Mr. Churchill's voyage in H.M.S. Prince of Wales, in August, 1941, and the conference with President Roosevelt, which resulted in the Atlantic Charter.

The End of the Beginning — Churchill

This volume, which has the same editor and the same treatment as "The Unrelenting Struggle," covers the third grim year of the war—1942. It marks one of the Prime Minister's greatest achievements, for in it all things are blackest that his indomitable courage and irresistible faith help to carry the British through their trials.

Combined Operations—The Official Story of the Commandos

The book is utterly without heroics and yet is all heroism. The reader will marvel at the terrible efficiency, the terrible simplicity, the terrible courage, and the awesome nonchalance of the British Royal Navy and Army and R.A.F. men who participate in these raids.

Watch The Sunshine—Dumbrille

A collection of poems which possess a potent appeal.

Miss Deane—Stevenson

A fresh and poignant story, filled with the same originality and charm that have endeared the Buncle books to so many thousands.

Hungry Hill—Bellmarter

Hungry Hill is a big powerful novel which depicts the struggle of a proud, semi-aristocratic Irish family to escape the destiny inherent in their way of life.

Katherine Christian—Walpole

The story of the beautiful and mysterious woman who dominates the Herries Chronicle, in the early Seventeenth Century.

Claudia — Frankau

The story of a modern married couple, whose unfaithful adventures have delighted thousands.

The Merrivales — Colver

A story of the impact of war on an American family — a family that might well be the one across the street, or even your own.

Capricornia — Herbert

"Capricornia" combines depth, masculinity and sense. Xavier Herbert has compressed a dozen stories of Australia in this one generous book. He is a master story-teller, an expert at characterization, and a genius for detail.

FLINTON

Flinton, Nov. 16. — The weather is very mild at present after the recent rain, and farmers are busy with the fall work.

Many friends of Mrs. Cecil Casey are glad to see her home from Belleville General Hospital, much improved in health.

Mr. Stewart Hutchinson has returned home after spending a year on the Alaska Highway. He at once went on his annual deer hunt and returned with a large deer.

As usual, C. J. Casey's hunting party were the first away to return with their number of large deer. Seven in the party and seven deer. Those in the party were C. J. Casey, Simon Fortune, Chas. Bouchard, Louis Bouchard, of Flinton, Porter and Kellar, Arden, and J. Tryan, Kaladar.

The many friends of Lorraine Lessard are sorry to hear she is in the Kingston General Hospital, with scarlet fever.

James Marisette is improving in health, at his home here.

WEDDING BELLS

- ATCHISON - MARTIN

A wedding of interest took place in Trinity United Church, Napanee, on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 20, when Roberta Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E Martin Raymore, Sask., was united in marriage to Andrew McDiarmid Atchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Atchison, Peterborough, Rev. G. M. Chidley, officiating.

The bride, wearing the traditional floor-length wedding gown of white brocaded satin, finger tip veil with halo and carrying a bouquet of red roses entered the church on the arm of her brother, C. Sidney Martin to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss Beatrice Baughan.

Her only attendant, Miss Betty Ritchie, as bridesmaid, wore a floor-length gown of turquoise sheer with shoulder length veil and carried pink roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Stan Atchison, white as second brother, Mr. Keith Atchison, acted as usher.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums formed a lovely setting for the ceremony. During the signing of the register, Miss Barbara VanDine delightfully sang "Because" with the solo, "Where'er you Walk."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Aubrey Woodcock where Mrs. Martin, dressed in soldier blue, with a corsage of pink roses and Mrs. Atchison in navy with corsage of white gardenias, received the guests. Following the luncheon, Mr. Chidley, in proposing the toast to the bride, spoke of this being not only a happy occasion, but a unique one, in that the bride and groom had come originally from Saskatchewan and were now residents of Sorel, Que., while the bridesmaid's and soldier's homes were in Fredericton N.B., and all were gathered in Old Ontario, where the bride had chosen to be married in the church of which her grandparents and great-parents had been life-long members.

The bride chose for her going away costume a dress of light blue wool with matching hat, and wore the groom's gift, a triple strand of pearls and a corsage of pink roses.

The young couple will spend a week in Ottawa before returning to Sorel, where both are on the Inspection Board of U.E. of C.

Guests from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Atchison, Mr and Mrs. Stan Atchison, Keith and Berdene, of Peterborough; Mrs. Harold E. Martin, Raymore, Sask.; Mr and Mrs. Sidney Martin, Prankford; Misses Barbara VanDine and Betty Ritchie, Belleville, Que., Miss Eleanor Durant and Mazer, Whitley and Mrs. Thea Salmon, Prescott.

To try for a new world without a fresh spirit in its people is like trying to make an omelet with outdated eggs.

Cards of Thanks

The Committee in charge of the sale held in the Armouries on Saturday last wish to thank everyone who co-operated towards its success. The amount from all was most gratifying, both from those who contributed and by those who helped in different ways so that a generous contribution can be made for forwarding boxes to Prisoners of War. While it is impossible to thank everyone, the Committee does wish to thank Mr. E. J. Courneyea particularly for generously donating his time to act as an auctioneer for this worthy cause. 47ap

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Nolan, Ward and Hazel, wish to thank their friends for kindnesses and expressions of sympathy and flowers, during illness and at the time of the death of Mr. Nolan's sister, Mrs. Maud Parks. They wish especially to thank Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pralick for singing and Mrs. B. M. Black for playing at the funeral. 47ap

In Loving Memory

LASHER — In sad but loving memory of my dear husband, Wilfred Lasher, who passed away November 21st, 1942.

Dear is not my soul's companion—
A life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.
My lips cannot tell how I miss him.
My heart alone will know
How much I still wish to be
Clasped in his arms once more.
In a home that is lone'y, to-day
What would I give to clasp his hand
His hapgy face to see,
As I walk through and wet his smile
That meant ro much to me.

Sadly missed by
47ap - HIS WIFE.

LEWIS — In loving memory of our dear brother, Roy, who passed away November 24th, 1942. in his 17th year.

Just when your life was brighteat,
Just when your years were best,
You were called from this world of sorrow
To the home of eternal rest.
Lovingly remembered by
47ap - Sister, PRISCILLE and Brother-in-law, ALBERT SMITH.

LEWIS — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Roy, who passed away November 24th, 1942.

You are not forgotten, Roy,
Nor ever will you be;
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
Lovingly remembered by
47ap - FATHER, MOTHER, SISTERS and GRANDMA.

WEDDING BELLS

KELLY - KIRBY

Sydenham Street United Church, adorned with oak leaves in autumn shades tall standards of mauve yellow and white mums, and a bouquet of pure white chrysanthemums on the altar table, was the setting for a lovely autumn wedding of widespread interest at 3:00 p.m., Saturday, November 13, when the Rev. Dr. H. B. Clarke united in marriage Gladys Irene daughter of Mrs. Herbert B. Kirby and the late Herbert B. Kirby and William Alexander Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelly, all of Kingston.

Miss Leonore Black, a personal friend of the bride's family, played appropriate wedding music, and Mrs. Winifred Woodard Scott, of Toronto sang "O Perfect Love" at the beginning of the ceremony, and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The dainty dark-haired bride, who was given in marriage by Rev. W. R. Taxton of Smiths' Falls, a personal friend of the family, was a radiant figure in her wedding gown, a floor-length model of white brocaded satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, with self-covered buttons from the waist to the neck in the back a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves forming points over her hands, and a full skirt. Her finger tip veil of scalloped white net was held in place with a halo of shirred veiling and white chrysanthemum petals and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and lourearia. She wore a single strand of pearls.

The bride was attended by Miss Yolande Chabot of Quebec City, as maid of honor and Miss Beryl Kelly, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. The frocks were fashioned alike with floor-length full skirts and long torsos with square necks and three-quarter length sleeves. The maid of honor was in orchid mauve with a Molyneux model muslin co'ored leather hat and the bridesmaid was in apple green with a pale rose feather hat. Both were matching wide tulle veiling fashioned in a bow under the chin. Miss Chabot carried a bouquet of yellow mums and mauve baby 'mums and Miss Kelly carried rose carnations and wine coloured.

Flight Lieut. Garfield Kelly, of Quebec City, brother of the groom, was best man and the ushers were Lieut. John Reid, stationed at Barrefield, and Mr. Stewart Patterson.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Annandale apartments where Mrs. Kirby received, wearing a lovely gown of brown crepe, trimmed with powder blue and gold beading. Her hat was a matching shade of brown with gold trimming and she wore a corsage of yellow mums. Mrs. Kelly, the groom's mother, who also received, wore an effective gown of grey with brown accessories and a brown velvet Persian model but with veil and a corsage of Talisman roses. Miss Eleanre Paul of Napanee caught the bride's beautiful bouquet.

Later, the bride and groom left for Montreal and Quebec City, the bride travelling in a smart blue dress with black beaded fringe; a black boucle coat with silver fox trim, a silver fox muff and black off-the-face hat and blue accessories. On their return they will reside in Kingston.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. R. Hobner, Bouchard Que., brother-in-law and sister of the bride; Dr. and Mrs. H. Duffett and the Misses Ruth and Mary Duffett, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miller Mrs. George Miller, Miss Christine Simmons, Mrs. L. Crossman, Mr. and Mrs. George Paul, Miss Eleanor Paul, Miss Barbara Rogers, Mrs. J. J. Francis, all of Napanee; Mrs. Leafa Hudgins, Enterprise, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Limau and son, John, of Markham; Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Taxton, Smith's Falls, and Mrs. Winifred Woodland Scott, Toronto.

The Late Joseph Lucas

Mr. Joseph Lucas, who had been a resident of Napanee for the past 15 years, died at the home of his son George Lucas, Bridge Street, Monday afternoon, November 22, Mr. Lucas had been in failing health for some years and his death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Mr. Lucas was born about 88 years ago at Odessa and was one of five children of the late George and Nancy Lucas. Until 1914 he lived at Odessa, where he was a prosperous farmer and was well and favorably known to a large circ'e of friends. During his residence at Odessa, he was a member of the Methodist Church in which he was a member of the choir for many years. He was also a member of the Masonic Order for many years. In 1914 he and his wife moved to Moorow where they lived until they came to Napanee in 1928. In Napanee they were members of Trinity United Church, which they attended regularly and supported liberally as long as health permitted.

Since the death of his wife, the former passed away in 1940, Mr. Lucas had resided with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lucas. He was predeceased by three sisters and a brother.

His funeral, being conducted today (Wednesday) at the Tierney Funeral Home at 2:00 p.m., by Rev. G. M. Chidley Minister of Trinity Ch. Interment will be at Morcow cemetery. The pall-bearers will be Messrs. Arthur Baker, Morley Huffman, Chas. Amey and Joseph Porter of Moorow, and Harry L. VanLaven and Robert Lucas, of Napanee.

Mrs. (Dr.) Wagar Died In Toronto

Burial was made at Napanee on Sunday afternoon of Mrs. (Dr.) Nelson Wagar, whose death occurred at the Toronto General Hospital, Thursday, November 18th.

Mrs. Wagar had been seriously ill only about three weeks before her death occurred but had not been in good hea'th for some time, for the past several years she had resided in Toronto, but the most of her life was spent in Napanee, where her late husband, Dr. Nelson Wagar, practised dentistry for many years. Before her marriage, Mrs. Wagar was Ella Vrooman.

She leaves four children, Frances Mrs. C. Michels, Fort William; Ernest of Massena, N.Y.; Arthur, at Lindsay and Miss Isobel, Toronto. She was predeceased by two brothers, Dr. J. P. Vrooman - Napanee, Bidwell, of Wakkerville, and a sister, Miss Vinnie Vrooman, Napanee.

The funeral service at Napanee was conducted at St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican Church by the rector, Archdeacon R. J. Dumbelle.

Production of Butter Is Down

VARIOUS FACTORS ARE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DECREASE

Reports of a considerable decline in butter production in Western Ontario as compared with a year ago are indicated in the summary of the reports of Creamery Instructors of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the month of October. Central and Eastern Ontario, however, have been showing a slight increase over last year's production. The continued growing demand for fluid milk from the towns and cities is expected to have a material effect on butter production in spite of an increase in butterfat prices during the last month. The quality of cream received by the creameries generally showed an improvement over 1942, this being the first month since April that improvement has been indicated.

The early closing down of cheese factories, says the report for Eastern Ontario, is expected to enhance butter production in the near future. The general situation west and north of Toronto however, is that production is definitely showing a downward trend, there being indications that some plants will turn their whole intake over to city fluid milk distributors. Another factor which is influencing the situation is that the majority of skimming stations are not eligible for the 30 cents per hundred pounds bonus where the fat went into butter and the skim milk into cheese. This has caused a swing to greater production of whole milk powder. In the London area, it is found that the scarcity of grain is having a detrimental effect on the quantity of milk produced.

CHARITY SALES OF PRESERVES ALLOWED

Religious and charitable organizations may now accept donations of home-made jams and jellies providing they are for use by such organizations or sold in aid of charities. If they wish to receive such donations or to conduct a sale without the collection of ration coupons, they must, however, obtain prior permission from their Local Ration Board. This provision applies only to gifts of these rationed commodities received from a consumer who may be, of course, a primary producer such as a beekeeper; and in no other case may such gifts be accepted from merchants or others who are not consumers. As the selling of large quantities of these rationed goods is to be discouraged, Local Ration Boards have discretionary power to make decisions.

VALUABLE EGGS

Hello Homemakers! Eggs are eggs these days! The cold weather has made the hens "climb into their shells" — few eggs are available yet. Frankly, I think we were spoiled with such easy-to-prepare products. A cook never feels really stuck if she has a few eggs and a few ordinary staples.

Eggs give us a liberal supply of body-building and tissue - building proteins, also a good amount of the vitamins which protect us from evil weakness and nervousness. Eggs that are properly cooked are easily digested. With this in mind, the wise mother will see that her busy little run-about of 2 to 12 years of age gets the egg simply cooked (cod/se or poached). Then here are the recipes to use when eggs are scarce:

RECIPES

Eggless Devil's Food

Three-quarters cup cocoa, one teaspoon soda, one and three-quarters cup cake flour, sifted three-quarters teaspoon salt, one cup brown sugar (packed) one cup sour milk or buttermilk, half-cup of shortening, melted, one teaspoon vanilla.

Sift cocoa, flour, soda and salt together; add brown sugar and mix well. Add sour milk, melted shortening and vanilla. Beat until smooth turn at once into greased shallow pan, and bake in electric oven 350-375 deg. F. about thirty minutes.

Basic Spice Cake

One cup brown sugar), one cup water, one-third cup shortening, two cups seeded raisins, one teaspoon cinnamon, half-teaspoon of salt, half-teaspoon each nutmeg, allspice and cloves, two cups cake or pastry flour, sifted, one teaspoon soda, half-teaspoon baking powder.

Boil the sugar, water, shortening, raisins, spices and salt together for three minutes, stirring continually. Cool. Sift flour, soda and baking powder together, and gradually stir into batter and beat well. Bake in greased cake pan in electric oven, 300 to 325 deg. F., for about one hour.

Creamy Custard

Two tablespoons cornstarch, half-cup sugar, one egg, well beaten, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two cups scalded milk, half-teaspoon of vanilla.

Mix the cornstarch, sugar, egg and salt. Gradually pour over the scalded milk, stirring until thick or smooth. Continue cooking fifteen minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add vanilla and chill. Serve with cream.

Old Fashioned Rice Pudding

Half-cup rice uncooked, one quart milk, half-teaspoon salt, half-cup sugar brown or white, one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg, one cup of raisins.

Wash the rice, add milk, salt, and sugar, and nutmeg. Turn into greased baking dish or casserole, and bake in electric oven at 275 degrees for two hours. Stir well a few times occasionally. Add raisins, and bake about thirty minutes longer. Instead of baking this pudding may be cooked in the top of a double boiler with less heat and in a shorter time; it should cook until the rice has absorbed all the milk. Serve hot or cold.

TAKE A TIP:

For variations of Basic Spice Cake: (1) Add one teaspoon almond extract and half-cup blanched almonds. (2) Add one cup chopped raisins, two tablespoons chopped citron, one teaspoon grated orange rind and half-cup broken nut meats for a delicious fruit cake.

For variations of Rice Pudding: (1) Soak two-thirds cup dried apples or peaches; slice and use in place of raisins; (2) Use as substitute one cup canned juice for one cup milk with a little grated orange rind.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. P. C. W. asks: At what temperature should the oven be and how long should one cook a 6, 8, and 2 pound fruit cake?

Answer: Bake 4 hours in a very slow oven (275 deg.) and place a small pan of water in the oven. Or, pans may be covered with a few pieces of waxed paper (tie in places and steam two hours then bake two hours in oven at 300 deg.

Mrs. M. B. asks: Ingredients for our dark fruit cake published two years ago:

Answer:

Dark Fruit Cake

Half-cup butter, three-quarters cup brown sugar, three-quarters cup of seeded raisins cut in pieces, three-quarters cup currants or raisins), one cup citron, thinly sliced and cut in strips, half-cup molasses, two eggs, half-cup milk, two cups flour (half-teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, half-teaspoon each, allspice and mace, one-quarter teaspoon of cloves, half-teaspoon lemon extract.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Bab:

It must be the autumn air! I am bursting with energy. Instead of smugling deeper into bed, as I usually do when my alarm goes off, these mornimes I leap up alertly and start chattering "Good Mornings" recklessly to my buddies. I warble in the bath and later toss off two helpings of scrambled eggs for breakfast. Then I dive into my day's work at Headquarters with restful energy. That is what it is to be young and healthy — and I have not been taking vitamin pills, either!

These tangy days are ideal for ridin' and I like nothing better than a good gallop with a carpet of leaves under the horse's hoods. It is especially good for people in my class who, as you know, do not always stay on. Not that it spoils my fun. I simply pick myself up and clamber back on. If you won't rub it in, I will confess that the last time I was tossed I meekly led the beastie home. I always get horses with a sense of humour, which I find most discontenting. This Doobin had such a satisfied smirk on his face after my mishap that he made me feel foolish. No, I am not imagining it, he was positively leering. It was uncanny.

Last week a party of us went for a ride after work and when it was dark tethered our horses, and made a fire in a field to cook our supper. We sat around the fire in a circle on blankets, toasting rolls and hot dogs while a huge open pot of coffee brewed over the fire, giving off the most tantalizing fragrance. You should have seen my mate in the C.W.A.C. tucking his Hot dogs piled high with mustard and relish disappeared like snowballs in the sun.

What a setting — handfuls of stars, the sound of waves breaking against the shore, the glow of a crackling fire, etc. Then a girl with a lovely contralto voice started "Tipperary" — so, of course, we sang all the old favourites. This was followed by a favourite ditty of No. 39 Company, C.W.A.C., entitled "One Fine Day." I wonder if you know it? It relates the sad plight o fa little man who invades a restaurant with but fifteen cents in his pocket. Naturally he encounters a hardboiled waiter who bellows down the hall, "this gentleman here wants one fish ball." The girls sang it with gusto.

At this point our Corpl. Jean Porteous, who hails from New Zealand and has made a study of the hula dances of Hawaii and also the Maori dances of her native land, stepped into the firelit circle and danced, singing her own accompaniment of Island melodies, and the soft, languorous airs set the more romantic members of our party a-sighing.

It was all impromptu and delightful. When finally we had toasted our faces to a crisp and were thoroughly chilled elsewhere, we reluctantly dowsed the fire and rode home in the moonlight. I am glad to be able to report that on this occasion I managed to abide with my mount.

I volunteer this information in case you have come to the conclusion that I am always walk home from a horseback ride.

I suppose that will be our last picnic until next spring and after that I never know where they will be from season to season. Be that as it may, I am glad to have this evening of fun and good fellowship for my memories. It will stand out in my mind memory as a moment when I savoured to the full the richness of mateship.

Bab, you think that Nickey has the,,ad between her teeth again. How right you are but I love the big farmy city of the C.W.A.C. and it is up to me to make me just a little drippy. Name it on those Celtic forebears.

Good-night, Bab,as it seems an age since I have seen you. Can't we do something about it?

Your C.W.A.C. Correspondent
NICKEY.

FOREST MILLS W. A.

MRS. S. E. Baker opened her home for the November meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church. Mrs. Fred McFarlane, second vice-president, conducted the meeting. It was opened by singing the hymn and repeating the Lord's prayer in unison. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Lewis Fox. The roll call was answered by a Bible verse containing the word peace. The treasurer's and secretary's reports were read and approved. The treasurer was authorized to pay this appointment's share of the taxes on the parsonage. It was proposed the Association purchase a new choir book. Mrs. G. H. Brooks gave a cordial invitation to the members to meet at her home for the December meeting.

The social programme was led by Mrs. Clare Davison and was opened by community singing, followed by readings by Mrs. Lewis Fox and Mrs. George Brooks. A contest arranged by Mrs. A. C. Davison was won by Mrs. G. H. Brooks. Mrs. S. E. Baker and assistants served dainty refreshments.

TRINITY W. M. S.

The November meeting of Trinity Women's Missionary Society was held in the schoolroom on Tuesday, November 16, 1943, the president, Mrs. Geo. Switzer, opened the meeting with hymn 148 after which the 23rd Psalm and the Lord's Prayer were repeated in unison. Reports were read and approved. Mrs. Switzer gave a very fitting tribute to the memory of two members who had died during the month, Mrs. F. Black and Mrs. Kimmerly.

Mrs. Percy Asselstine took the chair. The theme for the afternoon was "The Bible for All of Life." Mrs. Ida VanLuven and Evelyn Garratt gave readings showing the importance of the daily reading of the Bible. Mrs. H. Is. VanLuven gave the scripture reading. The first chapter of the study book, "For All of Life" was most ably presented by Mrs. Asselstine. Mrs. Corkill presented the offering which was dedicated with prayer by Mrs. Chidley.

The meeting closed by repeating the Mizpah benediction.

VICTORIA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria branch of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Fred McFarland. Before the programme, a pot luck supper, which is a yearly event, was enjoyed by fifty participants. A vote of thanks was then opened the meeting. Miss June presided at the piano. In the absence of the regular secretary, Mrs. Frank McFarland acted in this capacity. The roll call was answered by "Why I am thankful I am a farm woman." It was decided to hold a bazaar at the Christmas meeting and each one was asked to make more than one article. Current events were given by Mrs. A. M. Graham. Miss Catherine Cook recited "Mother's Privilege". She received hearty applause and very kindly responded by reciting an amusing number as an encore.

The district president, Mrs. R. Ackerman, was welcomed and introduced by the president. She gave an interesting paper on our motto "For Home and Country," outlining the important place a woman occupies in building the home into a happy home which really makes for a good country. She spoke of the part women will be responsible for in the post-war world and closed her remarks by asking all to join in singing "O Canada". A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Ackerman for her splendid paper and also for her kindness in coming to visit the branch when transportation was so difficult. Miss June McFarland contributed a musical number, which was much enjoyed. Mrs. Ivan then conducted a contest. The delegate to the Kingston area convention gave her report, after which Catherine Cook delighted her listeners with a humorous recitation. Mrs. I. McFarland conducted a contest on the business places of our home town. Mrs. Graham winning the prize.

A vote of thanks was tendered all who took part in the programme and especially to the host and hostess for their hospitality. The meeting closed by all joining in singing the National Anthem.

NORTHBROOK

Northbrook, Nov. 18. — The Fifth Victory Loan objective of $55,000 for our Northbrook campaign is a very sub cribed by fifteen per cent. We are one of the three attaining a quota in the county. Again the northland has fulfilled the education our revered Minister placed before us.

A major accident occurred on Highway 41, nine miles north, when a car driven by Gordon Gregg and merrily locked in steering crossed the highway, turned over and crushed Mrs. Arthur Gregg. The cries of her six-year-old daughter, Sylvia, attracted two woodcutters, who rushed to the dazed occupants and fit the car from the body of Mrs. Gregg. The owner of the car, Mr. Ezra Lloyd of Kingston, received a broken shoulder. The Gregg family were en route to their home at Vennachar.

ARE NEILSON'S CHOCOLATE BARS SO OFTEN "SOLD OUT?"
The answer is this:- Neilson's Chocolate Bars are so popular that they sell faster . . . but the big reason for the scarcity is that there are so many more buyers today than ever before . . . this, in spite of the fact that Neilson's are manufacturing and distributing to their dealers the maximum quantity in accordance with wartime restrictions on the use of raw materials.

22 Years With Goodyear—a family man with a son in the Army—"Red" Stevens is a Solid Citizen, Typical of the Goodyear Craftsmen who are building Tires for Overseas Use.

● "To win a war," said "Red" Stevens, "you've got to have real teamplay. Probably that's why the Canadians have done so well in action. They were raised on sports—know the meaning of honest-to-goodness."

"I like to think of our Goodyear gang as one of the combat teams in this biggest struggle of all . . . war . . .

"Some of us fight—some of us take care of the home front—some of us pass the ammunition—but we're all members of a big Goodyear team.

"On the fighting front, many hundreds of my Goodyear buddies are in the thick of things—in uniform. They're tankers on our tanks.

"On the home front, thousands of Goodyear dealers are doing their bit by keeping your tires going—repairing, retreading, servicing—saving rubber so that the lads overseas won't go without. They're a big part of the team, too.

"And here at the plant, the rest of us are going all out to build the things the team needs.

"My job on the team began 9,143 Goodyears ago. 9,143 is the number of tires I personally have built for the Armed Forces since war broke out—and I'm just one tire builder in hundreds.

"Perhaps, because you see so many Goodyears around, you think they are mass produced by machines, or something.

"Actually, each one is built by hand—by fellows like me who learned the game from the ground-up. And building tires for planes and guns and trucks is a personal matter between us and the boys who use 'em. Sometimes we get letters from our boys overseas, telling us they've seen made-in-Canada Goodyears churning into action in places whose names we can't even pronounce. We get as big a kick out of that as they do.

"Getting back to this idea of teamplay, it seems to me that you motorists and truck drivers are members of our team too. The way you have dug in to conserve rubber has helped put us on the road to victory.

"So keep on babying those tires of yours a while longer. It's our innings now—and pretty soon we'll sew up the old ball game.

"Then just watch our smoke. We'll swing right into the job of building tires for you—and believe me, we've learned lots about tires in building them to win battle honours."

Mrs. Leslie Palmer, of Kingston, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan. Richmond.

Mrs. H. H. Paul is spending some time in Ottawa with Lieut. Wm. T. Cook and Mrs. Cook.

Mr. Wm. Richmond has returned home, after spending the past two months and a half in Western Canada.

Mrs. Mary Belgin and Mr. William Kimmett, of Denver, Colorado, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kimmett on Thursday evening.

Mrs. A. D. Snider, of Napanee, was a recent guest of her niece, Mrs. Volney Woods.

Mr. John Botting, of Shannonville, spent last Tuesday in Roblin.

Mr. Bob Kimmett is a patient in Belleville General Hospital, where he underwent an appendix operation on Tuesday last. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mesars. Henry Young, Wray Young and Thos. Wicklam returned home from hunting, and report fair luck.

Men cannot live without fighting. But when they fight for different things it is war. When they fight for the same thing, it is peace.

"...ALL MEN ARE EQUAL"

The basis of the people's business

DEMOCRACY is founded on the principle that all men are equal.

Life insurance carries this principle into practice.

In it, regardless of position or of means, each policyholder pays for what he gets and gets what he pays for.

In it the dollars of the poor man get the same trusteeship as the dollars of the rich.

WHEN YOU BUY life insurance you know that you become a co-sharer with others in the partnership benefits your togetherness creates.

You know that your common fund of savings is securely at the call of all those who participate in it when emergency arises.

You know that through years of wars and depressions, panics and epidemics, life insurance in Canada has never failed to meet its policy obligations promptly and in full.

YOU HAVE SEEN how competition, within the free frame of democracy, has developed strong life insurance companies whose assets are owned by the people they serve.

These companies offer the outstanding modern example of how individual planning and enterprise, under government supervision, can produce the maximum financial benefit for all kinds and classes of people.

Russians Report Successes in Some Areas

WEDNESDAY

Berlin was the target on Monday night of the heaviest and most devastating aerial attack of the war when 1,600 heavy planes based in Britain dropped 2,500 tons of bombs on the city.

• • •

The Russians were reported to have gained ground further in Zhitomir salient in order to straighten their lines.

• • •

In Italy, the Eighth Army beat back a ruthless German thrust northwest of Acmore.

• • •

The first United States offensive on the Central Pacific has been successful with United States forces in control of three of the Gilbert Islands.

• • •

THURSDAY —

United States forces completed the conquest of the Gilbert Islands with the capture of Betio, key island in the Tarawa Atoll. In a new naval battle in the Northern Solomons four Japanese destroyers were sunk.

• • •

After a record aerial assault by nearly 1,000 R. A. F. and R. C. A. F. planes on Tuesday night, Berlin was said to be an inferno of blazing rubble.

• • •

The Eighth Army in Italy advanced to the upper reaches of the Sangro River, about six miles, and captured Alfedena and San Angelo No. 2. Alfedena was made by the Fifth Army.

• • •

The German counter-offensive in the Kiev area failed to break the Russian lines. Russian offensives continued successfully farther north. Allied bombers attacked the naval base of Toulon and also raided Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria.

• • •

FRIDAY—

The Russians were reported to have captured Gomel and to have effected a break-through of Nazi lines north of Gomel, on a forty mile front. Heavy fighting continued in the Kiev area, farther south, where the Russians were faced with their most serious threat in months.

• • •

The British Eighth Army smashed across the Sangro River in Italy, on a five-mile front near the Adriatic Sea.

• • •

Berlin was raided again Wednesday night for the third successive night, this time by Mosquito bombers. It was rumored that the whole Berlin population would be evacuated. The Air Chief Marshal stated there would be no let-up in the Battle of Berlin.

• • •

Chinese troops swung around and captured the newly strengthened Japanese base just outside Changteh in Northern Hunan Province.

• • •

During the battle for the Gilbert Islands, the Japs lost 46 aircraft.

• • •

SATURDAY—

Berlin was bombed again Friday night, for the third night this week. United States heavy bombers also struck at Bremen.

• • •

The Russians after taking Gomel swept past the city and recaptured 42 towns and villages. Columns closing in from the north and the south threaten to capture 300,000 Nazi troops. In the Ukraine the Russians continued to stand firmly against the German counter-offensive in the Kiev area.

• • •

The Eighth Army consolidated its gains on the Sangro River in Italy but the Fifth Army remained more or less stationary.

• • •

The Chinese were reported to have trapped 100,000 Japanese, north of Changteh.

• • •

The average sinking of Jap ships since Pearl Harbor was reported to be one per day.

• • •

The Australians captured the Japanese stronghold of Sattelberg, in northeastern New Guinea.

• • •

MONDAY —

The Russians in the Gomel area swept rapidly forward on Sunday, capturing about 200 more towns. The Germans claimed the recapture of Kovotor.

• • •

Following Montgomery's order to chase the Germans north of Rome, the Fifth and Eighth Armies moved forward in Italy. The Fifth Army made an advance on Sunday of two miles and the Eighth Army extended its bridgehead on the Sangro River.

The Germans admitted that at least one-third of Berlin has been destroyed by Allied bombers.

• • •

Desperate fighting was said to be in progress in the Changsha area.

• • •

TUESDAY—

The British Eighth Army launched a major attack from two bridgeheads north of the Sangro River, which was aimed at turning the flank of German positions defending Rome. Good progress was made by the British forces.

• • •

German troops routed from Gomel were reported in panicky flight towards Zhitkin, an important rail hub in White Russia. In the Kiev sector, north and east of Zhitomir fresh German counter-attacks, were repulsed by the Russians.

• • •

Rumors persisted that Roosevelt, Stalin, Chiang Kai-shek and Churchill were in conference, but no confirmation was given out.

• • •

Commissioned With "Wrens"

Prob. Sub Lieut. Peggy Brisco recently was graduated from the Officers' Training Centre at Ottawa. She enlisted from Toronto with the W.R.C.N.S. on March 4th, 1943, and during her basic training period at H.M.C.S. Conestoga in Galt was serving with the motor transport. She is the first Gal. girl to be commissioned with the "Wrens." She was residing in Toronto at the time of her enlistment and was active in the Navy League here. She is now on duty at an eastern Canadian port.

Peggy's father, the late R. A. Brisco of Galt, was a native and educated in Newburgh, son of Mr. Walter Brisco.

AUTO STICKERS 1944 LICENSES

When 1944 motor vehicle permits are issued in Ontario early in January, motorists will be supplied with a light blue windshield sticker instead of a new metal license plate and will carry the same 1943 plate through next year.

Substitution of the stickers will effect a saving of 200 tons of steel, as well as labor and packaging. The change is made, Highways Minister George H. Doucett announced, because wartime restrictions prevent issue of metal plates except for trailers and motorcycles.

The sticker, 4½ by 3 inches, is to be placed on the lower left-hand corner of the windshield. Gasoline ration stickers will be placed on the right of the windshield, it is understood, under direction of the Oil Controller.

The Highway Minister warned motorists not to destroy their present 1943 plates, which are to continue on the rear of vehicles next year. He said he was not, favorable to the use of the stickers, but the only alternative was a small metal tab or strip attached to present plates. The objection to these was that they could be easily removed and attached to other cars, or could be counterfeited.

TO GET BONUS BY CHRISTMAS

The $5 monthly increase in old-age pensions announced some time ago for Ontario is now being put into effect. Some 60,000 pensioners will receive a $60 bonus in time for Christmas, representing the increased allowance for November and December, according to the Health Department. The Federal Government pays 75 per cent. and the Ontario Government 25.

To get the cheques out before the holiday 40 extr aclerks from welfare staffs in various parts of the Province are now at work at Queen's Park. Half of them are housed in a downtown hotel and special bus arrangements were made for others. Pensioners will receive bonus cheques about a week before Christmas. School Health Minister Dr. R. H. Vining announced. Regular cheques at the old pension rate of $23 go out Dec. 1st, January cheques will be for $28, the new rate.

Lennox and Addington Fish and Game Asso. Hold Annual Banquet

The banquet hall of the Superior Restaurant in Napanee was the scene of a very happy gathering on Friday night when the members of the Lennox and Addington Fish and Game Protective Association gathered for their annual meeting and banquet.

Promptly at 7 o'clock the members to the number of ninety, assembled in the dining hall to partake of the fruits of the hunt and due justice was done to the carefully prepared meal served by Mr. Oxnas and his capable staff.

At the conclusion of the dinner a programme was presented and one of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the prizes won for the various types of fish caught by the members during the season just closed. The prize-winners were:

For the largest Pickerel entered— Mr. Bert. Weiss.

For the largest Black Bass — Mr. G. S. Bird.

For the largest Large Mouth Bass— Rob Hall.

For the largest Speckled Trout — Paul Ketcheson.

For the largest Great Northern Pike — Mike Fisher.

As the prizes were presented by Mr. Russell Hunter, chairman of the entertainment committee, each winner gave a description of the battle he had with his prize winning fish.

Reports of the various committees were read and adopted and the consensus of opinion was that a most successful first year of operation had been enjoyed. Legislation and conservation had been well received and the stocking of game fish in the county was up to the mark there by assuring the continued good fishing for which the County is fast becoming famous.

The president called for the report of the Nominating Committee, consisting of Mr. Wallace Roy, Capt. P. Lusby, Ed. Culver, Wilfred McCabe, Mel. Card, and the following were elected:

President—Major P. K. Ketcheson.

Vice-President—Mr. Jack Regan.

Sec.-Treasurer—Mr. Frank Carnell.

Directors — Ed. Hoarth R. Card, Norman Roy, Don Rublin, G. A. Slack, F. Hoselton.

Mr. J. Short, president of the Hastings and Prince Edward Club, who brought with him a delegation of members, spoke on club and district congratulations on the work and progress made during the year. Mr. Short was given a prolonged ovation at the conclusion of his address and introduced all his delegation who also were received with the customary salute.

The president thanked the outgoing directors and members for their help and assistance in the past year and promised, on behalf of the new executive the full measure of their work and progress for the coming year.

Mr. Russell Hunter introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. J. MacFarlane of the Department of Fish and Game of the Province of Ontario, who enlivened the proceedings with a few well chosen stories and then proceeded to give one of the most instructive and eloquent addresses the Association has heard outlining the tremendous work the Department has done in the past decade and the appalling state the fish and wild life of the Province was in when the present Department was started.

At the conclusion of Mr. MacFarlane's address, Mr. Regan thanked the speaker and the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, concluding a most instructive and a pleasant evening's entertainment.

ALL PRESENT MEMBERS NAPANEE TOWN COUNCIL RETURNED TO OFFICE

Only One Change in School Board

All the members of the Napanee Town Council were re-elected by acclamation for 1944 and acclamations were also accorded the members of the Public School Board of J. H. Moffat, as Public Utilities Commissioner for two years.

Nomination was held on Friday evening, and the following were nominated for the various offices.

Mayor — D. R. Hall (acclamation), fifth year.

Reeve— John G. Dilly, (acclamation) eighth term.

Deputy Reeve — Geo. D. Robson, C. M. Stratton. Mr. Robson did not qualify, leaving Dr. Stratton elected by acclamation.

Councillors — M. B. Luffman, A. S. Kimmerly, George D. Robson, Geo. Chalk, W. S. Corbett, F. J. Vanalstine, H. J. Beattie. Dr. Beattie did not qualify, thereby leaving the 1943 Council elected by acclamation.

School Trustees — C. B. Creighton, East Ward, acclamation. Geo. L. Howitt, Centre Ward acclamation. George H. Daly, West Ward: T. M. Galbraith, West Ward. Mr. Daly did not qualify and Dr. Galbraith was elected by acclamation.

There was a record small attendance at the nomination meeting, only about forty citizens of the town being present. Short addresses were given by members of the Council, the Public Utilities Commissioners and by C. B. Creighton, a member of the School Board.

The gist of the addresses follow:

MAYOR HALL SPEAKS

Mayor Hall's address briefly reviewed the work of the Council during 1943, paying special tribute to the co-operation of the members of the Council and the town officials. He forecast a considerably post-war expenditure in Napanee by the municipality because of curtailment of work during the war years, caused by lack of materials and labor.

REEVE DALY REVIEWS TOWN'S FINANCIAL SITUATION

Reeve J. G. Daly, chairman of the Finance Committee gave a review of the financial affairs of the town which, he said, was excellent. The current tax roll of the town to November 15, was $94,614.00 on which $88,832. or 94 per cent. had been collected. At the end of the year the percentage is believed, would be higher.

The total arrears for the year 1942 and previous years were $15,671. At November 15th, tax arrears stood at $5,782. of total taxes unpaid up to November 15, 1943, were $13,413 and with six weeks more in the year, this figure will likely be greatly reduced. In 1939 the tax arrears totalled $35,000.00. Mr. Daly said the improvement in the tax situation was undoubtedly the result of the new system of quarterly tax payment.

The total sinking fund debt of the town at January 1st, 1943, was $227,826 of which $27,284 has been paid off leaving a net debt of $200,142. Of the debenture debt owing by the town $72,500 is for public utilities debentures, which will be paid by the commission, leaving a net debenture debt of $128,908, payable from taxes. In 1930, the town's debenture debt stood at $320,00. By 1948 Mr. Daly said, the town's debenture debt will be largely paid off.

Mr. Daly also stated that the expenditures for this year will be very nearly the amount estimated at the first of the year.

REPORT ON WOOD OPERATIONS

The following report regarding the town's wood selling operations, prepared by the secretary of the special committee M. P. Graham, was read by committeeman Vanalstine, a member of the committee.

The report, in part, follows :—

Municipal Councils throughout the Dominion, were urged by the Dominion Government, to make every possible effort to provide against a possible shortage of fuel during the Fall and Winter of the present year. — Councils were advised to procure wood in the localities for coal, wherever possible.

With this in view, and realizing the seriousness of the situation, the Municipal Council of Napanee decided on the 22nd June of this year, to enter into the Fuel Wood Business and the necessary arrangements for financing such an undertaking were completed with the Ontario Municipal Board and a license was secured from the Department of Munitions and Supply to carry on such a business.

A purchasing Committee was appointed to go to the North part of the County to purchase wood, and this committee was immediately confronted with the difficulty of securing seasoned (dry) wood in quantities and at prices to conform with the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The difficulties confronted were as follows :

(1) The small amount of seasoned wood available caused by the shortage of help to cut wood and the severe weather conditions during the winter of 1942-43.

(2) The long distance wood would have to be hauled.

(3) The shortage of available trucks to haul wood and the difficulty of securing gasoline.

The Purchasing Committee soon realized that it would not be choosers in the grades of wood it could purchase. It was found necessary to accept mixed woods as there was very little first class all hardwood to be had. As a result, some purchasers of wood have complained in respect to the quality of wood they received from us.

However, in the main, the people have realized the situation and have been content to accept the wood the Committee were able to deliver to them, knowing it was the best the Committee could do.

The Town Council set up a Fuel Wood Committee to administer the distribution of wood and it was found necessary to purchase a truck to carry on this part of the work. Up to the present time the Committee has been able to distribute approximately 50 cords (four foot wood) or 200 cords (12-inch wood) each week since the wood began to arrive at the Town Wood Yard.

Wood has been purchased in sufficient quantities to carry on this same rate of delivery during the months following, that is November, January, February, March, and April, providing weather conditions permit.

The citizens of the Town are requested to give the Fuel Wood Committee their full co-operation by ordering wood in advance of their actual requirements by paying for wood before delivery and by refraining from ordering by telephone where at all possible. These requests we trust may be assured that everything possible is being done to meet the situation.

Wood Fuel Committee. F. J. Vanalstine. M. B. Luffman.

COMMISSIONERS REPORT FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES

Reports for the Public Utilities Commission were given by the commissioners, J. H. Moffat and W. T. Mackenzie . Both reports indicated that an excellent year's work would be completed before December 31st.

Mr. Mackenzie reviewed the work of the Hydro Electric Department. He gave figures for the ten-month period ending October 31st which showed a surplus of revenue over disbursements in 1943 of $6,661 compared with $2,825 in the same period in 1942. The surplus at the end of the year, allowing for depreciation charges and inventory adjustments, will probably be $5,000. There was a decrease in the cost of power even though more kilowatt hours were purchased, due to the curtailing of water heater control.

During the year the Napanee H. E. P. C. completed the electrical distribution system at the Deseronto Airport, which allowed the Commission to carry the regular maintenance organization even in the face of decreased rural construction.

Since 1928, a total amount of $29,785 has been charged the Commission in cost of power but of $400 the Ontario H. E. P. C. to assist in stabilizing the rates during the early post-war period.

Mr. Moffat in reporting for the Waterworks Department, stated that the operating surplus this year will probably be $7,600, which is $600 more than in 1942. Debenture principal payments of $8,097 will leave a net surplus of about $1,500. Gross revenue to-date was $20,275, which at the end of the year will probably reach $21,000. Gross expenditures were $17,400 to-date, down about $1,400 compared with last year.

Practically no capital expenditure was made during this year and at present the water in the river, no electric power had to be purchased. Outstanding arrears as of November 1, amounted to $500 which will probably be reduced to $360 at the end of the year. About four years ago the outstanding arrears were $1,500.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER SPEAKS

C. B. Creighton, a member of the School Board, in the absence of the chairman of the Board, P. U. Laidley, spoke on behalf of the Board. He expressed regret that he was not being present to make a statement and to make some suggestions concerning the schools. Mr. Creighton expressed regret over the resignation of Miss Hawley who had given valuable service in the public schools, and said that two other teachers had not had their contracts renewed for reasons unknown to him, but which referred to him to be the result of some manipulation. He also said that the caretaker at the Collegiate, Wesley Storey, had been allowed to resign, through mismanagement on the part of the members of the Board responsible for the caretakers.

Mr. Creighton deplored the increase in juvenile delinquency and offered the suggestion that the Chief of Police should be the Truant Officer.

Mr. Creighton also brought up the question of the purchase of typewriters for the Commercial Department of the Vocational School, over which there had been considerable controversy. He stated that Mr. Slingsby's evidence had been the purchase of the typewriters which cost more than $500 needed ratification by the Town Council, was misleading, because their purchase was not a capital expenditure but was chargeable to maintenance.

C. M. Stratton W. S. Exley, Geo. D. Robson and George Chalk also spoke briefly about matters pertaining to the council committees of which they were chairmen.

Councillor Luffman was unable to be present because of illness, and several of the speakers expressed the hope that he would soon be restored to health.

Illegal to Set Snares in L. & A. and Hastings

According to the Game and Fisheries Act it is unlawful to set snares of any description in the Counties of Lennox and Addington and Hastings.

Parties who break this regulation are liable to be prosecuted to the full extent and must be prepared to take the consequences if they persist in setting snares in the settlement of dogs and other animals.

Persons having complaints to make of snares set on their property should notify the game warden.

W.P. & T.B. OFFICIAL DEALS WITH PROBLEMS AT RETAILERS' CLINIC

Meeting of Napanee Merchants Held Last Week

Canadians bought more foods by volume during 1942 than in any previous year and spent a larger percentage of income on food, stated J. P. Regan, Management Service Consultant of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, to a meeting of food retailers in the Council Chamber, on Tuesday night of last week. Mr. Regan forecast that the volume of food available for sale during the coming year would be approximately the same as this year but there would be further reduction in the volume of certain large food items.

The speaker clearly differentiated between adequate supply in relation to actual needs and in relation to wartime consumer demand as affected by increased purchasing power, changes in the buying habits of the people and shifts in population towards centres of war industry. So-called "shortages," he stated, were in many cases a reflection of uncertain distribution in the face of increased production. Citing rum as an example he declared that the expenditure of rum in 1941 was 32 million pounds for civilian use in 1942 production for civilians was approximately 63 million pounds. Despite the great increase in the 1942 figures as compared with 1941 there were shortages in certain localities because the estimated civilian supply for the current year will be about 35 million pounds.

"The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is determined to maintain a minimum nutritional standard of living for the Canadian consumer," stated Mr. Regan. "This policy is being observed to rigorously in all considerations concerning the export of foodstuffs to the United Nations and in the storing of foods for occupied countries. Canada's part in supplying United Nations requirements has been tremendous. Our military, civilian, defence and export commitments and the figures on the Lease contract Food from Canada helped supply the British Eighth Army on its successful African campaign," he stated. And he stated he implies that as the war progresses the United Nations supply will become even more insistent since Europe and other previously occupied countries have to be fed.

Grower prices have, during the past year, still are farmers' prices, he explained, in relation to consumer prices. Mr. Regan said that the consumer dollar is maintained in value by the fact that the consumer can get only what is available and that the consumer dollar is not increased in value by increased purchasing power. He explained that the ceiling price of a commodity might be increased because the supply of that commodity had been reduced and that the ceiling price might be reduced because the supply had increased. He explained that the ceiling price of a commodity might be increased because the supply

POINT AND COUNTERPOINT

We who think we are having a tough time with the rationing system, should be compelled to spend a few days shopping under the point system, now operative in the United States. It is all so complicated and surprising. We stood on a recent Saturday, in a butcher shop across the border and watched the shoppers. An old lady—quite old — was buying meat, a five-pound roast of beef, a pound of butter and two pounds of sausages. That part was the easy part. But then she had to count out her points. She was first of all surprised at how many were needed. Then she started to hunt for them. She had three books. Not being very good at arithmetic, she had to depend on others — a couple of customers ventured to help, while the salesman did some mental arithmetic. In a few minutes several people were pushing her coupons around as though dealing a deck of cards. In the shuffle one dropped to the floor and got mingled with the sawdust. Those coupons are mighty little things and this one was hard to find. Finally the bill was paid, the old lady still not quite sure that the points were right, but openly rejoicing that she still had her books.

It all sounds so simple, but we would prefer our own method. The one redeeming feature of the United States of to-day is, that neither tea nor coffee are on the restricted list.

A lot of Canadian housewives would be willing, we suspect, to adopt mostly any system that would give them all the tea they wanted. But then, we can't have everything in a world which operates under modern controls.

THE BERLIN RAID

We who have lived in comparative safety during the past few years, while half the world has been in the throes of a great tragedy, can scarcely imagine the sorrow and suffering through which men, women and little children have lived. Even those who have survived the horrors of a blitz and have escaped without bodily harm, must bear on their minds and spirits the unmistakable scars of a terrible nightmarish ordeal. The loss of life in itself terrible beyond compute, is only matched by the devastation of human emotions and human feelings which will last a lifetime.

What has happened in Berlin is a terrible retribution. Surely it underlines the injunction that "they who take the sword shall perish by the sword." The suffering which Germany poured on Great Britain has been inflicted on her own people a hundred-fold more severely and more devastatingly. How long can human nature bear up under that, is the question which people everywhere are asking. No doubt but those who bear the greatest burden of the bombing onslaught, the women and the children are, in the quiet of their own souls, crying for peace at any price. Human nature is tenacious, persistent and resistent, and yet there comes a point beyond which even human nature cannot go. It would appear that this point must have been about reached in the Third Reich.

Germany, which for over a century has been able to conduct war on the other fellow's territory, has now learned what France and Belgium learned during the First Great War and what Poland, Greece, China, Russia, Norway and the rest have had to experience this war. The bomber with which Germany hoped to subdue the world, has reacted like a boomerang and given Germany her first experience of the suffering and tragedy which war inflicts most disastrously on those whose land becomes the battleground of contending armies. Perhaps if this lesson has been learned the price paid may not have been too great. Germans never having had to go through this before, may be willing to call it quits sooner than we dared dream a few months ago.

ARE WE READY.?

There are insistent rumors that a peace offensive is on the way. The censors are letting the news leak out that probably the "Big Three" are meeting — Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin, to make some momentous pronouncement. Coupled with that is the report that the Vatican is busy seeing visitors who may have some proposals looking forward to negotiations for peace proposals. We have all been so warned about repeating rumors that we hesitate to say much about them. And yet, when these emanate from various areas and are allowed to pass the censor it is a fair assumption that they contain more than a grain of truth.

As the prospect of peace looms on the horizon there must be grave anxiety in the hearts of those who look forward to a permanent settlement of the ills which have twice in a generation beset our civilization. Are we ready for peace when it comes ? To be sure there has been much more thought given to plans for the post-war world than were given to the subject during World War Number One. Then, there was little more than an academic discussion of a "League of Nations". This time "churches", chambers of commerce, colleges, youth movements, governments and a score of other organizations have been at work on the problem. It is significant of all this study that the emphasis has not been upon some world parliament, though that is not neglected. It is upon the principle which must govern the future relations between different nations, races and peoples. Bit by bit, public opinion is being formulated. Bit by bit men and women are coming to realize that a League of Nations, a World Parliament, or whatever organization will be set up to control the international situation of the future, will contribute the machinery of peace. The important matter is the basis on which that machinery can operate.

Are we ready then to set up the machine. Are we quite sure of the foundations on which the security of the world is to rest, and which will be strong enough to endure the shocks and storms of the next quarter of a century.

A direct answer to that is, of course, impossible, for nobody can adequately gauge public opinion. And yet there are unmistakable evidences that the world is tired of panaceas and needs a permanent cure. If we are to have permanent peace, we must be willing to work for it, and sacrifice for it as we have worked and sacrificed for victory. Perhaps one of the great mistakes that was made in the past, was in assuming that peace was a sort of static thing, instead of a moving, growing life that had to expand, be controlled, directed, nurtured and cultivated. When the war ends there will be a great war-weariness. There will be a tendency on the part of the common men and women, the people who, like ourselves, live in small towns and rural areas but who form the backbone of the country, to let down. With the war over, we will be in danger of assuming our job done. As a matter of fact, the real task will then confront us. It is essential to the successful pursuit and achievement of lasting peace, that we prepare ourselves mentally and spiritually for the arduous days ahead—showing the same concern for the peace as we do for war. Otherwise, we will once again become the plaything of dupes and charlatans, self-seekers and megalomaniacs. The great concern of living must not become the monopoly of the few, it must be the responsibility of the many.

VISIONARIES

The amount of editorial space which is now being given to the post-war world is rather amusing, when it is considered how little editorial attention has been bestowed on this party during the past ten years. Indeed it is more than amusing, it is an evidence of life. It shows that the papers which can be counted on to support the status quo ante Bellum are now on tenterhooks lest that sublime position should be challenged ever so gently.

There seems to be no argument available which has not been pressed into service to bolster up the old ways and to cast doubt and even worse, on anything which semibled the new. We have grown quite accustomed to the Toronto Daily which calls itself "national" pounding away at whatever savors of a change in political and economic alignments. Now, The Evening Telegram takes up the chorus. In a brief editorial commenting on a speech by Mr. Coldwell before the Winnipeg Canadian Club, in which the speaker suggested, according to The Telegram "the establishment of a world central socialized banking authority to regulate trade and stabilize currencies, and a world socialized investment trust for the development of backward areas throughout the world." The Telegram pokes fun at the visionaries. It says: "Raising money to be spent in Canada buying food for the relief of starving people in devastated European countries is one thing, but pouring public money into some project into the far corners of the earth, is the kind of boondoggling that is to be expected of impractical visionaries. It may sound terribly old-fashioned to the Socialists, but the development of the natural resources of the world ought to be left to the 'rugged individualists'. Let them take the risk and the profits, if any, to which the taking of risk entitles them."

Now we are not going to enter a debate with The Telegram as to the relative value of Private Enterprise or Socialism. But we should constantly be on our guard against any individual or any organ of public opinion which belittles the visionaries It rather betrays a weakness in reasoned argument, when recourse is had to such language. Not only so, it shows a lamentable ignorance of the practical-part which so-called visionaries and idealists have had through the centuries. Without, in any way committing ourselves to a whole-out support of the Russian experiment, we must admit that the transformation of Russia from a backward feudal state, to one of the most enlightened, powerful, forward-looking nations in the world to-day, is the result of a group of visionaries. School teachers, university professors, bespectacled students, assumed control of Russia and made her what she is to-day. And where would we have been but for the U.S.S.R., the Red Army and the Visionaries

— FIJI —

A Training Camp And A Playground

BY JOSEPH DRISCOLL

"Fiji will be proud of her old friends."

Thus a message of congratulation to General Robert S. Beighler and his men of the Thirty-Seventh Division, United States Army Air Force, that took Munda in the Solomons campaign. The Division had trained in the Fiji Islands.

Sender of the message was a man who had helped to recapture Aleysinia for Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia. He is Sir Philip Euan Mitchell, since July, 1942, Royal Governor of Fiji and Britain's High Commissioner for the Western Pacific. To him the American general replied with thanks for the "friendliness and unfailing interest which you have always held for our division."

Thanks to men of good will like Sir Philip, relations between the British and Americans in the South Seas are excellent. Though the American public hardly ever hears of Fiji, that crown colony has played and will continue to play an important role in the defeat of Japan. To cite just other example: The division under Major General Julian Barnard Hodge, which took over from the marines the job of kicking the Japanese out of Guadalcanal, trained in Fiji and returned there for a rest after the battle was won.

Never before has Fiji been so crowded. Her highways are overflowing, her hotels are filled with new customers, her shops are harvesting American dollars.

The Fiji Islands, lying west of Samoa and Tonga and east of New Hebrides and New Caledonia, have been called the "crossroads of the South Pacific." In the First World War Fiji was a rather quiet crossroads. The war being fought largely upon European fields, the Pacific Ocean was truly pacific. The Japanese were studiously aware that business of grabbing German islands above the equator, and only a few German administrators broke the peace. One of them, the dashing Captain Von Luckner, of the Seeadler was captured at Wakaya Island in Fiji. The Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Leipzig were about to visit Suva until scared away by a false message sent by a fast-thinking Governor, inviting the captain of an Australian battle cruiser to lunch with him the next day.

For some reason the Japanese turned their attention to Fiji and attacked Fiji. Their naval losses in the battles of the Coral Sea and the Santa Cruz islands may have had something to do with this. Though Fiji has never been attacked or bombed, the Japanese have recognized her importance as a training centre, and Japanese submarines have been active in her waters. Snooper planes catapulted from the decks of Japanese submarines, have flown over Fiji to check on airfields and convoys. The planes have been spotted but not fired upon, as that would disclose the gun positions.

Allied warriors who have been around prefer Fiji to the Solomons, New Hebrides or New Caledonia. The natives are friendly and the climate is generally mild and agreeable, although in the summer season, the days can become hot and sticky. And mosquitoes the blight of the South Seas, buzz and bite all over the islands.

There is much to delight the eye and ear, if not the nose, in Suva, the largest town in the South Pacific with a peace-time population of 15.00 against 11,000 for the runner-up, Noumea, New Caledonia). The population of all the islands in the Fiji group is polyglot, comprising approximately 108,000 black Fijians, 100-600 East Indians and 10,000 Europeans. Chinese and others, not counting the American garrison, number in a military secret. In addition to English accents, one hears in Fijians speak their own native dialect, while the Indians speak Hindustani and the Chinese speak Chinese.

Americans have become particularly fond of Fiji's black boys with their Yale-like greeting of "Boola" to one and all. The Boolas obviously revel in this new found spirit of democracy. The Indians, on the other hand, have a rare aptitude for little social contact with the Americans, the British or the native Fijians.

Your typical Boola is a fine figure of a man. He has the sturdy build of the Melanesians, which he is with an admixture of the grace and refinement of his neighbour the Polynesian. He seems taller than he actually is because of his famous hair-do, having trained his wiry hair to stand straight up as if he had been badly frightened. The Fijian women similarly ful to their missionaries, wear Mother Hubbards above their bare feet. Some of the men working for our Army at six shillings a day, wear American khaki, but mostly they cling to their traditional lavalavas. With both sexes wearing skirts, it is difficult to tell them apart at a distance.

Descendants of warrior kings and cannibals, the Boola boys are masters of the Japanese at jungle fighting. Proof of this came in the New Georgia campaign when we made belated use of Fijian scouts to sneak up on the Japanese to cut their throats or shoot them out of trees. In manoeuvres the Fijians had demonstrated their uncanny ability to appear from nowhere and to disappear as quickly while making a sound. The ability is to'd of how a Fijian crept upon an American colonel who was supposedly on sentry-go and neatly and chalk mark on the seat of the colonel's trousers and got away without the colonel realizing he had not been alone at the time.

The happy - go - lucky Fijian would rather fight than work, which explains why the Fijian Labour Corps interests which dominate Fiji's economy imported East Indians to till the sugarcane fields and to labor in the sugar refinery. Contrariwise, the Fijians are demanding an equal voice in the government. They are willing to let it go at that, and their attitude bespeaks a persecution complex.

Between strikes the Indian works day and night and saves his money to board or relieve. The latest figure today owns most of Fiji's sugar, pineapple and cocoanut plantations, and its shops are crammed with Japanese and honky-tonks.

The American soldier has been paying fantastic prices for cheap Japanese war-time-shell souvenirs, or practically anything. With the Army and air pubs closing at 6 p.m., the Fijian capital becomes a dull town. To meet this situation, Major General C. F. Thomason, of the island command, established a recreation camp between Suva and Lake Wainibuka, where he ordered the building of a model village of the great cannibal kings. Thakombau, alias Calabash, he who ceded the Fijis to Queen Victoria in 1874.

Advantages Await Allies If Portugal Joins In War

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON

Little Portugal is ready to "go to war" with every indication that if it intends to trade its long-cherished neutrality for a place beside the United Nations at the conference table. Japan and then the entire Axis. Such a move would have causes and consequences surprising to many of us and of great and well-calculated importance to the military and political things to come.

Portugal generally is thought of as a sort of pop-gun principality producing mostly corks and port wine, and currently serving as a bunch of international intrigue. Its 7,500,000 people inhabit a country of mountains miles along the hilly western shoulder of the Iberian peninsula. Nowhere in the picture is there anything that presently material.

Yet Premier Oliveira Salazar is warning his people that they must "prepare for trouble at home and abroad"—a "grave hour" which must be met "at any moment." He has increased his army, got some arms from Britain and some planes from us (though accidental landings) and has strengthened Lisbon's defenses against air raids.

So totalitarian Portugal, hitherto safely neutral, marches as to war on the side of Democracy. Why?

Because the Portuguese dog is wagged by its tail—its colonies. Their millions square miles; and only are about thirty times greater than Portugal itself, but larger than the colonies of any other power save Britain and France. They include Angola, Mozambique and Guinea in Africa, Timor and Cacao in Asia, and various islands. It is Salazar's desire to keep them that is believed to be driving him into the war, for he fears that unless he fights for them against the Axis, he will lose them to the United Nations. This sounds contradictory, but here is the background:

An age old alliance with Britain had prevented Portugal from going totalitarian, or from being pretty friendly toward Hitler when he was winning. Lisbon has been used by the Axis intelligence services as their principal funnel for information from the Americas via Argentina. And Mozambique has served the same purpose for information from South and Central Africa.

Portugal has allowed the Japs to walk into her strategic island of Timor, near Australia, and now she threaten to occupy Macao, about 40 miles from Hong Kong. The United Nations are asking Portugal to yield them this second advantage and Salazar may be asking himself if when the Allies are victorious, they will let Portugal keep these possessions, perhaps to be yielded to the next aggressor. Also Portugal's African colonies are badly managed.

Portugal could bring to the United Nations far more aid than her meager army or small navy can provide. The army, if well-trained and equipped, might help in a hot-weather Pacific offensive but it numbers little more than 100,000.

More valuable than outright military aid would be the plugging of the spy leaks.

But Portugal's greatest contribution would lie in the mere geographical position of herself and her possessions. Portugal and French North Africa would form the northern and southern jaws of a nutcracker menacing Spain and immediately ensuring any lingering danger of France joining Hitler.

The coast of Portugal would provide an excellent base for Allied warfare by sea and air against German submarines in eastern Atlantic. This protection for our shipping routes to the Mediterranean and down by African coast would be intensified by the greatest contribution of all — Portugal's line of island colonies from the Azores southward through Madeira to the Cape Verdes. From these outposts off Gibraltar and West Africa, our naval vessels and aircraft could fight submarines far farther than now.

Some Fascist - minded Portuguese families still oppose war, but anti-war sentiment favors it. The plight of the colonies is a big factor, and so is the expectation that Portuguese-speaking Brazil soon will send troops to Africa. Still other influences are the failure of Portugal's Fascist Guild system, and anger at Nazi treatment of Portugal.

What Salazar will decide to do is not for a certainty. But the answer may lie in this one clear fact: For safe-keeping, most of Portugal's gold is in the United States.

CONSERVATION CLIPS

"B" WISE

Most people eat more starchy food in winter time and this increases the need for thiamin or vitamin B. A spoonful of wheat germ added to the morning dish of hot cereal helps to supply this need but be sure to add it just before serving to get its full vitamin value. Thiamin, like vitamin C, is partly destroyed by heat.

A HOT TIP

A heap of coal can be saved between now and next May by placing shiny sheets of reflective material behind the radiators. Why? Because they toss the heat rays back into the room instead of letting them be soaked up by the walls. Insulation board or even cardboard painted white or light cream will be better than nothing.

SWEET THOUGHTS

Foods eaten hot taste sweeter than they do when cold. So, when the conservation runs low you can save by serving baked apples or apple sauce hot instead of cold and using more of the hot dessert to take less sugar. Clear off the desserts until the "clear" is up for they take most sweetening of all.

THE BALKAN THORN PRICKS

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Balkan thorn is proving a peculiarly prickly one for Premier Hitler. Its latest prick is the request of Bulgaria that the rejected resistance of Greece be withdrawn.

One of Hitler's defending lines on the east was on the Aegean. Now the Italians have lopped off the Balkan air and naval defense Germany in Greece. Hitler's situation in eastern Europe is complicated indeed.

The Partisans, the Balkan guerrillas that the Allies are supporting in operations against the peninsula, are increasing in force and boldness, whereas the Nazis are compelled to withdraw troops from the Balkans to help stiffen the Russian front.

Not only are the Balkanites resisting the occupiers but they are trying to frustrate one another. Yugoslavia is torn between Mihailovitch and Tito. Greece is split between Royalists and Republicans. There is bad blood between Bulgaria and Yugoslavia on the one hand and Greece on the other.

The Balkans are a hotbed of intrigue and espionage. Axis and Allied agents are at work, each trying to undermine the other. Hitler would be wise to try to subdue the Balkans before any possible invasion of the Balkans. It is clear that the Axis High Command has carefully considered the advisability of sending into the Balkan theatre enough troops to do what conclusion has been reached. It may easily be that Germany has not the troops available. Italy is hardly seen fighting until he has demolished the Nazis of Italy as a nation and have secured the vital lines of communication. Then there would be no invasion base, by the way, as at present, Italy is itself split wide open. Turkey still maintains her neutrality.

There are two other evidences of recent research by the Axis regarding the Balkans. One is that the Germans would not withdraw troops from the prime objective, Italy, in the invasion of Western Europe. The other is the appointment of Goering as director of the war-burning German Industrial Commission. This appointment shouldn't be placed. The second reason is that coal is the Balkans' chief source of wealth. Germany is using more of the hot dessert to take less sugar. Clear off the desserts until the "clear" is up for they take most sweetening of all.

"THE SIN OF COVETOUSNESS"

It is not so long ago, and yet it seems ages — since we were all trying to keep up with the Jones's. If the Jones' had a new car we had to have one, too. If they moved to an exclusive suburb, we wanted to move there, too. If they had their house done over, then ours would have to be done over as well. If Mrs. Jones gave a party, Mrs. Smith was not happy until she had given a bigger and better party. We were a dreadful, covetous, jealous people. We worshipped money, and the things that money can buy.

The war has shifted the emphasis somewhat, but it has uncovered the same sinful operating in different ways. There are those even among the people where loyalty can not be questioned who load up before a new item is to be rationed. We do not have quite a little more of this or that rationed or restricted article. Why? Simply because we are out to be done over as well. If Mrs. Jones gave a party, Mrs. Smith was not happy until she had given a bigger and better party. We were a dreadful, covetous, jealous people. We worshipped money, and the things that money can buy.

We do not have quite a little more of this or that rationed or restricted article. Why? Simply because we are out to be done over as well. If Mrs. Jones gave a party, Mrs. Smith was not happy until she had given a bigger and better party. We were a dreadful, covetous, jealous people. We worshipped money, and the things that money can buy.

The war has shifted the emphasis somewhat, but it has uncovered the same sinful operating in different ways. There are those even among the people where loyalty can not be questioned who load up before a new item is to be rationed. ## The "Siberia" Of The Aleutians

BY RUSSELL ANNABEL

British United Press Correspondent

Now that the Japs have been kicked out of the Aleutians and there is little chance of them coming back save for nuisance raids the story of Alka Island can be told at least in part, for the first time.

The story begins last summer when Lieut.-General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., commanding general of the Alaska Defence Command, was engaged in a nice military pardning act of shellacking the Japs on Kiska and Attu as often as the weather permitted and at the same time busily developing the 800-mile sweep of the Aleutian chain.

Unalaska and Cold Bay were ready, as was Dutch Harbor and Kodiak. Adak had just been occupied and engineers were working three day and night to complete bomber and fighter strips. The reconnaissance Amchitka had been decided upon but as yet the ground reconnoitre had been made.

Buckner and his staff looked at their maps and concluded the projected chain of bases was complete upon paper except for the stretch of rocky, surf-beaten islands between Umnak and Adak. Buckner put his finger on one of these islands and said, "We ought to have a base there."

The island was Alka, largest of the Andreanof group and home of several hundred Aleut hunters. The Japs had reported Alka as well fortified and erected a government installation there shortly after the attack on Dutch Harbor for peace time purposes. The ships had often put into Nazaan Bay, Alka's chief harbor, and had mapped and photographed the shore line and the village.

The problem of a base on Alka was soon put into effect. A landing force, escorted by a naval task force slipped into Nazaan Bay in early autumn and within hours engineers' quarters, quonset huts, mess halls and barracks were rising from the tundra.

But they found they were not alone. Alka then was inhabited by 300 Aleuts who had been moved there from their native villages on the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea when the Japs struck at Dutch Harbor. Their homes were burned and their boats destroyed by the Japs to prevent their use by the Americans.

Last winter the garrison was one of the most isolated spots in the globe as planes rarely made the 1,000 flights from Adak to Umnak without incident at the intermediate field, and surface craft rarely had occasion to stand into the bay.

Among troops the station was known as the Siberia of the Aleutians. Conditions were so primitive that at one time there were as many as 17 people under the kitchen in the officers' mess and the place was so cold that it was common practice for men to wear their parkas and fur caps to bed.

This summer, however, Alka underwent a transformation. It can no longer be called the Siberia of the Aleutians. The men have comfortable

There is no question that poultry, fed "Miracle" Laying Mash produce more eggs . . . both in and out of season. This has been proved countless times, and many poultrymen report egg increases up to 200%.

"Miracle" Laying Mash does the job better because it contains top quality ingredients, scientifically blended in just the right proportions. Why not try a sack? Rock on this mash now, and prove that poultry pays more the "Miracle" way.

HOLLYWOOD and HERE

By HYE BOSSIN

Hitler is enjoying a treat he doesn't deserve these days. An avid movie fan who has a theatre on his private train, his specialfondness is for American movies. They are rushed to him whenever the Nazis capture any. Recently the Nazis removed four films from a Swedish inner carrying exchanged prisoners of war. The films are "Hamlet" "Crash Dive," "Curro" and "Coney Island." . . . Author of many prison pictures is Ernest Booth, who started writing 19 years ago while serving a term in San Quentin for armed robbery. He must need new material because right now he's in jail for theft. . . . Valerie Hobbs, the English actress who stars with Robert Donat in "Tarta," is coming to Hollywood for "So Little Time." . . . Ida Lupino has already sent Monty Woolley a present for his birthday. . . . You can't tell about him Christmas gift—a stone for his beard. . . . "I Married a Witch" wasn't popular here films. Veronica Lake's "I Married a Witch" wasn't popular here but it's a tremendous hit in Britain. . . . There's a Chinese actor called Len Kinzie now whenever his name is called out on the set everyone shouts "Bless you."

A small drug store in Hollywood named Schwab's is getting reams of publicity these days because it is the favorite stopof the stars. For years the tourists went to the high-priced places seeking a peep at their favorites while a dozen at a time filled the lunch counter stools at Schwab's drinking nickel coffee and sipping ten-cent sodas. The place is far from modern in appearance and its popularity with the players was kept a secret to protect their privacy and allow them to be natural.

Once I saw Robert Taylor pay a soda jerk ten dollars, he owed him from the days when he was a struggler for recognition. Another time I heard Tom Brown tell Cesare Romero that he had just come from a movie in which Romero was the villain. "When you showed up the girls said 'Oh, how I hate that guy'" said Brown. "That's wonderful," answered Romero, "That's what keeps me working."

Whether the publicity will bring the tourists and drive away the stars remains to be seen. That doesn't seem to matter to Schwab's any-more. It is advertising in the papers right next to the Trocodero, calling itself the Schwabedero!

Greta Garbo, after a long layoff, returns to the screen in "Lena Storme." . . . The next film of Deanna Durbin, the Winnipeg-ot-My-Heart, is "His Butler's Sister," and it's reported to be a knockout. . . . Hollywood writers are versatile. Kurt Siodmak, who wrote the horror film "Frankenstein Meets the Wolf Man," just wrote a book for children called "The Story of Anatole the Mule." . . . Donald O'Connor, the current jitterbug rage, came of a theatre family. At 18 months he toddled on the stage and did a bit that got laughs. His first picture was "Small Fry," which he shared with Bing Crosby. His latest and tenth is "Top Man," of which he is the star. You've got to start young. . . . Jack Carson, the Manitoba-born actor who is a feature of "Princess O'Rourke," worked on construction gangs, sold pant hangers and did many things while he was a struggling actor. . . . Maureen O'Hara, awaiting the arrival of her baby, has retired temporarily from films.

Christmas boxes for the troops may have to travel thousands of miles and suffer pretty rough handling en route. Only foods which will retain their freshness for many weeks and which are known to be good travelers should find a place in overseas parcels.

Carefully packed, these treats from the extreme Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture will travel half way around the world and arrive intact and delicious as when they were packed.

SUNSHINE CHOCOLATE COOKIES

Half-cup butter or mild-flavored fat, one cup sugar, three eggs, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup buttermeat, three and one-quarter cups sifted all-purpose flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon baking soda, half-teaspoon salt, one teaspoon allspice. Cream fat, add sugar gradually, continuing to cream. Beat eggs and add, beating until the mixture is light and fluffy. Add vanilla and mincemeat. Sift and stir dry ingredients and add, combining thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 deg. F., 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about three dozen cookies. Pack with wax paper between layers.

MOLASSES KISSES

Half-cup molasses one and one-half cups sugar, half-cup water, one and one-half tab'spoons of vinegar, one-quarter cup butter, melted, one-eighth teaspoon baking soda.

Cook molasses, sugar, water and vinegar to the soft ball stage, stirring constantly. Boil until mixture is brittle when tried in cold water, 256 deg. F. Stir constantly during last part of cooking. When nearly done, add butter and soda. Pour into a greased pan. When cool enough to handle, grease fingers and pull until taffy is light colored and porous. Cut in small pieces with greased scissors. Wrap individually in wax paper.

Makes about six dozen.

SPICE STICKS

Half-cup molasses, quarter-cup of sugar, three tablespoons of mild flavoured fat, one tablespoon of milk, one teaspoon baking soda, half-teaspoon salt, half-teaspoon cinnamon, half-teaspoon cloves, half-teaspoon nutmeg, two cups all-purpose flour.

Heat molasses to boiling point, add sugar, fat and milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add, blending thoroughly. Chill, roll thin and cut in finger-long fit packing box. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., 12 to 15 minutes. Makes four dozen large sticks.

FRUIT-FILLED BARS

One-third cup butter or mild-flavored fat, half-cup sugar, one egg, half-teaspoon vanilla two and one-quarter cups sifted all-purpose flour, three-quarter teaspoon baking powder, half-teaspoon salt.

Cream fat and sugar, add well beaten egg, then vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and add. Chill. Roll dough quarter-inch thick, cut in strips one and one-half inches wide and the length of the box in which it will be packed. Put strips together in pairs with fruit filling between, sealing edges and press together. Mark in individual portions without cutting. Bake in a slow oven 325 deg. F., thirty-five minutes. Makes 12, six-inch bars.

FRUIT FILLING

One and one-half cups chopped raisins, two tablespoons sieved applesauce, or one tablespoon fruit syrup or orange juice.

Mix and use as directed above. Mincemeat may be used instead, or a mixture of chopped raisins and finely chopped peel.

fight for a Christian civilization against materialistic ideas.

To enlist every reader to build in his home, office, factory or community the pattern of the new world we all want.

The correctness of this across-the-board evaluation of C. V. Charters' five points will lie, surely, in how quickly and sincerely Canadian readers and editors start to put them to work.

Hearing Adjourned In Careless Driving Case

Stewart Simmons, Odessa, appeared on the Magistrate's Court last Thursday and pleaded not guilty to the charge of careless driving, which was laid following a car accident on October 30th at Hartman's Hill on the road between Odessa and Wilton. Mr. Simmons' car, which he was driving, was in collision with one owned and driven by Clinton Martin, R.R. 2, Harrowsmith.

Mr. Martin was also charged with careless driving and previous to last Thursday had pleaded guilty and paid his fine.

After taking considerable evidence the Magistrate adjourned the case for a week to allow Mr. Simmons to bring witnesses to the Court.

There was considerable difference in the evidence given as to the position of the two cars involved in the accident; before they crashed and at the time of the crash. Mr. Simmons also contended that Mr. Martin was intoxicated, but the evidence of the Police Officer, J. A. Morden and witnesses for the Crown did not bear out the fact that Mr. Martin was under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Martin stated that Mr. Simmons had advised him to come to Court and plead guilty to the charge as costs down the hill a. too fast a rate of speed and also over on the wrong side of the road and that his car (Simmons') was at a standstill when the cars crashed.

Magistrate's Court

Frank Robbs, Kingston, appeared in the Magistrate's Court in Napanee on Monday, and was sentenced to serve one week in gaol, dating from November 26, for driving a car while intoxicated. He was also ordered to pay costs of the court amounting to $28.50 and his car was impounded for three months.

Mr. Robb pleaded not guilty at first but later changed his plea to guilty, after the evidence of provincial officer Taylor had been taken. The officer stated that responding to a call he proceeded to Odessa about 10 p.m. Tuesday, November 16, where he located Robb's car and followed it for a mile. During that time, the officer said the car was being driven slowly and was wandering from side to side. The officer pulled up behind Robb's car and after stopping it found Robb alone in the car. He smelled strongly of liquor, the constable said and his speech was thick. Constable Taylor also said he had considerable difficulty in bringing Robb back to Napanee and on the trip back, found him very abusive.

The hearing of the case of Stanley Cooper, Kingston, charged with careless driving, was remanded to December 7th.

An adjournment until December 6, was also granted in the case of Rosa Shetler, charged with assaulting a police officer and breaking the terms of a recognisance to keep the peace.

Small Market Saturday

There was a small market on Saturday in Napanee due no doubt to the bad weather. Eggs were more plentiful and were selling at the same price as last week, 45c, 50c and 55c per dozen. Apples were also being offered at the same prices of the previous week and were mostly from the Trenton area.

Follow The Russians— It's Quite Simple

BY LESTER GRANT

New York — The Red Army has captured Monastirshchina and Bryanovyeschenskaya, but members of the staff of the Russian Consulate General at 7 East Sixty-Fifth Street did not blink an eye or miss a syllable when contacted by a reporter who wanted to know if it is possible to pronounce those words.

The place-name-inventor who went on the alphabetical jag and came up with Blagbvyezhenskaya merely kept on ed that speakers, in referring to it, should accent the third syllable. Americans can quietly drop the first "y" for purposes of simplification. It is pronounced as read.

Monastirshchina, the experts said, is not so tough as it looks, either. Just try "Mona," add "steer" and finish off with something roughly equivalent to "shenna." Keep the accent on "Mon" and emphasize slightly the last "a." It is not advisable to make early experiments with this word while eating mashed potatoes.

The big battle of the current Russian offensive now centers around Kiev, modern capital of the Ukraine, which, legend has it, was founded by three brothers, Kiy, Shchek and Khoriv, in 464.

Exactly what inspired the founder whoever he may have been, to hit on a four-letter title for the Dnieper River metropolis is not clear, but the century is deeply indebted to him.

That is more than the 20th century can say for the fellow who worked out Dnieprope'rovsk, Novocorsiskk and Yuguvesuk. The current battle of Kiev (pronounced Yey-ef, accent on the first syllable) lends itself neatly to almost any treatment, conversational or topographical. Kiev Nova is a remarkable word for the Russians to be using, since it has only four letters and two of them are vowels as they are pronounced. Even a radio announcer, try as he may, cannot make Kiev difficult.

But take a city like Vitebsk. The approximate way to pronounce Vitebsk is to drop both the "i" and the "e", which leaves you with Vitbsk or, if you prefer, pronounce Accent on the first syllable, please.

One of these days the Russians will be piling into Dniepropetrovsk, a word is not impossible if you just start with "Dnieppro." Don't fuss around too long hooking the "d" and "n" together or you may grow addicts. After "Dnieppro" comes "rovsk." Run both sections of the word together and accent the last syllable.

There is no telling how many little-known populated places the Russians will scoop up between the present battle line and the Polish border, but things should be considerably easier, conversationally, from here in. Gomel Smela, Odessa, Uman, Orsha and Minsk certainly have more to offer users of the English tongue than Zaporzhye, Novorybkov and Perzayalavl.

As their offensive grows, the Russians predict, these problems will all be greatly simplified. Every one knows how to pronounce Berlin.

Why Vicks Is So Good

For Relieving Miseries of

Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home-remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds, and less as the risings.

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—as coughing spasms, help clear congestion in cold-clogged upper breathing passages, relieve muscular soreness or tightness. It promotes restful sleep. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good to use when cold strike. Try it!

Miss Alma Wood Died Tuesday in Kingston

Miss Alma Wood, of Selby, died on Tuesday of this week in Kingston General Hospital, where she had been a patient for several weeks.

Miss Wood was well known in Napanee and the surrounding district. For some years she choir and taught a Sunday School class. Since returning to Selby she was a leader in all church work and will be greatly missed by her large circle of friends.

She is survived by two brothers, Allan and John, both residents of Selby.

Her funeral will be conducted at Selby United Church on Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, and interment will be made at Riverside cemetery, Napanee.

ENEMIES WITHIN THE THIRD REICH

BY EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

S'ockho'm — Secret enemies of the German Reich regime are within, even in the highest positions of the various party organizations, including the Hitler Youth, Arvid Fredborg, Swedish newspaperman says in his new book, "Behind the Steel Wall."

Illegal radio senders play an important role in this increasingly active opposition.

Some of them probably are protected by German military authorities because otherwise they hardly could continue their activities for months and years, Fredborg says, basing his conclusions on work and residence in Germany from February, 1941, to June, 1943.

In examining opposition to the Nazi movement one must treat it resistance in Germany and Austria as well as reckon with active political opposition and with institutions which have political importance without being actively engaged in politics.

Germany's opposition movement consists roughly of four main groups, Fredborg says, going on to outline the general situation.

The Monarchists are strong, but handicapped because they are without a pretender since the members of the House of Hohenzollern and other Protestant princes do not seem to be considered. Bavaria is in a separate position because the feeling for the House of Wittelsbach is strong and the Bavarian Crown Prince with his son is in Hungary and therefore within easy immediate threat of the Gestapo.

In Germany proper monarchism has its strongest supporters among employers, peasants and the smaller middle-class bourgeoisie.

The Liberals have no decided position on the question of state form. In most cases they are split on whether the Fourth Reich will be a united National Liberal Germany governed from Berlin or a Federated Germany.

The Liberal group comprises mainly important sections of the middle-class in cities and a great many intellectuals.

The Social Democrats form a strong group among the workers. But the Nazis have been able to exploit it more than other groups, as its leaders have disappeared and its other leaders have become isolated and have lost every possibility of participating in politics.

Resistance of the masses to the Nazis, therefore, is conservatively weak.

But millions of Social Democratic workers did not disappear and even now an important number of elderly workers and party leaders can be considered Social Democrats.

Communist leaders are absent; those who want a total social and economic revolution. They are greatly aided by the fact that hundreds of thousands of persons have lost everything by air attacks or by being driven to desperation by the hard police regime.

As a matter of fact there is great danger that anarchy can break out in Germany. The Communists have adapted themselves to the political line of the Third Reich. They have also organized and carried out interesting propaganda which is camouflaged as factual criticism of the Nazi system.

Active resistance must work under great difficulties. The first problem is how to disseminate information on the real facts of Allied and world affairs by the Gestapo.

The opposition avails itself of every means. Examples of the underground radio stations especially is prominent. Hundreds of thousands of Germans live illegally. To a certain degree they are left out in great cases they are enemies of the regime. It is almost a miracle that they can survive the food problem. Black marketing is part of the explanation. Also the hostility exists which are rather easy to obtain.

A great part of the resistance is helped through the help of the leading circles. The opposition has its spies in the secret party and military institutions. Many Nazis are trying to buy their future existence by serving the opposition.

One of the greatest questions is what to do with the Nazis after the war. Thousands of Nazi party members have pulled in their sails during 1943.

The opposition has learned how to divide the sheep from the goats. One oppositional leader said they are going to put a question to every party-member with these words "were you in a concentration camp? If not, why not?

A German Youth, Fredborg met who, he is convinced, is an enemy of the Nazi system, discussed politics maturely and explained that the opposition elements among the youth are numerous, that young groups are inclined to be active and of resistance. Within Hitler's Jugend and Bund Deutscher Madel are groups open with which youths may defend themselves—that is to be even hazed in their surroundings, still observe the greatest care and resist even though punishment be feared.

"You would be surprised to learn that the whole Hitler Youth and many group are leaders of the opposition," he declared.

NAPLES DISTRICT A BATTLEFIELD FOR CENTURIES

BY BRITISH UNITED PRESS

Allied Fifth Army troops in capturing Naples, took over Italy's third largest city, which also is its second largest seaport, a centre of wealth and culture since pre-Roman times and one of the world's most historic cities.

It is on the shores of Naples Bay 135 miles south of Rome, it is built like an amphitheatre on the lower slopes of Mount Vesuvius. Its broad deep harbor is one of the finest in the world so commodious that it can accommodate the largest of ocean liners. Once it is cleared of demolitions of the Germans, it will be of great service to the Allies.

It is the capital of coastal plains rimmed by rugged mountains known as Campagnia, consisting of four provinces which had a population before the war of 2,807,607. To modern Europe, more than its hinterland is of foremost economic importance. Naples being an industrial and trade centres the countryside, a tremendous producer of food. The world knew Naples chiefly as the centre of an area surmounted by fiery Vesuvius. To Italy, Naples was a port for a large part of its commerce, second only to Genoa, and the port of entry for thousands of tourists.

Greeks colonized the country nearly 2,600 years ago, and through the Romans and lost. Alone the coast, Mt. Vesuvius overlooks the tragedies of Pompeii and other cities lost to time. And medieval rulers turned the area into a great centre of trade and culture.

The invasion of the Fifth Army started at the Bay of Salerno south of Naples and moved past the city of Paestum, established by the Greeks in 600 B.C. who made it one of the most beautiful of the ancient world. In ruins, there are several temples including the Temple of Ceres, which is the most imposing relic of Greek culture and architecture outside Greece. Pesti's had started its decay by the time of Augustus Cesar, but was not finally abandoned until the 15th Century.

Other names appearing in world news today which were old before Christ was born are Nocera was a Saracen settlement in 1224.

Best known in the world is the fiery Vesuvius which rises to a towering 4,174 feet from the Neapolitan.

The sea and the mountains running up to the Bay of Naples make it one of the world's most beautiful seats. But Mt. Vesuvius has given the whole area a background of tragedy.

The entire base of the mountain, only active volcano on the European mainland, shows traces of the frequent eruptions which have put many cities as Pompeii, a prosperous centre of 20,000 people in Roman times, and Herculaneum, a favorite resort of Roman nobles.

The first recorded eruption of Mt. Vesuvius was in 64 A.D. Sixteen centuries later, in 1631, a violent one which overwhelmed Pompeii, killing 2,000 and covering the city with half-feet pebbles and ashes from eight to 20 feet deep. The disaster put the posterity a demon city to be excavated and restored to a close semblance of what it had been originally without the weathering erosions of the centuries.

The longest period of quietude by Mt. Vesuvius since then was between 1500 and 1631. An eruption in 1872 lasted four weeks and destroyed the entire village of Ottaiano on the slopes, some to die blazing in the sea, and killed 3,000 persons living on the mountain.

The last great eruption was in 1906. It almost destroyed all trace of Ancient and the earth in the area abounds with disaster, which seems constantly. Ashes of Mt. Vesuvius have fallen as far away as Turkey.

But with all its disasters and its war, the coastal area always has been in demand as well as the scene of the contending forces which have struggled for lands and lands throughout the area lining the Mediterranean since history has been recorded.

PEN AND PICTURE RECORD OF CANADA'S ARMY

BY DOUG. HOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The business of seeing that the overseas Canadian soldier of today gets into the history books in a fashion rests upon a little group of professional historians.

Their work under Lieut.-Col. C. P. Stacey of Toronto, a former professor of history at Princeton University, who for two years has been associated with the Historical Section of Canadian Military Headquarters.

The section grew with a growing army and with the object of depicting its activities in word and sketch. Today a museum of memorabilia is being gathered to be forwarded to Ottawa and committed some day into the official history of histories.

Capt. William Ogilvie of Montreal worked near the front in Sicily, sketching the men and their weapons and the countryside. As an official artist with fighting Canadian troops, he was a pioneer. In Englishman's Valley, A. Sesia, of Hamilton, Ont., an Italian-speaking former Canadian who has taken hundreds of officers and men to gather the news of the fighting.

Their roles will be filled wherever the Canadians go into action. To these will be added the section and add the facts available from diaries of every unit in the army — headquarters staffs, battalions and regiments, from the Queen's University, Kingston Ontario to working on the changes in organization and the growth of the army. The burden of preparing a pictorial record of the war rests upon Capt. Eric H. Haliburton, M.M. Toronto, director of art for T. Eaton Co., in Kingston, and the four artists.

The artists are Capts. Ogilvie and three Toronto men, Capt. Charles Comfort, R.C.A., and Lieuts. George Pepper and Lorne Harris, all of them professional. If they work as Ogilvie did they will keep near the front with sketch book camera, recording the scenes they want for the time when they can finally drop back to some quiet spot and turn them into oil or water colors at leisure.

It will be as well for history it they dont have to work at the speed Ogilvie did. The Canadians went through Sicily so fast he had to take a jeep when it was all over and retrace their route to make his work complete.

Each chocolate and other candy bars must bear a label showing their net weight.

DON'T PILE ON THE COAL
CLIMB INTO WARMER CLOTHES

COAL IS SCARCE!—Wasting fuel by overheating your home is unpatriotic. It has long been recognized that moderate temperatures are better for the health. To ensure comfort, get into warmer clothes rather than pile on more fuel.

Tests show that for every degree over 68° coal consumption is increased 3%. Keeping your home at 68° instead of 76° may save almost a quarter of your coal.

Ask your local fuel dealer for your free copy of the booklet "33 WAYS TO SAVE ONE TON IN FIVE" today.

DEFLATING BERLIN'S CHOUX

The stubborn resistance and the eventual overrunning by the Allied Forces of the Nazi troops at Salerno affirms the only a military failure for the Germans but also a substantial propaganda and political setback, according to American observers in London.

The German press and radio whooped up to a fine frenzy lavish accounts of impending disaster for the Anglo-American troops of the Fifth Army that had established a narrow brighead on the low ground behind the beaches in the Salerno area.

While the German press and radio were broadcasting these alarming assessing that the Allied Forces were about to be thrown back into the sea some six panzer or motorized divisions were being shifted into what Nazis clearly believed was a very important major engagement. The massed strength of these divisions failed to stop the Allied forces, however.

The immediate military success of the Allies is small. The political success involved, however, is great. The Germans had stuck their necks out by overplaying their hand in their propaganda. Today their prestige, as a result of the failure of their armed forces to live up to roseate promises of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, may be assumed to have dropped below the comparatively low level it had fallen to at the time the joint military and propaganda drive was launched.

That, at least, is the way Allied propaganda experts are arguing. Almost immediately came the Nazi line's regime and, three weeks later, the capitulation of Italy. Each progress was at the end of the war among neutral and satellite countries. If the Nazis had succeeded in pulling off the military end of their campaign, even though it might mean only a brief check in the ultimate conquest of Italy, it would, with the propaganda machine done much to restore Nazi prestige.

There was a good example of how the Nazis' scheme worked in the reaction of Bulgaria. After Italy's capitulation a new and less pro-Nazi Cabinet was put in power in Bulgaria. Almost immediately came the Nazi drive against the Salerno bridgehead, accompanied by a terrific propaganda barrage. The new Bulgarian Cabinet thereupon hurriedly "re-insured" itself with the Nazis.

The failure of the Nazis to push the Fifth Army back into the sea is expected to have its most potent effect in Hungary, where eyes are turned inevitably on Italy. The capitulation of Italy already had done much to sway pro-Hungary. Now, after a pause as the Allies again push forward in Italy, the separation of Hungary from the other countries in the Balkans may be expected to proceed.

Nazi Collapse Before April Predicted by Algiers Official

Washington. — A German collapse within the next six months may come before the 12:00 o'clock battle-field in this war — is the opinion in the last — Henri Etienne Hoppenot, delegate to the United States from the French Committee of National Liberation, suggested. As an unofficial guess, he said, "I would be surprised if Hitler is still at his post in 1944."

Mr. Hoppenot based his speculation on the hope that the Allied military successes will bring the Red Armies next to Berlin that Hitler will resign. As a result, Germany's morale will break and she will begin to ask "to discuss the terms of the unconditional surrender", the diplomat predicted.

Discussing the course of France after that nation is freed Mr. Hoppenot said that he was encouraged from Martinique in his role of delegate to Washington. He was unwilling to hazard guesses as to who would be elected leader. He did not deny, however, that the comparative unknown, a leader in the underground— might be among the top power by the gratitude of liberated Frenchmen.

People Remember

He pointed out that "the French people may have a long memory against those who left them inside France and those who, after the danger is over.

This prejudice, however, would not apply to those Frenchmen, such as Generals de Gaulle and Giraud and civilian diplomats and soldiers who have worked and fought for France from the outside, he emphasized.

One of the first things the liberated people of France will attend to, according to Mr. Hoppenot, will be bring to trial and punish traitorous Frenchmen who aided Pierre Laval. If the 87-year-old Marshal Petain is alive at the conclusion of the war, he too would be brought to trial, Mr. Hoppenot said, adding that the old Marshal was completely but the affection of the French people who tried so long to be loyal to him, by allowing Laval to reenter the Government.

As well as being optimistic over the early collapse of Germany, Mr. Hoppenot ventured the opinion that would be back on her feet in less than ten years, although it may take an entire decade to regain full economic freedom."

Kemp were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Doupe, Centreville.

Constable Petty Officer Fred Graham, R.C.V.N.R., and Mrs. Graham, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Graham. They left for an eastern port, where he has recently been transferred.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Davey, of Oshawa, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davey and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Covert.

Pte. Steven Davey, R.C.O.C., and Mrs. Doyle, of Kingston, were week end guests of the latter's sister and grandfather, Miss Eileen Milligan and A. W. Milligan.

Mrs. Nelson Bell has returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell, also with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bell, in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hartman and Douglas, of Colebrook, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hartman.

THRIFTY CHRISTMAS BAKING

Hello Homemakers! In an attempt to see how Independent Canadian housewives can be, of important use for her Christmas baking we set out to make a thrifty fruit cake. We made the plain white fruit cake (ingredients listed below) using citron peel, a Canadian product, as the fruit and substituted one teaspoon of lemon for the lemon.

According to numerous requests for recipes published last year, we have decided to list the standard ingredients of Christmas goodies but omitting the quantities — especially of dried fruits and nuts.

I realize how long you are of baking, but surely in the days where we are all sharing the same burden we should consider sharing the food. Let us boast that we can make cookies for one serving each on this festive occasion

RECIPES

Plain Light Fruit Cake

One pound butter, one pound of sugar (white), eight eggs separated; one pound sultana raisins, five cups sifted flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt, half-pound citron peel, one lemon rind and juice. Cream butter, add sugar and beat thoroughly. Beat in egg yolks. Wash raisins and shake in towel to drain. Shred peel and flour the fruit with half-cup of the measured flour. Sift floured fruit into egg mixture. Add sifted dry ingredients. Add lemon rind and juice. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into pan lined with two layers of greased waxed paper. Bake in electric oven at 300 deg. for about four hours.

Variations: (1) Omit raisins and peel. Stir in one pound sliced cherries. (2) One and one-half pounds of any one fruit or a combination of fruits and nuts may be used as a substitute for one pound raisins and half-pound peel.

Thimble Cookies

Half-cup shortening, one egg yolk, one teaspoon vanilla, one-quarter cup brown sugar, one cup sifted flour, pinch of salt.

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly, add egg yolk and beat well. Mix in flour, vanilla and salt. Form into balls size of chestnuts, place on greased cookie sheet and dent the top with a thimble. Bake five minutes in electric oven at 350 deg. Then dent again. Bake 15 minutes longer. Put jam or jelly in the depression while hot. Makes one and one-half dozen.

Christmas Macaroons

Half-cup honey, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-quarter cup sliced red cherries one cup white, one cup toasted rolled oats, one-quarter sliced citron peel.

Beat egg white, add salt and honey gradually, beat thoroughly. Toast coarse oatmeal by placing on large shallow pan in the oven. When partly cool, fold in the mixture also add cherries and peel. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in electric oven for ten minutes.

Molasses Corn Balls

Three quarts popped corn, one cup mo'asses, half-cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, half-teaspoon salt.

Pick over corn, discarding hard kernels, put in large pan and sprinkle with salt. Melt butter and add molasses and sugar. Boil until mixture will become brittle when tried in cold water (270 deg.). Pour mixture gradually, while stirring constantly, over corn. Shape into balls, using as little pressure as possible. Wrap in wax paper.

TAKE A TIP

Weights and measures of foods commonly used in Christmas baking—

16 ounces ..... equals 1 lb.
½ oz. butter ..... equals 1 tbsp.
4½ oz. currants ..... equals 1 cup
1 lb. cranberries ..... equals 1 quart
1 lb. raisins ..... equals 2¾ cups
1 lb. all-purpose flour equals 3½ cups
1 oz. flour ..... equals 3 tb ps.
1 oz. lard ..... equals 1 cup
4 oz. macaroni ..... equals 1 cup
5 oz. raisins ..... equals 1 cup
8 oz. cranne juice equals
1 lemon ..... yields 3 tbsps juice, and not packed but level)
9 oz. ..... equals 1 measuring cup

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. G. C. asks: Should raisins be washed before mixing in fruit cake?

Answer: Not necessary to wash seeded or Lexiron raisins, but sultanas should be washed, drained and patted dry with a towel to remove excess water.

Mrs. D.O. says: We have a considerable amount of chicken fat after using some of our cooking fat. Would this be used in baking, it flavor the cake or prevent it from becoming?

Answer: Do not substitute equal quantities of chicken fat for the required shortening. The two-thirds of a cup of chicken fat to substitute for one cup fat. Keep chicken fat in a covered glass or enamel container and store in a cool place.

Mrs. C.K. suggests, Candi-d orange peel to replace the Christmas candy — but not too much.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her, care of The Napanee Beaver, send in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:—

No time for frivolity these days! My "career" has caught up with me and I spend my time banging out letters about the life and times of the C.W.A.C. It is very stimulating to see the Canadian Women's Army Corps take its place in society. I could wish that everything did not have to happen at once, but I can find .is all in the day's work to answer each letter. Either I have to smell out news like a ferret or it pours in with all the force of a gusher when it has already reached the top.

C.W.A.C. lately have been doing a mighty fine job of filling the places vacated by men joining the fighting units. They are learning new trades and taking their places in army workshops as the skilled tradesmen which the army so urgently requires. At the Canadian Women's Corps Training Centre in Barriefield, Ontario in Mekki are taking a course as instrument mechanics and learning the repair and maintenance of compasses, dial sights, range finders, telescopes binoculars, etc. Some have even graduated as Fitter Engine Mechanics which ca'ls for skill and knowledge of the highest calibre, but you, my little cabbage, probably have never heard of a predictor and have not the foggiest idea what it is. Not a very strange either for until recently predictors were a secret weapon and all mention of them was banned. Now, however, I am not violating any security measures.

In addition to instrument mechanics, C.W.A.C. has given courses to C.W.A.C. drivers, driver mechanics, textile refitters and one group of C.W.A.C. officers has taken the full course at the Ordnance School and qualified as ordnance officers. At the risk of bragging, I must confess that I think our girls are showing up well.

I am looking forward eagerly to next Sunday for my much needed rest cure and the end of the week always brings a reprieve. I like Sundays spent in the barracks. It is so nice and peaceful — later rising hour, time to linger over breakfast, no odd falling of mine, you will remember. Yes, I love lingering. This "on the double" stuff frays my nerves. When I am in the frame of mind to exercise the time-honoured army privilege of grousing, that is always my complaint. When the week is over, I am going to sit under a fig tree all the day and play a flute or perhaps I will find a retreat in the Deep South and live on watermelons. It does not really matter so long as it is a lazy life. Yes, I am shameless.

After breakfast all ranks attend Church Parade. During the summer, the Service was usually held on the wide verandah of Roselawn Barracks which is a lovely spot, shadowed by great trees with the cool sweep of lawns in the distance. Sitting "Church" for divine service, but now that it is cold we must reckon our-selves to be grateful for the warm room of the new barracks. The army padre with a very human touch is informal but impressive in his sincerity. The hymns chosen are those with which most of us have been familiar from childhood and the prayers and sermon are such as we thought closely affecting those in the services. I usually go away feeling "all's right with the world."

The remainder of the day is ours to do with as we please. I have all the energy I go for a walk and wind up at the C.W.A.C. canteen. Kingston, for tea. Otherwise I stay in the barracks and write letters. With my wide circle of relatives, it takes much of my spare time to keep them posted.

I have an exceptionally good book tucked away under my pillow to keep it safe from the predatory hands and so I will bring this screed to a close, for the last time I started to read a mystery, it went through the hands of almost every sergeant in the Mess before I succeeded in finding it, so I am not taking a chance of having that happen again. Hope to see you in Toronto next week end. Let's paint the town a mild red!

Yours ever,
NICKEY.

Dear Babs:—

Just back from a thoroughly service-ly by the army dentist. Believe it or not, it was almost enjoyable. We don't scoff maybe I was exaggerating. No trip to a dentist's chair is undiluted joy but this came close. There's pleasant than ever before? I was sat in any dire distress and there was such an air of efficiency about the Dental Clinic at Kingston Military Hospital that it gave one a feeling of confidence. Probably the most reassuring factor was the dentist officer who proved to be a kindly soul with a boundless reservoir of calm one of those people who swarm up a wall at the sight of a drill, so he needed all his patience. Incidentally, not being a capitalist, I find it comforting to know that everyone of the amount of work done, there will be no charge.

The Dental Clinic is furnished with every modern dental equipment and the C.W.A.C. sergeant, Sergt. Mary Ferguson, of Kingston, in spotless white coat, who hovered near the dentist officer, was ready to render any assistance required. She was the equal of any attendant that I have seen in civilian life. She was pleasant, friendly and efficient but above all she watched and antiseptic manner that I have always associated with doctors' receptionists. As I watched her at work I was undiluted joy but this came close. pleasant than ever before? I was sat in any dire distress and there was such an air of efficiency about the Dental Clinic at Kingston Military Hospital that it gave one a feeling of confidence. Probably the most reassuring factor was the dentist officer who proved to be a kindly soul with a boundless reservoir of calm one of those people who swarm up a wall at the sight of a drill, so he needed all his patience. She was the equal of any attendant that I have seen in civilian life. She was pleasant, friendly and efficient but above all she watched and antiseptic manner that I have always associated with doctors' receptionists. As I watched her at work I was soon deftly handle the instruments I found myself thinking that these C.W.A. C. are all right."

A year ago, Babs it would have been a man who stood there as the dentist's right hand assistant, a man who to-day may be in Italy because this C.W.A.C. sergeant came forward to release him for service with Canadians fighting at the front. All over Canada members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps are winning the thanks of the men of the Canadian Army by stepping into their jobs and thus leaving them free to train with fighting units.

But to return to my experience in the dental clinic it may amuse you to learn that the dental office has the falling common to his profession of filling his victim's mouth full of bits and bits then firing questions at him. I gurgled a little pleasantly to show my good will and apparently it was all that was required. So now all my molars are sound and I need not look at a drill again for another six months.

Barty is having a birthday this week and Cuthbert is arranging an elaborate celebration with a cake and all the trimmings. I think it is very sweet of him and I am hoping that Barty will take her head out of the clouds long enough to enjoy herself. Botany and politics have been engaging all her attention lately and it is time she had some social life. Besides, Cuthbert expects to be sent overseas soon and he must be anxious to know whether he has a girl or not — a little matter which Barty seems in no hurry to clear up.

There has been a crisis in the office: making sheep's eyes at her recently and Barty has been flutter-like a birdy-rd.

Not that it means a great deal. Rupert Brooke is authority on the Renaissance or some kindred subject. I would like to see Cuthbert win out as he has been a patient and nice. What he really should do is beat her over the head and drag her off by the hair. I have a hunch that Barty would like it for all her shirt and mighty airs. However, Cuthbert, himself, is too saturated with culture to do anything uncivilized. More's the pity!

I have just had a live'y discussion with Sergeant Muriel Taylor, Kingston, on the merits of subsistence versus living in barracks. It would be a debatable question. I am convinced that, living in barracks is the best solution for an army girl but Sergt. Taylor put up some mighty good arguments for subsistence and I can see in some cases it might work very well. I am sure that I would be lonely though. But perhaps you do not know the ins and outs of subsistence? As you may have noticed, I like nothing better than enlightening ignorance.

When accommodation is not available in barracks or when special circumstances require that a soldier should live out, a subsistence allowance of $25 per month is granted to cover living expenses. I still say that I am glad to be living in barracks with the other girls but one does like to see the ives of subsistence are sweet. See you next Friday if all goes well. Best love,

NICKEY.

RECIPES FOR CHRISTMAS FOOD

Christmas is just around the corner and it will be very timely to plan for any special baking for, if you hope to be Christmas cakes and cookies this year, they need to be planned for in advance.

If Santa Claus is "specially" bringing you a Christmas cake, fewer eggs will go into your cookies and the kind and amount of fruit will be governed by what the grocer has on his shelves rather than what used to be found in former years. You won't find seeded raisins though the wise will be seedless, there will be orange, lemon and citron peel if no citron. Cherries may be either candied or maraschino.

In recent years our Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has tested a great many recipes in order to be sure that you the best in quality and flavour in spite of limitations in ingredients.

WARTIME DARK FRUIT CAKE

2½ cups all-purpose flour — or
2¼ cups pastry flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup mild-flavoured fat
½ cup sugar (white or brown)
½ cup molasses
½ cup sliced candied or maraschino cherries
1½ cups diced peel
2 eggs
½ cup grape juice
¼ cup molasses
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon extract
½ teaspoon almond extract

Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add fat and sugar and rub together until there are no lumps or fat. Add fruit, mixing well. Combine slightly beaten eggs grape juice, also molasses and flavourings; add to flour mixture and mix thoroughly. Line a 9-inch pan with greased paper and fill two-thirds full with the batter. Bake in a slow oven, 300 deg. F., for about three hours. Makes two and a half pounds, a 7x7 inch cake.

SHORTBREAD

¼ cup mild-flavoured fat
¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk
1½ to 1¾ cups all-purpose flour — or
1⅝ to 2 cups pastry flour

Soften fat and butter slightly, but do not allow to become oily. Stir in sugar, egg yolk and salt, using a wooden spoon. Mix in flour, adding it a little at a time until mixture is too stiff to work with a spoon. Turn onto a floured board and knead lightly working in rest of flour if needed until the surface of the dough begins to crack. Roll out about one-quarter inch thick and cut with a small cookie cutter. Bake in a slow oven, 325 deg. F. about twenty minutes or until delicately browned. Makes three to four dozen small cookies.

MINCEMEAT COOKIES

½ cup mild-flavoured fat
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup mincemeat
1¾ cups pastry flour — or
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons of all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cream fat add sugar, egg and mincemeat. Add flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Drop by teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F. 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about three dozen 1½ inch cookies.

"G" COUPONS FOR EVAPORATED MILK

Evaporated milk to-day (Monday, November 29) joined the ration list with the announcement by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that hereafter it will be available except in some isolated parts of the country only against "free" stocks, only in exchange for "G" coupons. This ruling also involves partly skimmed evaporated milk, which has hitherto been exempt from the priority system of distribution.

This means that it is no longer possible for consumers to purchase evaporated or partly skimmed evaporated milk unless they live in isolated areas or unless their needs have yet been designated in eastern Ontario or certain specific qualifications of the ration regulations for the issuance of "G" coupons. These coupons are granted by Local Ration Boards to "preferred consumers" where evaporated milk is required for baby feeding or medical cases, and a medical certificate must accompany all applications made on behalf of those over two years of age. The "G" ration cards are readable at all times during and from the time of their issuance. They provide holders with the means of securing a maximum of six tins of evaporated milk a week.

It has been found necessary to take this step in order to conserve supplies of evaporated milk, a commodity which is largely "earmarked" for export purposes both at home and abroad. And, in addition, it has been found the consumers' principle to the rationing which is now outlined assures those really requiring it for baby feeding or in medical cases being able to obtain it.

7,000,000 Parcels For Prisoners of War Packed By Red Cross

Mr. Norman C. Urquhart, chairman, publicity of war parcels committee, told delegates to the Dominion-wide meeting of the Central Council, Canadian Red Cross Society, in Toronto, November 24th and 25th, that just under 7,000,000 food parcels for prisoners-of-war had been packed at the five Red Cross packing plants — Montreal Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Winnipeg since the commencement of packing in January, 1941 up to October 31st, 1943.

Report by Dr. J. T. Phair, chairman, national food donor committee, showed that 417,865 blood donations had been received at Red Cross clinics from January 1st to October 31st, 1943. Contributions during September and October totalled 80,415. Dr. Phair stated the week of October 25th was a Dominion record with a total of 16,297. He reported that Serum Separating Centres

The strength of a bank is determined by its history, its policy, its management and the extent of its resources. For 126 years the Bank of Montreal has been in the forefront of Canadian finance.

Germans War Against Underground

The Germans continue their deadly warfare against the Belgium underground, and one of their recent announcements tells of a band of 18 "terrorists" who were tracked down at Dinant by the Gestapo. The patriots refused to be arrested so easily and put up armed resistance. Three men and a woman belonging to the band were killed.

On the same day, four Belgians, Albert Rossius, Henri Dohogne, Jules Deperus and Marcel Salmon, all of Liege, were executed for sabotage and in particular for having cut German Army telephone wires.

The underground press reports that no word has been received from Father Agnello, a Franciscan monk who after eleven months in St. Gilles prison at Brussels was transferred three months ago to a German concentration camp.

It is not known why Father Agnello was arrested. He was blind, having lost his sight during the last war, and he had since devoted himself to relieving the miseries of others who were blind like himself. He was known in Belgium as "the apostle of the blind."
